To-day it is all happiness around that home, for before one bottle of the medicine had been taken, the mother tells us Annie commenced to show decided signs of improvement, The child has taken three bottles and has practically regained her natural health and vigor. There is nothing surprising in the fact that Mrs. Joy cannot speak too highly of South American Nervine.

Much was at stake, but this wonderful discovery proved equal to the emergency, and so it does in every case. Thousands of letters on file from well-known citizens prove this. For nervous diseases of young or old, from whatever cause, it is an absolutely infallible cure.

The camel is a beast of great strength and endurance. Nothing hurts it until the proverbial "last straw" is added to its burden. The human digestive system is very much like a camel. You can impose on it to a wonderful degree. It is really astonishing how much abuse it will stand before it breaks down. "The last straw" doesn't break it down, but it makes it stop work. Continually put the wrong things into your stomach, and digestion will get weaker and weaker. Before long, something worse than usual will be eaten, and will go through the stomach into the bowels, and there it will stick—that's constipation. Let it continue, and there is nothing bad that it will not lead to. Nine-tenths of all human sickness is due to constipation. Some of the simplest symptoms are coated tongue and foul breath, dizziness, heartburn, flatulence, sallowness, distress after eating, headaches and lassitude. A little thing will cause constipation, and a little thing will relieve it. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are a certain cure for constipation. They are tiny, sugar-coated granules, mild and natural in their action. There is nothing injurious about them. You can take them just as freely as you take your food. There is no danger that you will become a slave to their use. They will cure you and then you can stop taking them. Send for free sample package of from 4 to 7 doses. JUMPING CARS IN MOTION

The Acrobatic Feats Performed By the Average Tramp.

"I haven't much hair on my head," said Supt. Mansfield, of the Indianapolis and Vincennes, "but what little I have was up in the air like porcupine quills this afternoon. Several of us were coming down the Union tracks as No. 20, the fast train of the Indianapolis division, was pulling out.

"At Delaware street three tramps were standing. By the time the train reached that point it was going at a lively rate. Each of the tramps selected a coach and as the train whirled by caught the iron rod that extends under the side of the car and swung beneath the train in front of the trucks. Like acrobats they turned over the rod and rested their feet on the brakebeam, and as the train rolled away settled down for a ride. A single mistake, a slip of the hand or the failure to place their feet on the brakebeam meant for them a horrible death. I was so frightened at their recklessness that I fairly lost my breath. Experienced railroad man that I am, I would not have attempted such a feat for $1,000,000."

"That was a common trick," said Frank Lewis, formerly with the Union Pacific Railway Company. "I have had a good deal of experience with tramps, and there are few of them but risk their lives daily on the cars. The old-time tramps used to walk over the country. Up-to-date tramps ride. I have taken them out from beneath the pilot of the engine. I have hauled them from the brakebeam of passenger cars, and a favorite hiding place for them is at the top of the vestibule. On top of the cars is a pleasant place during the summer, but in the winter they try to make themselves as comfortable as possible. It is seldom that you hear of a tramp being killed by the cars unless in a wreck. To become an expert car jumper is one of the requisites of a tramp of the first class."—Indianapolis News.

A MALE REBELLION.

Chicago's Society Men Have Formed a Union Against Tea and Wafers.

Some of the society young men in Chicago have organized themselves into a sort of self-protective union. The objects of this association are "mutual sympathy and counsel, and a united effort toward the higher civilization of society in providing substantial edibles." In plain words, these young men of (more or less) official popularity have rebelled against the "tea and wafer" style of entertainment. They refuse to be comforted with bonbons or stayed with a bread and butter sandwich. Frappe is to them a weak abomination and they are sick of chocolate. Salted almonds and ice cream will not make amends for the lack of more substantial things. Unless there is "something to eat" at a social affair the hostess will go sorrowing for the fair young men who are not. Their resolve comes after many seasons of gilded famine They have grown weary of teas (for occasionally there are men who go to even teas!) at homes, and afternoon receptions, where they fasted but did not pray.

ANTARCTIC POSSIBILITIES.

Explorer Borchgrevink Thinks There May be a Future for Commerce There.

The recent Antarctic expedition was a commercial one, and commercially it was a failure, because we did not find the right whale so valuable for its whalebone. The Antarctic was fitted out for the hunt of that particular kind of whale; nevertheless I have no doubt that the commercial result of the expedition would have been much better had we worked under more favorable auspices.

I do not by any means consider the fact of our not having met with the right whale in those seas as conclusive proof of their non-existence in the bay at Victoria Land. The Antarctic found the right whale at Campbell Island in the winter time; the boats fastened to five of them, of which, however, only one was caught. Now, to me it does not seem improbable that these whales go south to the bay of Victoria Land, where Ross saw them in the summer, and return north in the winter. It would seem incredible that a man of Sir James Ross's standing, supported as he was by able scientists and experienced whalers, should have made a grave error when he said that this valuable whale was to be found in large numbers in those Southern latitudes.

The difference in the appearance of the blue whale, as we found it there, and the right whale, in the method of spouting, is so striking that even the most casual observer could not easily be deceived. Very possibly, had we penetrated farther into the large open bay discovered by Ross in the vicinity of the volcano peaks Erebus and Terror, we too would have found the right whale in great numbers. We saw very many blue whales, but had not the appliances to take them.

As I remarked at the International Geographical Congress, we found few seals. They increased, however, in number as we worked eastward, and seemed afraid of the land. All of the seals that we met on the shore showed much uneasiness, and speedily made for the water, a fact which strengthened my belief in the existence of a large enemy of the seal on the continent. I do not doubt that the seals congregate together in larger numbers at some places on the bay.

I consider the guano beds which we discovered of great commercial importance, and they ought to be well worth the attention of enterprising business men. The specimen which I brought back with me contains a large percentage of ammonia.

Furthermore, from the analysis of the specimen of rock which I brought back with me, the possible and probable presence of valuable minerals on the continent is proved, although the lava and the volcanic aspect of the coastline do not speak favorably for the presence of heavy metals near the surface.—"The First Landing on the Antarctic Continent," by C. E. Borchgrevink, in the January Century.

She Did Have Their Mouse.

A summer girl came out of a city residence the other morning and noticed on the pavement two men, who acted as if they were trying to catch something. She gave them very indifferent attention, but as she stepped out of the gate she heard one of the men say, excitedly:

"There, Miss, it ran under your dress."

"Ran under my dress?" she cried with a lively jump "what ran under my dress?"

"Why, a little mouse, he answered. "We upset our cage of them out here and have caught all but one—the one that is under your dress."

The summer girl scampered back into the house and came back shortly quite indignant.

"It is not so," she said. "Your mouse didn't get on me at all. I examined my dress thoroughly, and it was not there."

"All right," the man said. "I saw it go under your dress; we have lost a white mouse, and you have got it."

Still indignant, the summer girl walked down the street. Several squares away from home she felt a queer wiggling sensation on her person just under the clothes at the belt. She grabbed the spot and dashed into a doctor's office, which was fortunately at hand.

"Oh, please," she hurriedly exclaimed to the doctor, "won't you call your wife? I think I have a mouse on me."

Mrs. Doctor came to her rescue and sure enough, snugly hidden in the folds of the summer girl's fluffy gown, but quite dead from the hearty squeezing, was the poor little lost mouse.

Diseases of the Throat and Lungs.

Are extremely frequent in this climate, and their danger lies in the opinion too often entertained that they will wear themselves out. That they do not and that hundreds are being hurried in consequence to untimely graves is one of the most patent facts of our existence. The only rational treatment is to employ Maltine with Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites, a preparation of inestimable value in all pulmonary complaints. In addition to supplying the oil in a form in which it may easily be assimilated and without disturbing the stomach, it represents the nutritive properties of wheat, oats and barley, and is therefore a reconstructive and tissue former of eminent value. Not less important is the action of maltine on starchy foods. These are rendered digestible and capable of replacing the wastes of the body. This is Nature's own method. Try Maltine with Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites.

A Notable Archaeological Event.

The French Government has just obtained from the Shah of Persia the most advantageous concession ever granted to another nation, at least from an archaeological point of view. For fifty thousand francs they have gained the exclusive privilege of searching for antiquities over the entire extent of the Persian kingdom. It is known that several great cities belonging to biblical times lie buried in the sandy plains of Iran. The excavations undertaken by Dr. Dieulafoy resulted in the discovery of a marvelous subterranean city at Shushan, in a finer state of preservation than even Pompeii, and of a far greater antiquity. The colored bricks and the bas-reliefs of archers of the royal guard belonging to all the races of Persia and Asia Minor, of life-size, which are at present in the Louvre, come from the Palace of Artaxerxes at Shushan. But, startling as this discovery was, it is but a feeble indication of the treasures buried beneath the soil. The excavations will take place in the presence of a delegate of the Persian Government, who will be sent with no other object than to aid the French savants. All objects in gold and silver will belong of right to the Shah. But the French has the right to purchase the half of them at a valuation, and if the Persian chose to sell the other half it will have the priority over all purchasers. The French delegates may take casts and mouldings of all statutes, inscriptions, etc., not specified as belonging to them.

A Chinese Proverb.

Arthur H. Smith, in his wonderfully bright, accurate, and yet somewhat misleading book called "Chinese Characteristics," quotes the Chinese proverb that "one man should not enter a temple, and two men should not look together into a well," adding, "And why, we inquire in surprise, should not one man enter a temple alone? Because the priest may take advantage of the opportunity to make away with him! Two men should not gaze into a well, for if one of them is in debt to the other, or has in his possession something which the other wants, that other may seize the occasion to push his companion into the well!"—"Responsibility Among the Chinese," by Prof. S. M. Cady, in the January Century.

A TORONTO LADY

GETS A CHRISTMAS BOX WHICH SHE PRIZES HIGHLY.

In tracing up some of Santa Claus' good deeds this year, a lady gives us the following account of her Christmas box. The lady's name is Mrs. H. G. Ferguson, and she resides at 211 Church st. Mrs. Ferguson began as follows:—

"I have for years been a great sufferer with kidney complaint, severe pain under shoulders and across back, and latterly so weak that I could not walk out or do housework. Seven years ago the doctor told me I had Bright's Disease. A number of physicians told me I was past help; one of them said I could not live a month. I have taken a great deal of medicine, but without relief, and had given up hope; in fact, told my son that I did not expect to live until spring. My son saw the advertisement of the Doan Kidney Pill Co., Dec. 3rd, and told me. I asked him to get a box and I would try them, although I had but little faith in them, because all other remedies had failed, and as a result I had given up hope. He got one box of pills at J. R. Lee's drug store and I commenced taking them. The result has been marvellous. After taking them once I experienced relief, and after taking them three times the change for the better was marked. I have only taken one box of pills, but I feel like a new woman. The pain and other symptoms of the dreadful disease are gone. I am stronger and better than I have been in many years. I am now able to do my housework and walk out without suffering any inconvenience. That box of Doan's Kidney Pills was indeed a grand Christmas box for me. I am glad to let everyone know about this wonderful cure, in the hope that some one who has suffered as I have may try the remedy and be benefited as I have been."

DADO OF PHOTOGRAPHS.

Ways to Make the Most of Your Collection of Small Prints.

Picture framing is always expensive. One frame is not such an item, but when it comes to a dozen photographs, water colors or engravings, one stands aghast at the total cost. In many new houses frames go in with the rent, so to speak.

In rooms which are wainscoted, lengths of glass are placed so that the upper molding forms the base of the frame and another molding is placed at the top to hold the glass. How dear to the heart are the hundred photographs collected abroad! What more calculated to give constant joy than these "all in a row" around the library or over a bookshelf in one's own den? These may be slipped behind the glass, as the molding is easily removed, and thus a dado is made for all to admire. If a separation is desired a narrow molding to match is easily obtainable. A firm hand with a penknife and a few tacks only are needed, and a room is transformed.

Another way is one molding placed half way between floor and ceiling, with the photographs set upon it, and a long ribbon in the tone of the room is stretched above and holds them in place.

A charming effect is obtained in forming a background of velvet, its own width, and fastening pictures, simply framed in passepartout, upon it, with large headed brass tacks.

In a young girl's room, recently "done" by a well known decorator, the only color was yellow. A few fine engravings were framed in white and gold, but the wires by which they were suspended were covered with yellow ribbons and the hooks were hidden by a huge rosette.

HE LOVED HIS HORSE.

A Striking Tribute of Loyalty on the Part of a Stable Boy.

"You wouldn't believe," said a horse owner the other night at Ingleside, "how attached a stable boy usually becomes to a horse which is his own particular charge. I've got a fairly good colt in my string, and the lad who rubs him thinks more of that colt than of anything on the face of the earth. There's never a hair in his mane or tail in the wrong place, and the colt has better attention than nine out of ten children. The boy thinks it impossible for other horses to beat the colt, and when he ran second once he swore the jockey pulled him. He actually believes that if Salvator were running now my colt would make him look like a selling plater.

"A short time ago the lad had a couple of weeks' wages paid over to him, and as soon as he got the money he asked permission to go down to the city. When he came back he brought with him a brand-new linsey for the colt. It had cost him most of his two weeks' wages, but he said the old one was getting a little bit rusty, and he wanted to have the colt fitted out right."

Demonstrated.

Sometimes it costs hundreds of dollars to convince a man; very often less is required, but in the case of Polson's Nerviline, that sovereign remedy for pain, 10 cents foots the bill, and supplies enough Nerviline to convince every purchaser that it is the best, most prompt and certain pain remedy in the world. Nerviline is good for all kinds of pain, pleasant to take, and sure to cure cramps and all internal pains. It is also nice to rub outside, for it has an agreeable smell, quite unlike so many other preparations, which are positively disagreeable to use. Try it now. Polson's Nerviline.

ENGLAND'S RIGHTS IN GUIANA.

Lord Salisbury Sends for a Report Made to England in 1781.

Seattle, Wash., Feb. 6.—Pursuant to a cablegram of this date from Lord Salisbury, Charles H. Lugrin of this city forwarded to England's Prime Minister the original manuscript of a report made to the British Government in 1781 by Great Britain's Commissioner, appointed to define the boundaries of Dutch Guiana. There are 400 pages in the report, containing a description of every settlement in Dutch Guiana now claimed by the British in the matter of the Venezuelan boundary dispute. All the original grantees of the British Government are named.

MR. ROBINSON ELECTED.

In the Fight at the Falls in Northumberland, N.B.

Despatches from Northumberland, N.B., show that, with three sub-divisions of Alnwick to be heard from, Mr. Robinson, the Conservative candidate, has a majority of 415 over Hon. Peter Mitchell. These districts will probably increase Mr. Robinson's majority.

Potatoes for England.

St. John, N.B., Feb. 6.—A trial shipment of 200 barrels of potatoes will be made on the steamship Lake Ontario, to Liverpool. There are 20,000 barrels in Victoria County that can be placed on the cars there at 45 cents per barrel, and the railway and steamship people have made a low through rate to test the English market.

Where Sound Travels.

Eighteen miles is the longest distance on record at which a man's voice has been heard. This occurred in the grand canyon of the Colorado, where one man shouting the name of Bob at one end, his voice was plainly heard at the other end, which was eighteen miles away. Lieut. Foster, on Peary's third Arctic expedition, found that he could converse with a man across the harbor of Port Powen, a distance of 6,606 feet, or about one mile and a quarter; and Sir John Franklin said that he had conversed with ease at a distance of more than a mile. Dr. Young records that at Gibraltar the human voice has been heard at a distance of ten miles. Sound has remarkable force in water. Colladon, by experiments made in the Lake of Geneva, estimated that a bell submerged in the sea might be heard at a distance of more than sixty miles. Franklin says that he heard the striking together of two stones in the water half a mile away. Over water or a surface of ice sound is propagated with great clearness and strength. Dr. Hutton relates that on a quiet part of the Thames, near Chelsea, he could hear a person read distinctly at a distance of 140 feet, while away from the water the same could not be heard.

Persons in a balloon can hear voices from the earth a long time after they themselves are inaudible to people below. —Chicago Times-Herald.

Destined for Success.

A few days ago a business man on High street, New Bedford, Mass., advertised for a boy. Among the replies received by mail was one which read as follows: "Dear Sir,—I want the place. My parents is ded and I got to hustle. Beets hell how hard times is. Yoors trooley, William ——." Being a man of shrewd business sagacity, the merchant engaged him by the next mail. I had considerable interest in the career of this enterprising young man, and a few days after called at the store to see how he progressed. He had one black eye and a pronounced limp and a generally broken-up appearance. He had been in the business but two days, and in that time had thrashed the porter of the store, fallen down stairs into the cellar and had won $2.50 from the boys pitching coppers; had also shown up on time every day, and got in a full days work. If this young man is not destined for a great commercial career then all signs fail.—New York Herald.

Her Own Mistress.

"If I were living my life over," said an unmarried woman of 50 the other day, "when I reached the age of 25 I should ask my father to give me one of his little houses, of which he owned a good many, and let me go and live in it. When a girl grows into a woman her instinct leads her to long to be at the head of her own home, whether she is married or unmarried. To be absolute mistress, even of a single room in a lodging house, after a day of toil is often better to her than to be under the absolute control of her parents in a comfortable home, and this, even though there may be the tenderest love between them. Few mothers at least ever quite outgrow a sense of arbitrary proprietorship in their daughters, and few daughters between the ages of 25 and 40 can be thoroughly contented in any home of which they are not mistress, however patiently and nobly they may conceal their feelings. After 40 they are often so tired as to be glad to be relieved of all responsibility."

—The Josephine Kid Glove Cleaner is unlike any other—that's the good of it. Ladies will not do without it at twice the cost once they use it. Sold by Robt. Fair, sign of the Golden Lion, headquarters for Perrin Freres' celebrated Kid Gloves in newest styles for all occasions.

Sauerkraut.

While it is generally understood that this appetizing dish is a strong favorite among the Teutonic race, its appreciation is not by any means confined to Germans, any more than porridge is to the Scotch. It will be of interest to all who relish a dish of sauerkraut to know that we keep a supply on hand by the quart or gallon. M. L. Henry & Co., grocers, No. 341 George street.

A despatch from Rome says the Pope has had serious differences with Cardinal Rampolla, and that the Cardinal has tendered his resignation. On the other hand the report is denied at the Vatican.

The Sikhs, under British officers, have gained two brilliant victories over the slave raiders in British Central Africa. Fourteen of the Arab chiefs were captured, and the road to the interior cleared.

The British Government have notified their Minister to Brazil to recognize the sovereignty of Brazil over the Island of Trinidad. Brazil will permit Great Britain to establish a coaling station on the Island for her South Atlantic squadron and will grant the right of way for a cable to the station.

A card on the outside of office door says: "Gone to lunch. Be back in ten minutes." And, the man will be there on time. That is, for some days, weeks or even months, he will. Then he will be at home occasionally for a day. He'll tell you he had a headache—a turn of cholera morbus, or maybe he'll say he had a lump in his stomach and felt too miserable to move. The lump was probably two or three ten-minute lunches condensed.

The man who "bolts" his lunches will find Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets the best friend he ever met.

ONE HONEST MAN.

DEAR EDITOR:—Please inform your readers that if written to confidentially, I will mail in a sealed letter, the plan pursued by which I was permanently restored to health and manly vigor, after years of suffering from Nervous Weakness, night losses and weak, shrunken parts.

I have no scheme to extort money from any one whomsoever. I was robbed and swindled by the quacks until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but thank Heaven, I am now well, vigorous and strong, and anxious to make this certain means of cure known to all.

Having nothing to sell or send C.O.D., I want no money. Address JAS. A. HARRIS, Box 290, Detroit, Mich. eodw

THE BOOT and SHOE TRADE

OF PETERBOROUGH

COMING OUR WAY

ON THE JUMP!

We feel it in our mit—we see it in our crowds—we read it in our sales.

Selling Boots and Shoes alongside of Clothing, &c, and under the same roof, lessens running expenses and reduces prices all along the line—that's part of the secret of our big sales, and shoppers have had it proved to their entire satisfaction times without number.

Time was when we paid the wholesaler a stiff profit and took what we could get. Now the Situation is changed, and if we want anything we go for it and buy in big enough quantities to discount the trade generally. In other words the wholesaler is no longer supreme.

Besides our own efforts to get the nobbiest of stylish Boots and Shoes, manufacturers are on the alert for the largest distributing points, and without a lantern come straight here when they think of Peterborough.

We Are Selling To "Beat the Band."

Doing a rattling business and whittling prices down in spite of the increased price of leather. Sooner or later we'll have to charge more, but not yet awhile.

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN, BOYS AND GIRLS, are all remembered. Their wants have all been anticipated. Fine Boots, Shoes, Slippers, Rubbers, Overshoes, Cork Sole Boots, Leggings, Artic Snow Excluders, and every possible need of man, woman or child.

Keep your feet dry—healthy—warm—cornless—painless—these stormy wintry days. Don't wait for another snow storm but buy your Boots, Rubbers and Overshoes now! Bad weather soon finds the weak spots in Footwear.

It isn't a question of how much we can get but how little we can afford to sell for, and if you don't find values here the best within your reach, make us pay well for our imprudence. This year we begin with fresh resolves to outdo and excel all our past records.

SECOND CROP OF BARGAINS.

We start the Bargain Ball rolling for February in dead earnest. As there is a good deal of winter yet before us, it is unnecessary to point out the wisdom of buying now.

Our Stock-Taking is over—now for a month of lucky chances and snaps in mid-winter goods. An aftermath of Bargains for shrewd buyers—lines which we laid out during stock taking such as Serges, Cheviots, Heavy Tweeds and other Remnants, to be sold even at HALF REGULAR PRICES.

We don't want to carry winter lines past their regular selling season, so you may figure on getting pretty nearly your own way in prices.

You need the goods—we need the room they occupy—so there is mutual benefit all round in the selling of them.

Our New Spring Stock is wheeling into line, and we are glad to tell our lady friends that part of our programme for Spring is a NEW MILLINERY DEPARTMENT, of which we will tell you more in good time.

We don't "rest-up" during the winter months and take things easy until Spring. Business is full of worn-out, tired-out men who live almost wholly in the past and struggle for the success that never comes. And because of that they find fault with the times. While others are resting we're simply HUSTLING.

PETERBOROUGH Pump and Windmill Factory,

(Formerly carried on by Geo. McWilliams)

DICKSON'S RACE.

I take great pleasure in announcing to the people of Peterborough and surrounding country that I have bought out the entire Plant, Patterns, Machinery and Agencies of the above well-known Factory on Dickson's Race.

I have also made arrangements to continue the lease and to carry on the manufacture of Iron and Wooden Force and Lift Pumps, Cisterns, Steel Windmills, Tanks, Fanning Mills, Hand Seeders, Churns, Washing Machines and every other line formerly manufactured in the above premises.

I have also removed the temporary Pump Shop which I opened on Charlotte street a short time ago—and will now be found as my Factory on Dickson's Race.

With the long, practical experience I have had in this business, and with the splendid facilities which I now have for turning out good work, I am confident that I will be able to guarantee perfect satisfaction to all who may favour me with their orders.

My Millbrook Pump and Windmill business will still be continued in the Old Stand, on Tupper Street, Millbrook.

THE REMEDIAL BILL

To be Submitted to the House on Monday Next.

WHAT ITS CHIEF PROVISIONS ARE

Forecast of the Long-Looked-for and Much Discussed Measure—Manitoba Catholics to be Permitted to Establish Separate Schools Under a Provincial Board.

Ottawa, Feb. 7.—At last the remedial bill is nearly ready, and the Minister of Justice gives notice to-night that on Monday he will introduce a bill entitled "The Remedial Act (Manitoba)." The following is briefly the effect of the bill: The Catholics will be exempted from paying taxes to support the Public Schools, but will have the right to do so on giving notice to the Separate School Trustees of their intention to adhere to the Government schools. The Separate Schools will be re-established in their integrity, with a Catholic section of the Council of Public Instruction and an organization divided into school districts, having power to raise taxes, build and manage schools directed by trustees elected by the ratepayers. The Catholics will have a right to their share of the Government school subsidies in proportion to their number. As to the provisions concerning the efficiency of the schools and the qualifications of teachers, they read well in the bill, and are, it is claimed, closely copied from the obnoxious school act of 1890.

The right of the Catholics to Legislative grants, although affirmed, is not vindicated substantially by the bill, as the Government found they could not compel the Legislature to vote money at the dictation of Ottawa. The assertion in the bill, therefore, of the right is a pretence of an imposition, because a right cannot be created by mere assertion where it does not exist. Neither does the bill attempt to give money from the school lands, of which the Federal Government are the trustees and administer under the provisions of sub-section 3 of section 25 of the Dominion lands act. It will be seen from a perusal of this that so far as the Dominion Government is concerned it has no power at all over the proceeds of the school lands, except to see that they are applied towards the support of Public Schools, and consequently it could not make any such diversion of a portion as suggested. When in Ottawa a few years ago Premier Greenway laughed at the suggestion and said to a correspondent that he was not in the least bit apprehensive, as the Dominion could no more touch the school lands revenue than they could seize any other provincial revenue. The Government have wisely abstained from making the attempt in this bill. One of the Quebec Ministers stated today that the Government cannot assume, as the basis of its bill, that Manitoba will refuse to conform to the remedial Law. This would be to anticipate events, and possibly to weaken the legal force of the act. Later, he added, if it is neccesary to come to the aid of the separate schools, the Government will not hesitate to do it, but for the moment it would be premature. Here the expectation is held out that if this act does not work the Government will go further and confiscate the school lands of Manitoba.

Ottawa, Feb. 7.—In the House yesterday afternoon, Sir C.H. Tupper introduced a bill to amend the Dominion Elections Act. He said that at the last session of the Imperial Parliament a bill was introduced making it a corrupt act for anyone to publish false statements reflecting on the personal character of any candidate without cause. It was not his intention to press the bill this session but he thought it well to place it before the House and the country, as Canada had generally followed the English practice, and possibly the Government next year might feel disposed to take it up.

Sir Richard Cartwright—What is the penalty?

Sir C. H. Tupper—It would void the election of a candidate if he proved to be the guilty party.

Mr. Mills of Bothwell called attention to the telegram in yesterday's papers stating that there was a possibility of the Imperial Government advancing to Canada the money necessary for strengthening the defences. He wanted to know if any communication had taken place between the two Governments on this line.

Mr. Foster said he knew nothing of the matter beyond what had appeared in the newspapers.

A Toronto deputation, consisting of Dr. Pyne, Major Harstone, W. D. McPherson, Arthur Denison and H. H. Dewart, this morning waited on the Premier, Hon. Mr. Dickey, Minister of Militia, and General Gascoigne, to urge the re-establishment of a corps of garrison artillery for that city. The deputation was accompanied by Messrs. Coatsworth, Cockburn, Maclean, Mulock and other M.P.'s. The Premier was pleased to hear the expression of loyalty that came from the delegation and the members present, irrespective of party, and promised careful consideration of the request. From what your correspondent can gather the general is more inclined to rely on infantry and light artillery for repelling invasion or attack than on big guns mounted at Toronto or elsewhere.

It looks as if Col. Aylmer is likely to be made Adjutant-General. The office is one of a semi-military, semi-civil character and the Minister and the Government are anxious to have it filled by a man thoroughly versed with the affairs of the department and has the gift of dealing not only with the militia but has also the knack of getting along with the public and the politicians who do business with the department. Strong representations have been made in favor of Col. Otter of Toronto and Col. Smith of London, but it is likely that the high military knowledge of the former will be considered to be of more service to the country in the active side of the service than in the department at Ottawa.

The annual report of the Minister of Justice on the penitentiaries of Canada was presented to Parliament today. It is interesting as containing the first report of the new Inspector, Mr. Douglas Stewart, who has changed the form of the report in many respects and embodied in it some very interesting information. The total number of prisoners in custody on June 30 last was 1277, of which 520 were at Kingston, 396 at St. Vincent de Paul, 166 Dorchester, 96 Manitoba, and 98 British Columbia. A table showing the nationality of the prisoners is given. Two-thirds of the convicts are unmarried. One hundred and thirty are under 20 years of age, 594 are between 20 and 30, 311 between 30 and 40, 252 between 40 and 50, 71 between 50 and 60, and 19 over 60 years.

TAKES NERVE TO SUICIDE.

And for That Reason Probably Embezzler Fischer Returned to New York and Broke Into Jail

Toronto, Feb. 8.

Herbert Fischer, bookkeper in Patterson's box factory, New York, has surrender himself as an embezzler. Since Jan. 27, Fischer has not been at the factory. Two days later, under the name of "H. Schuberg, Jersey City," he registered at the Albion Hotel, Toronto. On Monday night he paid his bill and left the hotel, telling the clerk that he was going to Quebec and Montreal. Instead he went back to New York and gave himself up to the police, who were looking for him. It seems that while in Toronto he contemplated suicide. With that idea in view, he bought a revolver and indited this brief note, which was found in his pocket, when arrested:

"Albion Hotel, Toronto, Jan. 30.
"To whom it may concern:

"In case any mishap should befall the bearer of this, H. Fischer of New York, corner Webster-avenue and 171st street, please notify my wife Augusta, of same address, and send telegram at once. Any property found upon me, also all personal property in flat at above address, belongs to my wife. I am traveling under the name of H. Schuberg."

MYSTERIOUS DEATH.

A Wealthy Philadelphia Man Expires in Toronto.

AN INVESTIGATION TO BE HELD.

James Rush Ritter, a Banker of Means Was Traveling With His Valet His Own Physician Summoned After He Was Taken Suddenly Ill in a Hotel.

Toronto, Feb. 8.

James Rush Ritter, a wealthy Philadelphian, died at the Kensington Hotel on Thursday evening under somewhat peculiar circumstances.

On Monday morning he arrived at the hotel with his valet, a young man named R. P. Wright, and registered as A. H. James of Boston. He took rooms for himself and his companion, but did not take his meals at the hotel. On Wednesday night he complained of feeling unwell, and said he had pains in his head, but would not allow his valet to call a physician. On Thursday morning he instructed Wright to telegraph for his physician in Philadelphia: In the afternoon his condition became alarming, but he still refused to see a doctor. About 5 o'clock, however, Dr. Cooke of 202 Simcoe-street was called, but Ritter died before his arrival.

Wright told the physician that his master had for years been subject to epileptic fits, which attacked him at intervals of about two months. An empty box which had contained morphine pills, was found in Ritter's room. By the label it was seen that the narcotic had been purchased at Bingham's pharmacy, on a prescription given by Dr. Nattress. It was found that on Monday Ritter had tried to purchase a dozen half-grain morphine powders at Bingham's, but he had been refused. He then went to Dr. Nattress and asked for a prescription, saying that he had pains in the head which nothing but morphine would relieve. The doctor refused to prescribe the quantity asked for, but gave Ritter a prescription calling for two dozen quarter-grain pills. This he presented at Bingham's and the pills were sold to him. His companion could not say whether he had taken the pills or not.

From the post mortem indications Dr. Cooke says he came to the conclusion that death was not due to morphine, but an autopsy will be held to-day, in order that the cause of death may be known.

Ritter's companion stated that the deceased was a retired banker, of considerable means. He was a bachelor, 43 years old, and had for a number of years suffered from epileptic fits and a mental disorder, for which he was treated by an American sanitarium, where he rented a whole flat to secure privacy. For the last six years he had been traveling in the hope that his health might be benefited.

The dead man's attorney was notified by wire of his death, and telegraphed back instructions for a post mortem examination.

Ritter carried over $100,000 insurance on his life, and a representative of the insurance companies will arrive in the city this morning, with the dead man's attorney, to investigate the circumstances of his death.

The body will be embalmed and forwarded to Philadelphia for interment.

SOLD FIRE WATER TO INDIANS.

An Owen Sound Hotelkeeper Heavily Fined on Two Charges.

Owen Sound, Feb. 7.—Mr. Michael Coleman, proprietor of the Ross House Hotel, was yesterday convicted before Magistrate Spencer on two charges of having unlawfully sold and supplied liquor to Indians, and was fined $50 in each case, with costs. The offences complained of were alleged to have been committed on the 25th and 26th of January last, when a number of Indians from the reserve at Chippewa Hill, about 30 miles west of here, came to town, as is their custom to do periodically, to purchase supplies of provisions. While here some of them became intoxicated, and when returning home on the 26th, one Samuel Wahbehzee brutally beat and maltreated his wife. An information was sworn out against him for this assault, and during the investigation which followed, the facts in connection with the selling of the liquor came to light. Indian Agent John Crowe at once set the law in motion against Mr. Coleman, with the above result. The trial of the charges against Mr. Coleman occupied two whole days. The case will be appealed.

A FEW FIGURES AND FACTS.

The Dominion Government will, in a few months, be formally appealing to the country for a renewal of the confidence of the electors. Are they worthy of it? By no means. Their record shows wretched management of our national affairs,—insufficient administration, not to speak of dishonest and corrupt administration, as a result of the application of their lob-sided trade policy. In 1895 our exports fell off, as compared with 1895, nearly four million dollars—$3,880,146. This indicates a corresponding decrease of our purchasing power, for the amount of exports is a fair indication of our purchasing power. For the same period Canadian imports fell off to the enormous extent of $12,693,258. The aggregate trade of Canada fell from $230,618,932 to $218,881,214. To show the improbability of Britain agreeing to preferential trade relations it is pointed out that while we purchased $7,586,000 less from Great Britain than the year before, in the same time we increased our exports of American goods from $53,034,100 to $54,634,621. At the same time our super loyal government charged a round duty of 30 per cent. on British goods and let off our "Yankee" neighbours with an average of 26 per cent., a truly fine inducement to Great Britain to tax 87 per cent. of her imports for the benefit of the 13 per cent. which the colonies supply, while we in Canada impose a hostile tax on British imports 20 per cent higher than we tax American goods; for, taking all classes of imports free and dutiable, we charge the United States 12 per cent. and impose 32 per cent. on British goods. Yet in the face of this Sir Charles Tupper has the audacity to try to befool the people into supporting his extravagant rule, by claiming that he can persuade Great Britain to give trade favours to a colony that gives the Mother Country such undutiful slaps in the face. The government has built a big tariff wall to shut us out of a great market at our very doors and have spent hundreds of thousands to subsidize steamship lines, under the promise of increasing our trade with countries the other side of the world; and what is its result? a big waste of public frauds and a big drop in our trade with these countries. In 1889 without subsidized lines of steamers, our trade with China and Japan, amounted to $661,208, yet two years after the subsidies were voted, in 1895, the figures had dropped to $417,124. These are a few of the more patent of the examples of the ruinous fiscal policy of the present government—the policy of diverting trade by tariff dykes from its natural channel, and of trying to make the waters of trade run up hill. Not only is this policy ruining our trade, but to this is added the reckless waste of public funds and big additions to our public debt. Last year six and three-quarter millions of dollars — $6,889,608 — was added to our public debt, which now stands at two hundred and fifty-three million dollars. Last year we paid $17,640,486 in customs taxes, and of this $11,338,559 went to pay interest and sinking fund. Would a farmer think he was managing his business well if he raised $600 worth on his farm, and it took two-thirds of it—$400—to pay the interest on his mortgage? Yet this is what our extravagant Government is doing with the big Dominion farm—spending eleven out of the seventeen millions we pay in taxes on account of our enormous public debt. The most wicked extravegance has piled up this debt, but the wild orgie of extravagant expenditure of the past will be as nothing to it, if Sir Charles Tupper, the great stretcher, the "high priest of corruption," the fruitful father of wild cat schemes, comes into power. Does it look as if the government deserved another lease of power?

THANKFUL FOR SPEEDY ASSISTANCE.

The Testimony of Thousands Who Have Used South American Kidney Cure.

A friend in need is a friend indeed. It has been said the way to test our friends is to try them. It is so with a medicine. So many medicines are tried, but found wanting. This is never the case with South American Kidney Cure, if it is kidney trouble that is the ailment. It does not cure anything else. There is not a case of kidney trouble, however, be it ever so distressing, where quick relief will not be given and, by a little patience, altogether removed. The proof of the pudding is in the eating of it, and what is here said is what thousands say who have used this medicine. Sold by H. S. Macdonald.

SELF-DEFENCE HIS PLEA.

Murderer James Healey Will Evidently Attempt to Show That He Had to Kill John Corrigan

Toronto, Feb. 8.

Self-defence will evidently be the plea of James Healey, who is charged with murdering John Corrigan on Wednesday night. From the evidence already take at the inquest it is apparent the defence will try to prove that Corrigan, armed with a revolver, forcibly entered Healey's apartments. At the adjourned inquest last night Policeman Osler told of hearing calls for police while he was on his beat; and on going to the house in which the tragedy occurred, he found Healey with a revolver in his possession. He summoned Policeman Allison, who arrested Healey and succeeded in taking the revolver from him. Mr. Hearn, Healey's lawyer, subjected Osler to a rather severe cross-examination.

Dr. A. J. Johnson testified that, with Dr. Orr, he had made a post mortem examination of the deceased and that death had resulted from a fracture of the skull caused, probably, by the blunt end of an axe.

Mrs. Corrigan was recalled and gave evidence somewhat contradictory to that she gave on Thursday night.

Dr. J. O. Hastings test fied to being the first medical man on the scene and that Corrigan was dead when he arrived at about 10.30 o'clock.

The enquiry was adjourned till Tuesday night at 8 o'clock.

SELECTING THE CHAIRMEN

Of the Different Standing Committees of the House of Commons.

Ottawa, Feb. 7.—The different standing committees meet this morning for organization. The city of Toronto secured two chairmanships, Mr. Cockburn being elected chairman of Banking and Commerce, and Mr. Coatsworth of Public Accounts. The other presiding officers are: Agriculture, Dr. Sproule; Railways and Canals, Col. Tisdale; Privileges and Elections, Col. Anyot; Expiring Laws, Mr. Henderson; Private Bills, Mr. Hazen; Standing Orders, Mr. Mills (Annapolis).

The Government proposes to ask Parliament to subsidize a fortnightly line of steamers between Canada, France and Belgium to the extent of $50,000 a year for five years. This is interpreted to mean that the subsidiary line to France in connection with the fast Atlantic service will be dropped.

The Canadian Gazette to-morrow will contain the following: James Lowson of Thorold, is appointed Collector of Customs. Edward Allworth of Kingsville is appointed sub-Collector of Customs

THE ACTIVE MILITIA.

Changes in the Different Corps Which Have Just Been Gazetted.

Seems as if consumption always picks out the brightest and best. Fully one-sixth of all the deaths that occur in the world are caused by consumption. Many things were once considered impossible. It would be strange if medical science did not make some progress. The telegraph and telephone, the phonograph, the electric light—all were once impossible, and once it was impossible to cure consumption. That was before the time of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Taken according to directions, this standard remedy will cure 98 per cent. of all cases of consumption. Consumption is caused and fostered by impurity in the blood. It is cured by purity and richness in the blood—surely, certainly cured by the "Medical Discovery." It builds up solid healthy flesh and vigorous strength.

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, a 1008 page medical work, profusely illustrated will be sent free on receipt of 31 one cent stamps to cover postage ONLY. Address, World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N.Y.

NICARAGUA CANAL

Will Cost an Immense Amount of Money.

Washington, Feb. 7.—The President to-day transmitted to the House the report of the Special Commission to inspect and report on the route of the Nicaraguan Canal. The report of the Canal Board includes an estimate of the cost of the construction of the canal, which they place on the low level line at $133,472,800. The company's estimates are shown to be on the low level line $69,803,000. The board thinks the expense of constructing the canal will be about twice the amount that would be required to build a similar waterway in the United States, owing to the adverse climatic conditions, the ineffective manual labor and the fact that the machinery cannot be used again after the canal has been finished.

PARALYSIS CURABLE.

Stricken Ones to be Seen Everywhere—This Form of Living Death Cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

The most startling example of human helplessness is the paralytic.

The victim excites your commiseration, but resents your pity.

He of the palsied hand stiffly pressing the benumbed side is to be seen everywhere we go.

The most convincing proof that this pitiable condition is the outcome of kidney disease is the fact that Dodd's Kidney Pills cure it.

Not generally recognized as a kidney disease, it succumbs to kidney treatment.

Did you ever know of a cure? Just think a moment!

If you do it must have been the work of Dodd's Kidney Pills, for no other medicine ever yet cured.

EFFECTS OF LA GRIPPE.

ENFEEBLED CONSTITUTIONS AND DEATH THE RESULT.

Official Statistics Show That in Ontario Alone 2,023 Deaths Resulted From This Cause in 1892, 93-94—How to Avoid the Baneful Effects of This Scourge.

Very few people have any conception of the deadly effects of la grippe or influenza, which with each recurring winter sweeps over Canada, leaving in its trail death and broken constitutions. If an equal number of deaths were caused by say cholera, the whole continent would be in a panic, and it is only because the deadly effects of la grippe are not understood that its approach is viewed with less apprehension.

Dr. Bryce, the very efficient health officer for Ontario, in his annual report to the provincial government, shows that the deaths in Ontario alone from the effects of la grappe for the years 1892 93 94 reached the aggregate of 2,023, a number sufficiently large to make us view the scourge with positive alarm, for in addition to this mortality there are beyond doubt thousands who from the same cause are left with shattered health and ruined constitutions. La grippe is a disease of the nerve centres, with a specially marked effect upon the heart, and the obvious duty of those who have suffered from even a mild attack is to strengthen and fortify the nerve forces. For this purpose Dr. Williams' Pink Pills act more promptly and thoroughly than any other medicine yet discovered. Their function is to supply impoverished blood with its lacking constituents and to build anew shattered nerves. That Dr. Williams' Pink Pills perform what is claimed for them is this respect is proved by voluntary testimonials of those who have been restored to health. One strong case in point is that of Mrs. A. Gratton, of Hull, Que. To a newsaper reporter who interviewed her, Mrs. Gratton said:—"I was always a strong and healthy woman up to about four years ago. At that time I had a bad attack of la grippe, the after effects of which left me weak and nervous, with pains in my back and stomach, and almost constant severe headaches. I found myself so completely used up that I was unable to do any work about the house, no matter how light. My appetite was gone, and I had no relish for any kind of food. For about a year I continued to be thus tortured, getting no freedom from pain either day or night. I had tried different kinds of medicine prescribed by a physician but they did me no good. I began to believe that medicine would not cure me, and as I always had a terrible cough I feared I was sinking into consumption. One day a friend advised me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I had heard and read much about this medicine but had not thought of it as a cure for myself, but I felt that it might be worth trying and procured a supply, and after the use of a couple of boxes I began to feel an improvement. I continued their use until I had taken twelve boxes when I found myself free from pain, with a good appetite, and as well as ever I was in my life. Last December, as the result of a severe cold, I was again taken ill, but this time I tried no experiments with other medicine but went straight to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, with the most beneficial results as you can see for yourself. I have such faith in Pink Pills that I never allow myself to be without a box, and take them occasionally as a tonic, and I will be glad if my experience will prove helpful to some other poor sufferer."

When you ask for Dr. Williams' Pink Pills see that the full trade mark is on every box. Imitations and substitutes are worthless, perhaps dangerous.

A City Clergyman Speaks About Physical Restoration

Paine's Celery Compound Does a Marvelous Work in a Populous Church Parish in Montreal.

HUNDREDS MADE WELL WHO WERE PRONOUNCED INCURABLE BY DOCTORS.

The Only Medicine in the World Heartily Indorsed by the Clergy of all Denominations.

THE GREAT DISEASE-BANISHER A NATIONAL BLESSING.

The sick people of the great church parish of St. Anne's, Montreal, have been greatly pleased and benefitted by the life-giving and health restoring virtues of Paine's Celery Compound. The clergymen of St. Anne's Church, know of the grand work accomplished amongst their parishioners, and at all times accord unstinted praise to the great curing Compound. Rev. P. Rioux, one of St. Anne's most popular priests who used the Compound himself writes as follows:

"I am fully convinced, both by personal experience and by the statements of many parishioners intrusted to my care, that the celebrated medicine Paine's Celery Compound deserves a high recommendation. I therefore willingly indorse the testimonials already given in its behalf.

SIX MEN WERE KILLED.

By the Falling of the Railway Bridge Near Hartford

Hartford, Feb. 7.—It is now stated that only six men were killed in last night's bridge disaster, several of those reported missing having been rescued. The revised list of the dead follows: Daniel J. O'Brien of Hartford, James Mack of New Britain, Charles Costello of Hartford, Martin Curry of New Britain, Nicolo Ricci of East Hartford and Patrick McCarthy of New Britain. Workmen got the new iron bridge into position this afternoon, and trains are now running regularly.

Logan scored a great victory over the crack imported filly Santa Bella at 'Frisco on Thursday. At 3 to 1 the iron horse easily beat the 7 to 5 favorite.

Logan, the iron horse, has a wonderful record for the past year. From March 18, 1895, up to February 1 he started in 74 races. Of these he won 25, was second 17 times, third 9 times and unplaced 13 times. Just think of a horse only being outside the money 13 times in 74 starts!

Kid Lavigne, who is anxious to be known as the champion light-weight pugilist, had a fight with a reporter in a saloon a few days ago, and came off second best in the encounter. Lavigne insulted the newspaper man and attempted to strike. He was knocked down for his trouble, and would have been thrashed if friends had not interfered.

One Honest Man.

Dear Editor:—Please inform your readers, that if written to confidentially I will mail in a sealed letter, particulars of a genuine, honest home cure, by which I was permanently restored to health and manly vigor, after years of suffering from nervous debility, sexual weakness, night losses and weak shrunken parts. I was robbed and swindled by the quacks until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but thank heaven, I am now well, vigorous and strong, and wish to make this certain means of cure known to all sufferers. I have nothing to sell, and want no money, but being a firm believer in the universal brotherhood of man, I am desirous of helping the unfortunate to regain their health and happiness. Perfect secrecy assured. Address with stamp:—L. A. Edwards, Jarvis Ont.

THE G.T.R. SHAKE UP!

Mr. Wainwright's Position Has Been Abolished.

MANAGER HAYS TAKES A TRIP WEST

Will the Assistant General Manager Remain With the Company?—Mr. Wallis, Mechanical Superintendent, is to Retire, Notwithstanding the Denials Made.

Montreal, Feb. 7.—The Grand Trunk Railway will soon be turned upside down. The position of assistant general manager, so long occupied by Mr. William Wainwright, has been abolished. The friends of that popular official will be glad to learn, however, that he has been invited by Mr. Hays, the general manager, to continue in the service of the company he has so long and so faithfully served. The official notice states that Mr. Wainwright's future position will soon be defined to that gentleman's satisfaction, although some think the ex-assistant general manager will accept the position tendered him some time since in New York in connection with the Freight Lines Association. It is quite likely that Mr. Hays realizes that if any legislation were required in the interests of the Grand Trunk, either at Quebec or Ottawa, none of the new men could render anything like as good service as Mr. Wainwright. Although the statement may once more be denied, it is a positive fact that Mr. Wallis, mechanical superintendent will soon retire, as well as Mr. Williams, for many years connected with Mr. Wainwright's office.

This morning Mr. Hays and Mr. McGulgan left on the general manager's private car Viceroy, for a tour of inspection up west, and will probably go as far as Detroit. Mr. Hays took the coal tenders with him and will wire back his decision to-night or to-morrow morning.

Later.—"All bids rejected," was the despatch sent back by General Manager Hays this evening to the coal owners, and consequently the latter left in droves to their respective homes by the night trains. It is, of course, not known when the Grand Trunk coal matter will be again taken up, but it is surmised that Mr. Hays was under the impression that they had made a combine in the way of prices.

NEWSPAPERS AND THE MAILS.

Recommendations From the Canadian Press Association

Toronto, Feb 8.

The Canadian Press Association concluded its convention in the city yesterday afternoon.

Mr. R. Holmes, Clinton, was elected second vice-president, the list of officers for the ensuing year thus being completed.

The most important discussion of the final session occurred over the abuse by fake sheets of the mail privileges accorded bona fide journals. In this connection Mr. J. B. Maclean of The Canadian Grocer stated that he had learned from the deputy postmaster-general that the day was not far distant when newspapers would pay postage.

Finally the association decided to recommend to the Government that every newspaper should be required to be registered, just as they are in Great Britain and the United States; that no paper shall be entitled to registration as a newspaper that is supplied free to its readers directly or indirectly, and that papers commencing publication after a certain date shall pay a nominal rate per pound for a year. Then, if it is found to be a legitimate paper the amount shall be refunded.

Messrs. L. W. Shannon, C. W. Young and J. B. Maclean were appointed a committee to wait upon the Government with this resolution

In a paper on "The Press and Religious and Charitable Institutions," Mr. Dan McGillicuddy spoke of the good work done by the newspapers of Goderich in connection with churches and kindred institutions.

"The Press and Politics" was the title of an interesting address by Mr. Joe. T. Clark ("Mack" of Saturday Night), Mr. Clark held that every newspaper should have a conscience, and contrasted the reliable English editorials with the trashy ones read in the American press. Mr. Clark argued that an editor should carry more weight and wield a greater influence than a member of Parliament, a judge or a minister.

Mr. J. S. Brierley read a paper on "An Eight-page Paper in a Four-page Town," which had been written by C. A. Abraham, and J. L. Mackay one on "The Circulation Canvasser."

PREACHER AND TEACHER.

Rev. Chas. E. Whitcombe, Rector of St. Matthew's Episcopal Church and Principal St. Matthew's Parish School, Hamilton, Ont., Found Great Relief From Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder.

The rector of St. Matthew's church, Hamilton, Ont., holds a warm place in the hearts of his people, not alone because he is a faithful pastor, but for the work he has done for the children of Hamilton, as principal of St. Matthew's parish school. As he has sent forth his influence through church and school, so he extends in a wider way the good properties of that wonderful medicine, Dr. Agnew's Cattarrhal Powder, by telling the people of Canada how much it has helped him. There is something unique in this medicine, that secures favour wherever it is known, and which just now is making a host of friends because of the certain relief it gives in cases of hay fever, a trouble that afflicts many at this season of the year. As a cure for catarrhal trouble it has no equal.

Nathan Tompkins pleaded guilty at Big Rapids, Mich., to beating his 3-year-old daughter with a stick of wood. The child's flesh was fairly black and blue. The justice gave him all the law permits, a $100 fine, to be paid before dark, or 90 days in Detroit.

Potatoes were selling for two cents a sack in San Francisco a week or ten days ago, and sold slowly even at that price. The potato crop all over the country last season was enormous, and most growers lost money on a considerable part of their crop. In some regions the potatoes were not taken out of the ground, the price got down so low.

Messrs. Cox & Davis, Peterborough:

GENTLEMEN: I wish to thank you for your promptness in settling the loss on my furniture, which occurred through the upsetting of my coal stove, on Friday night last at 10 o'clock. On being notified next day you were good enough to send over a man to settle the loss in order that I might be able to get the house cleaned up and thereby saved me much inconvenience. From my experience with your office now, it is a source of pleasure for me to feel that my insurance is with you, and I shall not forget to tell my friends.

Tea [illegible]ad Officers Entertained.

Last evening Mr. R. J. Kidd, Superintendent of the Charlotte street Sunday school, entertained the teachers and officers of the school at his residence, No. 160 Aylmer street. The evening proved to be a most enjoyable one, being spent in social converse. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Kidd during the evening.

A Pleasing Entertainment.

Last evening a magic lantern entertainment was given by Mr. George Munro for the amusement of the members of the junior branch of the Y. M. C. A. This afforded great fun for the boys, and they feel greatly indebted to Mr. Munro for his kindness. After that part of the entertainment, refreshments were served and heartily enjoyed by all. The boys' branch of the association is increasing rapidly, as was evidenced by the large attendance present last evening.

The Town Treasurership.

The Committee on Appointments met last night for the ostensible purpose of appointing a town treasurer. It is now understood that the duties and salary of the town clerk will not be interfered with, but the proposition was made last night that the Town Trust Board be asked to allow the office held by their secretary to be combined with that of the treasurership. This would bring the salary of the treasurer up to $800, and the position could be created a permanent one. As the Town Trust, however, are understood to be perfectly satisfied with their present secretary it is not thought probable that any change will be made and several members of the committee state openly the belief that the plan was only proposed in order to postpone the making of the appointment until a later date.

A TRAIL OF BLOOD.

It Attracts a Good Deal of Attention on George Street.

Early morning pedestrians on George street, this morning, were shocked in finding a plainly discernible trail of blood along the sidewalk extending from Simcoe street as far north as J. J. Howden's butcher shop.

Enquiry elicited the fact, that a daughter of Mrs. Benj. Moore, of No. 550, Water street, while returning home late in the evening burst one of the varicose veins in her leg by accident. Although bleeding profusely, she attempted to reach home before giving in but the loss of blood was so great as to cause her to drop on the sidewalk in a dead faint just in front of the butcher shop.

Fortunately several citizens saw her fall and recognizing her as Miss Moore had her speedily conveyed to her home in a passing cutter. Although very weak from the loss of blood, the young lady is in a fair way to recovery. The discoloration of the snow was such as to attract attention throughout the day and the loss of blood at every step must in the aggregate have amounted to over a quart.

SUDDEN DEATH AT KEENE.

Daniel McIntyre Found Dead in His Bed.

A special to the EXAMINER states that that this morning Mr. Daniel McIntyre of Keene, a well-known and respected citizen, was found dead in his bed. Heart disease, with which deceased was troubled, is supposed to have been the cause of death.

The deceased is well known throughout Otonabee, having lived in the township all his life. His wife, who is a sister of Messrs. Joseph, William and David West, still survives as do four children, viz:—Archibald and Malcolm, of Peterborough, Mrs. Archibald Weir, of Otonabee, and Minnie, who is also married and living in Victoria County.

NEWS NUGGETS.

Paragraphs Picked Up and Pencilled for Public Perusal.

—No Police Court news to-day.

—An alarming prevalency of grippe is noticeable.

—The auditors are still hard at work at the municipal accounts.

—The sewerage committee has adjourned to meet Monday evening.

—The town clocks seem to be in a bad way. The hands have been removed from the town buildings clock.

—The Riverside skating rink has again been cleared of snow and being recently flooded is in good shape.

—There was a big crowd at the skating rink last night. It is a pity the band is not present once a week.

—Alas, 'tis eighteen ninety-six,
And bashful man must falter;
For woman now with clever tricks
Will speed him to the altar.

—Miss May A. Bell, singing and dancing soubrette, well known to Peterborough theatre goers, is with the Marks Bros. company.

—The private offices of the Collector of Customs and Asst. Collector are being newly tinted and the walls and ceiling of the general office rewhitened.

—The sleighing in the country is reported excellent although upsets are numerous on account of the difficulty of turning out in the deep snow, which has a hard crust formed on it.

—The town and street railway road levellers were utilized yesterday with two teams on each, for the purpose of removing the snow from the streets and levelling them to avoid dangerous pitch-holes developing.

—The rise in the temperature brought down a number of large icicles, which were hanging from the buildings along George street to-day, and a number of narrow escapes were experienced by pedestrians.

—A meeting of the East Riding License Commissioners was held to-day. Mr. Wm. Moher was appointed Chairman of the Board for the seventeenth consecutive term. Routine business was also attended to.

—The merchants who took advantage of the soft weather to remove the snow and ice from their sidewalks are deserving of praise. Those who neglected so to do, yesterday, have, instead of slush, a deposit of ice about six inches deep in place of it.

—The assistance of a couple of policemen had to be sought last night to keep the crowd back from blocking the street in front of Grant's hall, so great was the crowd that clamored for admission to the entertainment of the Marks Comedy Company.—Ottawa Citizen, Dec. 6th. At Opera House, two weeks, Feb. 10 to 22. 10 and 15c.

The Proper Time

When the most benefit is to be derived from a good medicine, is early in the year. This is the season when the tired body, weakened organs and nervous system yearn for a building-up medicine like Hood's Sarsaparilla. Many wait for the open spring weather, and in fact, delay giving attention to their physical condition so long that a long siege of sickness is inevitable. To rid the system of the impurities accumulated during the winter season, to purify the blood and to invigorate the whole system, there is nothing to equal Hood's Sarsaparilla. Don't put it off, but take Hood's Sarsaparilla now. It will do you good.

THE LATE REV. FATHER BLOEM.

His Mortal Remains Laid at Rest—The Funeral Ceremonies—Short Sketch of His Life.

To-day the mortal remains of Rev. Father Bloem, late parish priest at North Bay, who died at Mattawa hospital from the effects of a railway accident, were laid at rest in the Roman Catholic Cemetery. At 9 o'clock last night the remains, which had been accompanied by Rev. Father McGuire, of Bracebridge, and some members of the late priest's flock—including Mr. Brennan, mayor of North Bay, and Mr. Mackey, another prominent citizen—were met at the station by the priests who had remained in town from the Bishop's reception—V. Rev. Father Laurent, V.G., Lindsay; Rev. Father Sweeney, Victoria Road; Rev. T. O'Connel, Burnley; Rev. Father Collins, Brighton; Rev. Father Bretherton, Downeyville; Rev. C. J. Phelan, Trent Creek, and the Cathedral clergy. The remains were met at the Cathedral door by his Lordship and then borne in procession to the front of the main altar, where the solemn office of the dead was chanted by Bishop and clergy, V. Rev. Father Laurent, V.G., and Rev. C. J. Phelan leading the choir.

The remains lay in state in the church during the night, several members of the C. M. B. A. and E. B. A. keeping vigil.

This morning at 8.45 the office of Lauds was chanted by his Lordship and at 9 o'clock a solemn requiem mass was celebrated by V. Rev. Father Laurent, V. G., with Rev. Father Bretherton, deacon, Rev. Father McGuire, sub-deacon, and Rev. Father Scollard, master of ceremonies.

At the conclusion of the mass the Bishop advanced to the catafalque and made a few impressive remarks upon the awful certainty of death and its awful uncertainty as to time, place and manner, and paid high tribute to the piety, zeal and many loveable qualities of the deceased priest, exhibited in the promotion of the interests of religion and education at North Bay. During his remarks his Lordship's feelings were so deeply moved that their intensity almost overcame his utterance.

At the close of the Bishop's remarks the choir chanted the Libera and the Bishop performed the absolution at the catafalque. The remains were then conveyed down the middle aisle, the clergy chanting the antiphone "In Paradisum" and the "De Profundis," to the hearse, which was escorted to the R. C. cemetery by a large concourse, including a large representation of the C. M. B. A. and the E.B.A. on foot. At the grave the burial ceremonies were conducted by Ven. Archdeacon Casey.

The chief mourner was Miss Bloem, sister of the deceased, who accompanied the remains from North Bay. Rev. Father Jos. Bloem, a brother, was prevented by illness of a somewhat severe character from being present at the funeral. The late Father Bloem was in the prime of life and usefulness, being only 35 years of age. He was a native of Holland, and came to Canada twelve or thirteen years ago. He and his brother were pioneer priests (after the Jesuit fathers) and did a great deal of grand work in North Bay and its vicinity. He was the first resident priest of that far north parish and his memory will be held in sacred reverence by his late flock, late fellow priests and Bishop. Requiscat in pace.

HOCKEY AND CURLING.

Items of Interest to Enthusiasts in Either Sport.

Skip Ray and his vice, Ernie Rutherford, played 130 ends in the recent bonspell. As each stone weighed about forty pounds and the length of the rink is 88 feet, how many tons were lifted by each during the bonspell and how many feet were they thrown?

A couple of exciting games were played at the rink last night with the following result:

H Meredith,	G Giroux,
W Thompson,	H R H Kenner,
J Stanger,	D Davidson,
R S Davidson, sk...16	H A Allen, skip ...17
J Blain,	C LeBrun,
W K Lech,	R Hay,
C N Brown,	Geo Brown,
D Belleghem, sk....15	A Beads, sk.....18

That other hockey clubs can run in bad luck concerning its players is evinced by the following item from the Kingston News: "'Pinkie' Lamb, the star goal-keeper on the Victorias, yesterday morning slipped off a cutter and got his foot run over. His ankle was so badly injured that he could not get his boot on. He thinks he will be all right for the Peterborough game. "Mack" Murphy, the Victorias' sturdy little centre, is on the sick list. He is suffering from an attack of quinsy. He, too, expects to be in line for Peterborough. A large crowd of local sports will go and see the "Vics" through."

No word has been received yet from the Victorias, of Kingston, as to when they will come to Peterborough to play in the semi-finals.

The local team found it impossible to arrange to bring the Victoria Colts, of Toronto, to town for a match to-night as the latter were unable to get a team together.

As soon as the O.H.A. finals have been decided it is thought that a town league will be formed composed of those clubs which always run their matches in at the close of the season. There would be the grocers, clothiers, hardware men, druggists, drygoods men and the printers.

The Collegiate Institute boys are still anxious to try conclusions with the Volts.

The Central Colts played a fast game of hockey against the Aberdeens at the rink, yesterday, with the result that the Colts were victorious by the score of 8 goals to 0. The teams were composed as follows:—

Colts.		Aberdeens.
R Hall	goal	Jerry Hall
W Gross	point	VanEvery
Ross Cameron	cover point	Armstrong
F Ray	forwards	Armstrong
Foy		Sawers
Ferguson		McFadden
Kennedy		Lundy

Referee—Mr. Harry King.

The Colts are now anxious to run up against the Junior Collegiate Institute team.

At a practice game on the rink, last evening, the Volts succeeded in defeating the Peterboroughs by the score of six goals to two. The result of the game was a great surprise to the backers of the Peterboroughs and is attributed to the fact that the team was unable to practice last week on account of the ice and have been kept off the rink by the curlers all this week up to Thursday.

Demonstrated.

Sometimes it costs hundreds of dollars to convince a man; very often less is required, but in the case of Polson's Nerviline, that sovereign remedy for pain, 10 cents foots the bill, and supplies enough Nerviline to convince every purchaser that it is the best, most prompt and certain pain remedy in the world. Nerviline is good for all kinds of pain, pleasant to take, and sure to cure cramps and all internal pains. It is also nice to rub outside, for it has an agreeable smell, quite unlike so many other preparations, which are positively disagreeable to use. Try it now. Polson's Nerviline.

Methodist Young People.

The Young People's Societies of the Methodist Church are very much interested in their conference gatherings which are to be held this month. Toronto Conference Young People will meet in Toronto on February 27-28; Hamilton Conference will meet in Berlin on February 25-26, and the Bay of Quinte Conference will meet in Belleville on February 18 20. This is the first of the Conference Conventions held and great enthusiasm is being manifested in the preparations now in progress. The Methodist societies in this section will go to Belleville. Reduced railway fares are arranged, and the expectation is that 300 or 400 of leading Methodist young people will rally in the city. Enquiries concerning the convention, programme, etc. should be made to Rev. C. W. Watch, Secretary, Brighton.

Nervous Prostration

It is now a well established fact in medical science that nervousness is due to impure blood. Therefore the true way to cure nervousness is by purifying and enriching the blood. The great blood purifier is Hood's Sarsaparilla. Read this letter:

"For the last two years I have been a great sufferer with nervous prostration and palpitation of the heart. I was weak in my limbs and had smothered sensations. At last my physician advised me to try Hood's Sarsaparilla which I did, and I am happy to say that I am now strong and well. I am still using Hood's Sarsaparilla and would not be without it. I recommend it to all who are suffering with nervous prostration and palpitation of the heart." MRS. DALTON, 59 Alice St., Toronto, Ontario. Get Hood's, because

GREAT SALE OF BOOTS AND SHOES.

Mr. John McNaughton's Sacrifice Clearing Sale.

Having decided to remove from Peterborough about the first of March, I have, therefore, the great pleasure of offering the purchasing public unprecedented bargains in all classes of footwear, including ladies and gentlemen's, misses and children's boots and shoes, rubbers and overshoes. These goods must be sold, the stock must be cleared out, and the prices will be placed at such figures as will make a lively clearance sale. The goods I have to offer are all first-class, bought for the present season's trade before I decided to remove. At usual prices any of these would be a bargain, but at the sacrifice prices I offer they will be a genuine bonanza. What I wish to impress upon the public mind is that the goods must be sold, and the price will be made to bring this about. Please give me a call and I guarantee that quality of goods and price shall not stand in the way of making a bargain, of which you will be sure to get the big end. This is a genuine sacrifice clearing sale of first class boots and shoes, etc. JOHN MCNAUGHTON, corner Bethune and Sherbrooke streets.

THE WHEEL.

As Peterborough will in all probability have the C. W. A. meet on the first of July next, anything concerning it will be of interest to the citizens. A Waterloo correspondent writes as follows to the Wheelman:—

THE PRESIDENCY.

R. A. Robertson for president. Of all those mentioned for the important office, none are so deserving of it as the chairman of membership committee.

He has been a conscientious worker for the C. W. A. for years, has done service on the racing board, and has, in fact, earned the post of honour.

Among others proposed are Dr. Balfour, Mr. T. A. Beament, Mr George Hopkins and Mr. Van Felson. These men are all no doubt useful members of the association, and any one of them would make a good president, but, if I remember rightly, not one of them has been actively associated with the C. W. A. for nearly as long a time as Mr. Robertson, nor has any one of them done so much to advance the interests of the C. W. A. as our friend from Hamilton.

Why not reward our old and faithful workers by honoring them with the highest position in the gift of the association? Nothing less than election by acclamation will do this, as the honour is a very doubtful one after having to fight a hard contest for it.

It has been said that the Meet and Presidency should go to the same town. This is all nonsense. Sarnia and other places have had successful C. W. A. Meets without having the Presidency.

It would be a graceful act of aspirants for the highest office in the association to retire from the contest in favour of Mr. Robertson, and such action would without doubt redound to their credit and strengthen them for future contests.

THE MEET.

This promises soon to become a lively topic. Waterloo was in it head and ears last year, and enjoyed the brush with Peterborough very much. We have decided after due deliberation, not to make a bid for it this year.

So far there appears to be only two clubs who are out for the fixture. Time will tell whether "there are others." Brother Van Felson argues that if our Association is a Canadian one and not an Ontario one, it is but right that Quebec and the other provinces be treated liberally in regard to the annual meet, especially if we would expect our membership to expand in those directions.

Supporters of Peterborough will no doubt claim that Ontario, having nearly 80 per cent of the total Canadian membership within her boundaries, should have the meet, as it is not right to ask, and but a small percentage of wheelmen could afford to spend the time and money necessary to visit Quebec. In my opinion, both claims are right, and, working from that standpoint, Secretary Hughes and your correspondent have thought out a scheme that we think will regulate the matter of "the annual meet" for many years to come.

OUR SCHEME.

Taking the issue of the Canadian Wheelman of September 16th, we find there are 5876 members in the C. W. A.

Ontario contributes 4,600 or nearly 80 per cent. Quebec has 547 members or between 9 and 10 per cent. British Columbia 176, Manitoba 170, New Brunswick 143, N. W. Territories 105, Nova Scotia 86, Prince Edward Island 15. make up the balance of the membership, about 10 or 11 per cent of the whole.

It is altogether likely that the above figures represent quite closely the proportion of members in each province, compared with the C.W.A. as there would not be much change since September 16th. Any fair-minded man will agree with me that out of the 4,600 Ontario members, probably one half or more are dead anxious to attend a C.W.A. meet once a year, but are prevented by lack of time and perhaps money from doing so if the meet is held outside of Ontario.

We have made noble strides in the membership in Ontario in the past year, and we must keep up the interest if we would expect to keep growing.

Any fair-minded man will agree with me, also, that prospects for the increase of membership in Quebec, Manitoba and the other provinces never were better than at the present time. There are large fields (not wheat fields) to work on, and if we only give them proper encouragement and treat them liberally, our expansion in those directions in '96 should be large.

OUR PROPOSITION.

Taking the above fact into consideration, our proposal is this:—Amend the Constitution and by-laws of the C. W. A. so as to provide for a C. W. A. meet in each province on July 1st in each year—a provincial meet, in fact, for Ontario, Quebec, British Columbia, Manitoba, New Brunswick, N. W. T., Nova Scotia, and Prince Edward Island would each have to meet if they so desired. The present championships would be run in each province, making the winners thereof provincial champions. In case any province did not desire a provincial meet, racing men desiring to enter the championships would compete in the next nearest province holding such a meet.

The result would be that on July 1st we should have champion for each distance in each province.

The C. W. A. Dominion championship meet would be held on Labour Day (the first Monday in September) each year, and would be passed around among the Provinces something like this:

First year—Quebec.
Second year—Ontario.
Third year—Manitoba.
Fourth year—Ontario.
Fifth—Quebec.
Sixty year—British Columbia.
Seventy year—Ontario.
Eighth year—New Brunswick.
Ninth year—Quebec.
Tenth year—Ontario.

A schedule could be easily arranged by which the provinces not mentioned would have the Dominion meet, if they showed they wanted it.

Labour Day is only of recent origin. It is a great day for bicycle meets over the border, and in Canada is now recognized as one of the big holidays of the year. Coming as it does each time on Monday makes it all the more desirable as the date of the Dominion meet. The champions of the Provinces would here meet to do battle for the Dominion Championships. The two months that would elapse between the provincial meets and the Dominion meet would give them all ample time to get into first-class condition. There would be two months in which to speculate on the chances of the candidates for the "big plum," and an interest and enthusiasm would be created and kept up in these events that would put completely in the shade the short and soon-to-be-forgotten struggles of the past.

The plan which I have outlined for deciding the championships is not an original one. In lacrosse, football, curling and other sports champions of each district are first procured by competition, and these only are eligible for the finals.

The adoption of this plan would, I feel certain, create and keep up an interest in the C. W. A. in all provinces as nothing else would. With a lively interest created, a substantial increase in membership would follow.

Of course a rule would have to be made that not one town could hold both a provincial and a Dominion meet in any one year.

Among other advantages to the C. W. A. not the least would be a percentage of net profits at each of the meets (provincial and Dominion), which would yield considerable revenue, for would we not have eight or nine instead of one as at present?

Should Quebec and Peterborough be the only candidates for the Meet this year, the greatest good would be done the Association by holding Ontario's Provincial Meet in Peterborough on July 1st and the Dominion meet at Quebec on Labour Day. I have not a bit of doubt that both affairs would be abundantly successful.

This is our scheme, and Secretary Hughes and your humble servant will not be disappointed if it is not adopted at once. If, after due consideration, it is found that we are too far in advance of the times, and our scheme is more suited to a period ten years hence, than it is at present, then we shall be in a position to congratulate ourselves, for, like Edward Bellamy, we are soaring into the unfathomed depths of the future—"Looking Backwards."

THE VICE-PRESIDENCY.

As part and parcel of "our scheme" we should like to see a Vice-President for each province, a sort of Lieutenant-Governor, you know. It would be necessary to elect these by mail, and the voting coupons could be published in, and distributed through the Canadian Wheelman, some time before Good Friday in each year. Clubs would bunch their votes as they now do, while isolated members could vote as they pleased, each province to elect its own Vice-President, and decide where its provincial meet should be held.

HOTEL ACCOMMODATION.

One of the things discussed, re-hashed, discussed again, and again re-hashed makes its appearance about this time every year when the subject of the annual meet comes up. Hotel accommodation is the important topic, and it receives far more attention than is necessary.

Our experience has been that a good or well known hotel will be filled from cellar to attic, while one that is not so well known will have rooms vacant. The boys who crowd these hotels would for the most part far rather be with the crowd, even if they have to put up with a cot or a shake down. They would feel lonesome in a quiet place with a room to themselves. At Waterloo and Berlin last year several of the larger hotels were crowded, and the fact that they were already crowded seemed to make the boys in search of board more anxious to stay.

He will take no Risks.

Shrewdness of a wellknown City Merchant.

HE KNEW WHAT WAS GOOD FOR HIM.

In winter when Canadians spend a large portion of their time indoors and cannot have the same variety of fresh food as in summer and fall, indigestion and dyspepsia afflict a majority. "If anybody will tell me that dyspepsia in its advanced stages is perfectly curable," said a Toronto merchant, "I will take his word. Personally I run no risks. As soon as I feel a sense of weight in the stomach, after a meal, I know that my blood is sluggish in circulation. In my business I cannot take much exercise, and I fight the first sign of stomach troubles with Scott's Sarsaparilla. It has never failed me, and has saved me many a doctor's bill."

Scott's Sarsaparilla possesses medicinal properties superior to all other so-called sarsaparillas made. As a remedy for indigestion, rheumatism, pimples, scrofula and all blood diseases, physicians state that its equal was never known. Sold at $1 per bottle, of all dealers.

A PRE-DEATH BURIAL

THE FEAR OF IT NOT SO UNREASONABLE AS IS SUPPOSED.

Horrible Discoveries Made in Graveyards in Ancient and Modern Times—Some Precautions Which Should be Taken to Prevent Burial Before Death.

Many who are not at all afraid to die are afraid of being buried before they have died. The fear is not unreasonable. Premature burial happens very rarely, but often enough to call for more precaution.

In British journals this has recently been much discussed, showing no small uneasiness in the public mind. There was need of it. British law is quite too lax in requiring proof of death before burial. Hundreds of burials take place every year without certificates of death. The London Chronicle reported a dozen recent cases of discovery that supposed death was not actual. The Spectator believes that "a distinct percentage" of premature burials "occur every year." One of its correspondents confesses to a distressing case in his own family.

The gruesome fact is that it has always been so. Ancient writers refer to it. Pliny has a chapter "On those who have revived on being carried forth for burial." Lord Bacon records that there have been "very many cases." Bruhler, a French writer in the last century, produced a book on the subject. It mentioned fifty-four cases of persons buried alive, fifty-three of revival after being coffined, seventy-two of mistaken pronouncement that death had taken place, and four of persons dissected before they had ceased to live. A noted case occurred under the hands of the distinguished Vesalius, who, having opened a body, found the heart still beating. The case of G. Washington Bishop, the mind-reader, is comparatively recent. Not a few persons believe that he was the victim of an autopsy, undertaken before he was actually dead. It is a fact that, when body-snatching by medical students, or common robbers, was more frequent than now, it occasionally resulted in the rescue from the grave of those that were still alive.

Old cemeteries are sometimes removed, and more frequently individual graves are opened for the removal of remains. Then the distressing fact of a premature burial is occasionally revealed. It is stated that in New York six cases in a thousand have occurred. In Holland the percentage is five in a thousand. Perhaps the Paris morgue is the last place where one might expect to find the living among the dead, after the corpse has been examined both by the police, onspector and the official surgeon. Yet, even there about one in ever three hundred has come to life again. A recently published work, by Dr. F. Hartmann, strongly draws attention to the danger of dooming to the grave some who have not really died. He has collected over seven hundred authenticated instances. Of these he describes one hundred and eight of typical cases, under the title, "Buried Alive."

The danger of premature burial arises from that semblace of death which is popularly termed suspended animation, or trance, and scientifically known as catalepsy. Persons of nervous temperament are more liable to this than others, and women more than men. In catalepsy all the signs of death are sometimes present, save the one infallible sign of incipient decomposition. Even experienced physicians are deceived. A celebrated case in the last century was that of the Rev. William Tennant, a Presbyterian minister in New Jersey, who revived after a three days' catalepsy, in which he narrowly escaped burial. Mr. T. J. Hudson, in his book, "The Law of Psychic Phenomena," refers to a lady now at the head of a public institution, who "has been twice pronounced dead by the attending physicians, twice prepared for the grave, and twice resuscitated by her friends." The London Spectator relates a case in Ireland last September, where, upon suspicion of premature burial, the body was disinterred, and life restored, after lying in the grave from Saturday till Tuesday. Even more remarkable cases are on record.

Such facts enjoin all possible precautions against an awful mistake. Attention cannot be too urgently called both to the danger and to the way of safety. In Munich, and also in other European cities, the body of every dead person is deposited at once in a mortuary chapel for a specified time, under competent watchers. This is for a double purpose, both to prevent premature burial, and also any infection which the body might communicate. Is not this better than the ice-box, which prevents the appearance of the only certain signs by which the reality of death is demonstrated? Better, also, than the immediate injection of the embalming fluid, which, if life were still lingering, would at once expel it?

The convenience of the living generally dictates the disposal of the dead. It never should, until the reality of death has been demonstrated beyond the slightest possibility of error. In the great majority of cases this evidence can be given only by signs that the decomposition of the body has set in. The Munich plan of a well-watched public waiting room for bodies on the way to the grave is worthy of general adoption. At least, the opportunity of due precaution which it offers should be made available for the multitude, who lack the means to secure similar advantages by their private arrangements.

In view of the possibilities of premature burial, which, however, slight, are certainly real, many people own to no small anxiety for themselves. They adjure those who are likely to survive them to run no risk. They beg them to make sure that they shall not be entombed alive, by opening an artery, or thrusting a needle through the heart before committing the body to the earth. A more prudent way, both safer and simpler, is to defer burial until the indisputable proof of death has appeared. A greenish tint of the skin, of the abdomen, accompanied by a separation of the epidermis, or outer skin, is the certain sign that life has finally departed, and dissolution of the body has begun. Till then, interment should be delayed. The funeral rites, however, needn't be delayed.

A CHILD CAN USE THEM.

Directions are Simple.

Some ladies think that it is a difficult matter to do their dyeing. It certainly is when crude and imitation dyes are used; but when the long-tested Diamond Dyes are used, it takes but little more trouble to get a fast and beautiful colour than it would be to wash and rinse the goods. With imitation dyes your goods are ruined; colouring with Diamond Dyes means success and lovely colours.

Town Full of Relations.

It is stated as an actual fact that all the people residing in Letcher County, Kentucky, are related to one another, directly or indirectly. The reason of this is found in the remarkable Webb family. There are three brothers and three sisters of the original family, all living near Sergent, and they have no fewer than 748 descendants living in the neighborhood. The oldest member of the family, Lettie, is 82 years old and has twenty children, ninety-five grandchildren and fifty great-grandchildren. Polly, aged 80, has sixteen children and almost as many grandchildren and great-grandchildren as Lettie. The youngest, Wiley, has the fewest descendants. He is 70 years old, and has eleven children, fifty-four grandchildren and fifteen great-grandchildren.

Undoubtedly Correct.

BEYOND RECOVERY.

The Boy LaFlamme—His Cure was a Surprise—A few Boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

PAPPINEAUVILLE, Feb. 3 (Special).—The father of the boy LaFlamme is one of the leading merchants here and willing to talk of his son's cure. He says,—"My little boy Arthur, after scarlet fever about a year ago, never recovered and his ailment ran into a kidney trouble. His body was swollen to twice its natural size. The sufferings of the little fellow were very severe and we had all given up hope of him. But three months ago we commenced giving him Dodd's Kidney Pills, and to-day he is romping and playing with the other boys." This as an instance of prompt cure is very remarkable.

FINANCE AND FINESSE.

A Member of Parliament Neatly Caught for a Sovereign.

Here is a story about a member of the English Parliament well known for his knowledge about all questions of finance. This wise statesman was approached by a reputable-looking man, who said, with a deferential but not servile manner, "Excuse me, sir, are you not Mr. Blank?"

"I am," said the M. P., with affable dignity.

"I believe you are well informed upon all financial questions?"

"My friends and the press are kind enough to say so."

"You have given much attention to the subject I think?"

"More than to anything else."

"And no doubt you could give a satisfactory answer to almost any question I might ask?"

The member saw that he was being "interviewed," and wished to say something that would look well in print.

"Perhaps I could, if it were in the power of any man," he answered.

"Well, I have a question in finance that I should be greatly pleased if you would answer to my satisfaction."

"Very good. What is it?"

"Will you lend me a sovereign for a day or two?"

The M.P. produced the sovereign.

"By George!" he said afterwards, "he could have caught me for five just as well, if he had only known it."

BUILT UP THE SYSTEM IN A WONDERFUL MANNER.

James A. Bell, of Beaverton, Ont., brother of the Rev. John Wesley Bell, B.D., prostrated by nervous headaches

A victim of the trouble for several years.

South American Nervine effected a complete cure.

In their own particular field few men are beter known than the Rev. John Wesley Bell, B.D., and his brother Mr. James A. Bell. The former will be recognized by his thousands of friends all over the country as the popular and able missionary superintendent of the Royal Templars of Temperance. Among the 20,000 members of this order in Ontario his counsel is sought on all sorts of occasions. On the public platform he is one of the strong men of the day, battling against the evils of intemperance. Equally well known is Mr. Bell in other provinces of the Dominion, having been for years a member of the Manitoba Methodist Conference and part of this time was stationed in Winnipeg. His brother, Mr. James A. Bell, is a highly respected resident of Beaverton, where his influence, though perhaps more circumscribed than that of his eminent brother, is none the less effective and productive of good. Of recent years, however, the working ability of Mr. James A. Bell has been sadly marred by severe attacks of nervous headache, accompanied by indigestion. Who can do fit work when this trouble takes hold of them and especially when it becomes chronic, as was, seemingly, the case with Mr. Bell? The trouble reached such intensity that last June he was completely prostrated. In this condition he tried recommended South American Nervine. Ready to try anything and everything, though he thought he had covered the list of proprietary medicines, he secured a bottle of this great discovery. A second bottle of the medicine was taken and the work was done. Employing his own language: "Two bottles of South American Nervine immediately relieved my headaches and have built up my system in a wonderful manner." Let us not deprecate the good our clergymen and social reformers are doing in the world, but how ill-fitted they would be for their work were it not the relief that South American Nervine brings to them when physical ills overtake them, and when the system, as a result of hard, earnest and continuous work, breaks down. Nervine treats the system as the wise reformer treats the evils he is battling against. It strikes at the root of the trouble. All disease comes from disorganization of the nerve centers. This is a scientific fact. Nervine at once works on these nerve centers; gives to them health and vigor; and then there courses through the system strong, healthy, life-maintaining blood, and nervous troubles of every variety are things of the past.

THE sick man knocking at the door of health gets in if he knocks the right way, and stays out if he doesn't. There are thousand of ways of getting sick. There is only one way to get well. Do whatever you will, if you do not put your digestion in good order, and make your blood rich and pure, you will not get well. Rich, pure blood is the only thing that can bring perfect health. A large part of all the diseases that afflict mankind are traceable directly to impurities in the blood, and can be cured by eliminating these impurities. That most dreadful of all diseases, consumption, is a disease of the blood. The disease shows in the lungs, because of some inherited or acquired weakness there. If the blood were always pure and without germs, the disease would never develop and in time weakness itself would be overcome. Germs and impurities in the blood float along through the body until they find a weak spot for lodgement. They stick there and develop and people call the disease by the name of the organ afflicted. As a matter of fact, the disease is always a disease of the blood, and if the blood be purified, the disease will be cured. That is a perfectly natural, rational conclusion, endorsed both by common sense and the highest medical authority. It is in accordance with these facts that Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery works. The first thing it does is to put the whole digestive system into perfect order. It stimulates the appetite, excites the copious secretion of the digestive fluids and promotes assimilation. It searches out disease germs wherever they may be, kills them and forces them out of the system. The "Golden Medical Discovery" has been used with unvarying success for over 30 years.

If you care to know more about it, and more about your own body, send 21 one-cent stamps to cover cost of customs and mailing only, and you will receive absolutely free a copy of Dr. Pierce's 1008 page book, Common Sense Medical Adviser. Address, World's Dispensary Medical Association, No. 663 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

THE BRAIN A FIRE.

A Doctor Says That Life is a Luminous Effluvium.

Dr. S Millington Miller, of New York, a well-known writer on physiological psychology, last evening delivered a lecture before the Educational Club at the Normal School on "Mind-Building by Sense Development." Dr. Miller said, in part, that the energizing principle that acts through the organs of sense is what is known as life or thought or mentality, whose principal habitation is the brain. A series of experiments recently conducted by Col. de Rochas, the head of the Paris Polytechnic School, showed that the human brain is a burning fire, whose luminous effluvium escapes through the eye, ears, nose and mouth into the surrounding atmosphere, filling the air for a circle of some 10 or 20 feet with a mild, hazy light. By means of hypnotic subjects it has been shown that the effluvium is sentient, and, if a glass of water is pinched with the fingers, the hypnotized giver of the light or life complains of pain. De Rochas has it that life or light is a uniform and stable quantity.

Turning to the senses, the lecturer said the mutual aid society of the senses is now a well-established fact—the blind see with their fingers, the deaf hear with their eyes, the deaf and dumb and blind see and feel and hear with their fingers, or see and hear through their sense of smell.

The meaning of all this is that the vital essence is a uniform quantity and when any sense is diseased or defective it throws enough of its power into another sense to enable it to play a double function. The new education teaches the child by accustoming him to draw and describe objects before him as nearly as possible as they really are. The fact of having drawn the objects adds still more cells to the group already connected in the description of them. As each impression has its separate cell or storehouse, and as each storehouse is connected with the others, the recurrence of any one impression of an object at any time will bring before the mind a complete picture of all its qualities by the association of ideas. It was just this kind of education that Daudet gave to Guy de Maupassant. He set him to describing natural objects, rejecting every composition as inadequate until one was written which came nearest to describing every possible quality of the objects, and the result of this education was that Maupassant was a marvelously brilliant and pictorial writer. The lecture was illustrated by blackboard sketches of portions of the brain and of the nervous system, to which the speaker frequently referred.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Arctic Berries.

In spite of latitude and Arctic current, Labrador is the home of much that is delicious in the berry world. Even the outlying islands furnish the curlew berry and bake apple in profusion; and upon the mainland in the proper month, September, a veritable feast awaits one, says a writer in "Outing." Three varieties of blueberries, huckleberries, wild red currants, having a pungent aromatic flavor, unequaled by the cultivated varieties; marsh berries, raspberries, tiny white capillaire tea berries, with a flavor like some rare perfume, and having just a faint suggestion of wintergreen; squash berries, pear berries and curlew berries, the latter not so grateful as the others, but a prime favorite with the Esquimaux, who prefer it to almost any other; and lastly, the typical Labrador fruit, which, excepting a few scattering plants in Canada and Newfoundland, is found, I believe, nowhere outside the peninsula—the gorgeous bake apple.

These cover the entire coast from the St. Lawrence to Ungava. Their beautiful geranium-like leaves struggle with the reindeer moss upon the islands, carpet alike the low valleys and the highest hilltops, and even peep from banks of everlasting snow. Only one berry grows upon each plant, but this one makes a most delicious mouthful. It is the size and form of a large dewberry, but the color is a bright crimson when half ripe and a golden yellow when matured. Its taste is sweetly acid, it is exceedingly juicy, and so delicate that it might be thought impossible to preserve it. Yet the natives do preserve it with all its freshness and original flavor throughout the entire winter, merely by covering it with fresh water and heading it up tightly in casks or barrels.

Dry Blocks of Peat.

Many people have probably wondered, as I have, why the immense peat deposits existing in different parts of the United Kingdom are not turned to better account than they have been hitherto. From the result of recent experiments there would seem room to hope that this will speedily be done. A process has been introduced for preparing peat for fuel by first disintegrating it and then working it up into dry blocks. These blocks burn brightly, are perfectly clean to store and to handle, and, above all, give off only a small amount of smoke, and that anything but offensive—in fact, the fumes are said to be highly beneficial to persons affected with chest complaints, so that a smoky chimney with a peat fire may prove a blessing in disguise.

Triumphs of Mechanism.

"Scales are now made of such a nice adjustment," says the Railway Review, "that they will weigh anything, to the smallest hair plucked from the eyebrow. They are triumphs of mechanism, and are inclosed in glass cases, as the slightest breath of air would impair their records. The glass cases have a sliding door, and as soon as the weight is placed in the balances the doors slide down. Two pieces of paper of equal weight can be placed in the scales and an autograph written in pencil on either piece will cause the other side to ascend, and the needle which indicates the division of weight even to the ten-millionth part of a pound and less will move from its perpendicular. A signature containing nine letters has been weighed and proved to be two milligrammes, or the fifteen thousand five hundredth part of an ounce, troy.

A Costly Bug.

Secretary Morton was showing a reporter through the entomological bureau the other day, and this is a part of what the reporter says he said: "I've got a bug in there that cost the Government $20,000; he does not look it, but he did. It's a fact. One day an outfit of scientists started in pursuit of this bug. They ranged all over the hemisphere and stuck to his trail like bloodhounds; they ransacked North America all the way from the Isthmus to Alaska. After the most remarkable adventures by flood and field they treed their bug and took him prisoner. He was then brought captive to Washington, and he's right there now in that brick house, the highest prized bug on earth. A round-up of the total expense of that one bug hunt came to over $20,000. But we got the bug."

The Land of Whiteness.

It was remarkable to see how the plumage of the birds gradually changed into lighter and lighter colors as we drew southward, altering with the color of the surroundings. Whether the birds, like the polar hare also changed their color with the season, I had not an opportunity to notice; but it is clear that within the Antarctic Circle also Mother Nature takes care of all her children, and protects the defenseless from the eye of their larger enemies by giving them an invisible clothing. It was thus impossible to discover the magnificent white petrel when it was on the dazzling snow. It was likewise difficult to discover the white seal when it stretched itself on the ice-floes.—From the Century.

How to "Salt" Almonds.

To prepare salted almonds, blanch them by pouring boiling water over them and rubbing the brown skin off with a rough cloth. When they are blanched and quite dry measure them, and over each cupful of nuts pour a teaspoonful of the best olive oil. Let them stand for an hour, and then sprinkle a tablespoonful of salt over each cupful, mixing it thoroughly. Spread them out on a flat tin pan and put them in a not too hot oven until they have become a delicate brown.—Ladies Home Journal.

Diseases of the Throat and Lungs.

Are extremely frequent in this climate, and their danger lies in the opinion too often entertained that they will wear themselves out. That they do not and that hundreds are being hurried in consequence to untimely graves is one of the most patent facts of our existence. The only rational treatment is to employ Maltine with Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites, a preparation of inestimable value in all pulmonary complaints. In addition to supplying the oil in a form in which it may easily be assimilated and without disturbing the stomach, it represents the nutritive properties of wheat, oats and barley, and is therefore a reconstructive and tissue former of eminent value. Not less important is the action of maltine on starchy foods. These are rendered digestible and capable of replacing the wastes of the body. This is Nature's own method. Try Maltine with Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites.

She Thought She Understood.

The following story is told of a precocious little girl of ten. She is the daughter of a well-known lady of considerable charms, whom the family doctor was visiting for influenza. He felt the pulse gravely and tenderly, holding her wrist after the orthodox manner of a ladies' doctor, as he sat beside her in the drawing-room. As he did so he became aware that the child had her great grave eyes, full of inquiry, fixed upon him.

"You don't know what I'm doing?" said the medical man, lightly, to the young lady.

"Yes—I do," was the portentously solemn reply. "You are making love to my mother!"—London Tid-Bits.

Very Careful.

The editor of the "New Woman" was buying the mechanical outfit for her publication, the first number for which was to be issued in about three weeks.

"You wish to get an entire dress for the paper?" said the type founder.

"Yes, sir."

"Have you any preference as to the style?" he inquired.

"Yes, sir," promptly replied the editor. "I don't want anything decollete."—Chicago Tribune.

YOUR "BAD BACK" RE-BACKED.

HOW IT IS DONE!

The pertinent question of the day is—Does your back ache? Is it lame?

Thousands suffer from what they commonly term "Bad back." When they walk or when they work, when they lie down or rise up, wherever they may be or whatever they may do, the old aching, paining, "lame back" worries and wearies and wears them out.

Few people understand the real cause of their aches, and fewer yet know how easily they can be cured.

Just a word of explanation.

The back is the key-note of the kidneys. When it aches that's a sign that the kidneys are not acting properly. When it is "lame," that indicates that the kidneys are clogged up.

Then all the poisonous products that it is the kidneys special duty to eliminate from the blood, are carried in the blood current to every organ and tissue of the body, bringing on many a kidney trouble which if neglected means disease.

Will you heed the timely warning the back gives you? Will you strike the enemy while you can strike hard? Doan's Kidney Pills are the little enemies of kidney disorders They strike with no uncertain hand Old backs and young backs are being "re-backed" and freed from never-ceasing pain and many a lame and shattered one, stooped and contracted, is strengthened and invigorated by the use of Doan's Kidney Pills. HARD TIMES!

Fortunately we have no reason for complaint, for which we are thankful to the public. There are weighty reasons for such a record. The public are well aware that orders entrusted to us give such satisfaction, that in a record of 35 years we never met with a refusal by the public in accepting such ordered goods.

The reason of this is, that we buy only such material as must give satisfaction, and we are the practical Cutters and do not employ female cutters of no experience who may well do for sewing and suit others on account of cheapness in wages, but would not suit our taste, nor trade.

We offer for the remainder of the season our goods at the lowest possible prices.

FORTNIGHTLY CLUB COLUMN.

No. I.

The Church and the Industrial Classes (No. 5)

In the previous columns on this question we have examined the causes of the alienation of the industrial classes from the church, which exists in the Mother Country, in the United States, and in all centres of population. We do not think it exists in any great measure here in Peterborough, but "forewarned is forearmed," and the same causes may be in operation here only on a smaller scale, that have produced such lamentable results elsewhere. And under any circumstances the wise words of a wise man are always worthy of attention, and are applicable to many circumstances.

We shall conclude this series of columns with extacts from our author's advice for the conciliation of the alienated:

1. Generally speaking, he says, "the first thing then for the Church to be is faithful to its own mission and ideal, to live, and think, and act as if it were indeed the Saviour of men. It exists like its Founder and Head, not to be ministered unto, but to minister. It ought to know neither aristocracy nor democracy, but only man; its concern is neither with capital nor labour, but with the men who hold the capital and do the labour." "The ambition of the Church will be to create men with a passion for righteousness." A passion for righteousness! It is a splendid phrase.

It is not difficult to get men or women to work for the Church, to subscribe to the Church, to rejoice in the increase of her members, or the improvement of her services or her preaching, but it is more difficult "to create a passion for righteousness." And this is natural, because righteousness is the hardest thing of all. "To obey is better than sacrifice," cried the prophet to a people highly devoted to their sacrificial system. "To what purpose is the multitude of your sacrifices unto me, saith the Lord, wash you, make you clean, put away the evil of your doings from before mine eyes; cease to do evil learn to do well, seek judgment, relieve the oppressed, guide the fatherless, plead for the widow."

Some one once drew a distinction between religiousness and religiosity. The former is that strong deep faith and reverence, which permeates all life, the latter, is a kind of fussy interest in sermons and services, in clubs and societies, without any real regard for "the weightier matters of the law." That delightful man, the late Dr. John Brown, of Edinburgh, called this religiosity "one of the curses of our time." "The church should in the very process of fulfilling her duty do two things, first teach men of all classes to be in the highest sense religious men in all their offices, trades and relations; and secondly, bring men of all classes together as men, make them to know each other, and look each at his own questions with the other's eyes."

"The workman needs to know his master that he may comprehend his case; the master needs to know the workman that he may understand where the shoe pinches and how it may be made to fit the foot." The only agency by which they can be thus united and made mutually intelligible is a church which knows them as men, but refuses to know them as interests or classes."

* * * *

SPECIAL LINES.

2. (a). The church must become in a larger degree the instructor of the people. "There is nothing the pulpit needs so much as courage both in its mode of handling things and in its choice of the things it handles; there ought to be nothing too high or too abstruse, too critical or too philosophical for it any more than too plain or too practical." "The potentialities of the pulpit are incalculable; hardly any limit could be set to what it might accomplish. The whole realm of thought and feeling, truth and duty, history and life, art and literature, knowledge and action lies before it; crowds of anxious, expectant, perplexed, thoughtful men and women wait for its words."

(b). Our author issues a strong plea for the re-creation of the home and the home life. Very truly does he say that in talking of the working man we often forget his wife, who is not seldom the hardest worker of the two. We write of "a shorter working day," but what of the wife's working day? Here we strike a terribly real difficulty. The wife "suffers more in the struggle for life than he does, has fewer elements of change and brightness in her life, and readily falls into a hopeless drudge, unable to cheer because incapable of cheerfulness." So far as the poorer districts of our great cities are concerned, this problem is in a fair way of solution by the "settlements," such as the Toynbee Hall settlement in London, the Hall House settlement in Chicago, which is under the superintendence of a saintly and devoted woman, Miss Jane Adams, and many others. "If," says our author, "we could only create the happier and more wholesome home, the battle were as good as won."

* * * *

In regard to the movement known as "the Labour Church," whilst no doubt it is capable of good, we cordially agree with our author, that "a labour church" is a creation more of despair than of hope, an attempt as it were to sanctify an evil rather than to cure it. The terms "Master" and "Servant," "Capital" and "Labour," denote relations the Church ought not to know. She carries for all mankind the noblest inheritance of our race, the wealth of Divine love and grace, of human faith and hope and devotion, of saintly memory and heroic achievement, and only as she makes the inheritance she carries the possession of the commonwealth does she fulfil the end for which she was created."

DEATH FROM HEART FAILURE

That Might Have Been Avoided by the use of Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart.

Promptness is the first essential in all cases of sickness and especially in heart disease. Minutes may mean everything. The use of an effective medicine may mean the saving of a life, where the use of that possessing little power may simply leave death to take its course. One great virtue of Dr. Agnew's Cure for the heart is that it gives relief almost immediately, whether the case be that of organic or sympathetic heart disease. The numerous testimonials received by the proprietor of this medicine bear the strongest testimony to this fact. "I would not have been alive to-day had it not been for your medicine," is the cheering refrain of a large percentage of the letters received by the proprietor of this remedy. Sold by H. S. Macdonald.

WANTS TO MEET KRUGER.

Mr. Chamberlain Invites the Boer President to England.

London, Feb. 7.—The London Gazette prints a long despatch sent by the Right Hon. Joseph Chamberlain, Secretary of State for the Colonies, to Sir Hercules Robinson, Governor of Cape Colony and High Commissioner in South Africa. Mr. Chamberlain reviews the causes that led to Dr. Jameson's raid in the Transvaal, enumerates the grievances of the Uitlanders in the Transvaal and suggests a scheme of reforms, including the granting of limited autonomy to the residents of the Rand. He invites President Kruger of the Transvaal to visit England to discuss the questions at issue, and says that if he is unable to come he (Mr. Chamberlain) relies upon Governor Robinson to prosecute the negotiations and uphold the Anglo-Boer convention of 1884.

A Highly Respected Citizen Makes a Sworn Statement of the Cure of an Extremely Bad Case of Eczema.

Province of Ontario, County of Wentworth, to wit:

I, Wm. Marshman, of the city of Hamilton, county of Wentworth, Province of Ontario, do solemly declare that I live at 242 Catharine-st. north, and am seventy-three years of age. I suffered most intensely from eczema for about two years, and it covered my whole body. I tried several kinds of medicine, was in the City Hospital for six weeks, and was told there they had done all they could for me, and was discharged a year ago last December as incurable. After leaving the hospital I was under the care of a Hamilton physician for a long time, but got no relief. So bad was my case that before I could lie in my bed I had to procure silk underwear, the weight of the clothes being unbearable. With the mercy of God and four bottles of Ryckman's Kootenay Cure I am now well and entirely cured of eczema. The medicine is a grand tonic, and a wonderful blood purifier. I recommend it most heartily.

And I make this solemn declaration, conscientiously believing it to be true, and knowing that it is of the same force and effect as if made under oath and by virtue of the Canadian Evidence Act.

(Signed) WM. MARSHMAN.

Taken and acknowledged before me at the City of Hamilton, in the county of Wentworth, this 29th day of January, 1896.

An Electric Hen.

The business of hatching chickens by artificial means is carried on so extensively that any improvement in the apparatus or methods is certain to attract the attention of all poultry raisers, says an exchange. The latest invention in this line is an electric apparatus. It is said that in this invention the temperature can be adjusted and maintained to a fraction of the desired pitch. The walls of the incubator are filled in with mineral wool. There is a hot-water tank at the top which keeps up the proper temperature by circulation. In these electric hens, as they are called, a resistance box may be used to heat the water, but they are made so that either oil, gas or electricity may be used. The idea of hatching chickens by electricity explodes the old theory that an electric current addled the eggs. This notion went out of fashion a long time ago, with many other things to which our ancestors clung with the utmost tenacity. It is thought that chicks raised in electric incubators have more strength and vitality than when brought out in the ordinary way. Several poultrymen are experimenting with electric brooders, and the results will be looked for with great interest.

Do You Realize

That the great trouble of the American nation is Kidney Disease?

Very few men and fewer women have perfect kidneys Did you know this?

And did you also know that there is but one remedy known to science for this great trouble: Warner's Safe Cure.

If you have peculiar pains in the back, or anywhere else in the body, they probably come from disordered kidneys. If you are weak, sickly and do not know the cause the chances are it is kidney trouble.

When the great and only cure for this is so easily obtained, are you, perhaps, not wasting time and running a great risk if you do not secure it?

Vitality IN MEN Restored.

Failing Sexual Strength in old or young men can be quickly and permanently cured by me to a healthy, vigorous state. Sufferers from....

NERVOUS DEBILITY, VARICOCELE, NIGHT LOSSES,

AND ALL WASTING DISEASES should write to me for advice. I have been a close student for many years of the subject of weakness in men, the fact is I was a sufferer myself. Too bashful to seek the aid of older manor reputable physicians I investigated the subject deeply and discovered a simple but most remarkably successful remedy that completely cured me and fully enlarged me from a shrunken, stunted condition to natural strength and size. I want every young or old man to know about it. I take a personal interest in such cases and no one need hesitate to write me as all communications are held strictly confidential. I send the recipe of this remedy absolutely free of cost. Do not put it off but write me fully at once, you will always bless the day you did so. Address,

THE BOOT and SHOE TRADE OF PETERBOROUGH COMING OUR WAY ON THE JUMP!

We feel it in our mit—we see it in our crowds—we read it in our sales.

Selling Boots and Shoes alongside of Clothing, &c, and under the same roof, lessens running expenses and reduces prices all along the line—that's part of the secret of our big sales, and shoppers have had it proved to their entire satisfaction times without number.

Time was when we paid the wholesaler a stiff profit and took what we could get. Now the Situation is changed, and if we want anything we go for it and buy in big enough quantities to discount the trade generally. In other words the wholesaler is no longer supreme.

Besides our own efforts to get the nobbiest of stylish Boots and Shoes, manufacturers are on the alert for the largest distributing points, and without a lantern come straight here when they think of Peterborough.

We Are Selling To "Beat the Band."

Doing a rattling business and whittling prices down in spite of the increased price of leather. Sooner or later we'll have to charge more, but not yet awhile.

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN, BOYS AND GIRLS, are all remembered. Their wants have all been anticipated. Fine Boots, Shoes, Slippers, Rubbers, Overshoes, Cork Sole Boots, Leggings, Artic Snow Excluders, and every possible need of man, woman or child.

Keep your feet dry—healthy—warm—cornless—painless—these stormy wintry days. Don't wait for another snow storm but buy your Boots, Rubbers and Overshoes now! Bad weather soon finds the weak spots in Footwear.

It isn't a question of how much we can get but how little we can afford to sell for, and if you don't find values here the best within your reach, make us pay well for our imprudence. This year we begin with fresh resolves to outdo and excel all our past records.

SECOND CROP OF BARGAINS.

We start the Bargain Ball rolling for February in dead earnest. As there is a good deal of winter yet before us, it is unnecessary to point out the wisdom of buying now.

Our Stock-Taking is over—now for a month of lucky chances and snaps in mid-winter goods. An aftermath of Bargains for shrewd buyers—lines which we laid out during stock taking such as Serges, Cheviots, Heavy Tweeds and other Remnants, to be sold even at HALF REGULAR PRICES.

We don't want to carry winter lines past their regular selling season, so you may figure on getting pretty nearly your own way in prices.

You need the goods—we need the room they occupy—so there is mutual benefit all round in the selling of them.

Our New Spring Stock is wheeling into line, and we are glad to tell our lady friends that part of our programme for Spring is a NEW MILLINERY DEPARTMENT, of which we will tell you more in good time.

We don't "rest-up" during the winter months and take things easy until Spring. Business is full of worn-out, tired-out men who live almost wholly in the past and struggle for the success that never comes. And because of that they find fault with the times. While others are resting we're simply HUSTLING.

RHODES GOES BACK

And the Outlanders Will Run the Transvaal.

THIS IS A CORRESPONDENT'S VIEW

Of the Difficulty in South Africa—Have Kruger and His Boers Been Marked for Sacrifice?—What Mr. Rhodes Admitted to the Colonial Secretary.

New York, Feb. 9.—Harold Frederic cables from London to The Times: Something absolutely unexpected by any one has happened. Cecil Rhodes, instead of remaining and making sport in the gladiatorial arena with Chamberlain, as all England took for granted he would do, has merely had a long talk at the Colonial Office, and is forthwith hurrying back to South Africa. A more unlooked for and puzzling surprise hardly could be imagined and throws all forecasts out of gear. The Chartered Company must hold its annual meeting within a fortnight, and the public has been waiting for the great speech that Rhodes was to make then as the grand opening move in the campaign between him and Chamberlain, which was to eclipse everything since the time of Warren Hastings. It entered into nobody's head that the battle could be avoided. Now we are calmly told that the fight is off, and in men's minds there is room for only one question: "What does it mean?" It scarcely needs a prophetic eye to discern the probability that Kruger and his Boers are marked for the sacrifice.

In other words, it is plainly open to be feared that England, having behaved with scrupulous correctness up to the present point of the Transvaal business, is now about to do an unlovely thing. Perhaps it is manifest destiny, but it will wear an ugly aspect none the less. Chamberlain's lengthy recital of events from the starting point of Mafeking, tells little that is new. It throws the perfidy of Jameson's behavior into rather a stronger light than before, and coldly hints that Sir Hercules Robinson's innocent ignorance of what was going on needs some further investigation; but the really important parts of the document are not reached till he begins to disclose the policy of the British Cabinet. England's rights of entire control of the Transvaal's external relations and her intention to maintain them in their integrity are affirmed in the plainest possible language. That has been done before, but now, in addition, comes the statement that England, by geographical and other considerations, is justified in tendering her friendly counsels on internal matters also. Then, after a long narration of the grievances of the Uitlanders, comes what Mr. Chamberlain describes as merely a suggestion of one way of meeting the difficulty, but which will be read alike in Pretoria and Berlin as a British ultimatum. The entire Rand, embracing the whole mining district, is to be erected into a semi-autonomous province, with a Legislature, Supreme Court, police, educational system, mining management, and so on, of its own. Plenty of safeguards of the Transvaal's supremacy in large matters are suggested, such as the power to veto and the like, but, in substance, Mr. Chamberlain proposes to give to the invading Uitlanders on the Rand a rather freer scheme of home rule than he broke up the Liberal party for attempting to secure for the Irish in their own island.

The announcement that Rhodes, on his return, will live in Rhodesia, instead of Cape Town, may be taken as signifying that he is to stand on the frontier of the Transvaal as the representative—not merely as the head of a huge private financial syndicate, but as the more or less official representative of England's will that the Uitlanders be allowed to manage the Rand in their own way.

That Kruger will accept this solution without a violent protest, or that his Boers will not encourage him to resist by force of arms and appeals for European aid, is entirely unlikely. One may look, with confidence, too, to see Germany foam over again with exuberance at the vague notion of blocking England's felonious progress, but when it comes to realities, what can either Kruger or the Kaiser do? England is on the ground and holds little Transvaal as in a thumbscrew. One twist of its giant hand and the Boers pass into history, while with its other hand the German navy and mercantile marine could be mauled beyond recognition, an dalso the British Empire goes on being made.

The Sun's London correspondent says the Stock Exchange knew very well on Friday in general terms that an understanding had been arrived at between Mr. Rhodes and the Government, and it boomed the market on the strength of it. I am quoting a version of the now famous Colonial Office interview everywhere accepted in financial circles when I say that Mr. Rhodes admitted to Mr. Chamberlain that he sanctioned the mobilization of the Chartered forces on the Transvaal border. He did it because he felt sure that the Johannesburg people would revolt, and Dr. Jameson's men might serve to protect refugees from Boer violence and be ready to carry out Imperial instructions at the shortest notice in case the Boers did anything which Great Britain could fairly say opposed her interests. Mr. Rhodes strenuously denied that he ordered Dr. Jameson to cross the frontier, and could only explain his action by the urgency of the messages addressed to him. Whatever Mr. Rhodes had done was for the ultimate glory of Great Britain.

Mr. Chamberlain consented to take this view of it and the only punishment or restriction which the Government will, for appearance's sake, impose upon the Chartered Co. will be to put the armed forces of South Africa under the direct control of the Crown. Mr. Rhodes, under the circumstances, can have no serious objection to this.

The World's correspondent concludes that the South African Co., in the long run, will be found to have suffered very little for the action of its representative in the Transvaal.

TO BE TRIED WITH JAMESON.

Captains Coventry and Gosling Must Surrender Themselves to England

New York, Feb. 9.—Mr. Ballard Smith cables from London to The World that he is informed that Captain Coventry, a brother of Lord Deerhurst, who married an American girl, and Captain Gosling, both of whom have been in the hospital suffering from wounds sustained at Krugersdorp, are to surrender themselves on their arrival in England to be tried with Jameson. Thus, the curious spectacle will be presented of a son of the Earl of Coventry, a high official at the Court of St. James, being arraigned for an offence which is in effect modified treason.

"I can now confirm my previous information," says Mr. Smith, "that Dr. Jameson and his confederates will be indicted under the foreign enlistment act, the maximum punishment for his offence being two years' imprisonment.

"It is now apparent that in order to allow the collecting of evidence in South Africa the trial cannot take place before May, and it is shrewdly suspected that the effect, possibly intended, of this long delay, will be to make it less likely than ever that anything more than nominal punishment will be inflicted."

The trial of members of the Reform Committee at Pretoria, which began yesterday, was continued to-day. Jacobus Demellion testified that the republican flag was hoisted on the gold fields offices on Dec. 25, and men were enlisted. Col. Rhodes, a brother of Cecil Rhodes, had told him the Uitlanders had brought the country to its prosperous condition, and it was hard for them to be governed by the stupid Boers. Col. Rhodes told him, further, that they had asked Dr. Jameson to come to Johannesburg to preserve the peace and protect them. Later he heard Mr. Leonard, whose arrest the Cape Town authorities sought to effect at Teneriffe, Canary Islands, the other day, on his way to England, make a speech to the crowd, in which he said: "We do not have equal rights with the Boers. Our petitions are treated with contempt. We now demand our rights with our arms in our hands. We want a republican government and not the autocratic government at Pretoria. All who want to fight for their rights and for freedom can receive arms."

OPPOSITION TO FIGHT IN SUPPLY

Believing That the Government Might Not Go to the Polls if the Estimates Get Through—The Pacific Cable Commission—C. A. R. Sunday Trains

Ottawa, Feb. 9.—The Railway Committee of the Privy Council had a lengthy session yesterday, the Ministers present being Hon. Mr. Haggart (chairman), Sir A. P. Caron, Hon. Mr. Daly, and Hon. Mr. Prior. Several cases of interest to Ontario people were up for consideration.

Major Carpenter was present, representing a number of fishermen and residents of Burlington Beach, who complained that the Grand Trunk Railway has deprived them of access to their fishing grounds, by building a wire fence on each side of their line and closing up certain gates and crossings.

After some discussion it was decided that Mr. Bell, solicitor for the G.T.R., and Major Carpenter should confer together, with a view to making arrangements by which the objections of the fishermen may be overcome.

In the matter of the complaint respecting the dangerous condition of the approaches to the Fenelon-road crossing of the G.T.R., in the Township of Ops, the case stood over, as no one was present representing the township. Mr. Bell promised, however, that Chief Engineer Hobson would look into the matter with a view to remedying the complaints.

The charge preferred by Mr. E. Dube of Fraserville, of discrimination against him by the Temiscouata Railway was dismissed, no one appearing for Mr. Dube. The complainant is a lumber merchant and claims that the railway company's officials unjustly discriminated against him in the charges for carrying railway ties.

A well-known politician said to-night: "This is the 8th day of February. Parliament, it is believed, expires by effluxion of time on April 25. Between these dates there are 76 days. Deducting Saturdays and Sundays, there are 56 days left for actual work. Other 10 days must be allowed as private members' days. In the 46 days left to the Government, they hope to put through the Remedial Bill and the Supply Bill, the two measures in which they have a vital interest. The opposition to the school bill is so pronounced that I do not believe that that measure can be got through in that time. Mr. McCarthy, Mr. O'Brien, Mr. Wallace, Prof. Weldon and others will oppose it at every stage. Maj. Hughes has also made a similar declaration. If this is so, they can take up many days in talking against the bill on its general principles, and against every clause in it. They say they will never let it get out of committee. In regard to the supplies, the Opposition have. It is believed, determined to fight every item and prevent any sum, big or little, being voted. They have declared that if the Government got a supply bill through, they need not go to the country until March, 1897, and they intend to run no such risk."

It is expected that the Government will shortly appoint the two commissioners to confer in conjunction with the Australasian delegates with the Colonial Secretary in reference to the Pacific cable. As already announced, by cable, Sir Saul Samuel and Mr. Duncan Gillies will represent Australia at the conference. They are instructed to favor state construction and control of the cable, as opposed to the chartering of a private company, that the line should be built entirely within British territory, which means the adoption of the Fanning Island route, that the financial support to the undertaking should be on a basis of one-third each by Great Britain, Canada and the Australasian colonies. From Norfolk Island it is proposed that the line shall bifurcate one branch running to New Zealand and the other to Australia.

The Canada Atlantic Railroad Company commenced its Sunday train service between Ottawa and Montreal today. The Ottawa Sabbatarians were considering the advisability of attempting to stop the service, but found that provincial law would not apply, the railway company having a Federal charter. It is generally supposed here that the suggestion for the establishment of the service, which promises to be a great boon to the traveling public, came from General Manager Hays of the Grand Trunk Railway.

Hon. Dr. Montague will return from New York to-morrow. It is stated that the specialist whom he has consulted has given satisfactory assurances respecting the Minister's physical condition, so that the Doctor's services will be available for his party during the remainder of the session.

The Senate committee on divorce has met and organized, the Hon. John N. Kirchoffer of Manitoba being chosen as chairman. There is a slight change in the personnel of the committee compared with last year, Hon. Mr. Wood succeeding the late Senator Kaulbach and Hon. Mr. Baker taking the place of Hon. Mr. McInnes.

MONDAY, FEBRUARY 10, 1896.

THE St. Thomas Journal claims that the anxiety of the Government to put through a supply bill, is to provide boodle for the coming general elections. To cover this assault on the treasury the cry of "obstruction" is raised when the Opposition insist on the specific legislation for which the session was called, being brought down. But such transparent tactics will not deceive the country.

THE Montreal Herald thinks the Liberals can stand stand it. After Antigonish, Vercheres, Montreal Centre, Jacques Cartier, West Huron and Charlevoix, where the Government and the Opposition met on something like equal terms, the Liberal party should be able to accept with fortitude a defeat in a constituency (Cape Breton), which, since 1878, has given Conservative majorities all the way from 800 to 2,000 votes.

THE Woodstock Sentinel Review says:—"At this distance we are not aware of the intention of the Opposition. But we know what its policy ought to be. It should be to prevent any new or important legislation outside of the special object for which the Government declared that it summoned a sixth parliament—that is the Manitoba School Question. And it should go further. It should prevent the passage of supplies. The constitution provides for five sessions for each Parliament. The Government should not be allowed to saddle upon the country through a sixth the enormous annual expenditures which are every year becoming a greater burden to the people of Canada. We do not believe in obstruction as a matter of party tactics, except under extraordinary circumstances. But obstruction under present circumstances is not only justifiable, it is a matter of public duty. Mr. Laurier's course is clear. He is strong enough to prevent the voting of supplies by this Parliament. He should do so and force a dissolution."

ONE of the amazing things about the Conservative party is the way in which it calmly proposes to settle down under the Tupper dictatorship and let him run the whole thing, just as it did with Sir John Macdonald and his successors. No matter what the party leaders do or leave undone, the party takes it all as a matter of course and never dares to raise its voice in protest. Even in a matter so important as remedial legislation it is only the more independent men who are talking of deserting the ship.

The consequence is that the rank and file of the party have no voice in framing the party policy or in selecting the leaders, and no opportunity of giving expression to their opinions on party questions except at occasional nomination meetings, and even here the machine has control and the cries of the few are lost in the clamor of the crowd. The party is simply in this position, that it must shut its eyes and open its mouth and take what its leaders give it.

To the ordinary man this seems a somewhat humiliating position for a great party to occupy, and the wonder is that the people do not assert themselves. Here is Sir Charles Tupper preparing to bombard the country with a lot of schemes called the Conservative platform, although they are not the Conservative platform at all, but simply the Tupper platform—the platform on which Sir Charles Tupper and some more professional politicians hope to get back to power and the control of the country's money bags.—Hamilton Herald, (Independent).

Ivorine For The Teeth

Asks only a trial. Boasting will not whiten teeth; Ivorine for the teeth does. Extravagant claims will not render the breath sweet and fragrant; Ivorine never fails to do this. Ivorine for the teeth asks you for an opportunity to demonstrate its value. Dentists have affirmed it and the public corroborate professional opinion, but do you know, as every tooth loving man or woman ought to know, Ivorine for the teeth is the best.

The Street Talk in London Has More than an Echo.

Druggists Report 'More than Doubling Sales—General Expression of Faith in Dodd's Kidney Pills.

St. Thomas, Feb. 10th.—(Special).—The drug store records and street talk referred to in a despatch from London are not considered surprising here.

Among all classes the expression of opinion in favour of Dodd's Kidney Pills as a kidney treatment is emphatic.

There seems to be a general awakening to the fact that some form of kidney disease will account for nearly all of human suffering. After visiting all the druggists here your correspondent finds that in every store, with a single exception, the sales of Dodd's Kidney Pills have more than doubled this year thus far, as compared with corresponding periods of a year ago.

One druggist said: "In all my experience as a druggist, I have never sold any preparation that has given such unvarying satisfaction as Dodd's Kidney Pills. I believe that their increased sale is due more to merit than to advertising."

"I have never had a single complaint or one word of disappointment from the buyer, and we are sure to hear of it if a medicine fails to give satisfaction."

Another druggist said: "I have never had so large a sale for Dodd's Kidney Pills as during last week."

DEATH OF MR. L. S. LUNDY.

He Was a Grandson of William Lundy, After Whom the Historic Lane Was Named.

Niagara Falls, Feb. 9.—The Niagara district has lost one of its best-known and highly respected citizens in the death of Mr. Lanty Shannon Lundy of Lundy's Lane, yesterday evening. He was the last surviving member of the family of Thos. Lundy, a son of William Lundy, a U.E. Loyalist, after whom the historic lane was named. The late Mr. Lundy was born and spent most of his life in the house in which he died, and which was used as a hospital during the Battle of Lundy's Lane, and as officers' quarters during 1814, his father's house having been burned by guerillas in 1813. The original plot of the homestead was granted by King George III., Jan. 6, 1796, thus having been in the unbroken possession of the family for more than a hundred years, and the clock, whose ticking marked his birth, marked also his release from the weary hours of his suffering, during which he was sustained by an unwavering Christian faith. He was also of revolutionary stock, his maternal grandfather having been Col. Shannon, a British officer, whose command was the last to surrender to American arms. He had entered upon his 77th year, having been born Jan. 1, 1820. He had been a life-long Liberal, a justice of the peace for 32 years, and had held many other public positions of trust. He was esteemed by all for his uprightness of character, and kindness of heart, and revered by those admitted to his friendship and home circle. He leaves a sorrowing widow and large grown-up family, by whom he was dearly loved and by whom his memory will be held as their best possession. The funeral will take place from his late residence on Wednesday afternoon, Feb. 12, at 2 o'clock, interment taking place at Drummond Hill Cemetery.

Seems as if consumption always picks out the brightest and best. Fully one-sixth of all the deaths that occur in the world are caused by consumption. Many things were once considered impossible. It would be strange if medical science did not make some progress. The telegraph and telephone, the phonograph, the electric light—all were once impossible, and once it was impossible to cure consumption. That was before the time of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Taken according to directions, this standard remedy will cure 98 per cent. of all cases of consumption. Consumption is caused and fostered by impurity in the blood. It is cured by purity and richness in the blood—surely, certainly cured by the "Medical Discovery." It builds up solid healthy flesh and vigorous strength.

SALISBURY'S LUCK.

He Meets Parliament Without Any Forebodings.

A UNITED COUNTRY BEHIND HIM

And Also a Large Surplus in the Treasury Little Interest Seems to be Taken in Great Britain's Domestic Program—The Forecast of the Queen's Speech.

New York, Feb. 9.—Mr. Isaac N. Ford cables from London to The Tribune: 'The Queen's Speech will probably announce that the Venezuela question has reached a stage where an adjustment is possible. There are strong reasons for believing that Lord Salisbury has received assurances from Washington that the Monroe doctrine does not apply to the claim for indemnity for the Yuruan affront to the British flag. Secretary Olney, in his elaborate argument seemed to exclude that incident from diplomatic discussion, and the State Department was already committed by the precedent of the Corinto affair. It is generally believed that Lord Salisbury is pressing the claim for indemnity, and that the State Department is advising President Crespo to settle that branch of the case, with the understanding that the boundary dispute shall be submitted to arbitration. That progress has been made in directing the adjustment of the questions at issue by the direct action of England and Venezuela now seems certain, and it is also evident that the American Commission will not be allowed to take part in the proceedings.

Some English journals assert that the boundary dispute might have been settled at any time in the last ten years if Venezuela had acted properly. This is wide of the mark, since Lord Salisbury declined to carry out Lord Granville's arbitration scheme, and subsequently set up the Schomburgk line as an "Irreducible minimum." That line has now been discarded, and one Minister of the Crown after another concedes the vital point that the Venezuela dispute is a fair case for arbitration.

The Queen's Speech will not be disclosed until Monday night, but the leader-writers, who will outline its contents, hardly need the text in order to comment upon it. The Queen's Speech this year writes itself, and anybody can forecast its substance. It will be devoted mainly to foreign and Imperial questions, and little space will be reserved for domestic legislation. Lord Salisbury is a lucky Prime Minister; he meets Parliament without a foreboding of danger or disaster on all foreign questions. He has behind him a united country; there is a large surplus in the Treasury and public opinion sanctions in advance an increased outlay in support of a foreign policy of defiance, the Unionist majority in the House of Commons is so great that any measure of domestic policy can easily be enacted; the Opposition is weak in numbers and debaters.

Momentous as are the issues of diplomacy and the Imperial policy, the political risks of conducting the Government during the coming session are not serious. The public attention is so completely absorbed by foreign questions that the domestic program of the Government excites little interest. There will be an agricultural bill of some kind, some palliative measure for Ireland, some project for relieving voluntary schools without disturbing the dual system of national education, and possibly some scheme of Government reform for London; no large measure will be proposed. The Unionist is a good politician; he knows that Lord Rosebery made a fatal mistake in attempting to carry out a large and unmanagable program; he intends to propose only measures which are moderate and safe, and to avoid controversy so far as possible. Even the Education Bill will be a compromise with the disturbing elements minimized.

The important measures of the session will be bills for increasing the efficiency of the fleet and providing for Imperial defences. These will be popular. The Canadian phrase-maker who described "the splendid isolation of an all-powerful Empire" deserves knighthood; he lighted up the English imagination and rendered a great service to national idealism.

There has been much oratory during the week, Mr. Balfour, Sir Michael Hicks-Beach and Lord Salisbury being the chief Unionist speakers, and Mr. Morley pursuing the Scotch canvass with unabated ardor. His replies to Lord Salisbury on the Monroe doctrine and Armenia have been effective, but his criticisms of the foreign policy of the Government have been captious. Possibly the "heckling" process has disagreed with him; he has been in the hands of his Scotch tormentors, who have plied him with harassing questions about Home Rule, local veto, the eight-hour principle, the publication of indecent reports of divorce and breach of promise cases, and everything else.

The death of Prince Henry of Battenberg, husband of Princess Beatrice, youngest daughter of the Queen, has caused Her Majesty to revise her will. It is reported that she will leave Osborne House to Princess Beatrice, and will also bequeathe to her the lease of Abergeldie House. The Duke of Connaught, it is said, will get Balmoral, the Queen's residence in the Highlands. Ex-Empress Eugenie has chartered the late Duke of Hamilton's steam yacht Thistle, and placed it at the disposal of Princess Beatrice for a cruise in the Mediterranean.

A memorial praying for admission of women to degrees at Cambridge University has received the signatures of 2200 university members. Among those who have signed the memorial are Arthur J. Balfour, First Lord of the Treasury, Gerald Balfour, Chief Secretary for Ireland; Sir Walter Besant, the well-known author, and other notable men. Prof. Marshall advocates the establishment of universities for women similar to those in the United States.

According to The Speaker, the Porte, while strengthening the defences of the Dardanelles, will purposely leave the Bosphorus open for a Russian fleet that may appear off Constantinople within three weeks, to protect the Sultan against a rising.

Lord Dunraven's reference in the speech delivered by him at Glasgow to the impossibility of a quarrel between two nations of the same blood has been met with jeers by the Liberal press. The Westminster Gazette asks why, if Lord Dunraven is so anxious for international amity, he does not express regret for the unfounded charges he made against the owners of the yacht Defender.

The Yachtsman enlarges upon the irreproachable behavior of the committee of the New York Yacht Club, and insists that Lord Dunraven shall make the amende honorable.

WIRED FROM WINNIPEG.

Premier Haultain of the Northwest Territories En Route for Ottawa.

Winnipeg, Feb. 9.—Premier Haultain of Regina and J. C. Pope, who held the position of Accountant of the Territorial Exhibition went east to Ottawa to-day, presumably to throw more light on the subject of unpaid exhibition accounts, about which there has been a good deal of talk at the capital.

The re-count of votes cast in Dauphin constituency in the late provincial election confirmed the return of Theodore Burrows by 12 majority. Glen Campbell, the defeated candidate, will now protest the election, and it is understood Mr. Burrows will resign rather than run the risk of being unseated.

The members of the Provincial Cabinet decline to discuss the alleged provisions of the Remedial Bill, published in the press, but intimate that the validity of the measure may be tested in the courts.

TO PHOTOGRAPH A MAN'S BRAIN.

Edison, the Electrical Fiend, Has Got Another New Scheme On.

Orange, N.J., Feb. 9.—The much-talked-of attempt of Mr. Thomas A. Edison to photograph a man's brain did not take place to-day as Mr. Edison was not ready with the necessary tubes to be used in the work. He found that one of the tubes which had been constructed produced a distorted image and he has set to work to construct a battery of five or more tubes which will cover the head of the subject completely. Mr. Edison states that the attempt will probably be made to-morrow night. A man will be placed on a table with a sensitive plate and shutter on his head. Over his head will be placed the battery of five tubes. The exposure will be for the first experiment, one hour. Mr. Edison believes that he will be successful. He has succeeded, it is said, in making tubes of incandescent light bulbs that are superior to Crooks' tubes in the results.

Although a very busy man, Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., has found time in which to write a great book of over a thousand pages entitled, The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser in plain English, or Medicine Simplified. Few books printed in the English language have reached so great a sale as has this popular work, over 680,000 copies having been sold at $1.50 each. The profits on this enormous sale having repaid its author for the great amount of labour and money expended on its production he has now decided to give away, absolutely free, 500,000 copies of this valuable book, the recipient only being required to mail to the World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N.Y., of which company he is president, 31 one-cent stamps, to cover cost of mailing only, and the book will be sent post-paid. It is a veritable medical library, complete in one volume. It contains 1008 large pages, and over 300 illustrations, some of them in colours. The Free Edition is precisely the same as that sold at $1.50 except only that the books are bound in strong manilla paper covers, instead of cloth. It is not often that our readers have an opportunity to obtain a valuable book on such generous terms, and we predict that few will miss availing themselves of the unusual and liberal offer to which we have called their attention.

WANT A CANADIAN PRIEST.

French Catholics in Connecticut Won't Give Support Till They Get One.

Danielson, Conn., Feb. 9.—About 400 French Catholics held a mass meeting to-day and adopted resolutions not to pay one cent toward the church in any form whatever, until a French Canadian priest is furnished. They signed a circular to that effect and will have it distributed among the French families this week.

WILL MR. SEXTON ACCEPT?

He Has Been Offered the Leadership of the Irish Parliamentary Party.

Dublin, Feb. 8.—A deputation of the Nationalist members of the House of Commons to-day visited Mr. Thomas Sexton, M.P. for the north division of Kerry, and tried to induce him to accept the leadership of the Irish Parliamentary party in place of Mr. Justin McCarthy, who has declared his intention of retiring from the position of leader.

Mr. Sexton refused to definitely accept the leadership, but, after a good deal of persuasion promised to consider the matter. The members of the Irish Parliamentary party will meet in the House of Commons on the 18th inst., to receive his reply.

CARD OF THANKS.

Messrs. Cox & Davis, Peterborough:

GENTLEMEN: I wish to thank you for your promptness in settling the loss on my furniture, which occurred through the upsetting of my coal stove, on Friday night last at 10 o'clock. On being notified next day you were good enough to send over a man to settle the loss in order that I might be able to get the house cleaned up and thereby saved me much inconvenience. From my experience with your office now, it is a source of pleasure for me to feel that my insurance is with you, and I shall not forget to tell my friends.

Yours truly,
MARY ANN O'BRIEN.

Death of Mrs. Robert Thompson.

On Sunday morning, Feb. 9th, Mrs. Thompson, relict of the late Robert Thompson and mother of Mrs. (Dr.) Greer, town, died at the age of 72 years and 10 months. The deceased lady, who resided with Mrs. Greer, went a short time since on a visit to friends in Cavan. While a guest with Mr. John Greer she contracted a severe cold, that developed into double pneumonia which proved fatal after a week's illness. The funeral will take place from Mr. Greer's residence, 12th concession of Cavan, on Tuesday, February 11th, at 2 o'clock p. m. The remains will be laid in the ninth concession cemetery, Cavan.

Two Days' Weather.

Ideal weather was that of Saturday, while to those who enjoy winter snowstorms yesterday's climate must also have been as satisfactory. Saturday afternoon saw the down-town streets as crowded as at any time this winter. It was a well dressed, happy crowd, too, who thoroughly enjoyed the dress parade. The weather was just cold enough to be pleasant for this healthy Canadian pastime. Yesterday, however, snow fell all day until late in the evening. Walking was very unpleasant, consequently the attendance at the various church services was not as large as usual. The most popular place for walking was on the car tracks, following the sweeper which was kept running all day. The cars were not blocked to-day, although a great quantity of snow fell.

A Minister's Death.

Rev. John Smiley, M. A., who was a superannuated minister of the Methodist Church, died at his residence, 23 St. Joseph street, Toronto on Thursday evening. Although never stationed in Toronto Mr. Smiley filled many positions throughout northern and eastern Ontario. He was located at Bobcaygeon, Severn Bridge, Burk's Falls and latterly at Lambton Mills. A widow and two children, Miss Zoe Smiley, a teacher in one of the Public Schools, and Mr. W. A. W. Smiley, of the Union Loan and Savings Company mourn his death. Mr. Smiley was well known as a contributor in both prose and verse, to many Canadian papers. He was born in old Yorkville in 1840, and received his early religious training in the Bloor street Methodist Church, Toronto. Death was caused by hemorrhage of the lungs.

POLICE COURT.

Thos. York Gets a Month—Chas. Guy Heavily fined for Raising a Disturbance.

The police court was crowded this morning by the usual assembly of the unemployed.

Thos. York was charged by James Flaherty with assault and evidence was taken from several parties. It was also proved that he was an old offender and had been convicted of various offences at Uxbridge, Lindsay and other places. The magistrate fined him $10 or thirty days. He took the days, not having the necessary cash.

Chas. Guy was greeted with two charges. The first was one of being drunk and raising a disturbance. To this he pleaded guilty and was fined $2 and costs. In the second charge he was accused of assaulting a citizen who had been called on by the Chief of Police to assist in apprehending him. The magistrate fined him $5 and costs, adding that when an officer called upon any citizen to assist in carrying out the law of the country they are in duty bound to do so.

The case of Stevenson vs. Walton, in which the latter was charged with fraudulently disposing of goods, was dismissed, with costs on the plaintiff.

Thos. Howden was charged by Walter McBain of Cavan, with stealing two cattle. Mr. W. A. Stratton appeared for the defendant, who elected to be tried by jury, pleading not guilty. The Crown was not ready to go on and the case was enlarged for a week. The facts of the case are as near as could be gleaned, that about the middle of January Howden went to McBain's and bought a steer and a heifer, paying $1 down, McBain to deliver the cattle in Howden's yard in Peterborough on the 23rd January. Howden was absent when the stock was delivered. Later the plaintiff came to him and asked him for the money. Howden told him he would pay him on Tuesday. This did not seem to satisfy McBain, and he swore out a warrant for Howden's arrest.

PERSONAL.

Mr. Asa Choate, of Port Hope, we noticed in town to-day.

Obituary.

The funeral of Mr. Alex. B. Craig, whose remains arrived in Peterborough from New York on Friday, took place on Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock to the Little Lake cemetery, Rev. J. C. Davidson conducting the burial service at the grave. The pall bearers were Messrs. R. H. Fortye, Ed. Brown, F. D. Mackay, Ed. Dawson, W. H. Meredith and W. F. Green. In reference to Mr. Craig's death, the New York Tribune of Wednesday last makes the following reference to the deceased's popularity in New York and the cause of his death: Alexander B. Craig, who was George C. Boldt's confidential adviser and an assistant manager of the Hotel Waldorf, died at two o'clock yesterday afternoon at his home No. 121 One-hundred-and-sixth street. Mr. Craig was widely known to the hotel men throughout the east. He superintended the Waldorf above the office and dining room floors. Mr. Craig's affable and genial manners endeared him to the guests of the hotel, being greatly respected, especially by the women and children who made the hotel their home. Mr. Boldt placed implicit confidence in Mr. Craig's ability to manage the important duties of pleasing the guests of the hotel, and all complaints were referred to him to be adjudicated. His popularity caused John Chamberlain to select him as the manger of the Chamberlain Hotel at Fortress Monroe. Mr. Craig was to have assumed the management of the hotel as soon as it was opened for business. On Sunday Mr. Craig was operated upon for appendicitis, but was too weak to recover from the effects of the operation. He was thirty-six years old, and leaves a widow and one child. The resident guests and the employees of the hotel are saddened by the sudden death of the popular manager, and all, without exception, express their sympathy."

SWALLOWS A SNAKE.

STRANGE CASE OF MYRTLE PERKINS, A YOUNG DOMESTIC, NOW IN PETERBOROUGH.

An Attempt to Remove the Creature by an Operation on the Patient Proves Unsuccessful, and the Operation may Have to Again be Attempted.

Every man remembers the feeling of incredulity with which he received in his childhood the old legend about the woman who swallowed a lizard, and the method employed to cause the reptile to vacate his lodging, which consisted in holding a piece of nicely browned meat in the mouth of the patient and catching the intruder when he came to feed upon it.

Fact, however, is even stranger than the old legand, says the Toronto News. In Toronto Junction there resided until Sunday last the prototype of the legendary woman in the person of Myrtle Perkins, a girl of 17 years of age, who has been for some months a servant girl in the employment of Mr. T. E. Hoar

CAME FROM PONTYPOOL.

The girl came to live with Mr. and Mrs. Hoar, whose house is on Pacific avenue, in September last and at the time appeared in poor health. Her parents reside at Pontypool, about 21 miles from Peterborough.

Soon after entering the service of the Hoar family she began to complain of not feeling well. One day the girl, who was quiet and industrious, and by no means of imaginative nature, was working down in the cellar, when the inmates of the house were startled by a loud shriek, and the immediate appearance of the servant girl, who with blanched face told how some creature which was inside her had crawled up her throat into her mouth, that she had grasped it, but being afraid to do anything more, had allowed it to slip back into her stomach. The creature, declared the girl, was a lizard, or some similar reptile.

CONSULTED DOCTORS.

After this her complaints became frequent, and at times she suffered intense pain. Her friends commenced to treat her in their fashion, depriving the patient of food in the hope that the unwelcome visitor would be starved into surrender. While the starving process was going on, however, the greatest agony was inflicted upon the unfortunate female. The creature, she said, ran about her stomach, scratched and gnawed it, and invariably those in charge were compelled to administer nourishment, with the result that the beast became appeased and ceased tearing her. This put a stop to the famishing experiments.

Dr. Perfect, of Wynne avenue, was then consulted, and he treated the patient for tapeworm, and administered sufficient medicine to kill either the strongest tapeworm or body worm, but the symptoms still remained. The patient told those about her that while living with her parents in Pontypool she had kept company with a friend called Watson; that the two had rambled about the country together drinking from wells and streams, and that her friend had, while doing this, swallowed some reptiles which had afterwards been removed from her.

AN OPERATION.

The doctor, who at first was inclined to treat the story as one of the imagination, now became convinced of its probability, and decided to perform an operation. He called to his assistance Dr. Glendening, and on the 30th December last the girl was chloroformed and her abdomen opened. The medical men were about to open the stomach, when the subject began to show signs of exhaustion, and in order to save her life the operation had to be abandoned and the girl revived. The medicos preferred to have a live girl and a live lizard rather than a dead girl and a live lizard.

The operation was performed at the house of Michael Lebar, of Law street, where Miss Gibson, the aunt of Miss Perkins, resided. The doctors advised her to remain there until the wound was healed, and then to go to some relation and take a rest, after which it is intended to make another attempt to decide the cause of the girl's illness.

Acting upon this advice, Miss Myrtle on Saturday last went to reside with Mrs. Hughes, of Peterborough, her great-aunt. She will return after an interval for a second operation.

It is probable that medical annals contain no case parallel to the one we have mentioned, as the doctors who attended the case cannot recall having read of any similar case in the text books. Some of those who best know the girl say that the occupant of the stomach is a snake and not a lizard. As a reason for this, they say that the reptile often climbs to the top of her throat and then drops back, which is not the action of a lizard, but of a snake.

ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

Everything Ready for the Opening To-morrow.

Preparations are nearly complete for the reception of the members of the Legislature on Tuesday. The chamber has been thoroughly renovated, and matting has been laid on the floors of the main corridors. Yesterday afternoon a large number of palms and potted flowers were received from the conservatories of the Central Prison, and they will be used to brighten the members' smoking room, the ladies' reception room, and the legislative library. The adoption of the address from the throne to the Provincial Legislature will be moved by Mr. Murdo Y. McLean, of South Huron, and seconded by Mr. Thomas W. Chapple, of North Ontario.

TAKE YOUR CHOICE.

Compare the two—Inwardly Digest the Merits of Both and Decide.

A rhyming politician has summed up and compared the qualities of the two great political parties in the following words:

The Conservative party—Full of isms, full of cranks, full of wild ideas and "planks"; full of politics and spleen, full of office-seekers keen; full of quarrels, full of fights, full of over-salaried knights; full of tricks as wary loons, full of statesmen full of "prunes."

The Reform Party—Full of push and full of vim, full of courage to the brim; full of men who toil and strive, full of men who climb and thrive; full of laudable desire, full of patriotic fire; full and sound, its precept yields to the country fertile fields; full of culture, full of wealth, full of vigor full of health.

ACCIDENTS IN THE LUMBER WOODS.

Oscar Winters Has His Leg Badly Broken—Another Man Hurts His Side.

An employee of Messrs. Howry & Sons named Oscar Winters, from Saginaw East, Michigan, met with a very serious accident in Long's camp, beyond Haliburton, on Monday evening last.

He was engaged in top loading with an anchor chain and block, when the chain snapped and one end struck him on the left leg, breaking both bones midway between the knee and the ankle, the larger one being so badly shattered that a splinter about an inch long was driven completely through the flesh.

He was driven in a sleigh to Haliburton, a distance of twenty-eight miles, to take the train to Fenelon Falls, and is now an inmate of Dr. Wilson's hospital, a ticket for which he had the good sense to buy. So far he is doing fairly well, though suffering a good deal of pain.

Samuel Cooper, of Toronto, one of Howry & Sons' employees, came from camp No. 21, Gooderham, to Fenelon Falls on Wednesday, with an injured side, having fallen from the top of a skipway about a fortnight ago. Since then he has been able to do but very little work, and having a ticket of admission to Dr. Wilson's hospital, he thought he would avail himself of his privilege of treatment and rest. —Fenelon Falls Gazette.

Weak, Tired, Nervous

Women, who seem to be all worn out, will find in purified blood, made rich and healthy by Hood's Sarsaparilla, permanent relief and strength. The following is from a well known nurse:

"I have suffered for years with female complaints and kidney troubles and I have had a great deal of medical advice during that time, but have received little or no benefit. A friend advised me to take Hood's Sarsaparilla and I began to use it, together with Hood's Pills. I have realised more benefit from these medicines than from anything else I have ever taken. From my personal experience I believe Hood's Sarsaparilla to be a most complete blood purifier." MRS. C. CROMPTON, 71 Cumberland St., Toronto, Ontario.

What are you wearing On your feet this weather?

There is style in footwear as there is in hats. Each year the Granby Rubbers and Overshoes are modelled to fit all the fashionable shapes of boots. They are thin so as to prevent clumsy appearance and feeling and to make them so necessitates the use of the finest quality of rubber. While Granby Rubbers and Overshoes are up to date in Style, Fit and Finish, they retain their old enduring quality.

Granby Rubbers wear like Iron.

Were wise cooks in their day and they knew the virtues of using Cream Tartar and Soda in their baking. Their trouble was that sometimes they used a little too much Cream Tartar and sometimes a little too much Soda, and, besides, Cream Tartar can scarcely ever be bought twice of exactly the same strength, so that they rarely get the proportions correct, and that is the secret of success or failure.

Our chemist analyzes a sample of every pound of Cream Tartar we use and the ingredients are used strictly in accordance with his report, so that there can be no possible chance of failure if you BAKE with FANCY SKATING.

A very large crowd gathered at the skating rink last evening, says the Lindsay Post, to witness the exhibition of fancy skating given by Mr. Egerton Hartley, of Peterborough. "Edge," as he is familiarly dubbed by those who know him well, is very clever on the steel blades, and what he is not able to do in the way of serpentines, changes of edges, rocking turns, cross-cuts, single and flat foot spins, lockouts, vines, etc., is not worth mentioning. The ice was not in the best condition for some of the more intricate balance movements, but Mr. Hartley made very few errors. Mr. Hartley is wonderfully good at cutting initials and names, which is no doubt due to the fact that he is an expert penman. He has many handsome medals won in competitions and races, two of which were won in competition with a skater named Learins in contests open to all Canada. One very handsome trophy was given by Lord Dufferin, governor-general, and another was won from Luke Tempest, champion of the North-west.

Since Hartley came to town
No one here can skate.
None will do the Dutch roll
Or try the figure eight,
The flat iron or the "eagle,"
The scissors or the "grape;"
We only feel like gazing
At him with mouths agape.

THE WHEEL.

Little, one of Sarnia's fast road racing team, has taken up his residence in town and will considerably strengthen the local team.

The riding men of Peterborough are thinking of forming a club amongst themselves and securing suitable rooms up town where they can train during the winter months. The new club will have quite a few followers, it is understood.

HOCKEY.

The Collegiate Institute seven has challenged the printers to a game on Wednesday evening next and although the printers have not been on the ice this season, they propose giving the Collegiates a whirl. The game takes place between seven and eight o'clock.

CURLIANA.

The final curling matches for the Ontario Tankard have been postponed from to-morrow until Wednesday.

At the rink on Saturday night a game was played between the pedagogues and bankers with the following result:

Bankers.		Pedagogues.
B Belleghem,		M O'Brien,
V C McGill,		W J Dropo,
J Crane,		H R H Keaner,
W D Parker, skip.	10	J Jeffries, skip	15

A member of the Curling Club, wondering what his enjoyment costs him besides fees, finds that, playing steadily during a season, he will have the following data to calculate from:—Thirty games, 14 ends per game, average weight stone 30 lbs., length of rink 40 yards. Based upon these figures he will have, during the course of the season, to lift and project 40 yards a total of 32 760 lbs. of granite, and if he dutifully follows every stone, will travel 305 miles, probably sweeping a path two or three feet wide for nearly half that distance. Furthermore, there would be enough lung exercise to keep a pipe organ going for an indefinite number of Sundays.

A COCKING MAIN.

The sports of Peterborough and Lindsay are still talking over the cocking main of last week, which took place in Lindsay, between birds from the two towns. It was decided that the winner of six out of eleven battles should receive the stakes of $100, whilst $20 was was wagered on the result of each battle between the owners of the birds. A good deal of cash was also put up amongst the spectators. Peterborough and Lindsay each won a battle turn about until the eleventh, which was won by the Peterborough bird, thus bringing victory to the home sports.

One Honest Man.

Dear Editor:—Please inform your readers, that if written to confidentially I will mail in a sealed letter, particulars of a genuine, honest home cure, by which I was permanently restored to health and manly vigor, after years of suffering from nervous debility, sexual weakness, night losses and weak shrunken parts. I was robbed and swindled by the quacks until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but thank heaven, I am now well, vigorous and strong, and wish to make this certain means of cure known to all sufferers. I have nothing to sell, and want no money, but being a firm believer in the universal brotherhood of man, I am desirous of helping the unfortunate to regain their health and happiness. Perfect secrecy assured. Address with stamp:—L. A. Edwards, Jarvis Ont.

MISSIONARY SUNDAY OF LOCAL METHODISM.

SPECIAL SERMONS IN THE TWO CHURCHES.

Rev. F. B. Stratton, Conference President, and Rev. Thos. Manning, the Preachers.

Yesterday was missionary Sunday in the Methodist churches of the town, and Rev. F. B. Stratton, president of the Bay of Quinte Conference, and Rev. Thos. Manning, were in town making special appeals to the congregations of the Charlotte street and George street Methodist churches.

In the morning Rev. F. B. Stratton spoke in the Charlotte street church from Ezekiel, 9th ver. xlvii. chap.

And it shall come to pass that everything that liveth, which moveth, whithersoever the five rivers shall come, shall live: and there shall be a very great multitude of fish, because these waters shall come thither, for they shall be healed, and everything shall live whither the river cometh, the speaker explained that the prophet of Ezekiel was a very visionary man and his book of prophecies the most mysterious in the Bible. The text, he thought, illustrated the growth and progress of Christianity on the earth. The first church was established in Zion and the source of the river was stated to be in the temple. A fountain of great magnitude supplied the stream, whilst Christianity emanated from the great fountain of gospel truth. The river flowed forth from under the temple and spread out over the country like unto Christ's exhortation to his disciples to go forth and preach the gospel throughout the world.

IN OPENING,

The river of Christianity flowed along silently through the dark ages but in the time of the Reformation broke out with a flood which swept away many of the barriers. The stream was swelled by the work of such men as Wesley, Whitfield and others, until nothing could withstand its flow. Obstacles, and Mahommedism have been swept away and though infidelity built a strong dam across the river, it, too, was swept away by the glorious flood of the stream.

The work of the Judsons and of Carey in India, were then mentioned as results of the overflowing river. The missionaries, it had been stated, were the very salt of the Empire of India, doing more for civilization than the British Government could ever expect to do.

The work in Japan was then reviewed by the speaker, who stated that the first missionaries entered Japan in 1860. In the first six years only five converts were secured, in twelve years there were only ten, but after this God blessed the work, and the stream widened until now there were 34,500 converts in the island.

A brief statement concerning the work in China was given including the efforts made in Corea. There was in these islands before one convert had been won. Madagascar once so degraded now set an example to the world in religious matters, public prayer being offered every day by order of the Queen.

In one of the Friendly islands when cannibalism once abounded, there now exists the largest church in the world with a congregation of over 4000. The work of "the Waters" in Africa was then briefly reviewed, after which Rev. Mr. Stratton made the statement that the missionary spirit has so taken hold of the church that there were more workers ready to go out than funds could provide for. Therefore instead of praying for more missionaries to go forth, the prayer of the church rather should be offered up that the people might be inspired to give with greater liberality as the heathen were practically at the doors of Christianity begging for salvation. There were large fields in Mexico and South America which were yet unvisited by

THE CHRISTIAN MISSIONARY.

The result of the words of the prophets and of the later day reformationists were, he stated, being grandly realized. Moses led a mighty army in the days of old, but it was nothing like the army which he was leading to-day. Luther required a safe conduct when upon earth, but now he took no odds from kings or princes. Wesley did a grand work when upon earth, but it was not a tithe to what he was doing now.

In conclusion, Rev. Mr. Stratton stated that there were yet 800,000,000 pagans in the world who had not yet been brought to Christ. He explained that with the money expended yearly in Canada for whisky and tobacco alone, thousands of these heathen could be brought to the foot of the throne, and queried whether all were living up to their responsibilities in this matter.

Before the subscription was taken, Rev. Mr. Rae mentioned that last year the amount of $2,237,496 had been raised for missionary work, which was an increase of $3,342 over last year. The subscriptions, however, had fallen off $12,173, the increase being derived from the Indian department, legacies, etc. Only $162,009 was raised by subscription in 1895. Charlotte street church gave $154 84, George street church $601.00, and Mark street church $98.30.

At the George Street Church.

A most profitable and able address was given Sunday evening in the George street Methodist church by Rev. T. Manning, M.A., and former pastor of the church, on the subject of the missionary society of the church. He said that the great doctrine of the Methodist church was to carry salvation to all the world. In the time of the great Reformation the people never agreed to the great missionary doctrine of to day of carrying the Gospel to the heathen In the year 1776 the church of Scotland (Presbyterian) was the first to recognize this great undertaking and had great things to combat with—statesmen and even it might be said to a certain extent, the church. It was a matter of great astonishment that the glory of the Reformation should be called by some "lost faith," but it was the foundation of one of the greatest blessings that could have been brought upon the Christian church and so the last named church took it up and now we can look into almost every country under heaven and see missionaries from almost every denomination preaching from the great command "Go ye into all the world and preach the gospel to every creature."

We could hardly speak of an occasion like this without thinking of the Anglo-Saxon race. It is not for nothing that God has given us the islands of the sea, viz., Great Britain and Ireland, the centre of an empire that the sun never sets upon. When a certain ship was wrecked on the coast of Africa and when they had all they could possibly do to get to the shore, they climbed up the rocks and there in the distance was seen a small church with the Union Jack floating in the air. It was then that they found religion a help and blessing and knew by such signs that they were safe. When we think of the men who have given up home, friends and loved ones and into the far-off heathen lands to fight against barbarous tribes and sickness, it ought to urge every Christian man and woman on in the work of laying the world at the feet of Jesus. While we think of our country let us not forget our Christian Queen, who from the day of her coronation has sailed with the Bible as the wheel. We cannot say that it is the Queen of England who rules that great colony, India, but it has reached that stage in its history when it recognizes the Bible at the ruling power. When the man who of late spoke in the great assembly in our sister country to the south of us, of the war that for a time was coming up around us, he said that he was proud that he could say he was an Englishman, a native of a country that gave to its people religious liberty. The speaker insisted that the source of Britain's power is this great Book, the Bible.

Let us remember that it has fallen to the lot of the United States to put its arm to the great missionary wheel and help with the rest, and also the disadvantages she has to contend with. Being a comparatively new country she has had an immigration of Italians, Chinese, Dutch and perhaps as many more nationalities represented within her border—in some cases these being the lowest types of humanity. A certain amount of this work has also fallen to Canada, and we had to conquer it, and when we remember the first missionaries that came to this country—a country of wood and rocks—with obstacles in the way which we are unable to realize, it ought to put renewed energy and zeal into our Christian lives and urge us on in the great work.

Mr. Manning gave some very touching incidents in the careers of some famous missionaries, particularly of Dr. Moffat. When, after a number of other missionaries had suffered death, he along with six young boys but by some means unknown, the Doctor and three of the lads were given their freedom. The other three had to undergo the torture that others had passed through. They were put to the agonizing torture of being burned to death, and when put in position and the fagots had been lighted, the old chief exclaimed, "Now sing your songs for your Christ." The young lads then in their dying moments struck up a hymn that they had often sung and continued it until their voices died away in the agony of death. Mr. Manning also said that some people had the idea that the Methodist church was rising too high for them to be able to reach the lower classes, but he never expected to see the time come when our great church shall turn her back on the poorer classes. He also said, in speaking of the amount paid to mission funds, that he did not want it understood that he considered it a duty or an obligation, but that it is a great privilege for the people to give money to send to the missionary field those who are willing to go.

There has not been one who had gone as a missionary and was not a thorough Christian who succeeded. Though in some cases it has been long before they even got one convert, yet in the end it was a blessing, and these countries were of the lowest type of ignorance, but there is no people so utterly ignorant that Christianity cannot reach them and change their lives.

In conclusion, Mr. Manning urged the congregation to give as they could. This church had last year given nearly $700 and why could they not raise it to a thousand?

MUSICAL DONT'S.

DON'T forget that a glittering exterior is no guide in the selection of a Piano, but bear in mind that the artistic merit of a Piano is generally in inverse ratio to the gorgeousness of its outward appearance.

DON'T forget to read Canon Medley's letter on page 17 of our catalogue, which so felicitously expresses the above idea in the following words:—"It (the Mason and Risch Piano) is an instrument with no foppery about it. Its exterior seems to say, "I am good inside."

DON'T forget that an apparently low price is no evidence of a bargain. Articles of genuine merit invariably cost more than inferior goods. The Mason & Risch Piano is no exception to this rule.

DON'T forget that the cheap Pianos, for which it is claimed that they are reproductions of leading American makes, are invariably unsatisfactory. It is as impossible to reproduce a musical work of art (except by the originator) as it is to reproduce a great picture or a great piece of sculpture.

DON'T forget that the Mason & Risch Piano is not a copy, but a brilliant original conceived of artistic instinct and born of mechanical skill, care and precision.

DON'T forget to write to the address given below, at the earliest opportunity, and, by a thorough investigation of these Pianos, satisfy yourself as to the soundness of the above remarks.

Laid Low by Indigestion.

I was so run down I had to give up work.

Scott's Sarsaparilla the kind that cures.

Indigestion or dyspepsia is the bane of thousands, and is one of the most depressing of afflictions. It arises from an impure or impoverished condition of the blood, which weakens the digestive and assimilative organs, rendering them incapable of performing their natural functions, and if neglected, the sufferer loses flesh, complains of exhaustion after slight exertion, and becomes rapidly debilitated.

Mr. Wm. W. Thompson, a prominent resident of Zephyr, Ont., in a letter dated Aug 12th, 1895, says: "It gives me great pleasure to testify to the fact that Scott's Sarsaparilla has caused a most remarkable change in my condition. I was so much run down I had to give up work and felt as if life were not worth living. Mr. Dafoe induced me to try Scott's Sarsaparilla, and after taking four bottles I am now feeling as I formerly did years ago, and I want to say for the benefit of those suffering from indigestion and feeling, to use slang phrase, 'completely knocked out,' don't despair until you give Scott's Sarsaparilla a fair trial."

Scott's Sarsaparilla is a blood food, it stimulates all vital organs to healthy normal action, enabling them to throw off all poisonous and debilitating humors. Sold by druggists at $1, but there is only one Scott's. The kind that cures.

MEXICO'S WORLD'S FAIR.

It Will Open Next September and Continue Open for Six Months.

The great international exposition of industries and fine arts, authorized by the Federal Government of Mexico, by concession dated January 9, 1895, will be opened in the City of Mexico next September and will remain open for a period of six months. This will be Mexico's first attempt at holding a world's fair. The exposition is to include all kinds of industrial, scientific, commercial and artistic productions and to embrace, in fact, the whole range of human activity.

The exposition grounds are situated at the foot of the historic Castle of Chapultepec, on the grand Avenue de la Reforma, within ten minutes' ride from the center of the City of Mexico, and comprise an area of about 600 acres. The exposition will comprise a natural and an international department, to which latter all the nations of the globe may contribute.

The City of Mexico is situated on an extensive plateau, having an area of over 170 square miles, surrounded by lofty mountains and including five lakes within its area. Although with a geographical location within the tropics, the latitude of the city being 19 degrees 50 minutes north, it is possessed of a climate so salubrious, of so even a temperature, that summer or winter a residence in Mexico city or its environs is always pleasant, and visits to the city can be made at any time of the year, whether it is to escape the extreme cold of the northern winters or the excessive heat of the northern summers. The climate, however, is not the only attraction, all visitors agreeing that the beauty of the environs, of the surrounding mountains and the beautiful lakes, in whose waters are reflected the snow-capped peaks of the great mountains Iztazihuatl and Popocatapetl, and further the many antiquities and strange sights to be seen, the fruits and flowers, both summer and winter, are fair rivals of the greatest interest to the visitor.

In natural resources, especially in metals and other minerals, Mexico is favored more than almost any other portion of the globe. She has endless and inexhaustible mines of nearly every metal, of marble, onyx and other valuable stones, which in themselves would insure wealth to millions. Thousands of tons of the most valuable metals lie hidden beneath her soil. In agriculture and in horticulture lie an amount of wealth almost as great as in minerals.

After noticing the forward movement of the Mexican nation, it can be readily understood that the needs of the people are increasing proportionately and that a market of enormous value is being opened to the world. A few nations have already taken advantage of this fact, and are doing all in their power to secure the trade benefits which are to come to those who supply the demands. Canada produces much that Mexico requires, and should be able to bring about a greater exchange of products than at present obtains between the two countries.

Provoking, Indeed.

"I never felt so provoked in my life," said the girl in blue when telling of her experience the next day.

"What was the matter?" asked the girl in gray. "Your new gown was all right, wasn't it?"

"Oh, yes."

"And your new hat is certainly a beauty."

"I realize it."

"Then what was the matter?"

"Why, I wore them both for the first time last night, and George hurried me so that we reached the theatre before the curtain had gone up."—Chicago Post.

BEYOND RECOVERY.

The Boy LaFlamme—His Cure was a Surprise—A few Boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

PAPPINEAUVILLE, Feb. 3 (Special).—The father of the boy LaFlamme is one of the leading merchants here and willing to talk of his son's cure. He says,—"My little boy Arthur, after scarlet fever about a year ago, never recovered and his ailment ran into a kidney trouble. His body was swollen to twice its natural size. The sufferings of the little fellow were very severe and we had all given up hope of him. But three months ago we commenced giving him Dodd's Kidney Pills, and to-day he is romping and playing with the other boys." This as an instance of prompt cure is very remarkable.

HAMILTON TOPICS.

Erection of the Foresters' Temple in Toronto is Endorsed.

Hamilton, Ont., Feb. 7.—Dr. Oronhyatekha, Supreme Chief Ranger of the Independent Order of Foresters, addressed a largely attended meeting of Foresters in the city last night, his object being to pour oil upon the troubled waters, and the brilliant eloquence of the Supreme Chief was not expended idly, for, before he left a resolution of thanks was passed to him. He justified his course in the management of the Order, and in reference to the building of the Foresters' Temple in Toronto, he said it was in the interest of the Order that suitable quarters should be built, besides the present head office is not large enough. The original estimate of the building was $95,000, but the Supreme Court had increased it to $225,000. The property was purchased in the name of the Chief Ranger's private secretary, who had given a mortgage for $225,000, and had leased the building to the Order for 20 years.

Fred Rocco, alias Fred. Lange, who is wanted in Rochester for sheep and pig stealing, is supposed to have gone to Toronto last week, when he received word that the police were after him. Rocco, who is about 30 years old, short and stout, with black hair and moustache, has a foreign accent, and for some weeks worked on the bridge at the Beach. Under Sheriff Vick, who was searching for his man to-day, says he is wanted for stealing a load of dressed pork, a team of horses and a wagon, all of which he sold in Rochester last November, also on charges of sheep stealing and other offences. Officer Vick left for Toronto this evening.

The first annual garrison dinner of the 13th Battalion and Hamilton Field Battery was held in the Drill Hall to-night. About 550 volunteers surrounded the banqueting tables, after which an interesting toast list was dealt with. Col. Moore occupied the chair, and beside him were the officers of the 13th, Col. Vanwagner, Maj. Hendrie, Col. Gwynn and others. During the evening Col. Gibson presented Private Hayhurst, G.M., with a well-filled purse and gold locket and chain, as a memento of his winning the Queen's Prize last year. Col. Gibson presented him with an album containing all the newspaper references to his victory. The crack shot was received with great enthusiasm and suitably replied to the grand ovation tendered to him.

August Pagel, 79 Poulette-street, was horribly burned at the rolling mills last evening, when wheeling away the cinder tops from the blast furnaces. While emptying one load it exploded when it came in contact with the snow. Scalding water and cinders spurted over his hands and face. He rolled himself in the snow, and was conveyed to his home, where Dr. Rogers is attending him.

The city is at present infested with an army of vagrants, who live by what they can get from pedestrians. Almost every woman on the street is approached and solicited for assistance, and the habit has become so prevalent that the police have decided to make a crusade against the tramps.

STORY OF WOLSELEY.

The Commander-in-Chief Shows a Lazy Postmaster How to Work.

To illustrate some of the disagreeable things which the soldiers suffered in the Soudan, Mr. Nourse tells the following anecdote of the postal service, which also well shows how democratic was Lord Wolseley, the commandant. Nourse went to the post-office at Korti to look for some letters. The postmaster was a native and not very much at handwriting, and said that there was nothing for him, after a superficial glance at a big pile of papers and letters.

Nourse asked to see the pile of letters, and while he was looking them over a man with nothing to designate his rank came into the office in company with another. He took in the situation at a glance and said: "Let's clean this thing out." Whereupon they jumped over the counter and bundled the postmaster out, neck and heels. Then they began the examination of the office and found it congested with mail for the army.

They searched every nook and cranny and threw the letters for one regiment into one corner, those for another into another, with all the newspapers in the centre of the floor. Then they went through each pile and separated it into companies, and before night every letter in camp was distributed and the next day the papers were out. Nourse at the time did not know who his companion in the good deed was. He asked him his name, and his answer was: "They call me Charley." Some time afterward Nourse was going to see the commandant, and sitting near his tent saw his companion at the post-office.

"Hello, Charley," he said, "I'm looking for the commandant; where'll I find him?"

"Well," said "Charley," "you won't have to look far. I'm the commandant. Come inside and have a bit to eat and drink."

It was Lord Wolseley, and a man worthy of the title.

Hood's is Wonderful.

No less than wonderful are the cures accomplished by Hood's Sarsaparilla, even after other preparations and physicians prescriptions have failed. The reason, however is simple. When the blood is enriched and purified, disease disappears and good health returns, and Hood's Sarsaparilla is the one true blood purifier.

Hood's Pills are prompt and efficient and do not purge, pain or gripe. 25c.

SPAIN IS OFFENDED NOW.

The United States People Have Some Annoying Proclivities.

Paris, Feb. 7.—The Spanish Embassy here has received a telegram stating that the Spanish troops under command of Col. Tejada have defeated the rebel forces under Maceo at Zarzal and Mabro, Cuba, killing and wounding a large number of the insurgents.

Indignant at Uncle Sam.

Madrid, Feb. 7.—The Heraldo publishes an indignant article on the United States Senate Committee's Cuban resolution, and advises that Spain send a squadron of ironclads to Cuba at once.

The Correo describes the resolution as offensive and arbitrary.

The Epoca says President Cleveland should not forget the traditions of American policy and reminds him that the Chilian insurgents were not recognized as belligerents by the United States.

The Healyites Outvoted.

Dublin, Feb. 7.—A meeting of the Irish Federation was held in this city to-night for the election of officers. The meeting lasted seven hours. It is stated there was much wrangling. The Healyites, who were outvoted in several divisions, finally withdrew.

THE COMMISSION AT WORK.

Judge Brewer and Party Learning all About the Venezuelan Boundary.

Washington, Feb. 7.—The Venezuelan Commission turned the first month of its existence at its regular weekly meeting to-day, all the members being in attendance except Frederic R. Coudert of New York. Considerable progress has been made in the preliminary study of the case since the last meeting. Justice Brewer and Judge Alvey have temporarily abandoned their court duties and devoted their entire time to the accumulation and examination of evidence. Andrew D. White and Judge Alvey have pursued a systematic search through the vast collections of the Congressional library.

TEN YEARS TROUBLED

With Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia---Suffered Greatly and Found No Relief in the Scores of Medicines Prescribed.

South American Nervine Was Recommended, and Before Half a Bottle Was Taken Relief Came.

Have Since Improved Rapidly, and Am Now Completely Cured—So says Mr. David Reid, of Chesley, Ont.

What ills come to humanity from a disordered liver! Henry Ward Beecher has said that it was impossible for a man to hold correct spiritual views if his liver was out of order. The liver is so important a part of the mechanism of man that when it ceases to work with ease the whole man is unable to do his work aright. Can we not appeal to thousands, nay, tens of thousands, for a verification of this fact? Certainly it is, that Mr. David Reid, of Chesley, Ont., felt that the enjoyment of life had been taken from him, through the unhealthy condition of his liver. For ten years he says he was troubled with liver complaint and dyspepsia. Employing his own language: "At times my liver was so tender I could not bear it pressed or touched from the outside. Had tried a great many remedies without any benefit. Was compelled to drop my work, and being worse than usual, I decided as a final resort to try South American Nervine, which had been recommended to me by friends who had been cured by it. I got a bottle from A. S. Goodeve, local druggist, and commenced taking according to directions. Before I had taken half a bottle I was able to go to work again, and I have improved steadily since. I can conscientiously recommend South American Nervine to any suffering from dyspepsia or liver complaint." This is Mr. Reid's story as he tells it in his own words. Were it thought necessary it could be corroborated by a host of witnesses. Mr. Reid has lived a long time in Chesley, and his case was known to be a very bad one. But that makes no difference to Nervine. This great discovery rises equal to the most trying occasions. Let it be indigestion, the most chronic liver trouble, as with Mr. Reid, nervous prostration, that makes life miserable with so many, sick headaches, that sap all the effort out of man or woman, Nervine measures to the necessities of the case. It is a great medicine and thousands to-day in Canada are happier and healthier men and women, because of its discovery. There is no great secret about it, and yet there is an important secret. It operates on the nerve centers of the system from which emanate all life and healthfulness, or if disordered, sickness, even death. Nervine strikes promptly at the nerve centers, hence, as with Mr. Reid, where ten years' use of other medicines had done no good, less than a bottle of Nervine brought about encouraging results, and a few bottles cured.

Froebel, the great promotor of the kindergarten system of teaching children said: "Let parents not live for their children, but with them." The mother who understands this sentiment lives with, even her unborn child. She studies to be wise about herself and the little life she is fostering. She does all she can to give her child a fair start in life, by giving it a strong well developed body. All through babyhood, childhood and youth she lives with her son or her daughter. Especially her daughter she will keep near her. She will allow no false modesty to stand in the way of that daughter's knowledge of herself, of her possibilities, of her perils. She will teach her that happy, healthful motherhood is an honor, a blessing. That sickness is a mistake, a breaking of nature's law. But there are times of unavoidable overdoing when the system becomes run-down.

For over thirty years Dr. Pierce has used his "Favorite Prescription" as a strengthener, a purifier, a regulator. It works directly upon the delicate, distinctly feminine organs, in a natural, soothing way. It searches out the weak spots; and builds them up. It is beneficial in any state of the system. A woman who would understand herself will find an able assistant by sending 31 cents to the World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y., for Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser. It is a book that has reached its 680th thousand. It contains in its 1008 pages an immense store of information in plain words that any person will readily understand.

MR. O. G. SPEAR, of Sand Bank, Oswego Co., New York, testifies in this wise: "Our first child was born before my wife was sixteen years old. Afterward her health was very poor. She tried Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. She gained flesh and strength by using two bottles. During the last few weeks of her second pregnancy she again used the "Prescription." Her confinement was a rapid and easy one, and she got up strong and well."

MILLIONS OF MEALS

IN TINS WILL PREVENT BESIEGED CITIES FROM STARVING.

You Can Have a Course Dinner Nowadays Entirely in Canned Foods—Paris Has Stored Enough of Them to Feed the City Eighteen Months.

That greatest terror of war, a starving garrison and a starving town, surrounded by a hostile camp, yet able to see far-off fields of grain and plenty, could not be repeated in this age of canned goods, meats, vegetables, puddings and fruits all incased in tiny jars or boxes of tin.

It used to be easy to beleagure a city and starve it into submission with hardly an ounce of shot, for it was a foregone conclusion that if all avenues of food supply were shut off only a few weeks would elapse before both garrison and citizens would have to capitulate, though they might eat ratflesh and horseflesh first. But now, so cleverly are provisions compressed and packed away into tins, and so long will even the foods that most usually spoil quickly keep—for years in most cases—that no city or town could be starved out if it only had half a chance to provision itself properly.

The city of Paris has stored away hundreds of thousands of packages containing canned and compressed food enough to supply the entire population for at least eighteen months. This outfit of canned food is not permitted to be touched, though at times it is tested to see that it still remains unspoiled.

Other cities in Europe have built up stores along much the same lines, though Paris has by far the most important assortment of canned food held in reserve.

Outside of these preparations, the manufacture of canned articles has grown to be something enormous, especially in meats and vegetables. In many cases the canned goods seem to be actually preferred to the original products. Nearly every wise housekeeper nowadays emulates Paris in a small way, for she keeps on her shelves any number of these little boxes and thus finds herself always ready for any emergency should company suddenly drop in or the butcher or grocer fail to turn up.

It is really surprising the variety of things to eat that are put into cans. As a matter of fact, one can live, and live comfortably, on canned foods alone. "I can stock your house," said a big wholesale grocer, "so that you need not make another purchase of food for five years, and you shall have every day a perfect dinner of soup, fish, entrees, roasts, fruits, pudding, cheese, and coffee, all canned goods."

Canned goods, though, have proved themselves of the greatest value to the traveler from the fact that an enormous amount of nourishment can be carried in an exceedingly small compass. The Arctic explorers first found out the value of canned meats and vegetables, and in this way were able to travel with less hardship and to do things which would have been impossible had it been necessary for them to depend upon food in its original form.

When the Greely expedition went away in 1881 a large quantity of pemmican was put on board. A large part of it was not consumed on the trip, and on the return of the explorers it was sent back to the firm from which it was bought. When the Peary expedition was being fitted out, ten years later, and the same firm was doing the providing, they opened sample cases of this pemmican and found it to be in as good condition as if fresh made. So it was sent out with Peary, and on that explorer's return to New York what was left proved to be as good and as nourishing as it had been in 1881.

No expedition of recent date has plunged into the Dark Continent without being well equipped with tin boxes of all sizes and varieties. It is said that there is no desert plateau in any part of the earth where one is not liable to run across an empty beef can.

Transatlantic steamers and sailing vessels about to start out on long voyages use these goods in great quantities, because they keep so well and because they can be stored so easily. When prepared by a skillful cook it is impossible for the diner to distinguish between fresh meats and vegetables and those that are canned.

In canning the meat is steamed, boned and pressed into the boxes, which are then soldered up. It is estimated that a two-pound can of meat, sold at about 25 cents, contains as much nourishment as 50 cents' worth of meat fresh from the butcher.

The Presidential Succession.

I have told you of the Spaniard offices have never in our history both become vacant during a presidential term. Several presidents have died in office—Harrison, Tyler, Lincoln and Garfield, but the vice-president took up the office and survived the term. Vice-Presidents Clinton, Gerry, King, Wilson and Hendricks have died in office. John C. Calhoun resigned to become Senator from South Carolina. In 1886 a new statue was passed by Congress changing the succession, and now in the event of the death or removal of both the president and vice-president, the succession devolves upon the members of the Cabinet in the following order: Secretary of State, Secretary of the Treasury, Secretary of War, Attorney-General, Postmaster-General, Secretary of the Navy, Secretary of the Interior.—Ex-President Harrison in Ladies' Home Journal.

Floral Decorations for Children's Parties.

In giving a birthday party for children the table should be decorated with the birthday flower of the month in which they were born: January, snowdrop; February, the primrose; March, violet; April, daisy; May, hawthorn; June, wild rose; July, lily; August, poppy; September, convolvulus; October, hops; November, chrysanthemum; December, holly; Each has an appropriate sentiment attached to it. The snowdrop means consolation; the primrose, youthful sunshine; the violet, modesty; the daisy, innocence; the hawthorn, hope; the wild rose, simplicity; the lily, purity; the poppy, the comfort of sleep; the convolvulus, contentment; hops, aspiration; the chrysanthemum, cheerfulness; holly, foresight and protection.

Animal Criminals.

Sparrows have a habit of stealing swallows' nests. The swallows occasionally retaliate. In one case they have been known to do so by killing the young of the sparrows.

Some pigeons steal straw and other building materials from dove cotes. The thieving pigeons have been observed to be shiftless birds, bad fliers and carriers. They showed the principal characteristics of human thieves—disinclination to work.

Cases of theft have at times been remarked among female dogs, but such cases are almost always influenced by material love. Certain dogs which, when in a normal condition, are very well behaved and respect their masters' property, begin to steal when they have puppies, and they steal anything that the latter will eat.

Nor is murder wanting among animals; that is to say, not murder such as is caused by the exigencies of the struggle for life; but murder committed under the influence of induvidual malice or passion. It would be absurd to declare that the hawk which kills a swallow is a criminal, for he is only fighting out his struggle for existence, but, on the other hand, animals which kill others of their own species are guilty of a true criminal act when they do so for any other reason than that of self-defence.

Thus Karl Vogt, the celebrated German naturalist, has observed a couple of storks that had for several years built their nest in a village near Salette. One day it was noticed that, when the male was out in search of food, another younger bird began to court the female. At first he was repulsed, then tolerated and welcomed; at last, one morning, the two birds flew away to the field where the husband, was hunting for frogs, and killed him. According to Brehm, storks often murder the members of the flock which either refuse to follow them at the time of migration or are not able to do so.

Sawing Wood.

A TORONTONIAN OF 85 YEARS WHO CAN STILL HANDLE A BUCKSAW.

To find a man of 85 sawing and splitting wood without any trouble would surprise most of us to whom such vigorous exercise is—to say the least—distasteful, but to hear the circumstances under which it took place but increases the wonder.

"Our representative visited Mr. John Clyne, 174½ Sackville st., City, a sufferer from kidney trouble for the past 10 years, having undergone two operations during that time. Mr. Clyne was for some 30 years engaged in the express and cartage business for such well-known firms as Swan Bros., Hugh Miller, J.P., Wm. Rennie, etc., and having been a resident of Toronto for 50 years, is well known. Mrs. Clyne was interviewed at their residence and said: 'Mr. Clyne was in a very bad state, his urine almost black with sediment and he was expecting to have another operation such as he had before. The pain in his back was at times very severe and kept him from doing any work. Mr. Clyne got a box of Doan's Kidney Pills at J. R. Lee's drug store and was relieved from the first dose; the urine is now clear, no trouble or burning sensation, and to-day you would say that although 85 years old, he has taken on a new lease of life.' Mrs. Clyne then took our reporter to the yard, and to his surprise found Mr. C. sawing wood for over Sunday. He emphatically endorsed every word Mrs. Clyne had said. 'From the very first they did me good: I am well known here and you can use my name as reference. Two weeks ago I expected to be operated on, perhaps to die—to-day I am well and strong, better than I have felt for a score of years.'"

TORONTO MARKETS.

HARD TIMES!

Fortunately we have no reason for complaint, for which we are thankful to the public. There are weighty reasons for such a record. The public are well aware that orders entrusted to us give such satisfaction, that in a record of 35 years we never met with a refusal by the public in accepting such ordered goods.

The reason of this is, that we buy only such material as must give satisfaction, and we are the practical Cutters and do not employ female cutters of no experience who may well do for sewing and suit others on account of cheapness in wages, but would not suit our taste, nor trade.

We offer for the remainder of the season our goods at the lowest possible prices.

HAULTAIN ITEMS.

From Our Own Correspondent.

The annual tea-meeting of the Methodist church, in South Burleigh, held on the 1st of January, was a grand success.

As the weather and roads were both very favorable, there was a good attendance from the neighborhood, a great number from Dummer and several from North Burleigh. Mr. and Mrs. Lafayette Reid kindly gave the use of their house for tea, and the ladies of the church gave their usual abundance of dainties. After tea all adjourned to the schoolhouse and, on the Rev. Mr. Brown, of Bancroft, taking the chair, the following excellent programme of music, recitations and dialogues was carried out most efficiently:

We were very much pleased to have the choir from Zion church, Dummer, with us as they added greatly to the enjoyment of the evening.

The success of the literary part of the entertainment was due especially to Miss Church, who was untiring in her efforts to prepare a good programme. We have to thank Mr. Will Creary for a handsome eight storied fruit cake, on which we realized seven dollars. Rev. Mr. Limbert, of Lakefield, and Rev. Mr. Hyde, of Warsaw, were to have come, but meetings in their own churches prevented their attendance. We were glad to have the Rev. Mr. Brown, of Bancroft with us and hope he will some time again favour us with a visit. We were indebted to Mr. Wm. Lennox, of Lakefield, for the use of a fine organ for the evening, and to Mrs. Batten and Miss Carveth for the music for the choir's selections. The proceeds of the evening amounted to $33.60, and were given to our esteemed pastor, Rev. Mr. Barnes. After a vote of thanks to the choir the meeting was closed by the audience singing God Save the Queen.

WONDERFUL! WONDERFUL!

Is the Result of Photographing Through Opaque Bodies by Roentgen's System

Paris, Feb. 9.—Some remarkable results have been obtained in photography through opaque bodies by means of Roentgen's rays. M. Ewald has asked if it will be possible to photograph through such parts of the body as the thigh. M. Neuhaus replies that the rays would pass through the muscles just as one's sight passes through a sheet of glass.

Up to the present the most wonderful use made of this discovery is reported in The Lancet. A sailor who was brought to Guy's Hospital, London, has been completely cured of paralysis. When admitted he was dead drunk, and has been found in a very dangerous condition in one of the worst quarters of London.

As soon as his drunken fit was over it was discovered that he was paralyzed in the upper and lower parts of his body. The most minute examination could reveal nothing but a small wound in his back by the side of the vertebral column, which in a few days was healed.

During this time, and, despite all medicine, the man remained paralyzed. Then Dr. Williamson was struck with the idea of employing the new photographic discovery. A photograph, following Prof. Roentgen's system, was taken of the man's wound.

The negative showed the presence of a foreign body, the nature of which could not be determined, between the first dorsal vertebra and the first lumbar vertebra. An incision was made at this place, and, after a great deal of difficulty the blade of a knife was taken out.

The patient immediately improved.

According to The Temps, a needle has been extracted in a similar manner from the hand of a child at Berne. In another hospital of the same town, Professor Dejerine of Paris, has taken a photograph of a fractured leg.

In another instance a photograph was taken at Vienna of a piece of glass which had been in a glass-worker's hand for several years.

ONTARIO MEN WERE WINNERS

At the New York Poultry Show which has Just Closed

New York, Feb. 9.—The Poultry Show, which closed last evening, was a fair success financially, and the exhibition had been of a much higher standard than former years. Besides scores of individual prizes, Mr. William McNeill of London, Ont., obtained many of the special prizes. The silver cup, presented by President Forsyth, for the best collection in any variety, to consist of two cocks, two hens, two cockerels and two pullets, was won by Mr. McNeill. Mr. John Crowe of Guelph, Ont., obtained one of the special prizes of $15 for the best standard game female of any variety exhibited, and another special prize of $10 for the best standard game black-red.

Maltine With Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites—A Palatable, Nourishing Body-Builder.

Consumption—that dread disease—too often arises from neglect. Colds not serious in themselves, by depressing the vital forces play an important part in provoking conditions that render lung disintergration almost certain. To obviate this deplorable sequence of neglected colds the body should be fortified, strengthened, nourished, and this may with certainity be accomplished by the use of Maltine with Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites. Its mode of action is plain—the oil rendered palatable and of easy digestion, does not irritate the stomach and unfit it for the digestion of food: but this preparation serves a much higher purpose than this, for by its action on starchy foods it affords for the replacement of the waste of the body an abundance of fresh strong blood. The patient gains weight, irritation of the bronchial tubes disappears, sleep is restored and the general improvement is immediate and permanent.

BARATIERI WANTS HELP.

The Italian General in Abyssinia Sends Home for More Troops.

Rome, Feb. 9.—It is stated that Gen Baratieri, commander of the Italian forces now operating in Abyssinia, has asked for the immediate despatch of 12 battalions of infantry, six mounted batteries and 2500 mules. The Cabinet has discussed the request, and Prime Minister Crispi has had an interview with King Humbert on the subject.

MISSOURI BANK ROBBED.

Cracksmen Secure $25,000 in Money, Government Bonds and Stamps.

St. Joseph, Mo., Feb. 9.—A daring bank robbery took place at Savanah last night, a small town 15 miles northwest of this city. Three cracksmen wrecked the safe of the State Bank of Savannah, securing $25,000 in money, Government bonds and postage stamps

SMITH COUNCIL.

From our own Correspondent.

The Smith council met on Monday, Feb. 3rd. All the members were present. The minutes of last meeting were read and confirmed. The Reeve, Deputy-Reeve and Councillor Fitzgerald were appointed a committee to examine the location of a spring on lot 3, Communication Road, with a view of constructing a watering place, and also a spring on the east end of same lot for a similar purpose on East Communication Road. The treasurer was instructed to pay to the treasurer of the North Smith band the sum of $25. Messrs. McIlmoyle and Garbutt were instructed to interview the council of Lakefield to ascertain on what terms the council of said village will place an electric light at the boundary between Smith and Lakefield. After appointing overseers of highways, poundkeepers and fenceviewers for 1896, the council adjourned to meet on Monday, 9th March.

CHURCH CHIMES.

Ten members of St. Andrew's choir are on the sick list.

"O, How Lonely is Jesus" was the title of the morning anthem in the George street church.

Yesterday morning the Charlotte street church choir sang the anthem "O Lord How Manifold."

During the offertory in the George street church yesterday morning Mrs. Seward sang the solo "Love Divine" in good taste.

St. Andrew's choir sang with excellent effect the anthem, "If ye love Me keep My commandments" last evening. The solo was taken by Mr. G. W. Mulligan.

The regular meeting of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the George street church, will be held to-morrow afternoon, at the residence of Mrs. James Kendry.

Clare's beautiful anthem "The eyes of all wait upon Thee" was sung with great expression in the George street church yesterday, the pianissimo passages being finely taken.

Rev. A. McWilliams, pastor of St. Andrews preached a most interesting sermon last evening, in which he spoke enthusiastically of the progressive nature of the work undertaken by the Christian Endeavour Society.

Services were conducted in the Park street Baptist church, yesterday, by Mr. Sneyd, of McMaster Hall, Toronto. In the evening he spoke from the text, "They were all waiting for Him."—Luke xi., 8.

Miss Hendren's rendition of "'Tis Harvest Time" was indeed sung with beautiful effect in the Charlotte street church, yesterday morning. The selection was peculiarly suited to Miss Hendren's rich mezzo notes.

The male quartette of the George stree church sang "The Wayside Cross," last evening, in the George street church, the solo being taken with great feeling by Mr. W. Daly and the chorus by Messrs. Brown, Daly, Tanner and Shields. The shading in this selection was simply perfection.

In the rendition of "Christian, Awake, the Morn Breaks Sweetly O'er Thee," the choir of St. Paul's surpassed themselves yesterday, the voices blending together in perfect harmony. The solos were taken by Mrs. Mein and Mr. D. H. Moore in remarkably good voice. The congregation would be pleased to hear more of Mr. Moore's fine voice in solo work.

Yesterday afternoon the Rev. T. Manning gave a very interesting address to young men in the Y. M. C. A. Hall. On account of the stormy afternoon there was not a very large attendance. Mr. Manning said in opening that he thought he did not know as many as he should, being formerly a resident of Peterborough. He remembered when Mr. Williams was the Secretary of the Association, and it was Mr. Williams who rented the rooms now occupied by the Association. Christ, he said, was the end of all wisdom and He had helped him out of many difficulties and no matter where he was or what company he was in he was not afraid to acknowledge his Master. Many young people at the beginning of their Christian life were afraid of holding up their religion to anyone and everyone. He advised the avoidance of yielding to temptation and concluded his address by urging all to become Christians.

Men's Shopping in London.

Under ordinary conditions the purchase of a hat is not attended with much difficulty or embarrassment. Unless my memory of proceedings in a Canadian shop (or store, as we say) is affected, the clerk who serves you is quite willing you should wear your own size and chose your own style of hat. Experience has taught me that the average clerk in the shop of a London hatter is actuated by quite another intellectual tendency. His purpose seems to be to persuade you that you are quite without taste in the matter of selection and entirely incompetent to determine a fit. Forced by the exigencies of wear and tear to furnish me with new headgear, I entered a shop and, to the handsome young dog who came confidently forward to seize me for his prey, declared my object.

"Yes, sir; what size, sir?"

Now, as a simple fact, my hat size is 7 1-4, merely that and nothing more; but, through one of those inadvertencies to which at times even the most sane and methodical minds will fall a victim, I replied to his question, "Seven and three-quarters." A wearil argumentative smile drifted around his downily shadowed lips and crept into his eyes. He put a thumb and finger to stroke and twist the promise of a mustache, and surveyed me in silence for the tithe of a minute. Then he said, with an impertinence all the more irritating for being maked in a deferential tone: "Beg pardon, sir, but there isn't a man in England with a head that big; Gladstone only wears a seven and one-half."

His Fire Escape Was Useless.

An amusing story comes from the Kennington road about a fire escape. It might very easily have been a serious story, all the same. It seems that a fire broke out in a dwelling house over a baker's shop, and blazed up gayly in the strong wind. Forthwith there trots up Fireman A. J. Waller with his trusty fire escape. (It was not really trusty, but, no doubt, he thought it was trusty). The occupants of the house were still in the burning building. So he "pitched" his machine, dashed up it, and forced his way into the upper rooms in hopes of a gallant rescue. He found the place deserted. He also found, when he returned to his fire escape, that there was plenty of fire, but no escape. So, like the good people whom he had desired to rescue, he was compelled to use the staircase of the house—really a terrible come-down for him—and make his way out through the back premises. The obvious moral is, of course, all's well, etc. But there is another, and it is that a fire escape should not be left deserted without any one to shift it should occasion arise.—Pall Mall Gazette.

The Sultan Was Ill.

"I'm feeling very badly," said the Sultan.

"What your Majesty needs is mental repose. I am afraid that you are in danger of brain trouble."

"I am sure of it. I suffer from hallucinations. Why, I am getting so I almost believe some of the reports I sent out about the condition that prevails in Armenia."

THE BOOT and SHOE TRADE
OF PETERBOROUGH
COMING OUR WAY
ON THE JUMP!

We feel it in our mit—we see it in our crowds—we read it in our sales.

Selling Boots and Shoes alongside of Clothing, &c, and under the same roof, lessens running expenses and reduces prices all along the line—that's part of the secret of our big sales, and shoppers have had it proved to their entire satisfaction times without number.

Time was when we paid the wholesaler a stiff profit and took what we could get. Now the Situation is changed, and if we want anything we go for it and buy in big enough quantities to discount the trade generally. In other words the wholesaler is no longer supreme.

Besides our own efforts to get the nobbiest of stylish Boots and Shoes, manufacturers are on the alert for the largest distributing points, and without a lantern come straight here when they think of Peterborough.

We Are Selling To "Beat the Band."

Doing a rattling business and whittling prices down in spite of the increased price of leather. Sooner or later we'll have to charge more, but not yet awhile.

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN, BOYS AND GIRLS, are all remembered. Their wants have all been anticipated. Fine Boots, Shoes, Slippers, Rubbers, Overshoes, Cork Sole Boots, Leggings, Artic Snow Excluders, and every possible need of man, woman or child.

Keep your feet dry—healthy—warm—cornless—painless—these stormy wintry days. Don't wait for another snow storm but buy your Boots, Rubbers and Overshoes now! Bad weather soon finds the weak spots in Footwear.

It isn't a question of how much we can get but how little we can afford to sell for, and if you don't find values here the best within your reach, make us pay well for our imprudence. This year we begin with fresh resolves to outdo and excel all our past records.

SECOND CROP OF BARGAINS.

We start the Bargain Ball rolling for February in dead earnest. As there is a good deal of winter yet before us, it is unnecessary to point out the wisdom of buying now.

Our Stock-Taking is over—now for a month of lucky chances and snaps in mid-winter goods. An aftermath of Bargains for shrewd buyers—lines which we laid out during stock taking such as Serges, Cheviots, Heavy Tweeds and other Remnants, to be sold even at HALF REGULAR PRICES.

We don't want to carry winter lines past their regular selling season, so you may figure on getting pretty nearly your own way in prices.

You need the goods—we need the room they occupy—so there is mutual benefit all round in the selling of them.

Our New Spring Stock is wheeling into line, and we are glad to tell our lady friends that part of our programme for Spring is a NEW MILLINERY DEPARTMENT, of which we will tell you more in good time.

We don't "rest-up" during the winter months and take things easy until Spring. Business is full of worn-out, tired-out men who live almost wholly in the past and struggle for the success that never comes. And because of that they find fault with the times. While others are resting we're simply HUSTLING.

A POLITICAL PULL

Let Charles Chamberlain Out Penitentiary.

MR. MARTIN WANTS DOCUMENTS

The Weak Explanation Made by the Ex-Minister of Justice, Who Said That the Prisoner Had Earned His Liberty—No Money From the Connollys

Ottawa, Feb. 10.—There was a long string of questions on the order paper in the House to-day, but little information of interest was elicited.

Mr. Dickey informed Mr. Laurier that the Messrs. Connolly had not paid their share of the judgment rendered against them in favor of the Crown in the Exchequer Court on the 11th September, 1894. A process of execution was issued against them in October, 1895. A steam dredge belonging to the defendants had been seized and offered for sale, but there were no buyers. Similarly, stock owned by the firm in the Richelieu Navigation Company had been seized, but its sale had been blocked by process of law. Further steps would be taken to secure execution.

Mr. Martin moved for copies of all reports to the Council and orders in council respecting the release of Charles Chamberlain from confinement at Stony Mountain Penitentiary, in Manitoba, on conviction for perjury in connection with the last Dominion election in Winnipeg. He reviewed the circumstances in connection with the case, and said it appeared from letters found on Chamberlain's person after his arrest that John Small of Toronto and other friends of the Government had employed him for the express purpose of registering a large number of votes in the Winnipeg election against the Liberal candidate. He said it seemed to him that the Government should have been careful under the circumstances of the case in exercising the pardoning power. He expressed the disappointment of the people of Winnipeg at the action of the Government.

Mr. Mulock scored the Government in general terms in connection with the McGreevy-Connolly releases and the Chamberlain release, and added that he had heard the other day that there had been a case of smuggling in which a member of Parliament had been arrested and put in jail, but afterwards set free.

Sir C. H. Tupper—What year was it?

Mr. Mulock—I don't know, but the man is in a high position on the Government side of the House.

Sir C. H. Tupper—I never heard of the case.

Mr. Mulock—I will try and get the liberty to use the name.

Sir C. H. Tupper deplored the fact that the discussion should proceed until the House had full information. He assumed the absolute responsibility for action in the case. He said he consulted no colleague. The case, not being a capital one, was one that the Minister of Justice of the day dealt with. He said that two petitions influentially signed by both the Conservatives and Liberals of Winnipeg, had been received, asking for clemency for Chamberlain, but no recommendation was made on them by either himself or Sir John Thompson. One of the petitions was signed by Isaac Campbell, who was chairman of Mr. Laurier's Reception Committee in Winnipeg. The only reason action was taken in the case was an official one. The master builder of the penitentiary in which Chamberlain was confined, estimated the cost of certain alterations in connection with the warden's house at $3500. Chamberlain said if given prison labor he could do the work for $25. He did it for $15, and this was the reason why his term was shortened. He deprecated the extravagant language that the Opposition used in criticising the action of the Government, holding that it would cause suspicion with respect to the administration of justice.

The House rose at 6 o'clock.

After recess Mr. Martin again spoke on his motion. He said the petitions for Chamberlain's release were signed on the representation that the prisoner had a large family, and did not, therefore, represent the feeling of the people of Winnipeg concerning the offense. He held it was unfair that Chamberlain should be released because he had saved $3500 to the Government, as that was the same thing as releasing a man on payment of a certain sum, a simple matter of value received. He contended that the sentence imposed was not severe and that the people of Winnipeg considered it justified by the facts of the case. He intimated that the real reason of the release was that the Government was influenced by parties who might have been implicated by evidence in Chamberlain's possession and that the Minister of Justice acted in the case, not because it was right, but because it was expedient in the political interest of the party to do so.

Mr. Lister scored the Government for its course, holding that the fact that Chamberlain belonged to the Conservative party caused suspicions of improper influences in connection with the case.

The motion was carried.

Mr. Martin moved for an order of the House for a return of the census of the Northwest Territories recently taken by the Mounted Police, showing the number of inhabitants in each division, and showing the boundaries of the divisions. He said he understood that the census showed a population of only 73,000, and that the territories, therefore, had not sufficient people to be entitled to an additional member, which the Government proposed to give. If this was done, the same should be done with respect to Manitoba, as well.

Mr. Daly said the representation of the territories was in the hands of Parliament, but that of Manitoba was fixed by the B.N.A. Act, and could not be changed at the will of the House.

Mr. Mills said the principle involved in Mr. Daly's claim was a dangerous one, because if the Northwest representation was not granted in accordance with the population, the Government could, when hard driven, largely increase the representation and therefore have unfair advantage.

This motion was also carried.

Mr. Mulock then moved for a return of property expropriated in connection with the Tay Canal. He explained his purpose was this: "The old Tay Canal Co. issued debentures on its undertaking, some of which are still outstanding. Some of these came into possession of the Province of Canada, in trust for the University of Toronto, and are still outstanding. The Tay Canal covers somewhat the same ground was under the old Tan Navigation Co., and the motion was made to obtain information, the University wishing to take proceedings in connection with the debentures it holds.

The motion carried and the House adjourned at 10 p.m.

IN THE WORLD OF POLITICS.

Hastings County Council Objects to the Immigration of Pauper Children.

Ottawa, Feb. 10.—Mr. Northrup, M.P., presented a petition to the House to-day from the County Council of Hastings, pointing out that many of the pauper children brought into Canada are physically and mentally incapable of becoming useful and intelligent citizens of the Dominion, and that a considerable proportion eventually become absorbed into vicious and criminal classes of the community. The petition therefore urges upon the Government bonus in aid of immigration of pauper child en be discontinued, and that legislation be enacted to compel societies or organizations responsible for bringing these children into Canada to take control of those who may be proved to be physically incapable of work or worthless characters.

The petition of Mr. J. Pearson, barrister, Toronto, for a divorce from his wife Minnie Holcombe Pearson was presented to the Senate to-day. Mrs. Pearson is said now to be a resident of New York city. The parties were married at Brooklyn on the 3rd June, 1885, and there is one child, a girl, of 11 years, the issue of the marriage. The petition alleges that Mrs. Pearson committed adultery in 1889 and 1891 at Atlanta, Georgia, with T. G. Miller of that place; in 1894 at Balmy Beach, near Toronto, with Fred Warren and others.

Messrs. William Kinghorn and F. W. Emerson, respectively high chief ranger and high secretary for New Brunswick of the I.O.F., arrived here to-day for the purpose of assisting in promoting the passage of the Foresters' Bill, which comes before the Banking Committee on Thursday.

The Journal to-night, referring to the now famous phrase, "Splendid Isolation" of England, says: "The phrase was not uttered first by Mr. Foster, who used it in his speech in Parliament on Jan. 16. The words first appeared in an editorial article in The St. John Sun of Jan. 11." The Journal continues: "Thus the now famous phrase which the Right Hon. Joseph Chamberlain made the text of his speech in England, on Jan. 23, at the banquet to Lord Leamington, the new Governor of Queensland, originated with a newspaper man, who has apparently been too modest since to claim it."

An interesting discussion took place in the Senate to-day, when Senator Clemow made an exhaustive speech in favor of the Ottawa Ship Canal. In addition to the immense commercial advantages, he also called attention to the great necessity for the construction of a canal from a military standpoint. Canada, he said, had had a warscare recently and in the event of trouble this canal would give exceptional facilities for the transport of munitions and vessels of war for the purpose of meeting an enemy on the upper lakes.

Hon. Thomas McGreevy was in his seat to-day for the first time after a lengthened spell of sickness.

Mme. Laurier won first prize at the progressive euchre party given by Mrs. McCarthy, daughter of Sir Mackenzie Bowell, last Friday.

Dr. Montague returned from New York to-day. His physician has ordered him two weeks' rest.

HAWAII DEMANDS AN APOLOGY.

As Uncle Sam is Growing Magnanimous All Will be Well.

San Francisco, Feb. 10.—The Honolulu correspondent of a morning paper states that one of the members of President Dole's Cabinet is authority for the statement that the action of Mr. Willis, in refusing to participate in the national holiday celebration on Jan. 17, will be laid before Secretary Olney. A full explanation and suitable apology will be demanded. It is generally believed that Minister Willis has asked to be recalled as a result of the unpleasantness.

ALL PLAIN SAILING

For Sir Oliver in the Ontario Legislature.

WHAT THE SPEECH WILL CONTAIN

His Honor Regrets the Sad Death of Prince Henry—Canadian Interests are Inseparably Connected With the Mother Land—Bills Which Will be Submitted.

Toronto, Feb. 11.

Inasmuch as the second session of the eighth Legislature of Ontario opens to-day, a forecast of the measures to be brought before the House will prove of more than passing interest.

The Lieutenant-Governor will in all probability in the Speech from the Throne refer to two matters of Imperial importance. His Honor will likely speak in regretful terms of the sad death of Prince Henry of Battenberg, and, passing on, deal with the Venezuelan dispute between Great Britain and the United States. In connection with the latter question, it may be stated that Canadians are generally confirmed in the feeling that this country's interests are inseparably identified with those of the Motherland, but that at the same time friendly relations with the republic are earnestly desired.

The fact that the agricultural associations of the province are in a flourishing condition, and that the farmers of Ontario are doing all in their power to meet the adverse conditions consequent upon the low prices of farm produce by the study of improved methods may be commented upon, and the suitability of the land in the neighborhood of the Algoma pioneer farm for agricultural purposes cheerfully spoken of.

It will perhaps be noted that the activity in mining circles offsets the depression of the lumber industry.

Bills will probably be submitted the objects of which are: To amend the Agriculture and Arts Act; to extend the application of the Mechanics' Lien Act; to increase the usefulness of county courts; to revise and consolidate the school laws of the province, and to reduce the number of members of county councils. The proposed decennial revision and consolidation of the statutes will also be announced.

In conclusion, the two important liquor traffic cases now before the courts may be noticed. No decision has yet been given by the Privy Council as to the provincial right to pass prohibitory laws, and the brewers and distillers' appeal to the same high Imperial court as to the right of the province to impose license fees upon them is still pending. No further references are likely to be made in the speech to the liquor traffic.

Cecil Rhodes, ex-Premier of the Cape Colony, has started for Buluwayo. He will return to London in time to be present at the trial of Dr. Jameson, which will take place in June.

Miss Clara Barton of the American Red Cross and her party have been given permission to visit the six distressed provinces of Anatolia under the Sultan's safeguard and personally distribute relief to the sufferers.

The Prussian and Bavarian bishops have presented protests to their respective Governments against the marriage regulations as provided in the new civil code, characterizing them as a violation of the laws of religion.

The London Daily News published yesterday letters from Rev. Drs. Burrows and Gunsalus of Chicago, Josiah Strong of New York, Lyman Abbott of Brooklyn and Lorimer of Boston, commending the establishmen of a permanent Court of Arbitration to settle questions arising between Great Britain and the United States.

John Westlake, professor of international law in Cambridge University, writes to The London Times stating that he is convinced that the Venezuelan claims are preposterous, and asks the United States to assist in discovering how many of these claims can be disposed of by direct arrangement or by such arbitration as Great Britain can be fairly asked to enter upon.

New York, Feb. 10.—Mrs. Ann Hay, 25 years old, the wife of Frank Hay, a carpenter, poisoned herself with creosote at her home, 84 Marion-street, Brooklyn, yesterday afternoon. Hay told her at noon that he was going out and might not return until late. She asked to be permitted to go with him. He declined. After he left she took the creosote. She was taken to St. John's Hospital, where it was said last night that she would recover.

Insurrection in Formosa.

New York, Feb. 10.—A Tokio correspondent says: The Japanese War Department is sending heavy reinforcements to Formosa, and in spite of the strength and extent of the insurrection hopes to restore order within three months. But Formosa will never be tranquilized until the Chinese instigators of rebellion are held to account.

A BIG SPORTING EVENT.

Among the horses entered for the Parliamentary Free-for-all race at Ottawa the following are certain to run :—

Tupper's "Office" by Cape Breton out of — ?

Bowell's "Resignation" by Treachery out of Unscrupulous.

Foster's "Jumping Cat" by Place out of At-any-Price.

Montague's "Ambition" by Gas out of Blarney.

Caron's "Post Office" by Cash out of Whitewash.

Haggart's "I'm-All-Right" by Jobbery out of Curran.

Tupper, jr's, "Commissioner" by My Father out of Little Deal.

Ouimet's "Anything" by Waiting out of Ottawa.

Ives' "Something" by Nothing out of Cheek.

Dickey's "Kittle's-back" by Memory out of Bolt.

The Gang's "N. P." by Plunder out of Lies.

Two other horses are certain to run and are hot favourites.

Laurier's "Victory" by Honour out of Honesty.

The Nation's "Hell-inspired Hypocrite" by Righteous Wrath out of Stern Indignation.—Montreal Herald.

WHEN Sir Mackenzie Bowell thinks, says the Hamilton Herald, of the depth and sincerity of Sir Charles Tupper's affection, no doubt the unbidden tears gather in his eyes and his corns ache.

The Mail tells the people of Canada that they must provide the interest on the public debt. This is comforting. The Government at Ottawa had the fun and political profit in incidental corruption funds from milked contracts, in piling up our tremendous debt; and now their organ coolly tells the taxpayers that they must foot the bill. The size of the debt may be better appreciated when the fact is stated that out of an annual revenue of thirty-four millions, over a third—that is, twelve and a quarter millions—goes to pay for interest and sinking fund on our enormous debt of two hundred and fifty-three millions. The present Government has got the country in a fine state when we have to pay one-third of our income in debt charges.

Mr. Foster in his budget speech boasted of the grand home market the N. P. had produced. Sir Richard Cartwright pricked the bubble of brag pointing out that the home market was less by a million and a half purchasers than when the present government took power. Within the past seventeen years over two million Canadians have left the country including immigrants who have been brought to the country and subsequently left it. Of course there has in that time been a natural increase in population of some half a million, which set against the exodus makes the net loss in the size of our home market one and a half millions. Is a policy, even though it be baptized national, a wise and patriotic one that produces, or at least is powerless to prevent, such results?

A Commissioner in B. R.

GENTLEMEN,—Having used Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam in our family for years I have no hesitation in saying that it beats everything else we ever tried for coughs and colds in children as well as grown up people. It relieves that tight binding sensation in the chest. We would not be without it for anything. WILLIAM ANDREW, Commissioner in B.R., Balmoral, Man.

YOUNG'S POINT.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

In Kearney's Hall, Monday evening last a most pleasant assembly was held, there being twenty couples in attendance and everything being up to the mark including music, dancing and luncheon. The dining room of the Lakeview was most artistically decorated for the occasion with flags, bunting and flowers most bewitching to the eye. Mr. W. Brooks officiated as floor manager.

Mrs. Kane, Peterborough, is the guest of Mrs. P. P. Young.

Miss Minnie Weir is visiting friends here.

Rev. F. Hartley of here is spending two weeks in Toronto.

Miss Lottie Kearney is improving from the effects of la grippe.

Mr. W. J. Young is confined to his room these days with a very severe cold.

Miss Emma Scollard is paying a few days visit with friends in Selwyn.

Mrs. R. Pope has returned home after an extended visit with friends here.

Miss L. Quinlin is spending a few days with her aunt in Burleigh.

Rev. Father Keilty, of Douro, paid a visit to our village this week.

Mr. C. Carl, agent for Northrop & Lyman Co., Toronto, and Mr. Phillips, traveller for J. Linton Co., Montreal, spent a few days at the Lakeview house, last week.

Mr. Ed. Young has a number of men under his supervision, taking out wood and timber from Deer bay, this winter.

Our villagers are busy engaged stowing away ice for next summer's use, it being of excellent quality in Clear lake.

Some of the oldest residents say, that last Thursday's storm was the wildest in several years. A considerable number of fences and trees and a couple of sheds were blown down, but no particular harm was done. Mr. P. Kennedy, our stage-driver will have considerable trouble wending his way north these days as the roads are badly drifted.

Mr. B. Brown, Peterborough experienced a little of the storm on his return home from Mount Forest. The roads were blocked so bad, he was obliged to unhitch his horses several times. By the time he reached the Point that night his horses were very nearly exhausted.

A sleigh load composed of some Selwyn friends and young ladies and gentlemen of here drove up to Mr. C. Wynn's camp, Burleigh, one evening last week and spent a couple of hours in dancing and card-playing, returning at an early hour much pleased with their evening's sport.

We regret to chronicle the death of Mrr. T. Ellerton, who, after a lingering illness, died at her father's residence here. The funeral took place to the Otonabee cemetery. Rev. Mr. Limbert, of Lakefield, preached the funeral sermon.

Friday last one of the oldest residents of this vicinity passed away in the person of Mr. Joseph Ayott, sr., who had reached the ripe old age of eighty-seven years. The deceased was well known and respected and leaves a number of sons and daughters to mourn his loss. The remains were brought to the Roman Catholic cemetery here for interment.

TO RAISE THE QUALITY OF OUR CHEESE.

The co-operative idea will probably be still further extended in the manufacture of cheese in the Province of Ontario. A scheme has been suggested by the Western Dairymen's Association, which will not only prove economical to the factories, but will result in the production of a higher grade of cheese. The project is this: It is proposed to organize the factories of Western Ontario, some 350 in number, into syndicates of from 15 to 25 each. An inspector or instructor will be appointed to each syndicate, who shall visit the factories and secure, if possible, a uniformity of make in the different factories. Over the syndicate instructors is to be placed an instructor general. The expenses of the local instructors, according to the plan outlined, are to be borne by the syndicate, and estimating the average output of each factory at 60 tons, it is thought that the burden will not amount to more than a tax of 40 cents per ton. If an average of 55 members for each factory can be secured for the Association at a fee of 50 cents, then the Association will undertake to bear the expense of the whole scheme. The association intends, if possible, to organize one or two of these syndicates for the coming season as a test, but if a number of factories in any locality desire to form themselves into a syndicate, and will guarantee their share of the cost, the association will be ready to appoint an instructor and assume control of the work.—Toronto World.

KIDNEY TREATMENT.

A Plain Talk to Sensible People Never in Vain.

Call a Spade a Spade—How we Suffer From Ignorance—Why This Generation Should Use Dodd's Kidney Pills.

To call a spade a spade is sometimes the best way to make the desired impression.

Through ignorance, or perhaps better, say heedlessness, people often bring upon themselves great suffering, and thereby shorten life.

Not alone upon themselves, but upon their children after them.

For four years we have been using the columns of the newspapers to teach the truth about Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Out of the one million families in Canada, perhaps, in one hundred thousand they know all about Dodd's Kidney Pills and have used them.

We want all people to know and use Dodd's Kidney Pills, not for our sake, but for their own.

Pure, rich blood and health go together always.

The blood cannot be pure, nor the person well, if the kidneys are out of order.

Dodd's Kidney Pills were designed to meet the everyday needs of this country.

The climate is changeable and trying.

You cannot regulate your clothing to meet the frequent changes in temperature.

But you can help the kidneys—the first and most sensitive to feel and suffer from such changes—by using Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Let this generation live up to the light of this advancing age and bequeath strength and vigour to the next.

You cannot change the constitution transmitted to you at birth—it will always show the strain of impure blood at the weakest point.

But you can make the best of your constitution, and insure to your children that hardiness and vigour so priceless and inestimable by using Dodd's Kidney Pills whenever you need kidney treatment.

Seems as if consumption always picks out the brightest and best. Fully one-sixth of all the deaths that occur in the world are caused by consumption. Many things were once considered impossible. It would be strange if medical science did not make some progress. The telegraph and telephone, the phonograph, the electric light—all were once impossible, and once it was impossible to cure consumption. That was before the time of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Taken according to directions, this standard remedy will cure 98 per cent. of all cases of consumption. Consumption is caused and fostered by impurity in the blood. It is cured by purity and richness in the blood—surely, certainly cured by the "Medical Discovery." It builds up solid healthy flesh and vigorous strength.

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, a 1008 page medical work, profusely illustrated will be sent free on receipt of 21 one cent stamps to cover postage ONLY. Address, World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N.Y.

ONE HONEST MAN.

DEAR EDITOR:—Please inform your readers that if written to confidentially, I will mail in a sealed letter, the plan pursued by which I was permanently restored to health and manly vigor, after years of suffering from Nervous Weakness, night losses and weak, shrunken parts.

I have no scheme to extort money from anyone whomsoever. I was robbed and swindled by the quacks until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but thank Heaven, I am now well, vigorous and strong, and anxious to make this certain means of cure known to all.

Having nothing to sell or send C.O.D., I want no money. Address JAS. A. HARRIS, Box 239. sodw Delray, Mich.

in a surprisingly short time. It's a scientific certainty, tried and true, soothing and healing in its effects.

W. C. McCOMBER & SON, Bouchette, Que., report in a letter that Pyny-Pectoral cured Mrs. C. Caouse of chronic cold in chest and bronchial tubes, and also cured W. C. McComber of a long-standing cold.

MR. J. H. HUTTY, Chemist, 526 Yonge St., Toronto, writes: "As a general cough and lung syrup Pyny-Pectoral is a most invaluable preparation. It has given the utmost satisfaction to all who have tried it, many having spoken to me of the benefits derived from its use in their families. It is suitable for old or young, being pleasant to the taste. Its sale with me has been wonderful, and I can always recommend it as a safe and reliable cough medicine."

He Used Paine's Celery Compound.

Mr. McWilliams, of Bradford, Ont., was a terrible sufferer from rheumatism of the worst form. After experimenting with many deceptive medicines, his attention was directed to that unfailing banisher of disease, Paine's Celery Compound, six bottles of which effected a perfect cure.

Rev. F. Smith, Presbyterian minister, certifies to the truthfulness of every statement. Mr. McWilliams briefly writes as follows:

"Unsolicited, I forward this testimonial to the value of Paine's Celery Compound. I am pretty well up in years, and was sorely afflicted with rheumatism. I purchased and used six bottles of your medicine and am now perfectly well; I have no rheumatism left."

ACCIDENTAL BUT DEADLY.

Albert Giese of London May Die Owing to a Friendly Encounter.

London, Ont., Feb. 10.—As the result of a stabbing accident on Saturday afternoon Albert Giese, 29 John-street, London West, may lose his life. The young man is employed in W. J. Reid & Co.'s establishment, and in passing a fellow employe named Ben Clark, some jocular remarks were exchanged, which ended in Clark making a strike at Giese. Clark had an open knife in his hand which he had quite forgotten, and the blade made an ugly gash in Giese's chest, and is supposed to have pierced the lung. The unfortunate victim lost a large quantity of blood, and is at present in a very low condition.

DEATH OF CONTRACTOR SIMPSON.

He Succumbed to Pneumonia—To be Buried at Collingwood.

Halifax, N.S., Feb. 10.—K. Simpson, with R. G. Reid, railway contractor, Montreal, died at the Albion Hotel Saturday evening. Mr. Simpson returned from Newfoundland two weeks ago, where he had some business contract for his firm, and contracted a cold on passage here, which resulted in an attack of pneumonia. His remains are being taken to his home in Collingwood, Ont., accompanied by Mrs. Simpson and F. J. Simpson, his son, who came here to look after his father.

HOPE BOOTH AGAIN A WIFE.

Second Marriage of the Newburg, Ont., Girl Only Just Announced.

New York, Feb. 10.—Hope Booth, or "Little Miss Cute," as she is called on the Rialto, has ben heard from again. The announcement was published yesterday of her marriage to James Adger Bain Earle of Kinderhook, N.Y. The marriage took place on Dec. 10 and the young pair are now supposed to be in Europe. Hope Booth resided in Toronto, Ontario, and is a remarkably pretty woman. Some years ago she married Mr. Gibbs, a member of the Canadian Parliament, and came to New York to study for the stage. She started on a starring tour in "In Spite of All," but failed dismally. Her husband died shortly afterwards, and Miss Booth went to London. Since then she has earned for herself a lot of cheap notoriety. The girl was born at Newburg, Ont.

THE QUEEN'S SPEECH.

What Her Majesty Will Likely Say to Parliament.

ENGLAND'S FOREIGN RELATIONS

Are Satisfactory—No Mention in the Speech of Arbitration Regarding the Venezuelan Dispute, But This is Said to be of Very Little Importance.

London, Feb. 10.—The Speech from the Throne, which will be read at the opening of Parliament to-morrow makes no reference whatever to the subject of arbitration of the Venezuela dispute.

The speech sets forth that the relations of Great Britain with foreign powers are satisfactry; recapitulates the known facts of the Transvaal trouble; alludes to the necessity for an increase of the naval strength of England, and refers to the dispute between Great Britain and Venezuela, and the negotiations with the United States in regard thereto, in the same terms as vaguely outlined in Sunday's press despatch, which stated that the Government of Great Britain had under consideration proposals for a prospect of a more peaceful solution of the dispute.

The speech also recites the facts of the massacres and disturbances in Armenia. While it deplores the excenses which have been committed, it says that some degree of satisfaction is to be found in the Sultan's promises to institute reforms, but avoids any indication of the future policy of England in regard to Turkey.

Her Majesty congratulates the country upon the success of the bloodless operations of the British expedition in Ashantee and deplores the death of Prince Henry of Battenberg, who was a member of the expedition.

The speech then announcese that the measures to be introduced, by the Government will include an employers' limited liability bill; a measure for the creation of voluntary schools; an Irish land bill; a bill for the formation of an Irish Board of Agriculture for the relief of agricultural distress; a bill for the regulation of alien paupers immigration, and a measure for the construction of light railways for the rural districts.

No importance is attached to the absence of any reference to arbitration of the Venezuelan dispute. No experienced politicians expected that any reference would be made to the subject, for the reason that the speech is never the medium of merely incipient developments.

The representative of the United Press learns that Prime Minister Salisbury and Right Hon. A. J. Balfour, First Lord of the Treasury, have prepared a carefully guarded statement which they will make in the House of Lords and House of Commons early in the debate on the address in reply to the Queen's speech, affirming the willingness of the Government to arbitrate the question of the territory that is not occupied by British settlements.

Opinion in the National Liberal Club grows every day more intense in favor of closing the dispute on any terms consonant with national honor. As the declarations of the Ministers are not likely to be satisfactory to the Liberals, it is believed that Sir William Vernon Harcourt, their leader in the House of Commons, will move an amendment to the address, affirming that arbitration of the boundary question ought to be accepted by Great Britain.

MR. WIMAN'S TROUBLES OVER.

District Attorney Fellows Signs Documents to Dismiss an Indictment.

New York, Feb. 10.—District-Attorney Fellows this morning endorsed papers which, when signed by Justice Smyth, of the criminal branch of the Supreme Court, will dismiss the indictment upon which Erastus Wiman was tried and convicted of having forged the signature of E. W. Bullington to a check for $5000. When the case came up before the Court of Appeals that tribunal so passed upon the legal points involved in the case as to make a second conviction impossible.

The case was brought before Judge McMahon in the Court of General Sessions later and the motion for dismissal was made, which was promptly granted and the indictment dismissed.

$25,000 FOR MISS "BIRDIE."

Hon. Dudley Churchill Marjoribanks Thought it Best to Settle With Her.

London, Feb. 10.—The suit for breach of promise brought by Miss "Birdie" Sutherland, a ballet girl, against the Hon. Dudley Churchill Marjoribanks, eldest son of Baron Tweedmouth, which was to have been tried before Lord Chief Justice Russell and special jury, has been settled, the defendant paying Miss Sutherland £5000 and assuming the costs of the action.

Maltine With Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites—A Palatable, Nourishing Body-Builder.

Consumption—that dread disease—too often arises from neglect. Colds not serious in themselves, by depressing the vital forces play an important part in provoking conditions that render lung disintergration almost certain. To obviate this deplorable sequence of neglected colds the body should be fortified, strengthened, nourished, and this may with certainity be accomplished by the use of Maltine with Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites. Its mode of action is plain—the oil rendered palatable and of easy digestion, does not irritate the stomach and unfit it for the digestion of food; but this preparation serves a much higher purpose than this, for by its action on starchy foods it affords for the replacement of the waste of the body an abundance of fresh strong blood. The patient gains weight, irritation of the bronchial tubes disappears, sleep is restored and the general improvement is immediate and permanent.

Norway Pine Syrup strengthens the lungs and cures all throat troubles.

TOOK TOO MUCH MORPHINE.

Death of Dr. Reade, the G.T.R. Physician at Niagara Falls.

Niagara Falls, Ont., Feb. 10.—Dr. T. W. Reade, G.T.R. Company's physician, died here at 1.30 o'clock this afternoon. He had been for some days past suffering from a severe attack of la grippe. Some time during the night, to relieve his pains from the disease, he took a dose of morphine, which proved too much for the weak condition of his heart, the effect of which caused congestion of the lungs and heart failure. Although several doctors were called, they couldn't do anything to save his life.

PUGILISM AND DEATH.

A Philadelphia Boxing Bout With a Fatal Ending and an Arrest.

Philadelphia, Feb. 10.—Fred Schlechter, who sustained a fracture of the skull in a boxing bout on Saturday night, with Harry Pluckfelder, an ex-policeman, died this morning. The police are reticent concerning the affair, but it is believed that the bout was a friendly one. Schlechter was knocked down and his skull was fractured by his head striking the floor. Pluckfelder is under arrest.

Wrecked on Cape Breton.

Gloucester, Mass, Feb. 10.—The fishing schooner Resolute, owned by Benjamin Low & Co. of this city, went ashore last night during a heavy storm at Little Lorraine, C.B., and Isaac Rogers, one of the crew, was drowned. The vessel was broken in pieces.

Although a very busy man, Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., has found time in which to write a great book of over a thousand pages entitled, The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser in plain English, or Medicine Simplified. Few books printed in the English language have reached so great a sale as has this popular work, over 680,000 copies having been sold at $1.50 each. The profits on this enormous sale having repaid its author for the great amount of labour and money expended on its production he has now decided to give away, absolutely free, 500,000 copies of this valuable book, the recipient only being required to mail to the World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N.Y., of which company he is president, 31 one-cent stamps, to cover cost of mailing only, and the book will be sent post-paid. It is a veritable medical library, complete in one volume. It contains 1008 large pages, and over 300 illustrations, some of them in colours. The Free Edition is precisely the same as that sold at $1.50 except only that the books are bound in strong manilla paper covers, instead of cloth. It is not often that our readers have an opportunity to obtain a valuable book on such generous terms, and we predict that few will miss availing themselves of the unusual and liberal offer to which we have called their attention.

CARD OF THANKS.

Messrs. Cox & Davis, Peterborough:

GENTLEMEN: I wish to thank you for your promptness in settling the loss on my furniture, which occurred through the upsetting of my coal stove, on Friday night last at 10 o'clock. On being notified next day you were good enough to send over a man to settle the loss in order that I might be able to get the house cleaned up and thereby saved me much inconvenience. From my experience with your office now, it is a source of pleasure for me to feel that my insurance is with you, and I shall not forget to tell my friends.

Yours truly,

"Jerry, the Tramp."

The largest house for years filled the opera house last night to see Marks Bros. Co. in the rollicking comedy drama, "The Irish Detective." The company put up the best show ever seen here at popular prices. The specialties, and there is any amount of them, all went with a snap and vim that means full houses for the two weeks the company stay here. To-night, "Jerry, the Tramp."

Where are the Snowploughs?

Several residents on Homewood avenue called into the EXAMINER office to-day to complain of the neglect of the driver of the snowplough to clear that street since the Sunday storm. The snow has now drifted until in some places it is over four feet deep on the sidewalk. Similar complaints are also coming in from the north ward. Wherever the fault lies, it is evident from the frequent complaints received and the frequent requests made to "give the snowploughs fits," that the snowploughing is very unsatisfactorily done.

The Newcombe Piano.

"A good name is better than riches." This is Bible truth, and it applies to the Newcombe piano, which has achieved during the past quarter of a century a reputation that makes it one of the most popular and desirable pianos in Canada to-day. It is not only popular and a favourite among the masses, but the best professional musicians give it a hearty endorsation. It is endorsed by such musical authorities as Sir Arthur Sullivan and Sir John Stainer, London, Otto Bendex, and Dr. Maas of Boston, A. Agramonte, of New York, and F. H. Torrington of Toronto. When you wish to buy a first-class piano that will give lasting satisfaction, take the Newcombe. Mr. W. A. Shaw, traveller for Octavius Newcombe & Co., is often in town, and a post card addressed P. O. Box 327, will reach him and receive prompt attention.

Peterborough's Baby Elocutionist.

The Kingston Whig thus refers to the appearance in that city of Little Lolo Ostrom, who was the chief entertainer at a recent concert. The other youth referred to is a "boy soprano": "But it is safe to say that when the highly gifted children, Lolo Ostrom and Eddie Salman, again visit this city, a much larger hall than that used last night will be needed to seat all who will crowd to hear them. Those present last evening were enraptured with two wonderful clever little strangers, and gave them a most enthusiastic reception. The "Baby Elocutionist" was, if anything, the greater favourite, her tiny graceful figure, her remarkably mobile and intelligent face and the sweet, bell-like tones of her well-modulated voice, together with her perfectly natural and appropriate gestures, fairly taking the audience by storm."

CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY NOTES.

Two Cases of Interest—An Urgent Call for Rescue.

Yesterday the agent of the Children's Aid Society went to Keene to investigate a case that comes under the rescue branch of the society's work. A fine little girl is living in vicious surroundings, which have already brought about the ruin of an elder sister, herself only sixteen years of age. Arrangements were made for the rescue of the child.

A peculiar case came within the province of the society a day or two ago. On Saturday evening a little waif, being only eleven years of age, said to have come from Lindsay, drifted into the police station. He is one of these restless youngsters, as nomadic as an Ishmaelite. He is not vicious, it seems, but restless and rebellious against any restraint suggestive of home. He was taken in charge by the society, fed and sheltered at a hotel, and then sent to St. Joseph's hospital. Here he would not stay. On Sunday he was drifting around the streets and subsequently he left the hospital and his present whereabouts is unknown. This lad is a puzzle to the authorities. He has evidently had such a training or lack of training that he cannot appreciate or understand the comfort of a home—an inexpressibly sad condition of affairs that a lad should have lived in this country eleven years under such conditions that he has no home and cannot understand the significance and value of such a place. All that can be done to stop his roving career is to put him in jail, but that is contrary to the spirit of the functions of the Children's Aid Society. His case is one that calls for the establishment of some precedent to cover its unprecedented character.

DEATH OF JAMES MARTIN.

One of Peterborough's old Residenters Passes Away at an Advanced age.

The death of Mr. James Martin, at the advanced age of 84 years, occurred yesterday morning at his residence No. 1045 Water street, from where the funeral will take place at nine o'clock to-morrow morning to the Roman Catholic cemetery.

The deceased was born on the ocean near the port of Halifax, in 1814, when his parents were on their way to Canada, from the county of Armagh, Ireland. His father was a Captain in the British Navy and crossed the Atlantic seventeen times, which was considered quite a feat in the days of sailing vessels.

Mr. James Martin resided in lower Canada for many years and married there. He served with the Imperial troops in the Papineau rebellion and also participated in the American Civil War.

The death of his wife occurred several years ago, but seven children survive to mourn the death of a most indulgent father. They are:—John, who resides in California; Robert, of Michigan; Hugh, of Minnesota; Charles, of British Columbia; Mrs. W. J. Hopkins and Mrs. John Delaney, of town, and Miss Mary J. who resided with her father and kept house for him.

The deceased had lived in Peterborough for over forty years and was widely known and highly respected for his sterling integrity.

OBITUARY.

The Late Absolom Ingram.

In the death on Feb. 8th, of Mr. Absolom Ingram, Ashburnham loses one of its oldest and most respected residents. The deceased gentleman, who was sixty-nine years of age, was born in St. Thomas, Ont., and in 1862 came to Ashburnham with the late Rev. Mark Burnham, and was connected with the family during the reverend gentleman's life, and after his death till three years ago. Mr. Ingram was twice married, the first time to Miss Alexander, of St. Thomas. To this union were born two children, of whom only one is living, Mrs. John Butcher, Ashburnham. His second marriage was to Miss Davis, of Smith, who survives him. Mr. Ingram performed the duties of citizenship in such a manner as to win universal esteem. He filed the position of secretary-treasurer of the Ashburnham School Board for nearly a quarter of a century and for several years acted as collector of taxes. He was an active member of St. Luke's congregation and was one of the sidesmen and also a member of the Finance Committee. The funeral took place on Monday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock, the remains being laid at rest in Little Lake Cemetery.

SPECIAL SERVICES

Will be Held in the Charlotte Street Church This Week and Next.

A series of special meetings were inaugurated at the Charlotte street church last evening when, although the elements were far from propitious, the attendance was most encouraging.

Rev. Mr. Rae, the pastor, took the subject "Prayer" for the basis of his remarks and throughout the service so deep an interest was evinced by those present, that most favourable results are expected to be brought about through the meetings.

The choir was in attendance and the excellent character of the music did much to increase the interest of the evening.

To-night the pastor will speak on "Work." The meetings will be continued for two weeks, beginning, in the body of the church, at eight o'clock each evening.

PERSONAL.

Mrs. Kane of town, is visiting Mrs. P.P. Young, of Young's Point.

Mr. "Dick" Harry, of Lindsay, has been spending the last few days in town.

Messrs Lionel King and Walter Phelan have both returned home for the hockey match to-night.

Mr. A. R. J. Hall, is visiting friends and relatives in Lucknow, and will be absent several weeks.

Mr. Thos. Telford, the EXAMINER's weather observer, has not recovered sufficiently from his late illness as to be able to be out.

Mr. J. R. Stratton, M. P. P., and Mr. Thos. Blezard, M.P.P., leave this evening for Toronto, to attend the session of the Legislature which opens to-day.

Mr. A. Cutting, local representative of the York County Loan and Savings Co., left this morning for Toronto, where he will attend the annual meeting of the directors and shareholders of that company, which takes place in the city to-day.

Ivorine For The Teeth

Asks only a trial. Boasting will not whiten teeth; Ivorine for the teeth does. Extravagant claims will not render the breath sweet and fragrant; Ivorine never fails to do this. Ivorine for the teeth asks you for an opportunity to demonstrate its value. Dentists have affirmed it and the public corroborate professional opinion, but do you know, as every tooth loving man or woman ought to know, Ivorine for the teeth is the best.

SETTLED AT LAST.

Monaghan and the Town Agree as to the Payment of Costs in the Sewer Arbitration.

Yesterday afternoon the Mayor, and Councillors Langford, Hughes and Best met Reeve Forster and the entire Council of North Monaghan, for the purpose of amicably discussing the matter of settling the payment of costs in the sewer arbitration without again resorting to law, and appealing from the last judgment of the court.

As the counsel on both sides were so far apart in their views as to make their clients despair of ever bringing them together, the meeting was held without their presence.

Mr. E. B. Edwards the town solicitor thinks that the amount of the High Court costs for which the town is liable will not amount to more than $700 or $750 at the outside. Mr. Edmison is of the opinion that the costs will total up to about $1000.

In an effort to come to an amable settlement the town, at the meeting mentioned, offered to pay down a lump sum of $675, and agree not to appeal the case. The township's representatives, however, were not anxious to settle in this way, preferring the town to pay a percentage.

It was finally agreed that the town should pay 85 per cent. and the township 15 per cent. of the taxed costs.

Mr. Watson's fee for attending the arbitration and cross-examining the witnesses was $50 per day, but it is not yet known whether his fees will be allowed in the High Court costs.

THAT BILL OF EXTRAS

In Connection With the Rutherford and Bogue Sewer Contract.

The Sewerage Committee of the Town Council met last evening, with Councillor Best in the chair, in order to discuss the items of the bill of extras brought in by Messrs. Rutherford and Bogue in connection with the construction of section No. 2 of the outfall sewer.

The bill now amounts to $529.60, and Contractor Bogue, accompanied by Mr. W. L. Innes, civil engineer, was before the committee last evening to explain some of the items against which the councillors kicked.

A plan was submitted illustrating the depths below the tender specifications to which the contractor had excavated. As the necessary figures regarding these depths were not supplied, the surveyor was requested to furnish them, when a settlement will probably be reached.

THE NON-COMS.' MESS.

It is a Healthy Organization and Doing Well.

The club known as the mess of the non-commissioned officers of the 57th Battalion was in a very shaky condition during the spring and summer months, but through the exertions of the President, Mr. Thos. Connal and his colleagues, it has been placed on a solid financial footing, and is now in a most healthy condition. The rooms are now bright and cheerful, and well patronized by those qualified to become members.

At a meeting held the other evening the following officers were elected:

President—Thomas Connal.
Secretary—W. Sharp.
Treasurer—Frank Packenham.
Executive Committee—R. Layfield, S. Sharp, W. F. Green and B. Roberts.

Mr. Connal was anxious to resign the presidency, as the club is now sailing in tranquil waters, but the boys would not hear of it, so he is again at the helm.

SOUTH WARD MISSION.

Discussion on the Advisability of Enlarging the Church.

A congregational meeting of the South Ward Mission was held last evening to consider the advisability of enlarging the church by building a wing to serve as a chancel. The matter was not definitely settled but will be again taken up at a meeting to be held in May next. In the meantime the Easter offertory will be placed on deposit for the advancement of this plan, if it is thought advisable to carry it through to completion.

Weak, Tired, Nervous

Women, who seem to be all worn out, will find in purified blood, made rich and healthy by Hood's Sarsaparilla, permanent relief and strength. The following is from a well known nurse:

"I have suffered for years with female complaints and kidney troubles and I have had a great deal of medical advice during that time, but have received little or no benefit. A friend advised me to take Hood's Sarsaparilla and I began to use it, together with Hood's Pills. I have realized more benefit from these medicines than from anything else I have ever taken. From my personal experience I believe Hood's Sarsaparilla to be a most complete blood purifier." MRS. C. CROMPTON, 71 Cumberland St., Toronto, Ontario.

How We Keep Busy.

One way is, because we have made this store of direct benefit to the community. We make the public interest our own, giving customers the best end of each and every bargain

Another way is, that we find out exactly what people want, and then go where the best goods are made. We buy big enough to bring prices down, and sell quick enough to keep stocks clean. We do this—not only now and then, but every week in every month—always anticipating needs and always developing trade.

Still another way is—during the manufacturers dullest season we place large orders on a spot cash basis besides gathering the surplus stocks of many well-known makers. But we run no risks. If prices are low enough we buy only worthy goods below market value, and then, we sell as we buy.

This Store is Going to be Bigger.

The tendency of trade is to pass the little near-by stores and come to the big ones. One reason for this is, that prosperous stores increase their variety and lower their prices according to their prosperity. This year we shall lift this store above its own level, so that what has been good service before—far above the average—will be excellent now.

We are more than doubling our advertising space. Advertising is necessary, and so long as it is nesessary it must be used to its full advantage. These are days of fierce competition and he who would sail at all must sail with a full head of steam.

We are doubling our Wall Paper capacity for the Spring Trade, and intend showing about 700 different patterns of the newest designs. When our new stock is all in we have no hesitation in saying that it will be unequalled in the Province for extent, designs and low prices.

We are doubling our Window Shade stock, having purchased, at a price, a manufacturer's entire stock on hand, which will require room for about 1600 shades of about 60 different designs. The prices will be a revelation to Window Shade buyers.

We are doubling our Department for Cornice Poles, Room Moulding and Picture Framing. House Decoration has developed into an art, and our aim will be to aid every housewife in her efforts to make home beautiful.

Were wise cooks in their day and they knew the virtues of using Cream Tartar and Soda in their baking. Their trouble was that sometimes they used a little too much Cream Tartar and sometimes a little too much Soda, and, besides, Cream Tartar can scarcely ever be bought twice of exactly the same strength, so that they rarely get the proportions correct, and that is the secret of success or failure.

A New Plan.

The Kingston City Council has adopted the plan of notifying each alderman of the exact nature of the business to be transacted at the different meetings called, but the idea is found not to work well, as when routine or uninteresting business is to be taken up, there is a difficulty in getting a quorum together.

There will be a business meeting of the Epworth League of the Charlotte street church held after the special services, commencing at 9 o'clock, in the church, on Wednesday—to-morrow—evening, at which several important matters will be brought before the members for discussion. All members are particularly requested to be present.

Last Night at the Opera.

The Marks Bros. are with us again and have even a better company than that which composed the troup last year. Last evening the sensational comedy drama "The Irish Detective" was presented to a house, which has not been so crowded since the last visit of the company. Tom Marks assumed the role of Michael James O'Holohan and kept the audience in roars of laughter, whenever he was upon the stage. Mr. Alex Marks as Vivian Forester was also fully up to the mark of the Mark Bros. and Mr. Lee J. Kellam, who is one of the old members of the company, made a capital villain. Miss Myra Collins, as always, was the favorite of the evening and as "Wildcat" quite won the house. Her song "Won't you play house with me," is one of the newest and its "cute" rendition earned for her the most enthusiastic encore of the evening. Miss Ella Burton and Miss May A. Pell also took their parts exceptionally well. Almost every member of this excellent company is a specialist and can dance, sing or tell a good story in a manner to win for them an encore every time. Petite Gracie's dancing and singing are very taking. The company intend making a two weeks' stay in town and those intending to patronize the opera house during their stay, should be early in their attendance, as after eight o'clock there is seldom a seat to be had and in consequence last evening a large number of ladies unwilling to stand had to be turned away.

Preparations for the Bay of Quinte Conference Convention on Febuary. 18, 19, 20.

Every preparation is being made for the coming meeting of the Young People's Societies of the Methodist Church in the Bay of Quinte Conference, to be held in the city of Belleville on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, Feb. 18, 19 and 20. It is expected that it will be one of the largest and most enthusiastic gatherings of young people ever held in this section of the country. It will embrace representatives from all the Societies and Mission Circles, and is the first held within the bounds of the Conference. The President of the Convention is C. P. Holton, Esq., of Belleville, and the Secretary is Rev. C. W. Watch of Brighton. The pastors of the city churches and the Young People's Societies are heartily co-operating with these officers to make the gathering a success, and Mr. Watch has twice visited the city in the interest of the meetings.

The key-note of the convention is "The Culture of Heart and Mind for the Building of Character and the Saving of Souls." A session will be given to each department. The Rev. A. C. Crews will deliver an address on "A Thirteenth Century Failure and a Nineteenth Century Success," Dr. Carman will speak twice, Dr. Potts will lecture on "Epworth League for Christ and the Church," N. W. Rowell, Esq., will speak on "The Culture of the Mind in the Religious Life." Altogether there will be about fifty papers and addresses given, and among the speakers in addition to the above are found the names of Revs. S. J. Shorey, W. R. Young, B.A., T. Manning, F. B. Stratton, J. J. Rae, S. T. Bartlett, and Prof. Doxsee. The railways will issue reduced tickets to the convention. Enquiries concerning programmes, rates, etc., should be sent to Rev. C. W. Watch, Brighton.

CHRISTIAN PROFESSORS.

"Merely professing to be a Christian does not make one a Christian. A Christian Endeavourer who is really a Christian will not be a mere professor. Our names are on the church roll; we have the name of being Christians. Let us be careful of ourselves and careful of our teaching in the line of making profession, the chief grounds of one's Christian life. We shall be judged not by what we profess, but by what we are."—Union Gospel News.

CHARLOTTE ST. LEAGUE.

This society has discontinued its meetings for a couple of weeks, owing to a series of special services now being held by Rev. J. J. Rae.

ST. PAUL'S.

Reports of an encouraging nature were read from the various committees, showing an active and aggressive zeal in the forwarding of Christ's work. The latter part of the meeting was devoted to the consideration of the topic, "Christ's Warnings," under the leadership of Miss Stephenson. May these warnings be the means of arousing and saving the unconverted is the prayer of all true Endeavourers. Three new members were added to the roll.

PRESBYTERIAN UNION.

The societies of St. Andrew's and St. Paul's churches will hold a union meeting in the Sunday School room of St. Paul's next Monday evening. The topic, "Our Church," will be brought before the meeting by the pastors, Rev. Dr. Torrance and Rev. A. MacWilliams. As this meeting is along denominational lines, it is hoped that the room will be filled by the older as well as the young Presbyterians. "Why am I a Presbyterian?" will be an interesting subject.

VILLIERS—OTONABEE.

Our meeting on Tuesday evening, the 4th, was led throughout by the music committee. A paper on the topic "Labourers together with God" was read by Miss Jennie Lancaster. The meeting was then thrown open, but we did not have as many as we would like take part in it. The prayer meeting was conducted by Morley Nelson. Let each of us think of this blessed privilege we have of working with God. We are sure if we take Christ with us in all the work we undertake in our society we will certainly have success. Let us then not try to do anything of ourselves, but always trust in Him as our guide. We are much pleased to report a new member.

THE MANITOBA ELECTIONS.

The School Question the Main Issue in the Recent Contest.

The following letter has been forwarded to the EXAMINER, with a request for publication, by Mr. Milburn of Smith, where he was long known as a prominent and active Conservative worker:

To the Editor of the Examiner:

SIR,—In looking over the issues of the Peterborough papers of some two weeks ago I was somewhat amused to see the attempts of Hon. T. Daly to belittle the influence of the school question in the elections just passed. It is really pitable in the extreme to see the futile attempts of the honourable gentleman to excuse himself and his party for their stand on the school question. All his other arguments having proved miserably useless, he has been compelled to stoop to deliberate misrepresentation. Now this is rather a strong assertion to make, but as a resident of this country and one who has listened to speeches by some of the leading men on both sides of the question, I unhesitatingly pronounce his statements untrue. In fact it was almost the only issue that was brought prominently forward during the contest. He must be sadly lacking in common sense if he thinks to convince the people of the truth of his statements which are in direct opposition to all newspaper articles and reports and to the statement of Mr. Nat. Boyd, M. P., who was present and took part in the campaign. If he read the papers he must certainly have seen that opponents of the government on the school question were elected in only two English constituencies and one of those would have been badly beaten had it not been for a Patron candidate who entered and thus split the national school vote. In my own constituency of Deloraine, which was formerly represented by a Conservative who was elected by a majority of 48 at last election, the Government candidate, Young, was elected by 210 majority. In the constituency of Avondale, whose border lies just a mile north of me, a Conservative majority of 232, last election, was changed to a government majority of nearly 100. In my own neighbourhood where there are two Conservatives for one "Grit," what was the result? Twenty-three majority for the Government candidate. "In these two constituencies I personally KNOW that the school question was, by all odds, the leading question."

It is the general opinion here in Mr. Daly's own constituency that he has a judge's commission safely tucked in his inside pocket or he would not pursue his present course on this matter. In the last Dominion election he defeated the Hon. Joseph Martin to the tune of some 300 odd majority, but after the way he has (mis)-represented us in the House, he will do well to get as many votes altogether as he had majority last time. He is condemned on all sides both by friend and foe for his traitorous course in this matter except by those fishing for some paltry office. Although elected to office to carry out the wishes of his constituents, now that he no longer has reason to fear them, he turns round and deliberately does what 95 per cent. of his constituents condemn.

National Schools for Manitoba are what we are after and what we are going to have if our votes count for anything. Special privileges to none, is our motto.

Yours in the interests of truth,
THOS. H. MILBURN.

BEYOND RECOVERY.

The Boy LaFlamme—His Cure was a Surprise—A few Boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

PAPPINEAUVILLE, Feb. 3 (Special).—The father of the boy LaFlamme is one of the leading merchants here and willing to talk of his son's cure. He says,—"My little boy Arthur, after scarlet fever about a year ago, never recovered and his ailment ran into a kidney trouble. His body was swollen to twice its natural size. The sufferings of the little fellow were very severe and we had all given up hope of him. But three months ago we commenced giving him Dodd's Kidney Pills, and to-day he is romping and playing with the other boys." This as an instance of prompt cure is very remarkable.

AN UP TO DATE INSTITUTION.

Toronto University has on two or three occasions recently given evidence that it is a live and up-to-date institution. A couple of years ago, when Prof. Koch's discovery of anti-toxine was announced to the world, Prof. Ramsay Wright was sent to Europe to investigate the latest developments in that important discovery. No sooner has Prof. Roentgen's wonderful experiment with cathode rays been made public than we find the physical department of the college devoting itself energetically to the theoretical and practicals demonstration of the new discovery. Mr. J. C. McLennan, M.A., demonstrator in physics, has been successful in duplicating the new process and has proved its efficiency by actual experiment. These facts are evidence of the true spirit that ought to characterize a progressive university. In science especially should the great seats of learning endeavour to be up-to-date and anticipate what the future is about to reveal to us. But the real subject for investigation in regard to cathode rays has just begun. What is now wanted and what is being sought for by scientists is the real scientific source of these wonderful rays of light. There is no reason why our own university should not take part in the search after this knowledge.

JOHN McNAUGHTON'S GREAT CLEARING SALE.

Big Bargain Boom in Boots and Shoes.

The clearing sale of the boot and shoe stock is still going on at his store, corner Bethune and Sherbrooke streets. The decided bargains offered are attracting numerous buyers. Those in need of first class boots and shoes for men, women and children should not miss this great sale. The stock must be cleared out, and the prices are made low, very low, for that purpose.

Sauerkraut.

While it is generally understood that this appetizing dish is a strong favorite among the Teutonic race, its appreciation is not by any means confined to Germans, any more than porridge is to the Scotch. It will be of interest to all who relish a dish of sauerkraut to know that we keep a supply on hand by the quart or gallon. M. L. Henry & Co., grocers, No. 341 George street.

Constipation Cured.

GENTS,—I was in very poor health for over four years, and the doctor said it was constipation. Not wanting to spend too much cash, I got three bottles of Burdock Blood Bitters and took it regularly. I can certify that I am now in the very best of health and feel very grateful to B. B. B.

MUSICAL DONT'S.

DON'T forget that a glittering exterior is no guide in the selection of a Piano, but bear in mind that the artistic merit of a Piano is generally in inverse ratio to the gorgeousness of its outward appearance.

DON'T forget to read Canon Medley's letter on page 17 of our catalogue, which so felicitously expresses the above idea in the following words:—"It (the Mason and Risch Piano) is an instrument with no foppery about it. Its exterior seems to say, "I am good inside."

DON'T forget that an apparently low price is no evidence of a bargain. Articles of genuine merit invariably cost more than inferior goods. The Mason & Risch Piano is no exception to this rule.

DON'T forget that the cheap Pianos, for which it is claimed that they are reproductions of leading American makes, are invariably unsatisfactory. It is as impossible to reproduce a musical work of art (except by the originator) as it is to reproduce a great picture or a great piece of sculpture.

DON'T forget that the Mason & Risch Piano is not a copy, but a brilliant original conceived of artistic instinct and born of mechanical skill, care and precision.

DON'T forget to write to the address given below, at the earliest opportunity, and, by a thorough investigation of these Pianos, satisfy yourself as to the soundness of the above remarks.

A HEAVY MORTGAGE.

How a prominent farmer quickly lifted it.

A mortgage has been described as an incentive to industry, a heavy mortgage, as a sure sign of ruin. The last is particularly true, for if a mortgage is allowed to run it will eat up the farm. In this connection Mr. Henry Fowler, of Huron writes: "From my boyhood scrofula had marked me for a victim and it seemed as if it had a life mortgage on my blood. I suffered fearfully with sores, and knowing my condition I have remained a single man. Doctor after doctor prescribed for me, and finally a Toronto specialist told me bluntly that my complaint was a deep-seated, incurable, blood disease. Sarsaparilla I knew was a good blood medicine, and I sent for a bottle of the best. Mr. Todd, the druggist, sent me Scott's Sarsaparilla, and I have stuck to it. It has lifted my mortgage, for to-day I am free from those horrible sores, my eyesight is not blurred, my tongue is not furry, and I have no irritation. I look upon Scott's Sarsaparilla as a marvellous medicine when it will cure a life long disease in so short a time."

Scrofula, pimples, running sores, rheumatism and all diseases generated by poisonous humors in the blood are cured by Scott's Sarsaparilla. The kind that cures. Sold only in concentrated form at $1 per bottle by your druggist. Dose from half to one teaspoonful.

AN OFT-TOLD STORY.

THAT OF "FILLIBUSTERING" BY THE SCIONS OF THE NOBILITY.

Behind the Scenes With Noted Old-World Aristocrats — Jameson's Raid Simply a Repetition of Deeds of Ancestors Long Gone.

"Fillibuster" is a term which has been quite frequently used of late in the English and also in our own press in conection with Dr. Jameson's raid into the Transvaal. Apparently it is used in a derogatory sense and even as an expression of contempt. Yet America owes its existence to fillibusters, while Great Britain, and in fact, many European countries are indebted for their colonial possessions to fillibusters. There is scarcely a noble or illustrious house of the Old Word aristocracy that has not furnished fillibusters to its country, and that does not accord to their brave and daring deeds a high place in the most glorious annuls of the family. It is only necessary to cite such names as the Comte de Grammon, the Comte Frederic de la Rochefoucauld, whose widow died but the other day, the Comte de Gaston Raoux, whose attempt in 1852 to conquer Mexico will be remembered by many people in this country, where he is supposed to have found the financial backers of his enterprise.

What was Emperor Maximillian, the brother of the Emperor of Austria, but a fillibuster; and what were all the Austrian, Italian and Belgian nobles who figured in his train? In India to this day are to be found among the Rajahs, descendants of fillibusters who formed part of the royal House of France and who still to this day bear the name and the arms of the Bourbons. Spain and Portugal would never have acquired any foreign dependency had it not been for the fillibusters which sprung from their respective aristocracies, while in the Jameson expedition which was composed in the main of the younger sons of peers with a sprinkling of baronets and the balance made up of the sons of country gentlemen and county magnates. England has been merely repeated an oft-told story and pursuing the same policy that she has followed for the past 300 years. "Fillibuster" can therefore scarcely be regarded as a term of opprobrium.

Misfortune Through Horses.

If ever there was a family that seemed pre-destined to misfortune in connection with horses, it is assuredly that of de Canizy in France. Six years ago the Vicomtesse de Canizy was killed in a most shocking manner. She was riding up the Avenue Friedland toward the Bois de Boulogne, when suddenly her horse took fright. She was thrown to the ground. Herr foot caught in the stirrup and she was dragged for several hundred yards by the scared animal before it could be stopped. When picked up it was found that her lovely features had lost all semblance to human form, having been pounded into jelly by the hind hoofs of the horse.

A couple of years since, the Marquise de Canizy, who was for several years the belle amee of the late Prince Napoleon, who lived with him in the most public manner, traveled about with him and attended his death bed until the arrival of his wife, the Princess Clothilde, almost lost her life in the Seine, the horse drawing her coupe having bolted down the embankment and into the river. A year ago the Comte de Canizy sustained a compound fracture of the left arm, while fulfilling his duties as commandant of the cavalry school of Saumar, and now both he and his wife have been dangerously injured by a smash-up of the phaeton in which they were driving near the railway station at Varin. They were pitched out and thrown on to the rails, which had just left the station only being brought to a standstill within a few feet of their inanimate bodies. He had both his legs broken, while she is now laid low with concussion of the brain in addition to her being disfigured for life.

Another Comtesse de Canizy, a sister-in-law of the so badly injured colonel, committed sucide a few years since under very dramatic circumstances. Having ventured alone at midnight across the boulevard that separated her mother's house from her own she was arrested as an improper character by the "police de moeurs" at Paris, compelled to spend the night at the police station and only released after being submitted to frightful indignities at the woman's prison of St. Lazare, on her identity becoming known. On returning home she shot herself, leaving a letter to her husband, explaining what had befallen her and declaring that after the disgrace to which she had been subjected by the officials at St. Lazare, she could never bring herself to look him in the face again, or to kiss her little children. Subsequent investigations show that the two members of the "police des moeurs" who had arrested her, had been bribed to do so by an Italian nobleman, who took this vile form of revenge for her conduct in responding to his offensive attentions by closing her doors against him. The widower tracked him to Naples and killed him in a duel a few months afterward.—Philadelphia Press.

A Famous Undertaker.

Peter Relyea, who died in Brooklyn the other day, was one of the best known undertakers in the United States. He had charge of President Lincoln's funeral in New York, and never tired of telling about it, and especially the quick work he did at that time. On the morning of April 21, 1865, one of the New York Board of Aldermen engaged him. The funeral car was to be ready four days later. He hesitated undertaking the work, but finally agreed and erected a temporary workshop in the square at the junction of East Broadway and Grand-street, and from that moment on worked unceasingly, and the car to be drawn by the sixteen horses was turned out on time. Sixty men and women were employed in the work, which cost the city about $9000. He took charge of the body at Jersey City on its arrival from Washington, and it remained in his charge while lying in state at the City Hall.

LIVE STOCK NOTES.

Disease and disaster are reasonably sure to follow when foods, particularly soft stuffs, are thrown down among the dirt and filth of the floor. It soon sours, and it absorbs a portion of the surrounding filth; on general principles it is a bad practice.

The most promising indication of the future of the sheep industry of this country is to be found in the kind of men who, becoming discouraged at the present depression of prices, have gone out of the business. These are the very class of people who have weighed it down by their ignorance and have swamped the markets by dumping on them a lot of woolly meat unworthy of the name of mutton.

There is now much less grass-fed beef than formerly. Grass will fatten, but it costs less in most places to feed some corn or other grain with it. This also makes better beef, as the animal fattened rapidly is more juicy and tender than one that has taken a long time to put on its flesh and fat. The exception to this is when grain is fed with dry and constipating food to fattening animals in winter. Meat thus made is not so good as that made on grass in summer. The truth is that grain and succulent food should be fed together, as this is necessary to maintain good digestion.

Experience Has Done It.

UNLIKE ANY OTHER MEDICINE,

POINTS THE WAY TO PERFECT HEALTH

South American Nervine.

The Great Health Restorer of the Century.

Sickness Cannot Cope With It.

Has Cured the Worst Cases on Record.

Cures at the Nerve Centres and Thus Cures Permanently.

A Wonderful Specific in All Cases of Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Sick Headache, Nervousness and General Debility.

Has No Equal as a Spring Medicine.

There is a great deal of uncertainty in the methods adopted to remove disease. Doctors are not free from this kind of thing themselves. The poor patient has to put up with a good deal of experimenting. The discoverer of South American Nervine takes too serious a view of life to play pranks of this kind. He does not think that these human bodies of ours should be fooled with. He has recognized that they are subject to disease, but, by scientific methods, he has learned that just as the watch is to be put in perfect repair only when the main-spring is kept in running order, so with the individual, he remains in perfect health only when the nerve centres are kept healthful and strong.

What disease is more distressing than indigestion or dyspepsia? Some simple remedy may be given to cause relief for the moment. Nervine is an indisputably successful remedy for the worst cases of indigestion, because it reaches the source of all stomach troubles—the nerve centres. Indigestion exists because the vital forces have become diseased and are weakened. Nervine builds up the nerve centres, from which come these forces, removes the causes of indigestion, and then builds up the health completely.

How many systems are run down through nervousness. A stimulant may give ease, but it will not cure nervous troubles. Nervine has cured more desperate cases of nervousness than any other medicine anywhere. And it does so for the same reason that it cures indigestion. The nerve centres are deranged, or there would be no victims of nervousness. Nervine rebuilds and strengthens the nerve tissues, and hence its marvellous powers in diseases of this kind.

In the spring of the year the strongest suffer from general debility. The blood, through neglect, has become impoverished, and the whole system gets out of order. We speak of it as a spring medicine. Nervine restores the exhausted vital forces that have led to this tired, don't-care, played-out, miserable condition. No one can take a bottle of Nervine at this season of the year without disease quickly giving way to abounding health.

The moral is plain, simple and readily understood. If you would not trifle with disease, then you will take South American Nervine, which will not trifle with you.

The dyspeptic carries a dreadful load on his back. It seems as if he were really made up of two men. One of them ambitious, brainy and energetic; the other sick, listless, peevish and without force. The weak man weighs the other one down. The dyspeptic may be able to do pretty good work one day, and the next day because of some little indiscretion in eating, he may be able to do nothing at all. He isn't capable of continuous and vigorous effort. His bodily discomfort affects his mind. Even when he knows just what is the matter, he neglects the simplest precautions and the simple treatment that would cure him. Most of dyspepsia starts with constipation, and constipation can be cured. Constipation is the cause of nine-tenths of all human sickness. Some of its symptoms are sick and bilious headache, dizziness, sour stomach, loss of appetite, foul breath, windy belchings, heartburn, pain and distress after eating. All these are indicative of derangements of the liver, stomach and bowels, and all are caused by constipation. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are the quickest, easiest and most certain cure for this condition. They are quick, but not violent in their action. There is nothing about them that will give the system any shock. They not only relieve immediately, but if taken according to directions, they will absolutely cure. "You do not become a slave to their use." They are different and better than any other pill or preparation offered for the same purpose. Almost all druggists understand this, and are conscientious enough to tell you so. The druggist who tries to sell you a substitute is not a safe man from whom to buy medicine. If you will send your address, we will send you a sample package, containing from 4 to 7 doses, and you can see exactly what the "Pellets" will do for you.

If you will send 21 one-cent stamps to cover cost of customs and mailing only, we will send you FREE the most useful medical book ever presented to the public. This is Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, in Plain Language; a book of 1008 pages, profusely illustrated, the great expense of preparing which has been covered by a sale of 680,000 copies at the regular price, $1.50 per copy. Address, World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y.

A WOMAN VERY FAR NORTH.

Mrs. Beaumont's Life at a Trading Station Near the Arctic Circle in Alaska.

The first white woman who ever crossed the perilous Chilkat Pass in Alaska, and for three years has lived far north of the most northly of the new Alaskan gold camps, sometimes for weeks with no other white person near, arrived in San Francisco a week or so ago. She used to live in New York, by the way, although not actually a New Yorker. She is Mrs. T. N. Beaumont, the wife of the post trader at Fort Yukon. She is a young woman, a native of Belgium, and though she has spent the greater part of her life in Europe and in the big cities of this country, she is quite in love with her life among the Indians up on the edge of the Arctic Circle.

When Mrs. Beaumont crossed the Chilkat Pass she had to wear men's clothes, and native men's clothes at that. She had to walk, and had to help to drag the sledges loaded with freight too. The snow was notably deep, even for that reason, and crossing the pass was, and is, considered a hazardous undertaking for a man. She and her husband were the only white people in the region, and the nearest white woman at any time was several hundred miles away. Sometimes Mrs. Beaumont was left alone for weeks at a time while her husband went down the river to procure supplies, and at such times she did all the trading with the Indians coming to the post with furs. After a while there was a baby to help her through the lonely hours, and later another came.

The far northern part of Alaska is by no means a snowy waste, or at all a forbidding region. Mrs. Beaumont told an interviewer from The San Francisco Examiner, although it is of course somewhat dreary, during the long winter. Fort Yukon is away north of the Forty Mile Creek gold fields, but next year she will have comparatively near neighbors in the new camp called Circle City, near the Arctic Circle, only ninety miles from Fort Yukon. But it is not likely even then that she will have many women callers of her own race.

In the brief summer time there is a great variety of wild flowers about Fort Yukon, and at the height of the warm season, the country thereabouts is carpeted with blossoming plants. In the light days of the winters there is most excellent hunting. Moose and deer abound about Fort Yukon, as do ducks, geese, widgeon, grouse and other fowl, while there is also a great variety of food fish in the Yukon River.

Four or five families of Indians live near Fort Yukon, and at irregular intervals several scores of Indians come in from hunting trips and camp about the Fort while trading. They bring in lynx otter, beaver and mink skins and trade them for supplies of all sorts. The Indians are very friendly, and never gave the slightest trouble, even when Mrs. Beaumont was alone for weeks at a time.

Mrs. Beaumont expects to remain in California during the winter and to return to Fort Yukon next summer.

The New Evening Bonnet.

That the evening bonnet of the winter is decidedly a bonnet, writes Isabel A. Mallon in December Ladies' Home Journal, and not merely a strap of velvet with a bunch of blossoms on each side, is undoubtedly due to the fact that the Dutch bonnet having been worn by every woman whether it suited her or not has at last reached a rung on the fashionable ladder marked "undesirable." Of glossy felt, sometimes plainly shaped, sometimes cut in fine strips and plaited to shape, as well as of rich velvet, is the smart bonnet for evening wear. The rosette at each side continues to be in vogue, but for the evening this is either of fine lace or chiffon. The bunches of violets, so generally noted on the evening bonnets of last winter, are quite out of fashion. The new aigrettes, especially those of white, are quite ten inches high, and will suggest that one which stands so proudly on the drum-major's hat.

Wings, quills and feathers massed in rosette fashion are well liked on evening bonnets, while the large velvet roses of a purplish red, of which I have spoken before, are given a special cachet. The blue and green, black and white, and the scarlet and black contrasts are all approved by French milliners and seen in some of the smartest bonnets. Spangles of all colors and shapes make rich the dressy chapeaux, while beautiful buckles of Rhinestones or well-imitated colored gems, increase their elaborate air. French women are giving special vogue to the black and white contrast, which has, of course, this to recommend it—that it harmonizes with almost every costume.

THE BUILDERS.

Spring, summer, autumn, winter,
Come duly, as of old,
Winds blow, suns set, and morning saith,
"Ye hills, put on your gold."

The song of Homer liveth,
Dead Solon is not dead;
Thy splendid name, Pythagoras,
O'er realms of sun is spread.

But Babylon and Memphis,
Are letters traced in dust.
Read them, earth's tyrants! ponder well
The might in which ye trust!

They rose, with all the depths of guilt
Their vain creators sounded;
They fell, because on fraud and force
Their corner stones were founded.

Truth, mercy, knowledge, justice,
Are powers that ever stand:
They build their temples in the soul,
And work with God's right hand.

—Ebenezer Elliott.

THE BICYCLE CORSET.

Because sheep act as the scavengers on the farm, that is no reason why their diet should consist wholly of weeds and briars. These may be very good to fill in with, but are hardly sufficiently nutritious. Good pasturage is essential. When fattening a light feed of grain daily will do much for them, and when changing from fresh grass to dry hay on going into winter quarters, a supply of roots should always be provided. The succulence of the roots makes up in a great measure for the loss of moisture in the green grass and thereby avoids diseases likely to be induced by the sudden change of diet. In fact there is no better food for sheep than turnips. Wherever the conditions are favorable for this crop it will pay to grow it for sheep.

It would probably be better, both for the egg producer and the consumer, if none were ever put up for winter use. There is some deterioration of quality in eggs that are preserved by any formula. This detracts from the price of winter eggs by diminishing the demand for them. With good care and feed of fowls eggs can be produced in winter. If only fresh laid eggs were for sale then, the demand would make a price that would well pay the poulterer for this extra care. As it is the limed eggs hold the market down to prices that only pay for limed eggs. The man who tries winter egg production a few years gives it up. He can make more money by letting his hens take their natural course, and when eggs are the cheapest saving them for use in winter. But this, though temporarily profitable, is an injury to the market, and results in fewer eggs being used at any time of year.

The body must be well nourished now, to prevent sickness. If your appetite is poor take Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Great River, Great Country.

The River Danube is 2,000 miles in length, and it flows through countries in which 53 different languages and dialects are spoken. The Missouri river beats that by 1,500 miles, and though a good many languages are spoken in this country, if a man were to start in a canoe near the source of the Missouri river, and to float to where its waters empty into the Gulf, and speak to a man on every mile of the way, the chances are ten to one that in every case he would be answered in the English tongue.

What it Costs to Clean a City.

Col. Waring's estimates for keeping New York's streets free from dirt during 1896 were considered the other day, and the sum of $3,020,715 was allowed and put in the budget. Col. Waring asked for $3,187,052, divided as follows: Sweeping, $1,402,310; carting, $903,472; final disposition, $503,890; administration $220,440; rentals and contingencies, $106,940; snow and ice, $40,000; new stock, $10,000; total, $3 187,052.

How the Kidneys Talk.

They have a Language of their own.

Kindeys can't talk, but if you don't treat them rightly you will hear from them. They have a language of their own, and this is how they speak to you; You stoop or strain, ride too far, walk too much, work too hard and rest too little; then your back aches, and your head aches, and you ache all over.

Oh! you say, it's because I'm tired out. Now, this isn't true. It's because your kidneys are tired.

They can only do just so much and the lifting, stooping, straining or exciting has retarded their action.

The heart has pumped the blood into them faster than they could filter it. The filter is overtaxed and becomes clogged. They cry for assistance in the many symptoms that follow.

There is dull headache, backache, pains in various parts of the body, scalding of the urine, high colored urine, puffiness under the eyes, swelling of the legs and all the other conditions that go with kidney disorders.

Why do the kidneys thus tell you their troubles in language so plain as to be unmistakable?

So that you may be warned in time. Will you heed the warnings?

If so, you will use Doan's Kidney Pills. Nothing starts the kidneys working so quickly. Remember "Doan's." It is the original kidney pill, the most reliable kidney pill, and the pill you can place full confidence in to cure you. For sale by Charles McDonald, whose design for a bridge over the Hudson River, between New York and Jersey City, has been accepted by the New York State Bridge Commission, is an old Gananoque boy. The design is for a single span of 3000 feet, which is nearly double that of the longest existing span.

Joseph Brennan, whose parents live near Dublin, Ont., hired a rig from Forbes' livery in Seaforth. He did not return on time and the law was invoked. Brennan was caught between London and St. Thomas, having failed to sell the rig in the Forest City. He was sent to Goderich for trial.

E. W. Morse of Blenheim was in Chatham on Saturday looking for his wife. He did not find her, but was told that she had gone to Kalamazoo with a man named Dick Leitch. Mr. Morse said he would not prosecute the case, but thought he would make it warm enough for Leitch by telling his wife of the elopement.

A Fredericton, N.B., despatch tells of how Prof. King Reguilus Bartelle has been effecting wonderful cures by hypnotic influence. Harry Miles, a caterer to the officers' mess of the Infantry School, ran off with the proceeds of a $170 cheque, which he was sent to cash, and the hypnotic doctor is now under arrest charged with having used "peculiar influence" over Miles.

Mrs. George Nolan has, as the result of an analysis of her dead husband's stomach by Prof. Ellis of Toronto and the verdict of the coroner's jury at Windsor, been sent to Sandwich Jail, to remain until the Fall Assizes, when she will be tried for murder. It was shown that the woman had purchased rough on rats, and had repeatedly threatened to take her husband' life.

CONNLEY DIED AS A MARTYR.

Out of Employment, He Killed Himself to Provide for His Family.

Detroit, Feb. 10.—Albert J. Connley, 35 years of age, placed a revolver in his mouth and sent a bullet into his brain to-day in the kitchen of his home on Marcy-street. His wife and child, who constitute all the family he leaves, were in the front part of the house at the time. He left a letter explaining that he took his own life because he could not get work and earn a living. He stated in the letter that his life was insured for a sufficient amount to take care of his wife and child for a considerable time.

WITH A TERRIFIC SHOCK

Did an Aerolite Burst Twenty Miles Overhead at the City of Madrid.

Madrid, Feb. 10.—An aerolite burst over the city of Madrid this morning causing great consternation among the inhabitants. The first warning of the explosion was a flash which illuminated the sky, which was almost immediately followed by a tremendous report, the vibrations from which shattered hundreds of windows. The aerolite was accompanied by a great white cloud, and simultaneous with the explosion there was a trembling of the earth, resembling the sensation produced by earthquake. When the flash and ensuing report took place the people rushed panic-stricken into the streets, and some minutes elapsed before the excitement was allayed. It is estimated that the meteoric body was 20 miles above the earth when it burst.

BURGLAR ALARM ON A POOR BOX.

Father Woensch Tried It in Brooklyn and Caught His Man.

New York, Feb. 10.—By attaching a burglar alarm to his poor box Father Woensch, pastor of St. Barbara's Church, in Bleecker-street, Brooklyn, caught a thief who is suspected of having robbed the box seven times. The box is placed in the vestibule of the church, and upon it the burglar alarm was adjusted so that it would ring a bell in Father Woensch's study if anybody tampered with it. This afternoon the priest lay down for a nap. Just as he was dropping into dreamland the alarm went off. Calling his brother to assist him Father Woensch hurried to the entrance, where a man was found prying away at the poor box with a chisel. He had taken the precaution to lock the door after entering so as to prevent interruption.

The priest collared him and held him in a corner while his brother called the police. The man said he was Joseph Tracy, and that he lived in Thirty-fifth-street, this city.

One Honest Man.

Dear Editor:—Please inform your readers, that if written to confidentially I will mail in a sealed letter, particulars of a genuine, honest home cure, by which I was permanently restored to health and manly vigor, after years of suffering from nervous debility, sexual weakness, night losses and weak shrunken parts. I was robbed and swindled by the quacks until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but thank heaven, I am now well, vigorous and strong, and wish to make this certain means of cure known to all sufferers. I have nothing to sell, and want no money, but being a firm believer in the universal brotherhood of man, I am desirous of helping the unfortunate to regain their health and happiness. Perfect secrecy assured. Address with stamp:—L. A. Edwards, Jarvis Ont.

One of the most curious enemies of British fresh water fishes is a small floating water reed—the bladder-wort. Along its branches are a number of small green vesicles, or bladders, which, being furnished with tiny jaws, seize upon the little fish, which are assimilated into its substance. This is a subtle poacher, the true character of which has only lately been detected.

U. L. Taylor of Pike County, Georgia, has invented a machine for cutting cornstalks into short lengths. The machine is provided with steel blades that turn on a cylinder very rapidly. It cuts two rows of stalks at one time, and is drawn by a horse. It leaves a stalk in such a shape as not to be in the way of cultivating crops, and at the same time distributes the litter over the ground.

Do you Suffer from Asthma?
If you do, read the following:

Toronto, 25th Aug., 1895.

"I suffer from asthma more or less constantly, but of late have been very bad, so that I could not walk a block for lack of breath. I have tried many remedies without relief. Four days ago my mother gave me the remains of a bottle of Pinemalt. Already I can walk down town and back with ease, so greatly has it helped me."
DR. J. L. SMITH, 25 First Ave., Toronto.

Pinemalt abounds in the antigerm, cleansing, healing and soothing properties of strobus pine. These, and other pulmonary agents suspended in malt, make the most effective remedy ever discovered for all ailments of the throat and chest. Ask your druggist, in chronic cases and consumption, for Pinemalt and Hypophosphites, instead of plain Pinemalt.

THE BOOT and SHOE TRADE
OF PETERBOROUGH
COMING OUR WAY
ON THE JUMP!

We feel it in our mit—we see it in our crowds—we read it in our sales.

Selling Boots and Shoes alongside of Clothing, &c, and under the same roof, lessens running expenses and reduces prices all along the line—that's part of the secret of our big sales, and shoppers have had it proved to their entire satisfaction times without number.

Time was when we paid the wholesaler a stiff profit and took what we could get. Now the Situation is changed, and if we want anything we go for it and buy in big enough quantities to discount the trade generally. In other words the wholesaler is no longer supreme.

Besides our own efforts to get the nobbiest of stylish Boots and Shoes, manufacturers are on the alert for the largest distributing points, and without a lantern come straight here when they think of Peterborough.

We Are Selling To "Beat the Band."

Doing a rattling business and whittling prices down in spite of the increased price of leather. Sooner or later we'll have to charge more, but not yet awhile.

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN, BOYS AND GIRLS, are all remembered. Their wants have all been anticipated. Fine Boots, Shoes, Slippers, Rubbers, Overshoes, Cork Sole Boots, Leggings, Artic Snow Excluders, and every possible need of man, woman or child.

Keep your feet dry—healthy—warm—cornless—painless—these stormy wintry days. Don't wait for another snow storm but buy your Boots, Rubbers and Overshoes now! Bad weather soon finds the weak spots in Footwear.

It isn't a question of how much we can get but how little we can afford to sell for, and if you don't find values here the best within your reach, make us pay well for our imprudence. This year we begin with fresh resolves to outdo and excel all our past records.

OUR PROGRAMME

FOR THIS MONTH WILL BE A VERY INTERESTING ONE FOR ALL LADY SHOPPERS. NOT A BUSINESS DAY WILL PASS BUT SOMETHING THAT'S NEW WILL BE ADDED TO EACH DEPARTMENT.

"ITS FAIR'S WAY."

EVENING WEAR.

HANDSOME FABRICS FOR EVENING WEAR ARE NOW RECEIVING MORE THAN PASSING ATTENTION. YOU WILL FIND MANY NEW AND HANDSOME MATERIALS PRODUCED THIS SEASON FOR THE FIRST TIME, AND NOT FOUND ELSEWHERE, AND AT PRICES MUCH LOWER THAN THE GOODS ARE HANDSOME.

WE HAVE HAD SEVERAL INQUIRIES LATELY IF WE WERE STILL SELLING HATS AND PLUMES AT THE SAME PRICES AS LISTED LAST WEEK. FOR THE BENEFIT OF ANY ONE INTERESTED WE MIGHT SAY, THAT IN EVERYTHING IN THESE LINES, INCLUDING A VERY LIMITED NUMBER OF JACKETS AND CAPES, THE PRICES ARE EVEN CUT LOWER, BEING DETERMINED THAT NOT A SINGLE ARTICLE OR GARMENT WILL BE CARRIED OVER TILL ANOTHER SEASON; BUT

SECOND CROP OF BARGAINS.

We start the Bargain Ball rolling for February in dead earnest. As there is a good deal of winter yet before us, it is unnecessary to point out the wisdom of buying now.

Our Stock-Taking is over—now for a month of lucky chances and snaps in mid-winter goods. An aftermath of Bargains for shrewd buyers—lines which we laid out during stock taking such as Serges, Cheviots, Heavy Tweeds and other Remnants, to be sold even at HALF REGULAR PRICES.

We don't want to carry winter lines past their regular selling season, so you may figure on getting pretty nearly your own way in prices.

You need the goods—we need the room they occupy—so there is mutual benefit all round in the selling of them.

Our New Spring Stock is wheeling into line, and we are glad to tell our lady friends that part of our programme for Spring is a NEW MILLINERY DEPARTMENT, of which we will tell you more in good time.

We don't "rest-up" during the winter months and take things easy until Spring. Business is full of worn-out, tired-out men who live almost wholly in the past and struggle for the success that never comes. And because of that they find fault with the times. While others are resting we're simply HUSTLING.

LOCAL LEGISLATURE.

Sir Oliver's Parliament is Now in Session.

THE POLITICAL BILL OF FARE

As Laid Down in His Honor's Speech From the Throne—Farmers are Enthusiastic, Notwithstanding the Hard Times—Several New Members Introduced.

Toronto, Feb. 12.

The mills of legislation have once more begun to grind. The Parliament Buildings in the Queen's Park will reek with thought again. Yesterday the Ontario Legislature began its annual session and already the mellow aroma of thought is clinging to the chandeliers up in the Chamber. The proceedings were attended by the usual display of gold lace, the usual cavorting of cavalry, the usual ta-ra-ta on the bugles and also with prayer. The Lieut.-Governor was resplendent in a regalia of red and gold. The military men who surrounded him were likewise brilliant in contrast with the sober black of the Cabinet Ministers and of the chief Ontario politicians.

An opening day always lacks formality. Perhaps the time will come when, the new woman having become old, familiar and accimatized, we shall have ladies sitting in the Council Chamber of the nation. Yesterday that millennium was anticipated. The members' seats were thronged with the fair sex as were the corridors, the galleries and the floor of the Chamber. They gave the future proceedings of Sir Oliver their benediction and listened to the Q.O.R. band playing outside in the cold or gazed admiringly on the troopers and the infantry from Stanley Barracks, who were entrusted with the duty of seeing that no one stole His Honor the Lieut.-Governor.

A few minutes before the hands of the solemn-faced clock in the gallery pointed to 3 o'clock, Mr. Speaker Balfour rose form his chair and began the reading of the prayers prescribed for the opening of the Legislature. After prayers, Mr. Speaker read the formal announcements of the vacancies that had been created and filled since the last session, the constituencies being Kingston, North Brant, South Wentworth and West Wellington. At five minutes past 3 the band outside struck up "God Save the Queen," as the signal for the entrance of Lieutenant-Governor Kirkpatrick and his escort. The escort was made up as follows: Sir Casimir Gzowski, A.D.C. to the Queen; Commander Law and Capt. Kirkpatrick, A.D.C.'s to the Lieutenant-Governor; Col. Otter and Lieut.-Colonels G. T. Denison, Hamilton, Grey, Graveley and Dunn, and Capt. Baldwin.

The Speech from the Throne, which was read directly after the arrival of His Honor, was as follows:

Mr. Speaker and Gentlemen of the Legislative Assembly:

I have much pleasure in once more meeting you for the despatch of the business of the province and the legislation which the public interests require.

It is with feelings of profound sorrow that I refer to the bereavement of Her Majesty and the Royal family in the death of Her Majesty's son-in-law, Prince Henry of Battenberg. I am sure you agree with me that the whole people of Ontario, in common with Her Majesty's loving subjects everywhere, deeply sympathize with Her Majesty and Her Royal Highness the Princess Beatrice in their great affliction.

I am glad to notice that the action of the Government of the United States with respect to the territorial rights of Great Britain in South America, which caused so much anxiety a few months ago, is not likely to lead to a rupture of the peaceful relations which have so long existed between the two nations and with so much advantage in every way to both. It is gratifying to know that in case of any trouble affecting the interests of the Mother Country no sacrifice which the circumstances might demand would be considered too great by the people of Ontario should they be called upon to repel invasion, or to defend the integrity of the British Empire.

I am pleased to observe that, notwithstanding the depression from which the farmers of Ontario are suffering, they exhibit a growing interest and enthusiasm in every department of agriculture. The number attending meetings during the past year for the discussion of agricultural matters has greatly increased, and all the associations aided by this Legislature which specially depend for success upon the support of the farming classes are in a flourishing condition. It is encouraging to know that many of the methods initiated in this province for the improvement of agriculture have been adopted by the Governments of other provinces of the Dominion.

The Pioneer Farm established in Western Algoma promises to prove highly successful. From the investigations made it is quite certain that much of the land in the surrounding district is well adapted for agriculture. The new dairy schools established in Eastern and Western Ontario have greatly improved the equipment of the province for dairy instruction. Experiments in fruit growing and orchard spraying have been successfully conducted during the past year, and promise good results for the future.

The northwestern part of the province continues to receive the attention of prospecters and miners, and gold-bearing ores have been discovered in that region over an area of two thousand square miles. Several stamp mills have been erected in the districts of the Lake of the Woods, Rainy Lake and Seine River; and the prospect for the employment there of capital and labor in gold-mining is hopeful. The nickel and copper mines have been fairly productive during the past year; and the completion of a blast furnace at Hamilton will, I trust, lead to the profitable working of our iron mines by providing a local market for their ores.

I regret to say that there has been no marked improvement during the past year in the condition of the lumber trade, the prosperity of which exerts so beneficial an influence on the general business of the province. While the sales and prices in the English markets have been fairly satisfactory, the market for sawn lumber in the United States has been in a depressed condition, owing to a continuance there of business stagnation and financial disturbance.

Among the bills in preparation and to be promptly submitted for your consideration are, a bill respecting city councils, a bill reducing the number of members of county councils, a bill for increasing the usefulness of county courts, bills for revising and consolidating the acts respecting public and high schools, the Education Department and the University of Toronto, and a bill for further improving the Agriculture and Arts Act. Your attention will probably be invited also to a bill extending the provisions of the mechanics' lien laws, and at the same time further simplifying the procedure under their operation.

The time is near for the decennial revision and consolidation of the statutes of the province, and you will be called upon this session to sanction the necessary preparations.

For several years the brewers and distillers of the province have disputed the right of the Provincial Legislature to charge them with license fees. To settle the question of authority, a test case was, at their instance, submitted to the Court of Appeal, and judgment has been given in favor of the province. The brewers and distillers have appealed from this judgment to the Privy Council.

There has been unusual, and, therefore, unexpected delay on the part of the Right Honorable the Judicial Committee of Her Majesty's Privy Council in rendering a decision on the appeal from the Supreme Court of Canada with regard to prohibitory liquor legislation. This delay indicates exceptional difficulty in agreeing as to the proper conclusion on some of the questions involved in the appeal. The judgment may be expected any day.

The arbitrators to whom were referred certain unsettled accounts between the Governments of the Dominion and the Provinces of Ontario and Quebec have during the past year disposed of several of the important matters referred to them. Appeals have been taken against some of these decisions to the Supreme Court, and some of them will go to the Privy Council.

The public accounts for the year just closed will be placed in your hands at a very early day. You will be glad to know that the total expenditure of the province was kept well within the appropriation, and that the actual receipts were considerably in excess of the estimate.

The estimates for the current year will, without delay, be submitted for your approval. They will be found to have been prepared with a due regard to economy and to the necessities of the public service.

After the reading of the Speech the four new members elected since last session were formally introduced, and, having taken the oath of office and subscribed to the roll, were authorized to take their seats. They were introduced as follows:

Wm. Harty, Kingston, introduced by Sir Oliver Mowat and Hon. J. M. Gibson.

Daniel Burt, North Brant, introduced by Hon. A. S. Hardy and Mr. Middleton.

John Dickenson, South Wentworth, introduced by Hon. John Dryden and Mr. Carpenter.

James Tucker, West Wellington, introduced by Patron Leader J. L. Haycock and Mr. Dynes.

Sir Oliver Mowat and Hon. A. S. Hardy moved the first reading of a bill to provide for the administration of oaths of office to persons appointed as Justices of the Peace.

The same gentlemen also moved that the Speech from the Throne be taken into consideration to-day and that the following select standing committees be appointed: Privileges and Elections, Railways, Miscellaneous, Private Bills, Standing Orders, Public Accounts and Municipal Laws.

The House adjourned at 3.30.

Telephones and Lightning.

Investigations carried on for several years have shown that the introduction of the telephone has greatly lessened the danger from lightning. German statisticians have established data secured by observation of 4,374 buildings in cities without the telephone and 37,444 in cites which have telephone service. The annual average of lightning striking these houses for the past five years shows that four of the 4,374 buildings in cities without telephone were struck, while only two of the 37,444 houses in cities with telephone service suffered in that way. The proportion pro rata in 100,000 houses would be 91 to 5, which proves how much less the danger from lightning is in cities where the telephone is introduced than in those without it.

TORIES IN CAUCUS!

A Long Confab Held Over the Remedial Bill.

GOVERNMENT AFRAID OF A VOTE

And None Was Challenged—Foster and Weldon Have a Tiff—The Minister of Justice Spent an Hour Explaining the Measure to Ministerial Supporters.

Ottawa, Feb. 11.—A Ministerial caucus was held to-day, which was attended by Conmons and Senators and presided over by Dr. Roome of Middlesex. Premier Bowell and Sir Charles Tupper were both received on their arrival with applause. It is said that the Premier's reception was the heartier. Dr. Roome explained that the meeting was to consider their position in regard to the Remedial Bill, and he called on the Minister of Justice to explain the provisions of the bill. This was done by Mr. Dickey, after which a warm debate ensued pro and con. In the course of this a letter was read, written by Sir William Dawson, approving of interference. Premier Bowell addressed the members and called on Sir Charles Tupper, who made a lengthy address, urging them to stand by the Remedial Bill, which the Minister of Justice had explained to them. He spoke for an hour, traveling over the whole political field. No vote was taken and no expression of opinion asked or obtained beyond the statement of a number that they would vote against the bill. The number it is hard to estimate exactly, but it varies from 25 to 40. Such a crowded caucus, lasting so long, has not been known for many years. The Angle faction stayed away from the caucus, though nearly all the Senators were present. Mr. Clarke Wallace made a speech strongly opposing the Remedial Bill, claiming that the representatives in Parliament had no mandate from the Conservative party to pass any such bill. Mr. Foster made the remark that it was time to awake to the fact that the country could not be run by back township politicians. Mr. Foster also had a tiff with Dr. Weldon, who protested against remedial legislation. Dr. Sproule, Col. Tyrwhitt, Mr. Marshall and others backed up Mr. Wallace and Dr. Weldon, and it was seen that a strong section stood out against the Remedial Bill. No resolution of any kind was submitted to the meeting, as the Government were evidently afraid to challenge a vote.

In the course of its report, The Free Press says: "The Government party was in caucus to-day on the Manitoba school question and the legislation which it is proposed to introduce this session. At 11 o'clock the room was well filled. Sir Mackenzie Bowell entered on time and was greeted with a cheer. After acknowledging the compliment he withdrew, and returned in a moment with the new Secretary of State, Sir Charles Tupper, who smiled benignly on the crowd, receiving a round of hand-clapping, much less indicative of good-will and respect than was given to his respected leader. In fact it looked much as if Sir Mackenzie might justly have appropriated the applause to himself in both cases. At 1 o'clock the meeting showed not the slightest sign of breaking up, and it was given out that there would be a full three hours' sitting, which meant that they would remain till all difficulties were cleared up. The only object of the caucus was to lay before the party all details in connection with the school question. The selfishness of a number of members was made evident by their vigorous protests against any Remedial Legislation, on the ground that their personal interests would be endangered. Mr. Stubbs of Cardwell did not attend the caucus, although invited."

THE BILL IS INTRODUCED.

Mr. Dickey, Minister of Justice, Explains Its Chief Provisions.

Mr. Dickey moved for leave to introduce a bill entitled, "The Remedial Act of Manitoba." There were cries of "Explain," whereupon Mr. Dickey, rising, said: "Mr. Speaker, I am afraid any explanation I can give to-day with the members of the House not in possession of the bill will be very inadequate, and will really not furnish honorable members with any very definite information as to the details of the bill. The only thing I can say to the House in asking leave to introduce the bill is to refer to the general lines on which it is drawn. I may say that in drafting it the lines of the old legislation in Manitoba have been followed as closely as possible in order that, while restoring those rights which it was thought desirable should be restored, it should not transgress the lines of the jurisdiction of this Parliament. It has been a matter of very grave difficulty, I need scarcely say, to frame the bill. The general scheme, I may say, is this. It was found impossible to restore to the Roman Catholic minority in Manitoba those rights which it was thought they were entitled to under the constitution without establishing a system of separate schools.

"In order to make that workable a Board of Education is to be established in the province for Separate schools, composed of the same number of members as the Catholic section of the old Board of Education. This Board will have power with respect to organizing and carrying on the schools. The standard of education to be sought in these schools and the standard of the teachers who are qualified to hold licenses in the schools are to be the same as in the Public School Act of Manitoba, not identically the same, but of the same standard. The persons who contribute to those schools, the Separate schools, are to be prima facie all Catholics in Manitoba. But the Roman Catholic who prefers that his children

PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND CHEESE DEAL.

The Dominion is to be credited with having taken considerable practical interest in the various plans of extending assistance to the farmers. While the government confines itself to legitimate encouragement, as expressed through the Dominion experimental farm, results have been satisfactory, but when it seeks to make political capital for itself out of its assistance to farmers, it puts its foot in it. A case in point is the Prince Edward Island cheese deal, in which the government babied the Prince Edward Island farmers, and not only showed them how to make cheese, but also had so little respect for the farmer's intelligence that they undertook to sell the cheese for him. A recent sale of Prince Edward Island cheese which included nearly the whole output for the season, was made by the Government. This cheese has been held in Montreal and the Government has advanced a large sum to Prince Edward Island farmers. Prof. Robertson has always advised the farmers against holding cheese, but, on the contrary, to sell as soon as it is fit for the market. But it seems that in this case he has had his orders from the Government to violate a sound principle of trade. The Prince Edward Island cheese was said to be sold to Hodgson Bros., Montreal, but the price was not stated. Another peculiarity in this deal is that the official inspector of cheese at Montreal was not allowed to inspect this Government cheese. And it turns out that Hodgson Bros. did not get all the cheese. Ten thousand boxes were turned over to the Warrington firm and their inspector, a Mr. Fowler, was entrusted with their inspection. Of course, the advantage of having a friendly inspector to inspect the cheese of the purchasers is obvious. It is said that Montreal cheese men are very indignant over the matter; and the more so that Prof. Robertson refused to accept any offers for the Prince Edward Island cheese that did not include the whole lot. Yet, on the sly, a lot of 10,600 boxes is transferred to another firm, whose inspector is given the job of inspection. If there is nothing to conceal, why all this twisting and turning?

ADVERTISING AND THE DEPARTMENTAL STORES.

In speculating on the causes which have contributed to the development of departmental stores in large cities, there is one that is liable to be overlooked, but which nevertheless, all progressive merchants should keep in view. The introduction of the electric street car, with its frequent, rapid and cheap service, has been a potent factor in the progression of the departmental stores in the large places. The big stores in Toronto would be doing considerably less business to-day if they had to depend upon the old horse car system for filling their places with customers. But a factor that is equally as potent as the street car service in building up these stores is the judicious use of advertising. The New York Sun recently had a special article on the art of advertising, and the influence advertising has had in the development of the departmental store. Advertising during the past five years has become a fine art. A newspaper advertisement is no longer a dry announcement of a private business, but has become an interesting feature of the daily paper, and compels everybody's attention. The successful advertiser now employs a man of literary ability to prepare the announcements he makes to the public from day to day. Not only are the productions of this writer all characterised by a great deal of literary skill, but to make his writing effective he is compelled to give details as to price and other particulars of interest to probable customers.

Another feature of the modern advertisement is the accuracy and truthfulness of the statements contained in it. The old-time advertisement, dealing in extravagant generalities and in misleading statements, is out of date. A merchant to be successful nowadays must not only not palm off inferior goods on his customers, but he must not be guilty of any misrepresentation concerning them in his advertisements. The latter must be as true and as genuine as the goods themselves. In addition to all this the merchant must keep his name and the features of his store before the public every day in the year. The most successful merchants in every city in America are the biggest advertisers. They all have something to tell the public every morning. No reader of a newspaper can escape taking notice of their well-prepared announcements. They force themselves upon his notice, and the result is that the names and situations of the great stores are now better known throughout the city and country than the location of public buildings or the names of leading public officials.

So far as mere publicity goes they are the equals of the statesmen of the widest distinction. Everybody knows of them and of the departments of trade and manufacture in which they are engaged. Strangers in town visit the establishments from curiosity, if not also with the original purpose of making purchases. Residents here who formerly gave little or heed to business advertisements are now guided almost wholly by these announcements in buying supplies.

KEENE.

From our own Correspondent.

The first carnival of the season of the Curling and Skating Rink Co. was held in their rink on Friday night, Feb. 7th. On account of the mild weather the ice was not as good as it might have been and made the skating rather heavy. The parties who came from Peterborough did not arrive in time, so their costumes did not compete for prizes. The following is a partial list of those who appeared in costume:

VERDICT OF WILFUL MURDER.

Result of the Inquest in the Killing of John Corrigan

Toronto, Feb. 12.

The inquiry into the death of John Corrigan, who was killed by James Healey on Wednesday of last week, was resumed last evening in the Police Court before Coroner Pickering. Mrs. Healey was present during the whole inquiry, and wept freely at intervals. The prisoner maintained an unruffled exterior.

After deliberating nearly an hour the jury brought in a verdict of wilful murder.

Jurymen who were interviewed stated that a verdict would have been reached sooner, but some of their number wished to modify their finding in some respect, as they thought that Healey was to some extent justified in striking Corrigan down, but they could not see their way to make the verdict manslaughter.

The prisoner heard the verdict in a rather stupefied way. Detective Duncan took him in charge, and led him downstairs to the cells. He will appear to answer the charge in the Police Court to-day.

GERMANY'S WAR ON SOCIALISTS.

Several Leaders Arrested in Berlin Charged With Defying the Authorities.

Berlin, Feb. 11.—Several Socialists, including Herr Fischerat, one of the Socialist leaders in the Reichstag, were arrested last evening in the Mahring restaurant in this city upon suspicion of having continued the existence of Socialist electoral unions which the authorities have suppressed. It was held by the authorities that the gathering of the men arrested was for the purposes which the authorities have forbidden.

Seems as if consumption always picks out the brightest and best. Fully one-sixth of all the deaths that occur in the world are caused by consumption. Many things were once considered impossible. It would be strange if medical science did not make some progress. The telegraph and telephone, the phonograph, the electric light—all were once impossible, and once it was impossible to cure consumption. That was before the time of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Taken according to directions, this standard remedy will cure 98 per cent. of all cases of consumption. Consumption is caused and fostered by impurity in the blood. It is cured by purity and richness in the blood—surely, certainly cured by the "Medical Discovery." It builds up solid healthy flesh and vigorous strength.

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, a 1008 page medical work, profusely illustrated will be sent free on receipt of 31 one cent stamps to cover postage ONLY. Address, World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N.Y.

Mrs. T. S. Hawkins, Chattanooga, Tenn., says, "Shiloh's Vitalizer 'saved my life,' I consider it the best remedy for a debilitated system I ever used. For dyspepsia, liver or kidney trouble it excells. Price 75 cts. Sold by John Nugent, 389 George street.

A Commissioner in B. R.

GENTLEMEN,—Having used Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam in our family for years I have no hesitation in saying that it beats everything else we ever tried for coughs and colds in children as well as grown up people. It relieves that tight binding sensation in the chest. We would not be without it for anything. WILLIAM ANDREW, Commissioner in B.R., Balmoral, Man.

A FATHER'S STORY.

"THE DARKEST HOUR IS JUST BEFORE THE DAWN.

His Daughter's Life Was Despaired of—Doctors and Hospital Treatment Failed to Help Her—Prejudice Was Cast Aside and Her Life Was Saved.

Mr. Wm. Stoughton is a well known and much esteemed farmer living in the vicinity of Barryvale, Renfrew County, Ont. He is one of the many who have reason to bless the day that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills were brought into his home, for they saved the life of his daughter. Mr. Stoughton says: "In 1893, my daughter, then a picture of health and strength, went to Ardock, North Dakota. In April of that year she caught a severe cold, which brought her to the verge of the grave. The cold was followed by headache, dizziness, and palpitation of the heart, and she became so pale and emaciated that her doctor there said she was going into consumption and advised her return home. She had been under the doctor's care for some months before this advice was given, and in February, 1894, she returned home. She was so weak as to be almost helpless, and we decided that the best thing to be done was to send her to the Kingston Hospital, where she could have better treatment than was possible in our country home. She remained for two months in the hospital, gradually growing weaker instead of stronger, and as it seemed to us that there was hope of recovery, we brought her home. At this time she was so weak as to be scarcely able to walk across a room, and was confined almost constantly to her bed. She was pale and terribly emaciated, had constant pains in her back and limbs, had literally no appetite, and was to all appearances gradually sinking. We had given up hope, for had not the best of physicians failed to help her? My wife and I like a good many more, had read much of the cures wrought by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and perhaps also like many others, were somewhat skeptical. All else had failed, however, and we decided that perhaps Pink Pills were worth trying. Words cannot express how thankful we now are that we came to this decision. We got six boxes and before they were all gone there was a decided improvement. Hope once more returned and we procured another six boxes. She took them and the story is now summed up in two words—was cured. She now feels neither pain nor ache, her colour has returned; she is strong and healthy, and does not now look like one who had ever seen a day's sickness. And this change was brought about by the use of twelve boxes of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, after months of medical treatment had failed, and at a time when death was thought to be not far off. Have we not therefore reason to speak in the warmest terms of this great life-saving medicine? We will always sound the praises of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and we hope that some other sufferer reading this will take hope and find renewed health in this wonderful medicine.

When strong tributes as these can be had to the wonderful merits of Pink Pills it is little wonder their sales reach such enormous proportions, and they are the favourite remedy with all classes. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills contain the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves. Sold in boxes (never in loose form by the dozen or hundred, and the public are cautioned against numerous imitations sold in this shape.) at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50, and may be had of all druggists, or direct by mail from Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Brockville, Ont., or Schenectady, N. Y.

TUPPER CHALLENGED

The Secretary of State Was Asked to Give Proof.

CALLED DOWN BY HON. MR. DAVIES

For His Statement That "He Knew" That the Liberals Had Spent $25,000 in Cape Breton to Defeat Him—The Aged Man a Heavy Load.

Ottawa, Feb. 11.—There was more life and activity about the House this afternoon at the opening than there has been since the crisis days. The galleries were thronged with visitors, and upon the floor were present all the members who are in the city. The unusual stir was due to the general expectation that the long-looked-for Remedial Bill would make its appearance according to the Government's promise. Sir Charles Tupper was probably pleased to think that the interest was all caused by his coincident introduction, and it is hardly likely that anybody disturbed that harmless notion, although he must have got his ideas as to how much the Opposition fear him pretty badly shaken up before the day passed over. For its large attendance of visitors Parliament provided a varied and interesting programme. Five minutes after the proceedings opened Mr. Mulock moved for the reinstatement of his railway pves bill upon the order paper. It had been defeated in committee the other day, and under such a circumstance its reinstatement was according to the practice of the House. But the Opposition with which the bill has been met is so strong that Mr. Mulock's motion was received by a hostile chorus of "Lost, lost." He appealed for the courtesy which is extended by the House to all bills, but when the question was put the volume of "Nays" was so loud that Mr. Speaker declared the motion to be lost. Mr. Mulock thereupon called for a recorded vote. He was supported by more than the necessary number of five members rising to their feet to join his demand, so that the Sergeant-at-Arms was despatched to "call in the members," as Mr. Speaker's phrase is, and a moment later the division bells were jangling throughout all the building. During the space of the House's waiting occurred the diversion which the introduction of new members always causes,and which to-day was much greater than usual. A bustling outside the main door of the chamber attracted attention to its opening, and when they entered the new leader of the House and prospective Premier, supported on either side by Mr. Foster and Mr. McDougall (Cape Breton), the Ministerialists set up a cheering. Mr. Foster repeated the formula with which new members are introduced. At's its conclusion Mr. Speaker gave the customary reply, "Let the honorable gentleman take his seat." Sir Charles Tupper shook hands with the Hon. Peter White, and the cheering of his friends was redoubled. The seat assigned to the Baronet, who technically is known as "the junior member for Cape Breton," is that historic place which has been occupied by Sir John Macdonald, Mr. Alexander Mackenzie and Sir John Thompson and more recently by Mr. Foster. Sir Charles had scarcely sunk into his seat when the chamber doors again swung open. This time it was the Opposition side which rang with cheering. The cause of this second ebullition was the appearance of Mr. Laurier and Mr. Choquette, and along with them a gentleman whom the Liberal leader introduced as Mr. Angers, the member for Charlevoix. The counter demonstration took the shine off the brilliance with which Sir Charles Tupper had planned to make his appearance. The cheering for Mr. Angers drove out of the chamber the Tupper enthusiasm, and no one looked at the pallid face and aged form of the old man sitting in the place of the leadership at the right of Mr. Speaker, but must have wondered where the galvanic power for which the Government are looking, is to come from. Sitting with his hands upon the arms of his cushioned chair, moistening his lips with nervous frequency, taking little interest in the immediate business, it was apparent to everybody that it was not the old Sir Charles Tupper who has come back to the scene in which years ago he took so robustious a part.

The remainder of the afternoon was taken up with a matter which the Opposition consider fittingly marked the reappearance in the House of "the great stretcher." Sir Charles had declared yesterday upon the occasion of his Ottawa reception that "he knew" that the Liberal party had spent $25,000 in Cape Breton to buy the seat from under him. Mr. Davies took him to task for the statement, denied it, and in doing so made a frank explanation of the Liberal party's funds in that campaign. He concluded by calling upon Sir Charles either to withdraw his statement if he did not believe it, or to grant a committee of the House and make an enquiry if he believed it to be true. Sir Charles,in reply, gave the grounds upon which he made the statement,and then repeated the charge. The Opposition ridiculed his grounds,and proceeded throughout the whole afternoon to bombard him for making such a charge upon such absurdly insufficient warrant,and then lacking the courage or manliness to withdraw it or to prove it. The debate ranged over political history from Sir Charles' first entry into Federal politics, and it was pointed out over and over again that his slander of the Liberal party, shows that he still, as of old, talks without regard to the truth of what his tongue utters. There was no cessation of the attack until 6 o'clock arrived. After recess Sir Charles did not return to the House, and the Opposition let the subject drop for the time being. If the "old warhorse" has been flattering himself that the Grits fear him, he must have been undeceived by the warmth of the reception they gave him and the spirit with which they projected the afternoon's attack. The impression left upon the minds of those who watched him during the afternoon must have been that whatever carrying strength he may have in the country,the fact is that in Parliament he will be an additional load for the already burdened Government to carry.

Although a very busy man, Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., has found time in which to write a great book of over a thousand pages entitled, The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser in plain English, or Medicine Simplified. Few books printed in the English language have reached so great a sale as has this popular work, over 680,000 copies having been sold at $1.50 each. The profits on this enormous sale having repaid its author for the great amount of labour and money expended on its production he has now decided to give away, absolutely free, 500,000 copies of this valuable book, the recipient only being required to mail to the World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N.Y., of which company he is president, 21 one-cent stamps, to cover cost of mailing only, and the book will be sent post-paid. It is a veritable medical library, complete in one volume. It contains 1008 large pages, and over 300 illustrations, some of them in colours. The Free Edition is precisely the same as that sold at $1.50 except only that the books are bound in strong manilla paper covers, instead of cloth. It is not often that our readers have an opportunity to obtain a valuable book on such generous terms, and we predict that few will miss availing themselves of the unusual and liberal offer to which we have called their attention.

CARD OF THANKS.

Messrs. Cox & Davis, Peterborough:

GENTLEMEN: I wish to thank you for your promptness in settling the loss on my furniture, which occurred through the upsetting of my coal stove, on Friday night last at 10 o'clock. On being notified next day you were good enough to send over a man to settle the loss in order that I might be able to get the house cleaned up and thereby saved me much inconvenience. From my experience with your office now, it is a source of pleasure for me to feel that my insurance is with you, and I shall not forget to tell my friends.

Yours truly,
MARY ANN O'BRIEN.

Freedom by Mistake.

Yesterday afternoon the Chief arrested a stranger for drunkenness, and had a charge preferred against him. When P.C. McGinty, who was on night duty, was leaving early this morning he let the fellow out thinking he was a tramp. The man has made himself scarce.

A Muskrat Trap.

Here is a useful hint for our muskrat hunters, if it does not conflict with the law:—An ingenious trapper at Stony Lake has invented a trap that is very effective in catching muskrats. He fastened two links of stovepipe at either end and fixed a swinging door opening inwards. Placing one end of this at the entrance of the rat house the animals enter the trap, whether trying to go out or in to their huts, and are thus detained until the hunter arrives and bags them.

A Cake Walk for the Comps.

This morning the employees in the newsroom of The EXAMINER were presented with a cake—and such a cake! It was large and it was two-storied, and by the way it disappeared from sight it was as delicious as it was big. If there is one thing "the boys" like better than cake it is "more cake."

That luscious cake of generous size
Was relished by the boys;
They now return their heartfelt thanks
And wish the maker joy.

Will go to Toronto.

The young lad Frank Clune, who has been under the protection of the Children's Aid Society, and who ran away from St. Joseph's Hospital yesterday, was found by the agent of the society in the company of a boy who is not unknown to the police. He was kept in the cells all night and the magistrate directed the agent to take him to his home in Toronto. The lad left home about six months ago and by easy stages got out to the Pacific Coast. From there he has come back and he arrived in town on Saturday last from Lindsay. He is indeed an Ishmaelite in whom there is—considerable guile.

Calcutt's Dublin Porter.

Men and women are all more or less troubled with dyspepsia. Why? Because they suffer from constipation. This is easily cured if attended to. If neglected it will become chronic. Constipation is the cause of nine-tenths of all our sickness. Nature requires assistance to throw off impurities of the system and regulate the bowels. This is what Calcutt's porter will do. Build up your system by the moderate use of this tonic. It does not derange the system but builds it up and consequently adds to your strength and weight. Sold by all leading grocers, only $1.00 per dozen.

THE LATE GEO. W. RUBIDGE.

A Well-known Citizen Passed Away This Morning.

This morning his many friends heard with regret of the death at his residence, 294 Rubidge street, of Mr. George W. Rubidge, though the sad event was not unexpected. For the past six or seven years he has been in ill-health, suffering from some form of kidney disease. As time went on the disease became more severe, though it was not till the last few days that he was confined to his bed. In his last days of life he suffered great pain, but last night he passed a very quiet night and this morning passed peacefully away. The deceased gentleman was a native of Peterborough, where he was born in 1853, his age being 43 years. He was the fourth son of the late Charles Portlock Rubidge, grandson of the late Captain Rudidge, R. N. brother of Mrs. Archer, 300 Rubidge street and nephew of Mr. John Rubidge, 291 Stewart street. About ten years ago Mr. Rubidge was united in marriage to Miss Clara, daughter of Mr. Dalton Ulyott, who survives, there being no children. Mr. Rubidge has for thirty years conducted a business on George street, but owing to ill health he retired last fall. He is therefore well known, was held in high respect and was a favorite amongst his associates. He was a member of the congregation of St. Johns. He was also a member of Peterborough Lodge of Oddfellows and of Court Peterborough Canadian Order of Foresters and under the auspices of the societies the funeral will be conducted from the family residence, on Friday afternoon, at 2.30 o'clock.

THE C. P. R. FREIGHT SHEDS.

The Matter Before the Committee Last Night.

A committee of the whole council, met last night and held a conference with Mr. J. W. Leonard, the Canadian Pacific Railway Company's General Superintendent and Mr. E. Tiffin, General freight agent, in reference to the dispute which has arisen between the town and the company in refeasence to the encroachment of the buildings on Wolfe street. The town's position was fully explained by the Mayor and other members, and as the sheds interfered with the rights of other citizens they had asked to have them removed.

Mr. Leonard claimed that the town council, when Mr. Stevenson was mayor, had the C. P. R. build a spur line into the Edison works, and when the G. T. R went to make connection with the same place it was found necessary for the town to buy the line built by the C. P. R., which the latter sold to the town under certain conditions, one of which was that the freight sheds were to be allowed to remain on Wolfe street and the town was to give them a deed of the lot south of Rink street. The town, he said, have failed to carry out their part of the agreement and the Company have not as yet handed over the deed of the spur-line to the town. He pointed out to the Council how the matter could be settled without recourse to law, but these suggestions have been kept a secret.

A committee composed of the Mayor and Councillors Phelan, Best, Moore and Langford was appointed to look into all the points in dispute and report to the Council.

A GRAND SUCCESS.

The King's Daughter's Calendar Tea Yesterday Afternoon.

The most promising society in connection with St. John's parish is the Kings Daughters. Since the chapter was formed here the greatest enthusiasm has prevailed among the members who are very industrious, trying all sorts of schemes to develop the strength of the chapter.

Yesterday afternoon the second of their ventures was held in the school house. It took the form of a calendar tea. A very neat card in the form of the motto of the organization upon which was printed a catchy worded invitation poem was distributed in the parish. About one hundred members of the congregation were present. The school room was beautifully decorated with mottos, flags and bunting, while tables were spread, 12 in number, each representing one of the months of the year. The proceeds of the tea, which were large, will be devoted to the charity fund of the parish.

A DANGEROUS SPOT.

The River is not Safe for Travelling Upon.

Last evening as a local physician was seeking to cross the river at the point where the sewer discharges, his horse broke through the ice and it was with difficulty that the animal was rescued from the water. On Saturday last a team broke through at the same spot, where the action of the current has worn the ice thin. The road is blocked at the other side, but as all appears safe from the town side those driving out of Peterborough are constantly subject to great danger as almost anycne is liable to seek to cross at this point, particularly as the roadway to the ice is clearly defined.

The Colts are not playing Campbellford to-day on account of the semi-final hockey match this evening.

HOCKEY.

A large number of people assembled at the rink last night to witness the hockey match between Kingston and Peterborough, but they were greatly disappointed, as the Kingston club got snowed in at Harrowsmith, on the Kingston and Pembroke railway, and were unable to get here, and it was late at night when they telegraphed that they would not come. If it had been at Kingston the match was to have been played, the Victorias would have claimed the game by default, but the Peterboroughs are sports from the word "go" and do not believe in any such action, and although they suffer great inconvenience, the game will be played to-night at eight o'clock sharp.

The Peterborough club had a fine practise match last night and will be in the best of condition for to-night's game.

The Victoria Hockey Club, of Kingston, have arrived and are registered at the Oriental. From the personnel of the team as given below, it may be surmised that there are some ringers on. A strict enquiry is being made, and if there are any grounds for suspicion, the game will be protested before they go on the ice:

Victorias.		Peterboroughs.
Lamb	Goal	J. Hamilton
Wilson	Point	Montgomery
Metcalf	Cover	Adams
Murray	Forwards	King
Taylor		Phelan
Reyner		Parsons
Murphy		David-on

Queen's I. and Ayr Hockey clubs met last night in the Kingston skating rink in the semi-final senior O.H.A. match. It was a keen contest, and was won by Queen's by 6 to 3 goals. Ayr played well, but the size of the rink was against them. They scored two at the start. Queen's stock went down, but speedily they scored up to a tie and went one better. Ayr tied again before half time. In the second half Queen's scored three, shutting out the westerners.

The Peterborough II team did not go to Lindsay to-day, the match being postponed on account of the match to-night—Peterborough vs. Kingston.

THE WHEEL.

The following letter addressed to the sporting editor of the Globe is of local interest:

SIR,—From the last issue of The Wheelman, I infer that in some recent issue of the Globe (which I have not seen) it was intimated that there was an agreement between Dr. Balfour, of London, and myself, by which this district would support the doctor for the presidency and his district support Peterborough for the meet. As a matter of fact Dr. Balfour has not yet asked me to support him for the presidency, and I have not asked his support for the meet.

We hope to get the meet on the merits of the town and not through any "job."

Kindly give this letter a space in your cycling columns.

Yours sincerely,
GEO. J. HOPKINS.

Peterborough, Feb. 10.

The Montreal Star in its sporting column says: Now that the Winter Carnival is over the members of the Quebec Bicycle Club, who all took a prominent part in the winter's week of festivities, are settling down to work with the object in view of securing this year's annual bicycle meeting in the Ancient Capital. Peterborough is making a hard fight for it but it will probably be uphill work for the enterprising western town, as the Quebec boys are leaving nothing undone to bring their bicycle friends to Quebec on 1st July next.

The Quebec Bicycle Club is a young one and last season could only count on a membership of fifteen, but from present appearances this year's membership will be well up in the hundreds, as cycling has got to be quite a fad here. As for hotel accommodation, there can be no comparison between Quebec and Peterborough, as the former can receive thousands of guests, and everybody who visited this year's carnival spoke in high terms of the comforts and hospitality they received.

The track on the Quebec A.A.A. grounds is a purely bicycle track. Fifteen hundred dollars were spent on it last year, and one thousand dollars additional will be spent this spring to put it in order according to to the latest plans. No better roads for bicycling can be seen than those around this city, while the other attractions, such as fishing, boating, etc., are too numerous to mention. In fact, if Quebec is decided upon for this year's meeting, the bicyclists who attend will never forget their reception in the Ancient City.

NEW FOR US.

The Ottawa Journal of yesterday says,—Peterborough district, including Cobourg, Port Hope, Lindsay and other curlers, want to get up a fifteen or twenty rink bonspiel with the curlers of this district on the day of the Peterborough hockeyists are to be in Ottawa. It would be half iron, half granite game and could be arranged by playing three sets, one each in the morning, afternoon and evening on the Rideau, Rideau Hall and Ottawa ice. The games would be all friendly ones without any prize except the glory of winning. But, it is proposed as the western excursion would be largely increased by the coming of the curlers and their friends, the hockey people should give a suitable trophy.—Mr. Geo. Horkins has been in communication on the subject but nothing has so far been decided upon.

THE WILLIAM HAMILTON MANUFACTURING COMPANY.

A Fine Marine Boiler for British Columbia.

The William Hamilton Manufacturing Company have just completed at their boiler shops an order for the Columbia and Kootenay Steam Navigation Company, Nelson, British Columbia, a marine boiler of the locomotive type, capable of being used at a working pressure of 150 pounds to the square inch.

The length of this boiler is 25 feet over all, and the diameter of the barrel portion is 5 feet 2 inches. The inside dimensions of the fire box are 5 feet in width, 7 feet in length, height 6 feet 6 inches above grates. It is fitted with 212 two-inch tubes, fourteen feet in length. The steam drum is 30 inches in diameter, 10 feet in length and connected to the barrel of boiler by two steel nozzles. A feature of the boiler is a spark arrester of novel design, by means of which sparks are prevented from reaching the smoke stack, being extinguished in the spark arrester by means of an ingeniously arranged water bath.

The total height of the boiler from the base of boiler to top of steam dome is 13 feet, and the total weight of boiler and fixtures is twenty tons.

This boiler which is one of the largest of its type ever made in this country, is intended for a stern wheel steamer which will ply on the Arrow lakes and Columbia river.

Tired but Sleepless

Is a condition which gradually wears away the strength. Let the blood be purified and enriched by Hood's Sarsaparilla and this condition will cease.

"For two or three years I was subject to poor spells. I always felt tired, could not sleep at night and the little I could eat did not do me any good. I read about Hood's Sarsaparilla and decided to try it. Before I had finished two bottles I began to feel better and in a short time I felt all right and had gained 21 pounds in weight. I am stronger and healthier than I have ever been in my life." JOHN W. COUGHLIN, Wallaceburg, Ontario.

Hood's Sarsaparilla Is the Only True Blood Purifier

Prominently in the public eye today. Be sure to get Hood's and only Hood's. Do not be induced to buy and other.

How We Keep Busy.

One way is, because we have made this store of direct benefit to the community. We make the public interest our own, giving customers the best end of each and every bargain

Another way is, that we find out exactly what people want, and then go where the best goods are made. We buy big enough to bring prices down, and sell quick enough to keep stocks clean. We do this—not only now and then, but every week in every month—always anticipating needs and always developing trade.

Still another way is—during the manufacturers dullest season we place large orders on a spot cash basis besides gathering the surplus stocks of many well-known makers. But we run no risks. If prices are low enough we buy only worthy goods below market value, and then, we sell as we buy.

This Store is Going to be Bigger.

The tendency of trade is to pass the little near-by stores and come to the big ones. One reason for this is, that prosperous stores increase their variety and lower their prices according to their prosperity. This year we shall lift this store above its own level, so that what has been good service before—far above the average—will be excellent now.

We are more than doubling our advertising space. Advertising is necessary, and so long as it is nesessary it must be used to its full advantage. These are days of fierce competition and he who would sail at all must sail with a full head of steam.

We are doubling our Wall Paper capacity for the Spring Trade, and intend showing about 700 different patterns of the newest designs. When our new stock is all in we have no hesitation in saying that it will be unequalled in the Province for extent, designs and low prices.

We are doubling our Window Shade stock, having purchased, at a price, a manufacturer's entire stock on hand, which will require room for about 1600 shades of about 60 different designs. The prices will be a revelation to Window Shade buyers.

We are doubling our Department for Cornice Poles, Room Moulding and Picture Framing. House Decoration has developed into an art, and our aim will be to aid every housewife in her efforts to make home beautiful.

PETERROROUGH BOOKSTORE

Our Prices, like this line, are at the bottom.

Confidence Exists

Between the People and This Store.

BORN OF

An acquaintance and experience of years of mutual service.

Employment of every known merchantile force to find the sources of production of reliable merchandise.

Certainty that Customers get the largest selection of best goods at our store and what ever they purchase at the lowest cost it can be given for.

Freedom from pressure to buy when visiting our store or looking for goods. Absolute satisfaction with the privilege to return what for any reason does not suit after it is at home.

The confidence increases as we do better. We can trust the people to discover what is their own interest and we look for increased business while rendering better service.

YOUR MOTHER AND MINE

(ALSO YOUR HUSBAND'S MOTHER)

Were wise cooks in their day and they knew the virtues of using Cream Tartar and Soda in their baking. Their trouble was that sometimes they used a little too much Cream Tartar and sometimes a little too much Soda, and, besides, Cream Tartar can scarcely ever be bought twice of exactly the same strength, so that they rarely get the proportions correct, and that is the secret of success or failure.

Our chemist analyzes a sample of every pound of Cream Tartar we use and the ingredients are used strictly in accordance with his report, so that there can be no possible chance of failure if you BAKE with

Do Not Care to Subscribe.

The Grand Trunk employees who have been asked to subscribe towards a testimonial fund for retiring General Superintendent Stephenson do not regard the proposal with favour. The men complain that their wages are barely sufficient to support themselves, and they do not see why they should be expected to contribute towards a present for a man whom very few of them have ever seen and for whom they cannot, therefore, be expected to have any warm feelings of regard.

The Time for Building

Up the system is at this season. The cold weather has made unusual drains upon the vital forces. The blood has become impoverished and impure, and all the functions of the body suffer in consequence. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the great builder, because it is the One True Blood Purifier and nerve tonic.

Hood's Pills become the favourite cathartic with all who use them. All druggists. 25 cents.

"Jerry, the Tramp."

A well-filled house—every seat occupied—again greeted the Marks Bros. Company last night, when they presented that very funny comedy drama "Jerry, the Tramp," which character was well taken by Mr. Thos. Marks and the house was kept in a continual roar of laughter by his witticisms. The company have a very fine feature which is the delight of the audience—there is no waiting between acts. The time last night was taken up with very delightful songs by Miss May A. Bell, whose rendition of "The Sunshine of Paradise Alley" made a great hit. The song of the "Church Across the Way" was deserving of special mention. Little Gracie in her childish songs and dances came in for great applause. To-night the company will present the well known comedy drama, "The Irish Hero."

SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION.

Annual Convention of the Smith Township Association.

The eighth annual Sunday school convention of the township of Smith will be held in the Baptist church, Selwyn, on Friday, Feb. 28th, 1896.

The Christian workers of every denomination, ministers, superintendents, officers and teachers in township are all most cordially invited to attend this convention.

To enter into our plans for a profitable time each school must send all the delegates they can and bring young and old.

On the Sunday preceding the convention each pastor is asked to offer special prayer for the prosperity of the meeeting. The programme arranged by the committee will be as follows:

AFTERNOON SESSION.

2 p. m.—Service of song and devotional exercises led by Rev. C. E. McLeod.

2.30 p.m.—Appointment of Nominating Committee. Report from the schools—a written report by the secretary, and an oral report by the superintendent or delegate.

Singing.

3 p.m.—Conference, "What shall we do this year to Advance the Work in our Township?" led by Mr. J. M. Roberts.

Singing.

3.30.—Paper, "The Interval between the Old and New Testament," by Rev. C. E. McLeod.

FARMERS' INSTITUTE AT SELWYN.

An Extra Meeting of the West Riding Institute.

An extra meeting of the West Peterborough Farmers' Institute will be held at Selwyn on Tuesday, February 25th. The delegation of speakers will be composed of Messrs. L. Paton, A. W. Peart, B.A., and H. J. Page. Mr. Peart will devote his attention to the question of apple and grape culture, and Mr. Page will deal with the management of poultry. This meeting is an opportunity for information which the farmers in the vicinity will heartily appreciate.

Ivorine For The Teeth

Asks only a trial. Boasting will not whiten teeth; Ivorine for the teeth does. Extravagant claims will not render the breath sweet and fragrant; Ivorine never fails to do this. Ivorine for the teeth asks you for an opportunity to demonstrate its value. Dentists have affirmed it and the public corroborate professional opinion, but do you know, as every tooth loving man or woman ought to know, Ivorine for the teeth is the best.

EDUCATIONAL.

The first regular meeting of the Lakefield Public School Board was held on Wednesday evening, Feb. 5th, at which the following members were present:—Dr. D. Fraser, W. McDonald, R. Q. Dench, G. J. Galvin and Dr. J. R. Fraser.

A certificate was read from the village clerk, Dr. Bell, that Dr. D. Fraser, W. McDonald and R. Q. Dench were elected as school trustees for 1896-7, and that all had taken the usual declaration of office.

On motion of G. J. Galvin and W. McDonald, Dr. D. Fraser was elected chairman for the ensuing year.

On motion of G. J. Galvin and Dr. J. R. Fraser, Mr. W. Sherin was elected secretary of the Board for 1896 at a salary of $15.

The minutes of the last meeting were then read and adopted.

On motion of G. J. Galvin and W. McDonald, the following standing committees were struck for 1896:

Property—R. Q. Dench and W. McDonald.

Supervision—Levi Payne and R. Q. Dench.

Finance—G. J. Galvin and Dr. J. R. Fraser.

On motion, the following accounts were ordered to be paid:

W. H. Casement	$5 94
John Cooper	20
J. F. Lillicrap & Co.	35
J. H. McWilliams	3 27
	$9 74

The headmaster presented his report for January, which, on motion, was received.

On motion of Dr. J. R. Fraser and G. J. Galvin, the secretary was instructed to write Mrs. Moore to the effect that her grandson, being a non-resident of the school section, must pay school fees, as other non-resident pupils are required to do.

A letter from the secretary of the W. C. T. U. to Mr. Evans was read, stating that they had decided to offer three prizes, value $3, $2 and $1, respectively, to the three pupils taking the highest marks in temperance at the coming entrance examinations.

On motion of Dr. J. R. Fraser and G. J. Galvin, the kind offer of the three prizes on temperance by the W. C. T. U. to pupils of the Lakefield school, was accepted, and the secretary was instructed to convey the thanks of the board to the W. C. T. U. for their kindness.

A circular letter was received from J. Coyle Brown, P. S. I., re Concise dictionary, which, on motion, was laid over for further consideration.

The board then adjourned.

PUBLIC LIBRARY.

It is a matter of some surprise to a good many that this excellent institution does not secure that measure of public support which it merits. Favourable notice has from time to time been taken of it in the press, and situated as it is on the ground floor of the town hall, it is in itself a standing advertisement. The room, the use of which has been granted by the Council, is a bright and cheerful apartment, well heated and lighted and is open to members from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. On the tables will be found the leading Canadian newspapers, the Illustrated London News, and first-class periodicals. The Library, on which over $50 was expended last year, comprises a considerable number of books of every description, History, Travels, Biography, Science, Fiction, besides a great number of magazines and other miscellaneous works. It would take too much space to enumerate even the principal of these, but we direct attention to the catalogue in the Library, which should satisfy any reader, whether a student or he who reads for recreation, that his taste will be suited. The old name Mechanics Institute was changed last year to Public Library in accordance with Government regulations. The designation is perhaps somewhat misleading as it is not a free library. The membership fee, however, is so small as to entitle the institution to the name of Public. Full membership $1 a year. Where one member pays his subscription of $1 any member of the same family and household may join for 50c. Persons between the ages of 12 and 21 can also become members for 50c a year, but without a vote, but with all the other priviledges of membership. These include the right to take home a book for a reasonable time. It will be seen therefore that the Public Library can be useful to those residing in the vicinity as well as in Lakefield.

The new Government regulations call for 100 members to entitle the Public Library to any grant. At present there are about 70 names on the list, but we trust that our subscribers, old and young, will see that the maintenance of this institution in a proper state of efficiency, with a constantly increasing library, is of such importance to the community or themselves that they will at once add their names to those already on the roll.

Taking Cold

Is the cause of half our diseases.

The worst of taking cold is not always a cough.

It is often our nerves.

Our nerves become weakened and we become debilitated and sick.

The nerves keep us well when they are well.

When they fall sick, we do.

Exposure, worry, overwork, excesses, etc., will make the nerves play out.

MADILL'S EMULSION

Of Pure Cod Liver Oil with Hypophosphites of Lime and Soda

Is a reliable remedy for Pulmonary Diseases, Coughs, Colds and General Debility.

By strengthening the nerves, Madill's Cod Liver Oil Emulsion will cure all disorders that sick nerves cause, such as Nervousness, Weakness, Sleeplessness, Anæmia, Pale and Sallow Complexion, Lack of Ambition, Headache, Shortness of Breath, etc.

MUSICAL DONT'S.

DON'T forget that a glittering exterior is no guide in the selection of a Piano, but bear in mind that the artistic merit of a Piano is generally in inverse ratio to the gorgeousness of its outward appearance.

DON'T forget to read Canon Medley's letter on page 17 of our catalogue, which so felicitously expresses the above idea in the following words:—"It (the Mason and Risch Piano) is an instrument with no foppery about it. Its exterior seems to say, "I am good inside."

DON'T forget that an apparently low price is no evidence of a bargain. Articles of genuine merit invariably cost more than inferior goods. The Mason & Risch Piano is no exception to this rule.

DON'T forget that the cheap Pianos, for which it is claimed that they are reproductions of leading American makes, are invariably unsatisfactory. It is as impossible to reproduce a musical work of art (except by the originator) as it is to reproduce a great picture or a great piece of sculpture.

DON'T forget that the Mason & Risch Piano is not a copy, but a brilliant original conceived of artistic instinct and born of mechanical skill, care and precision.

DON'T forget to write to the address given below, at the earliest opportunity, and, by a thorough investigation of these Pianos, satisfy yourself as to the soundness of the above remarks.

Weak, Nervous Women.

One to whom a night's rest was unknown.

Strength and good health restored.

I was subject to frequent attacks of nervousness that seemed to sap all my vitality and left me in a state of weakness and misery. I could not relish food and such a thing as a good night's rest was unknown. Incapable of any exertion and with an ever present tired and despondent feeling. Medicines that I took did not do any good; it was a case of gradually becoming weaker and weaker. Hearing of Scott's Sarsaparilla and its success with similar cases to mine, I used it, and from the first few doses began to get better, appetite returned, got natural and refreshing sleep. I grew stronger, in fact life seemed to be fanned into activity.—Lottie Graham, 174 Crawford Street, Toronto.

For any weakness of the nerves, pale and sallow complexion, loss of appetite use the best blood and nerve remedy extant, Scott's Sarsaparilla. Insist on getting Scott's—imitations do not cure.

Hunger and Cannibalism.

Then it comes to pass, when the moment of keenest agony is reached, that the starving man begins to eye his companion with the wolf-glare of a beast of prey. His pangs become paroxysmal. During their greatest intensity there springs up within him a fierce impulse to slay his neighbor that he may feed off his flesh and slake his thirst with his blood.

Yet it ought to be said that, as a general rule, well-authenticated cases of cannibalism among civilized people will be found to occur only at sea. They are very rarely found on land. And, what is more curious still, whenever famished, shipwrecked men set foot on shore, no matter how desolate and barren may be their rock of refuge, they seem as if by magic at once to banish from their minds the very idea of anthropophagy.

In the case of Ensign Prentles of the Eighty-fourth Regiment and his companions, who were wrecked on the barren island off Cape Breton in 1780, the difference between famine on shore and on sea is curiously exemplified. Prentles records that they were able to endure the most fearful pangs of hunger without ever so much as a thought of resorting to cannibalism for relief, so long, however, and only so long as they kept on land. But when they took to their boats—and it was not once merely that they experienced this—in order to escape from their rockbound prison, though they were not a whit worse off for food than they were on land, yet the moment they put to sea, with one accord they began to think of killing and eating one of their number. On the other hand, when they found their attempt to escape futile, and put back to shore, whenever they landed the horrible idea of cannibalism seemed to vanish.—Science for All.

Steel Construction in Birds' Nests.

A curious gift has been made to the Natural History Museum of Soletta. This gift consists of a bird's nest, constructed entirely of steel. There are a great many watchmakers at Soletta, and in the vicinity of the workshops there are always the remains of the old springs of watches which have been cast aside.

Last summer a watchmaker discovered this curious bird's nest, which had been built in a tree in his courtyard by a pair of water-wagtails. It measures ten centimetres in circumference, and is made solely of watch springs. When the birds had fledged their brood the watchmakers secured their unique nest as an interesting proof of the intelligence of birds in adapting anything which comes within their reach.

Thieves Routed by a Corpse.

A strange experience befell some thieves who had broken into the parish church at Sueili a few nights ago. A man of the name of Francesco Lecca, who was supposed to be dead, had been taken to the church and left there for some hours, previous to his burial. At 7 o'clock in the evening, while his relatives were gathered around him, he suddenly gave signs of life.

The relatives, terror-stricken, called out loudly for help. The thieves, imagining that they had been discovered, threw down the valuable booty which they had secured and escaped by the front door of the church. The man who had so strangely come to life again really expired two hours afterwards. The population of Sueili attribute this event to Saint George, patron saint of the village.—London Daily News.

It Were Well.

A steel cable six miles in length, in use on a London street car line, was recently removed after it had been in continuous use for 853 days at a speed of eight miles an hour. It was still apparently in good condition, although its diameter had been slightly reduced by wear.

Maltine With Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites—A Palatable, Nourishing Body-Builder.

Consumption—that dread disease—too often arises from neglect. Colds not serious in themselves, by depressing the vital forces play an important part in provoking conditions that render lung disintergration almost certain. To obviate this deplorable sequence of neglected colds the body should be fortified, strengthened, nourished, and this may with certainity be accomplished by the use of Maltine with Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites. Its mode of action is plain—the oil rendered palatable and of easy digestion, does not irritate the stomach and unfit it for the digestion of food; but this preparation serves a much higher purpose than this, for by its action on starchy foods it affords for the replacement of the waste of the body an abundance of fresh strong blood. The patient gains weight, irritation of the bronchial tubes disappears, sleep is restored and the general improvement is immediate and permanent.

A WONDERFUL GARDEN.

Or Perhaps It Is Only the Story Which Is so Wonderful.

Most people, says the Portland Oregonian, have heard of the hanging gardens of Babylon, the modern roof gardens and the gardens or floating islands in which vegetables used to be grown for the citizens of ancient Mexico, but probably few have heard of a garden on board a ship, with farm yard attachment. The splendid ship Mowhan, now in port, and the largest vessel which has ever been here, had such an arrangement on board during her trip to Oregon. On leaving Belfast for Portland she took on board as ballast 2,000 tons of Irish soil, which, when leveled off, made quite a stretch of ground, and, as the soil of Ireland is proverbially fertile, the ship's company proceeded to put it to good use by planting a stock of garden truck in it—cabbage, leeks, turnips, radishes, lettuce, peas, beans, etc. The seeds came up all right and the plants flourished finely, and when the ship was in the tropics grew with great rapidity. As they progressed toward the Horn and the weather grew colder, things came to perfection rapidly. The crew and ship's apprentices amused themselves by weeding and cultivating the plants, and the captain and officers took regular walks in the garden daily, and all had green vegetables to their heart's content.

As they came around the Horn the garden was replanted, and by the time they reached the equator everything was abloom, and all hands feasted on fresh vegetables daily. The only drawbacks to the garden were the weeds, which grew so rapidly that they could hardly be kept down, and the drove of pigs, which were kept in the farm yard attachment, and which on several occasions, when the ship was bucking into a nor-easter and rolling heavily, broke out of the bounds and made serious inroads on the garden. It is a serious matter to call all hands on board ship, and is only done in emergencies, but when the pigs got into the garden there was more pounding on forecastle scuttles and handspikes and blowing of boatswain's whistles than if the ship had been laid aback by typhoon or all the masts had been carried away, and every sleeper was aroused to help get the pigs out of the garden.

The last pig was killed and served up with green vegetables just before the Mowhan entered the Columbia. On the arrival of the Mowhan here the Irish soil was discharged on the elevator company's dock and piled up neatly, so that any exiled patriot who desires a bit of the "ould sod" can be accommodated. The pile will doubtless be covered with shamrocks by the spring and will furnish boutonnieres for a whole St. Patrick's day procession. Doubtless many a sack of it will be carried off to fill flower pots, etc. Although it comes from the "black north," it is still the real "ould sod."

WOMEN WHO SMOKE.

They Are Very Numerous in Russia and Not Rare in England.

Not so long ago it was considered a risky and frisky thing for a woman to smoke a cigarette in the seclusion of the family circle, but to-day well-brought-up married ladies, without the least approach to fastness in behavior, smoke their three or four cigarettes a day, with the approval of their husbands, and in the presence of their servants. The ladies in Russian society, one and all, smoke cigarettes as a matter of course, in private and in public.

At an afternoon call in St. Petersburg, at 3 o'clock in the day, a Russian lady offers a cigarette case and a matchbox in the most natural manner to her visitors, and without any demur cigarettes are accepted and smoked. In the principal Russian hotels the ladies smoke their cigarettes after dinner in the presence of the assembled company, even to a burning end on the point of a penknife. In London such a custom would not be allowed, and a fair smoker would at once be requested not to smoke.

American ladies appear, from all that is said, to be going side by side with their English sisters—some smoking conamore, others for the fun of the thing. Still, it is apparent to all in society that smoking among ladies is immensely on the increase. Husbands, men friends, and even brothers, say nothing against the practice, and, oftener than not, encourage it, unless extravagant indulgence is the result; then they put a limit to the number of cigarettes to be smoked by the wife during the day, if she has not sufficient strength of mind to do so for herself; and, indeed, most lady smokers make a point of limiting themselves to three cigarettes a day on an average.

Ladies in these days are nurtured in an atmosphere of tobacco smoke; how can it be otherwise than that they should acquire a taste for it? In a milder form, it is true, than that of the pipe or cigar, which their male relatives so keenly enjoy, but in that of the dainty cigarette. The days have gone by when the smell of tobacco smoke made a woman faint. Among a few married ladies an antipathy to it does still exist, and these ladies, it must be confessed, make their husbands rather uncomfortable, with their restrictions against smoking here or smoking there, and render them a little envious of the freedom enjoyed by other men in this respect, whose wives are not so sensitive to this pungent scent.—London Queen.

Seven brothers, all over sixty-five years old, had a reunion in Fresno, Cal., recently, and a notable photographic group is an interesting memento of the occasion. The brothers are of the Funk family. There are three sisters in the family, too, all very near the three score and ten years mark. The eldest of the brothers is eighty-four and the youngest sixty-five. A noticeable fact is that each wears a long, white beard and none is bald.

An investigation of the question of school lunches has been made in Boston recently, and arrangements have been made for the furnishing of cheap lunches in the high schools at a cost of 5 and 10 cents. A delicate point under consideration is how to furnish lunches to those children who are unable to pay for them. In serving lunches at the noon hour it is found that there is a decided tendency to eat too fast. One visitor kept tally on the boys, and found a boy who broke the record by getting away with three sandwiches, a piece of cake and a cup of chocolate in four minutes by the watch.

Amid the many curious stories current about Max Lebaudy, the young French millionaire, who died recently, there is one to the effect that he was to be enticed into Spain in order to see a bull-fight, and retained there until he was declared a deserter by the military authorities. The persons who organized this plan wanted to obtain from the millionaire, in the event of his having to stop in Spain rather than face a court-martial, a power of attorney to control his colossal fortune in France. The plan was, it is said, defeated by Mlle. Marsay, the actress, who prevailed on the young man to remain at Amelie-les-Bains.—New York Times.

THE EYES OF THE WORLD

Are Fixed Upon South American Nervine.

Beyond Doubt the Greatest Medical Discovery of the Age.

WHEN EVERY OTHER HELPER HAS FAILED IT CURES

A Discovery, Based on Scientific Principles. that Renders Failure Impossible.

In the matter of good health temporizing measures, while possibly successful for the moment, can never be lasting. Those in poor health soon know whether the remedy they are using is simply a passing incident in their experience, bracing them up for the day, or something that is getting at the seat of the disease and is surely and permanently restoring.

The eyes of the world are literally fixed on South American Nervine. They are not viewing it as a nine-days' wonder, but critical and experienced men have been studying this medicine for years, with the one result—they have found that its claim of perfect curative qualities cannot be gainsaid.

The great discoverer of this medicine was possessed of the knowledge that the seat of all disease is the nerve centres, situated at the base of the brain. In this belief he had the best scientists and medical men of the world occupying exactly the same premises. Indeed, the ordinary layman recognized this principle long ago. Everyone knows that let disease or injury affect this part of the human system and death is almost certain. Injure the spinal cord, which is the medium of these nerve centres, and paralysis is sure to follow.

Here is the first principle. The trouble with medical treatment usually, and with nearly all medicines, is that they aim simply to treat the organ that may be diseased. South American Nervine passes by the organs, and immediately applies its curative powers to the nerve centres, from which the organs of the body receive their supply of nerve fluid. The nerve centres healed, and of necessity the organ which has shown the outward evidence only of derangement is healed. Indigestion, nervousness, impoverished blood, liver complaint, all owe their origin to a derangement of the nerve centres. Thousands bear testimony that they have been cured of these troubles, even when they have become so desperate as to baffle the skill of the most eminent physicians, because South American Nervine has gone to headquarters and cured there.

The eyes of the world have not been disappointed in the inquiry into the success of South American Nervine. People marvel, it is true, at its wonderful medical qualities, but they know beyond all question that it does everything that is claimed for it. It stands alone as the one great certain curing remedy of the nineteenth century. Why should anyone suffer distress and sickness while this remedy is practically at their hands?

Health and strength carry us through dangers and make us safe in the presence of peril. Disease germs do no harm in a healthy body. A germ is not a big thing, and it is only physical weakness that makes it dangerous. A perfectly strong man with rich, pure blood, has nothing to fear from germs. He may breathe in the bacilli of consumption with impunity. Nature is continually working to throw off any impurities that may come into the body, but if there is a weak spot where the germs may find an entrance to the tissues, then the trouble begins. Disease germs propagate with lightning-like rapidity. Once in the blood, they quickly fill the whole body. The only way to get rid of them is to kill them. This is what Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is for. It purifies the blood. That means that it kills the germs, but that is only part of what it does. It assists in the digestion of food and puts the digestive organs in a perfect condition. It stimulates the secretion of digestive fluids, so promoting assimilation and nutrition. It fills the blood full of healthy red corpuscles. It purifies and enriches every drop of blood in the whole body and so supplies the tissues with the food they need. It builds up strong, healthy flesh and puts the whole body into a disease-resisting state.

Nine-tenths of all human ailments come from the same cause—impurity in the blood. Take almost any disease you please and trace the cause of it—you will find it in the blood. Purify and enrich the blood and you remove the cause, and so you cure the disease inevitably and infallibly. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures all diseases depending upon poor, impoverished, thin, impure blood.

WOES OF A DRINKER.

THE INDESCRIBABLE HORRORS THAT AFFLICT THE PERIODICAL DRUNK.

He Suffers Untold Agonies as He Fights Against What He Knows to Be Inevitable—Enough Misery to Awake Pity in the Hardest Hear.

"Do you see that man there?" asked a Chicago physician of a Tribune reporter. "He is a reputable business man, has a wife and several children to whom he is devotedly attached, and there is every reason in the world, except one, why he should be happy.

"Look at his face; mark the pallor; observe the twitching of the mouth and the restless and haggard look about the eyes; see how his fingers jerk, and note the uneasy shrug of his shoulders. That man is in the first throes of a form of circular insanity, which is better known as inebriety. The craving for drink is upon him, hot as the charge of a thousand furies. He has a periodical rhythmic drunk about every six months, and during the last four or five days his brain has been a seething caldron; his nerves have been a-quiver, and his thoughts have been madness. He knows to a demonstration that he cannot overcome the gnawing appetite, yet he fights it with desperation. Talk about your heroes of Thermopylae and Balaklava and Inkerman—why that fellow sitting there, a pale, trembling, cowering wretch, has more nerve in him than 100 heroes of history combined; every nerve cell—every one of the countless millions—has a mouth which has been crying for drink for now these several days. He has resolved that he will not yield; has before him the memory of half a hundred such Titan struggles in which he fell, and still he resists. Ordinary men require the stimulus of an occasional victory in order to summon courage for action. This man, with a past full of discouragement and defeats, yet has the nerve to resist the demon that is irresistible.

"A truce to the sentimental ignorance of humanity, which has only reproaches and sneers for a man like him. I know him intimately as his physician and friend, and I tell you that there is in him the stuff that martyrs are made of; yet within a week he will be overcome of drink; a vile wretch, as public estimate puts it. He will drink to satiety, to repletion, to bestiality. In his madness he will consort with low fellows; you may find him yourself in the slums, possibly with the vicious even, but I swear to you that he is a man and a noble man for all that. No one knows better than he when the first stages of the craving seize him; a thousand needle prickings occur synchronously all over his body; now and then the perspiration suffuses him, and then he is dry; his skin is parched. He is not athirst as men count desire for water, but he is overcome of that which is insatiate; all the water in Lake Michigan would not satisfy the burning desire. He temporizes, seeks to make a compromise by offering the diseased nerves such mild decoctions as ginger ale, sweet cider, etc.; possibly he may make a cocktail of his Worcestershire sauce; he eats inordinately of the various pepper sauces, and becomes more and more restless. His mind wanders; he can give no attention to business.

"All this time, and it has now been coming on for several days, he struggles against the inevitable. Knowing that he will find nepenthe in whisky, he yet refuses to take it. He despises himself for what he esteems his cowardice. He would give everything he has in the world if he only might overcome this maddening thirst. The wife of his bosom and the children of his loins are all in all to him; he thinks of the misery and wretchedness he entails upon the former and of the woe there may be in store for the latter. No one knows better than he that they and he lack but one thing to their life and their love, and that one thing he desires above all other things.

"There come to him—aye, probably at this very moment, for you will see a tender expression has crept over his face—thoughts of the long ago, of the dear, black-eyed girl who with blushing; cheeks of red stood with him at the altar, and he vowed to comfort and keep her so long as she should live. He thinks of the tender vows he whispered in her ear at eventide; of the prattle of his first babe; of her love and her gentleness and tenderness through all the years they have been together. Ah, the shadow comes over his brow—there is the memory.

"Do you ask me why such a man—a man who is as tender in his emotions as any pure woman, who is affectionate and kind in his family, conscientious in his business, public-spirited as a citizen—do you ask me why such a man is so very a slave to a degrading habit? I answer, and I emphasize the answer, he cannot help it. The world does not understand this thing; may be it is just as well; I don't know about that. This I do know; a long experience among men of his class has made me devilish sympathetic. I guess I am a bit pessimistic, for I have a very poor conceit of the world's good sense and its charity.

"I am not defending drunkenness. As a fact, drunkenness is altogether different from inebriety. Within 48 hours my friend there is likely to be incontinently drunk. He will resist to the last moment; even after he has thrown his money upon the counter and the glass is within an inch of his lips, he will resist. There will be an imprecation upon his lips and a curse directed against himself, as he pours the vile fluid into his gullet; but once that first glass is swallowed all control is gone. He will call for drink after drink, until the frightened bartender will let him have no more.

"I am not preaching. I have a living example before me and I feel I ought to invite attention to it in order that men may draw a little lesson of charity out of it. It will not do us a bit of harm to get outside of the ego once in a while and study a subject like this—a man who is big despite his smallness—a man who is noble yet ignoble—a man who fights against every odd and keeps up the fight until he is completely vanquished and crushed."

Montreal's Big Exposition.

A circular has been issued which outlines the main features of the British Empire Exposition which will be held at Montreal from May 24 to October 12 of this year. This will be Canada's first extensive effort in this direction, and, to judge from the prospectus, the participation of a large number of nations in both the old and new world is assured. The exhibits will be divided into 16 groups. They are: Architecture and Forestry, Means of Transport, General Industry, Food Industries, River and Sea Fishery, Health, Machinery, Lighting, Industrial Arts, Heating, Geographical Section, Complete Furniture, Means of Safety, Gardening, Insurance, Miscellaneous. Besides these there will be an art collection and a women and children's department. The buildings will comprise a manufacturers and liberal arts building, a horticultural and agricultural building, fine arts building and a palace of all nations, as well as other structures. The grounds are situated at the base of Mount Royal and cover over 60 acres of land.

The Queen's Reception.

The most important social events of the year in London are the drawing rooms held by the Queen. At these functions the presentations are made, a ceremony so necessary to those socially inclined. It was a former custom of the Queen always to be present in person on these occasions, but of late years her delicate health and advancing years have often caused her to allow the Prince and Princess of Wales to take her place. This year, it is announced, Her Majesty intends to be present in person at the two first drawing rooms, and they will take place during the third week in February and the second week in March. As soon as the second one is over, Queen Victoria will go to Nice for her annual spring stay on the Continent.

One Honest Man.

Dear Editor:—Please inform your readers, that if written to confidentially I will mail in a sealed letter, particulars of a genuine, honest home cure, by which I was permanently restored to health and manly vigor, after years of suffering from nervous debility, sexual weakness, night losses and weak shrunken parts. I was robbed and swindled by the quacks until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but thank heaven, I am now well, vigorous and strong, and wish to make this certain means of cure known to all sufferers. I have nothing to sell, and want no money, but being a firm believer in the universal brotherhood of man, I am desirous of helping the unfortunate to regain their health and happiness. Perfect secrecy assured. Address with stamp:—L. A. Edwards, Jarvis Ont.

A CLOSE SHAVE

A TALK WITH THE MAN WHO EXPERIENCED IT.

People really do not know how often the angel of death hovers over them. Mr. R. P. Watkins, 173 Bay st., is a barber by trade, and gave our representative this short history of his escape from the disorder which was rapidly carrying him to his grave. Mr. Watkins is a skillful and experienced man, and is now enabled to exercise his skill from morning till night, where before he was unable to regularly follow his chosen calling. This is Mr. Watkins' story as related by himself.

"For over three years I have been troubled with what the doctors said was Bright's Disease, was getting rapidly worse, and could scarcely attend to my business. My ankles were swollen, the pain and heat in my back were almost unbearable, the urine was of a dark wine color, and it used to dribble away continually. I had to rise 9 or 10 times each night to void the urine, and consequently lost nearly all my sleep. The scalding heat and pain in passing the urine were painful and distressing beyond my feeble power to describe. People who did not know my trouble used to laugh at my frequent visits to the urinal. My hands and feet were always cold and clammy, and I suffered severely from palpitation, shortness of breath, and was, in fact, almost a total wreck. I got a box of Doan's Kidney Pills from Messrs. E. Hooper & Co., and improved at once. I have used two boxes and feel like a new man; can now work right along and at 12 p.m. feel like working right ahead. Had I not got those pills I feel that I would not have been working to-day. My words only faintly express the dreadful condition I was in, and the wonderful cure made by Doan's Kidney Pills."

shall attend the Public schools and decides that he will contribute to the Public schools has the right to make that choice by giving certain notice, which will be found in the bill, and he becomes quo ad a Protestant, a contributor to the Public schools and not to the Separate schools. The inspection is of a double kind. What I may call the every day inspection of the schools for the practical working is to be carried on by inspectors to be appointed by the Board of Education, the body to which I have referred. There is a further inspection to be made by inspectors to be appointed or to be authorized in that behalf by the Governor-in-Council in the Province of Manitoba.

"These inspectors of the Local Government will inspect them simply for the purpose of certifying to the efficiency of the teaching in the schools. It is thought desirable that an entirely independent inspector should be had for the purpose of testing efficiency, but, as I have said, the practical, every day inspection is to be made by what we may call domestic inspectors appointed by the Board of Education. It is not necessary for me, I think, to go into any further details.

"The bill provides for certain powers as to trustees and as to ratepayers and other matters that are essential to the working of any school system, and which are necessary in the nature of details which canot be discussed at the present time.

"One very troublesome question dealt school books. That, I may say, gave a great deal of difficulty, but it was finally settled on this basis, that the Board of Education should have the choice of the school books, should be able to choose the school books. Their choice, however, being limited to this, they should only select school books that have been the choice of the Public schools of Manitoba or the books in the Public Separate schools in the province of Ontario. That gives a fair range of choice, and it will secure, I think, what will be readily admitted to be a very high standard of books. These are the general lines of the bill. I do not intend particularly to discuss either the details or the principle of the bill to-day, because this can be more fittingly done on another occasion. I do not think I need say more to put the House in possession of the lines on which the bill has been drawn."

Mr. McCarthy asked: Perhaps the hon. gentleman will tell the House about the financial aspect of the measure?

Mr. Dickey replied: The financial aspect of this measure is this: The Catholics who become adherents to this school system, or rather who do not dissent from this school system, are allowed to tax themselves for the Separate schools in their district, and they are exempted from taxation for the Public schools of the Province of Manitoba. The municipality is enjoined by the bill to collect the whole municipal taxes over the whole of the property in the municipality, and distribute it for the support of schools in the municipality; by property in that sense I mean Roman Catholic property subject to the tax for the support of Separate schools. The subject of a legislative grant was one of very grave difficulty, and the constitutionality of the provisions relating to that will, I have no doubt, be the subject of discussion in the House: But so far as the bill is concerned the attempt that was made by the Government was this. There were two aspects of the question, the sharing of the legislative grant, which was one of the rights adjudged primarily to the Roman Catholic minority in Manitoba in the Privy Council decision in England and Canada; that, therefore, was one of the rights to which they were particularly entitled. On the other hand, it was felt that for this Parliament to attempt to interfere directly with supply granted by the Province of Manitoba would lead to enormous practical difficulties, besides being of a very highly offensive character. If I may use that term, to the local authorities. The Government did not feel that this House had any constitutional authority to deal practically with the question of the legislative grant, and as far as the difficulty was considered possible of solution, it is solved in the bill which I propose to introduce by adjudicating that the right to share in the legislative grant be one of the rights and privileges of the Catholic minority in the Province of Manitoba, taking it gor granted—as I think later discussion will show we have a right to do—that the Province of Manitoba itself will, after the system is established, supply that fund to the Separate schools. That, of course, will be a matter of discussion later on. I do not know that I can say anything further just now as to the financial aspect of the case.

M. Laurier—I would like to ask my honorable friend if he can tell me at this moment by whom the Board of Education for the Separate schools is to be appointed.

Mr. Dickey—It is to be appointed by the Lieut.-Governor-in-council of Manitoba, and after three months' default in making any appointment, the Governor-General-in-council is clothed with power to fill vacancies or to appoint the board.

Mr. Choquette—I desire to ask if the bill has received the approval of the religious authorities?

Mr. Ouimet—The honorable gentleman may make enquiries for himself.

Mr. Laurier—Is the honorable gentleman prepared at this moment to fix a day for the second reading of this very important measure?

Mr. Dickey—No, I am not prepared at this moment, but I have no doubt the leaders of both sides of the House could agree later on to fix a date.

Mr. Laurier—I would suggest that come time would be needed for the study of this bill before the second reading is fixed.

Mr. Dickey—Quite so. I would point out to the honorable gentleman that the bill is not printed in French yet.

Mr. Mills (Bothwell)—I would like to ask whether it is the intention of the Government to communicate a copy of this bill to the Government of Manitoba before the second reading, and whether they will be invited to express any opinion upon this subject?

Mr. Dickey (after consultation among the Ministers)—I think there will be no objection at all to that course being followed, although I do not know that it would be necessary. If it is considered more courteous it shall certainly be done.

Mr. Hazen—I wish to ask the Minister of Justice how many clauses the bill contains?

Mr. Dickey—There are 112 clauses.

Mr. Martin—Do I understand the honorable gentleman to say it is printed in English, and will be distributed to-day.

Mr. Dickey—No, but I think very shortly, probably to-morrow or the day after.

The bill was then read a first time.

Hon. Mr. Haggart was waited on to-night by a deputation which urged that a subsidy be granted to the Sarnia and Lambton Southern Railway, a road which is projected to run from Sarnia to Thamesville. The deputation was composed of Messrs. A. C. Edwards, Mayor of Petrolea; J. D. Noble, president of the Petrolea Board of Trade; James King, president of the Sarnia Board of Trade; David Barr, Reeve of Sarnia; Frank Thomas, Deputy Reeve of Sarnia, and W. J. Hanran, solicitor for the applicants. The deputation were accompanied by Dr. Roome, Geo. Moncrieff and J. F. Lister, M.P.'s. The deputation received assurances that in the event of the usual bonuses being granted the projected railway would receive Government subsidy.

The report of the meteorological service shows that last year "Old Probs" sent out 7265 forecasts from Toronto observatory, of which 5533 were fully verified and 1010 partly so.

It is understood that another caucus of the Conservative party will be held before the second reading of the Remedial Bill takes place.

BEYOND RECOVERY.

The Boy LaFlamme—His Cure was a Surprise—A few Boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

PAPPINEAUVILLE, Feb. 3 (Special).—The father of the boy LaFlamme is one of the leading merchants here and willing to talk of his son's cure. He says,—"My little boy Arthur, after scarlet fever about a year ago, never recovered and his ailment ran into a kidney trouble. His body was swollen to twice its natural size. The sufferings of the little fellow were very severe and we had all given up hope of him. But three months ago we commenced giving him Dodd's Kidney Pills, and to-day he is romping and playing with the other boys." This as an instance of prompt cure is very remarkable.

Eight Druggists — All Selling Dodd's Kidney Pills Faster Than Ever Before.

This town is not behind western towns and cities in its trade in Dodd's Kidney Pills.

The most popular article in any line of trade is the one giving the best satisfaction to the user, and at the same time having the largest sale.

These requisites being perfectly fulfilled in Dodd's Kidney Pills, explain the fact that to-day they are outselling any other preparation in the market.

In four years, not a user has been disappointed in any reasonable hope.

In four years many thousands have expressed their surprise and gratitude for the prompt help afforded by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

And so say they all of them. Ormond & Walsh, H. S. McDonald, J. D. Tully, Wm. Madill and Hugh Spears.

Mr. John McKee said: "I consider them my best selling staple, never failing to give satisfaction."

Mr. John Nugent said: "Please send me a hundred-dollar lot. They are moving rapidly.

Mr. George A. Schofield said: "Every person who has bought Dodd's Kidney Pills has been satisfied, and they are my fastest sellers."

The genuine Dodd's Kidney Pills are never sold by count, weight or under any other name.

The price is 50 cents a box and they are sold by all druggists and dealers or by mail. Address the Dodd's Medicine Company.

OUR PROGRAMME

FOR THIS MONTH WILL BE A VERY INTERESTING ONE FOR ALL LADY SHOPPERS. NOT A BUSINESS DAY WILL PASS BUT SOMETHING THAT'S NEW WILL BE ADDED TO EACH DEPARTMENT.

"ITS FAIR'S WAY."

EVENING WEAR.

HANDSOME FABRICS FOR EVENING WEAR ARE NOW RECEIVING MORE THAN PASSING ATTENTION. YOU WILL FIND MANY NEW AND HANDSOME MATERIALS PRODUCED THIS SEASON FOR THE FIRST TIME, AND NOT FOUND ELSEWHERE, AND AT PRICES MUCH LOWER THAN THE GOODS ARE HANDSOME.

WE HAVE HAD SEVERAL INQUIRIES LATELY IF WE WERE STILL SELLING HATS AND PLUMES AT THE SAME PRICES AS LISTED LAST WEEK. FOR THE BENEFIT OF ANY ONE INTERESTED WE MIGHT SAY, THAT IN EVERYTHING IN THESE LINES, INCLUDING A VERY LIMITED NUMBER OF JACKETS AND CAPES, THE PRICES ARE EVEN CUT LOWER, BEING DETERMINED THAT NOT A SINGLE ARTICLE OR GARMENT WILL BE CARRIED OVER TILL ANOTHER SEASON; BUT

SECOND CROP OF BARGAINS.

We start the Bargain Ball rolling for February in dead earnest. As there is a good deal of winter yet before us, it is unnecessary to point out the wisdom of buying now.

Our Stock-Taking is over—now for a month of lucky chances and snaps in mid-winter goods. An aftermath of Bargains for shrewd buyers—lines which we laid out during stock taking such as Serges, Cheviots, Heavy Tweeds and other Remnants, to be sold even at HALF REGULAR PRICES.

We don't want to carry winter lines past their regular selling season, so you may figure on getting pretty nearly your own way in prices.

You need the goods—we need the room they occupy—so there is mutual benefit all round in the selling of them.

Our New Spring Stock is wheeling into line, and we are glad to tell our lady friends that part of our programme for Spring is a NEW MILLINERY DEPARTMENT, of which we will tell you more in good time.

We don't "rest-up" during the winter months and take things easy until Spring. Business is full of worn-out, tired-out men who live almost wholly in the past and struggle for the success that never comes. And because of that they find fault with the times. While others are resting we're simply HUSTLING.

THE ADDRESS PASSED

No Time Frittered Away in the Local House.

NO IMMODERATION IN SPEECHES

Mr. Gurd is the Opinion That the Fourth Party Will Yet Rule This Country—Patron Leader Haycock Expresses His Views on Government Appointments.

Toronto, Feb. 13.

The Legislature got down to business yesterday afternoon. Most of the members have arrived, but there are still a few vacant seats. The debate on the address, while fully up to the standard so far as the speeches are concerned, was marked by a notable moderation of expression. The debate was finished and the address passed before the House rose. The debate was also marked by incessant outbursts of loyalty from all quarters.

At 3.30 Mr. M. Y. McLean of South Huron rose to move the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne. He described the program laid before the House as comprehensive and varied, and one that would furnish material for a busy session. While there might be some items on the program that would provoke a difference of opinion, all would unite in extending sympathy to Her Majesty in her recent bereavement. So, too, all could unite in congratulations that the little breeze that had arisen between the United States and Great Britain had blown over. True patriotism contemplated peace, not war. He believed that it was the duty of the country to fortify its shores against the invasion of marauders; but he also believed that the strongest and most abiding fortifications were those that were based on friendship and brotherly love, and cemented by commercial intercourse.

With reference to the future of the finances of the province, Mr. McLean prophesied that the mineral wealth would take the place of the fast disappearing timber resources, and keep the bugbear of direct taxation far in the background. He thought the country was rather over-governed than under-governed, and he was glad that legislation was to be introduced reducing the number of county councillors. He looked forward to the abolition of County Councils altogether, but thought it would be too radical a change at the present. He thought that the educational system, good as it was, might be improved, and he was pleased that legislation was to be introduced for that purpose. He touched briefly on one or two points not mentioned in the speech. One of these was compulsory voting, of which he was in favor. He thought, too, that there should be a date fixed before which Parliament could not be dissolved, so long as the Government had the confidence of the people as represented by Parliament.

Mr. T. W. Chapple of North Ontario seconded the address. He began with a series of congratulations, in which were included both the leader of the Government and the leader of the Opposition. The only one excluded was the leader of the Patrons (Mr. Haycock), who, the Speaker thought, should, with his following, be found supporting the Liberal policy. He then proceeded to a review of the Speech. With reference to the Venezuelan episode, he declared that all the Canadians were loyal, and at all times ready to assist the Mother Country in defending her rights.

Mr. Marter, in reply, complimented the mover and seconder of the address on the moderation they displayed in their speeches. He joined in the congratulations to the Lieutenant-Governor, whom he described as a model Governor, and in the sympathies extended to Her Majesty and the Princess Beatrice. In regard to the recent tension between Great Britain and the United States, he said that he was glad to know that a better state of feeling now existed; but he declared that if occasion required it, the citizens of this country were prepared to go forth as one man to aid the Mother Country in doing her duty in establishing peace throughout the land. With reference to the agricultural condition of the country, it was gratifying to him to know that Ontario occupied the proud position it did. He criticised the Government's policy with reference to pioneer farming in Algoma and other unsettled districts of the province. This policy, especially in reference to timber and minerals, had been a most brilliant one, and one not calculated to encourage settlement. He also criticised the Government's record with reference to the sale of timber. Not because the lumbermen wanted the timber, but because the Government wanted money, the timber was forced upon the market, and the result was that lumbermen now had more material on hand than they could find use for. Hence the stagnation of the lumber trade. With reference to the proposal to reduce the number of County Councillors, he asked where the demand for such a move had come from. The people had to support those councils, and when they wanted a change they would ask for it. In the absence of such a demand the proposal looked like interference. A question that might appropriately be discussed, however, was the reduction of the representation in the Legislature. It might well be asked if the present large representation was really necessary.

Sir Oliver Mowat declared that the Government was always engaged in making wrongs right. He was proceeding to defend the appointment of Mr. Awrey, when Mr. Marter interrupted him by pointing out that he had not said a word against the appointment. Defending the Government from the charge of inconsistency in reference to the Patrons, using soft words to them, on one hand, while exerting every force to defeat their candidate in West Wellington, he explained that the reason that the candidate was opposed was because, while he agreed with the Reform party in many respects, he did not agree in everything. He was opposed to reducing the representation in the Legislature. There was no demand for it, and it would be a very unpopular move. He did not think there were too many members for the business to be transacted. Sir Oliver touched briefly on most of the points included in the speech.

Mr. A. T. Gurd of West Lambton (P.P.A.) made a rattling war speech. Mr. McLean in moving the address described the Fourth party, or P.P.A., as a monstrosity which he was glad to know had been buried out of sight. Mr. Gurd retaliated by saying that the Fourth party would be a power in the land after the mover of the address had sunk into an unknown grave.

Mr. Haycock, Patron leader, condemned most heartily the principle of appointing members of the House, or ex-members within a certain time, to places that are the gift of the Government. He advocated a change from the present system of voting by the numbered ballot. He was in favor of a reduction of the representation in County Councils. He thought the country was too much governed. He regretted that the speech made no reference to the abolition of Government House. He regretted that the Government was not prepared with some legislation on the subject. He hoped that an improvement would be made in the method of apportioning school grants. According to the present method, thickly settled and wealthy sections received larger grants than the poorer sections that needed the money more. He suggested that the apportionments be made according to the number of days schools are kept open, without reference to attendance. He could not agree with the expressions used as to the prosperity of the agricultural interests. During the past 10 years the mortgage indebtedness of farm properties has increased 40 per cent, and the value of farm lands depreciated $67,500,000.

Shortly after 6 o'clock the address was formally adopted and the House adjourned.

THE IRISH DISCONTENTED.

Mr. John Dillon Moves an Amendment in the Imperial House

London, Feb. 12.—In the House of Commons to-day, in the course of the debate on the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne, John Dillon, Nationalist member for East Mayo, demanded that the allotment of shares in the chartered companies, especially the British South Africa Company, be published. He made this demand, he said, in view of the widespread conviction that members of the press and men prominent in finance and in Parliament were not free from suspicion.

Mr. Dillon, continuing his remarks, protested against an increased expenditure of money for naval purposes, unless a just proportion of the surplus from the Budget should be handed over to Ireland. Referring to the Venezuelan difficulty, Mr. Dillon said England had accepted the principle of arbitration after menacing the United States. It would have been much more decent and a great deal wiser, if England had accepted arbitration six months ago, and it would also be better for England if she adopted toward weak and unarmed nations the same measure of civility which she had shown to America.

Mr. Dillon concluded by moving an amendment to the address, declaring that the absence of a bill providing for the self-government of Ireland had aroused discontent among the Irish, and increased the difficulties existing in foreign affairs. The motion was seconded by John E. Redmond, the leader of the Parnellite section of the Irish party.

His Lawyer Has Jollied the Court for Another Respite of Twenty Days.

San Francisco, Feb. 12.—Theodore Durrant has been given another respite. His counsel appeared in court yesterday with an application for a ten days' stay of proceedings in order to allow them to prepare their bill of exceptions on the appeal from the order denying a new trial. They were granted 20 days.

A Contract Cost Him His Seat.

Walkerton, Feb. 12.—Mr. C. W. Bowman, who was elected Reeve of Southampton in the January elections, was to-day unseated by Judge Barrett, and the seat given to his opponent, Mr. A. E. Belcher. Mr. Bowman had an electric light contract with the municipality, of which fact the electors had been duly notified before the election.

SHORTIS' REPRIEVE.

The Many Influences at Work at Ottawa

TO SAVE HIM FROM THE GALLOWS

Archbishop Cleary Wrote to the Minister of Justice in His Behalf—When the Government Divided Lord Aberdeen Came to the Young Man's Rescue.

Ottawa, Feb. 12.—The papers in the Shortis case, which were presented to Parliament to-day contain some very interesting reading and show the influences which were brought to bear to secure the convict's reprieve.

Archbishop Cleary, under date of Nov. 27, states that, to his mind, it would be an overstraining of justice to hold Shortis guilty in the full measure of guilt requisite for condemnation and death. He gives his reason for thinking that Shortis was not so completely accountable of wrong as to make him liable of the penalty of murder in the first degree. In the course of his reasonings His Grace says: "With respect to Mr. MacMaster, Q.C., I venture to think that he entirely oversteped the mark in his reference to the prisoner when he told the jury nor to give any heed to the testimony before medical experts from the asylums." He also attempts to controvert a number of the positions taken by Mr. MacMaster.

The Minister of Justice acknowledges this letter in a communication to "My dear lord archbishop," and stating: "When the case goes before the Council I shall lay your letter before His Excellency and my colleagues, from whom it will receive their earnest consideration. I am, my dear lord archbishop, yours, etc."

Under date of Dec. 9, Mr. Justice Mathieu, the trial judge, reported to the department that, in his opinion, no other verdict than one of "guilty" could have been rendered by a jury. "Because," he said, "I believe that at the time of the murder Shortis was not laboring under natural imbecility of the mind to such an extent as to render him incapable of appreciating and knowing the quality of murder and of knowing that murder was wrong. I believe he knew what he was doing and that he was doing wrong." Under the circumstances His Honor concludes by stating: "That perhaps it is a case where the clemency of His Excellency the Governor-General-in-council might be exercised in sending Shortis to penitentiary for life."

Sir C. H. Tupper reported to council on the case on Dec. 24. He transmits all the documents in the case and says: "Upon a careful consideration of the whole, the undersigned has the honor to recommend that the law be allowed to take its course."

The Governor-General telegraphs to the Secretary of State for the Colonies Dec. 26: "I have been expressly requested by the Minister of Justice to ask for information on the following position. Valentine Shortis was sentenced to death for murder. Cabinet was equally divided upon consideration of petitions on Tuesday. No advice was, therefore, forthcoming to the Governor-General, without which, according to instructions, he cannot act. If no intervention were to take place execution would be carried into effect Jan. 3. At the Cabinet meeting the Minister of Justice advocated the carrying out of the sentence. In view, however, of the equal vote, he recognizes now that his course might be liable to objection. I may add that the judge's confidential report on the whole favors commutation. I concur. (Signed) ABERDEEN.

A reply was received on Dec. 30 from Mr. Chamberlain, as follows: "Your Privy Council having tendered no advice you must decide according to your own judgment."

To this telegram Lord Aberdeen makes the following foot note: "No subsequent communication on this subject was received by the Governor-General from the Colonial Office."

Then follows a memorandum from His Excellency on the capital case of Shortis: "The case of this prisoner, convicted at Beauharnois of the crime of murder and sentenced to be executed on Friday, Jan. 3, having been several times fully considered by the Council and the report of the trial judge, the evidence given at the trial, several petitions and memorials praying for commutation of the death sentence and having been submitted to me without any recommendation by the Council as to the carrying out of the death sentence, I thought it might be a matter to lay before the notice of Her Majesty's Government. Acting on the advice of Her Majesty's Government, that, under such circumstances it is my duty to act in such a manner as seems to me most fitting, I have come to the conclusion that the case is one in which I should exercise accordingly my own judgment. Under all circumstances of the case I have decided to commute this sentence of death passed upon Shortis to life imprisonment in St. Vincent de Paul Penitentiary as a criminal lunatic. The Secretary of State will please prepare the necessary warrant and take such steps as may be required to carry out this position. (Signed) Aberdeen, Dec. 31, 1895."

A warrant was issued to this effect.

Daily Examiner.

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 13, 1896.

In 1800 the Conservative government spent $873,400 in collecting twenty-four million of customs taxes. In 1895 it spent $917,632 to collect similar taxes to the amount of $17,640,000. And that is what is called good management of the public business—spending one dollar to collect eighteen.

The Brantford Expositor asks and answers the question thus—What has the Conservative party given the country?

Increased taxation.
Increased debt.
A declining population.
Stagnant industries.
A saturnalia of corruption.
General incapacity.

Sir Charles Tupper has fully justified his reputation of being a monopolist. He even has a monopoly of glorifying Sir Charles Tupper. He had a chilly reception at Ottawa on his return from Cape Breton, but nothing daunted—for vanity is blinder than modern justice—he plunged into a two hours' speech, which largely consisted of great I—that I isn't blind by any means to Sir Charles' great figure as a great man.

The Montreal Star argues that though the present parliament may have a legal right, after having been elected for only five years, to pass a sixth supply bill, it is morally disqualified from so doing. It thereupon urges that only the most necessary estimates should be asked for, and that all appropriations of an extraordinary character should be left for the new parliament to deal with. This is certainly good logic, and sounds moral as well, but it is far removed from the Tupperanian idea of the administration of public affairs.

The evening Telegram's Ottawa correspondent has this picture of Sir Charles Tupper:—"Sir Charles is an old man. He looks, as the saying is, every year of his age. Nothing is young or middle-aged about him but his voice. That rings true and resonant. But its owner has the rheumy eyes, the bowed shoulders, the uncertain step of the man whose night is not far off. Beside him Mackenzie Bowell would appear not four, but ten or fifteen years younger."

SIR CHARLES TUPPER THE HOPE OF GRABBERS.

Sir Charles Tupper's optimism, which has already lured Canada into a bog of debt, is evidently to be worked for all that it is worth by everyone who has a scheme for making money out of the government. The Hudson Bay Railway scheme involving the absolute pitching away of millions of dollars, is to be revived, and the Chignecto ship railway project is also to be saddled on the country after it has proved a failure. A Montrealer who is connected with the Newfoundland trade has written to a St. John's paper urging that the Newfoundland Government hurry up and make a bargain with Sir Charles, who, he declares, is fairly aching to have the glory of adding Newfoundland to the Dominion at any price. The writer evidently thinks that Sir Charles and the Conservative party will have to take any and every means to save themselves from falling. Votes in the House of Commons are going to be valuable to Sir Charles and his colleagues. "Just imagine," he cries, "what Sir Charles would give for a dozen votes." Now is is the time for Newfoundland to bring her votes to the Canadian market, while Sir Charles is in straits. He will take them at any price. Sir William Whiteway could easily get Sir Charles to pay $1.50 bounty on every quintal of codfish Newfoundland has to export, for such a valuable batch of votes as those of Newfoundland will be. Newfoundland exports about 1,300,000 quintals of codfish annually, so that the price of the dozen votes would be $1,950,000 a year, besides, we suppose, the six or seven millions of dollars of public debt over and above the eleven or twelve millions Sir Mackenzie Bowell offered on Canada's behalf to assume. The writer tells the Newfoundland government to hurry up, for Sir Charles Tupper's "tenure of office may not be a long one." The assumption is that no one else would be base enough, or foolish enough, or rash enough to betray Canada for twelve votes for his party.—Montreal Witness.

NORWOOD NEWS NOTES.

From Our Own Correspondent.

The largest and most successful carnival ever held here took place on Friday evening. There were about one hundred and twenty-five masqueraders altogether, the attendance being about five hundred. The rink, which was prettily decorated, was a scene of great gayety as the many masqueraders went gliding over the ice. About 8.30 the judges came to their decision and the prizes were awarded as follows:—

Best Dressed Lady, Mrs. A. J. Fitzgerald—Pienette—Ladies' Companion.

Best Dressed Gent, J. Chandler—Indian Chief—Berry Dish.

Best Dressed Girl, Una Duffield—Snowball—Girl's Companion.

The races were well contested. The mile race was an easy victory for McGuire, of Havelock. There were three entries for this race:—A. McGuire, Havelock; T. Ridpath, Lakefield; J. Insley, Trent Bridge. On the start Insley took the lead and held it for the first two rounds when McGuire and Redpath both passed him, McGuire in the lead. They remained in this order until the last round when Insley repassed Redpath finishing second. McGuire won the race by over a lap.

The half mile race for those who never won a prize was close. There were about a dozen entries but before many rounds all had dropped out, but the two who led; these were C. P. Pearce and his brother Russel. Russel made a good second, and with another lap could have won the race easily. He finished about a foot behind the winner.

There were three entries for the ladies race: W. Pengelly, A. Bert, C. McNichol. Winnie Pengelly took the lead on the start but her skate came off and necessitated her dropping out. A. Bert finished first. The prizes were:

Mile race—Silver cup, A. McGuire.

Half mile race—Gentleman's smoking case, C. P. Pearse.

Quarter mile ladies' race—Lady's work box, A. Birt.

A team of curlers drove over from Campbellford and had to take back a defeat with them. The teams were:

Campbellford.	Norwood.
T Bell,	F S Code,
G Benor,	J Cumming,
R Lowry,	W Clancy,
F Smith, skip.....6	F W Ashe, skip.....11

Score by ends:

Campbellford—x x x x x 1 2 x x x—6.
Norwood—4 1 1 1 1 x x 1 1 1—11.

Seems as if consumption always picks out the brightest and best. Fully one-sixth of all the deaths that occur in the world are caused by consumption. Many things were once considered impossible. It would be strange if medical science did not make some progress. The telegraph and telephone, the phonograph, the electric light—all were once impossible, and once it was impossible to cure consumption. That was before the time of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Taken according to directions, this standard remedy will cure 98 per cent. of all cases of consumption. Consumption is caused and fostered by impurity in the blood. It is cured by purity and richness in the blood—surely, certainly cured by the "Medical Discovery." It builds up solid healthy flesh and vigorous strength.

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, a 1008 page medical work, profusely illustrated will be sent free on receipt of 21 one cent stamps to cover postage ONLY. Address, World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N.Y.

YEARS OF TORMENT.

For the Sake of Others---Bearing Witness of Prompt Help.

Many Years Sleepless—Joints Distorted—Is Relieved and Expects Complete Cure by Using Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Toronto, Feb. 13, (Special.—At number 595 Parliament street, in this city, our representative called to verify the facts of reports concerning prolonged suffering and prompt relief from using Dodd's Kidney Pills.

He found Mrs. Robert Bradford, a lady, perhaps sixty years of age, carrying in her face and speech the evidences of the wear and tear of many years of suffering.

She said:—"In November last a friend recommended me to use Dodd's Kidney Pills, and I have this to say of my condition before and after:

"I had for many years been such a sufferer from rheumatism that my nights had generally been passed without sleep. The joints of my hands and limbs, as you can see, were distorted out of all human shape.

"My husband has frequently had to rise and bathe and rub me with oils and liniments to keep body and soul together.

"This was all before I commenced to use Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"It is now two months since I commenced taking these pills, and since taking the fourth dose I have not had an ache.

"People remark my gain in flesh and weight, and I am sure I am stronger than for years past."

STATUE OF JOHN BRIGHT

Unveiled in Westminster Hall, London—Duke of Devonshire's Eulogy

London, Feb. 11.—A large gathering of distinguished persons assembled in Westminster Hall this afternoon, when at 3.30 the Duke of Devonshire unveiled a statue of the late John Bright, M.P., and philanthropist. The assemblage comprised many peers and members of the House of Commons. The Duke of Devonshire delivered an address in which he eulogized the career of the great orator and statesman and lauded the acceptance by both of the great parties of Great Britain of the principles of free trade, with which, he said, the name of John Bright would always be associated. It was certain, his grace continued, that Mr. Bright, if he were now in life, would express feelings of indignation at the suggestion of a possibility that any differences arising between England and America should be settled by war.

GOSSIP OF THE WORLD.

Feb. 13.

A report is in circulation in Vienna that a military convention has been concluded between Russia and Bulgaria.

Li Hung Chang and Shau Yu Lien have been appointed delegates to represent the Emperor of China at the coronation of Emperor Nicholas II. of Russia at Moscow.

A blue book has been issued in England containing the official documents in connection with the Jameson raid in the Transvaal. Germany has also issued a white book on the same subject.

The death is announced in Paris of Charles Louis Ambroise Thomas, the celebrated musical composer. M. Thomas was born at Metz Aug. 5, 1811. He had been a commander of the Legion of Honor since 1860 and Grand Officer since Jan 1, 1881.

Princess Henriette, daughter of the Comte D'Andes and niece of King Leopold, was married yesterday at Brussels to the Duke of Vendome. The ceremony was conducted by Cardinal Goossens, Archbishop of Mechlin.

BEYOND RECOVERY.

The Boy LaFlamme—His Cure was a Surprise—A few Boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Pappineauville, Feb. 3 (Special).—The father of the boy LaFlamme is one of the leading merchants here and willing to talk of his son's cure. He says,—"My little boy Arthur, after scarlet fever about a year ago, never recovered and his ailment ran into a kidney trouble. His body was swollen to twice its natural size. The sufferings of the little fellow were very severe and we had all given up hope of him. But three months ago we commenced giving him Dodd's Kidney Pills, and to-day he is romping and playing with the other boys." This as an instance of prompt cure is very remarkable.

scrofula

Any doctor will tell you that Professor Hare, of Jefferson Medical College, Philadelphia, is one of the highest authorities in the world on the action of drugs. In his last work, speaking of the treatment of scrofula, he says:

"It is hardly necessary to state that cod-liver oil is the best remedy of all. The oil should be given in emulsion, so prepared as to be palatable."

He also says that the hypophosphites should be combined with the oil.

Scott's Emulsion of cod-liver oil, with hypophosphites, is precisely such a preparation.

BAD FOR SIR CHARLES.

Mr. Longley Denies the Tales Told by the Baronet

ABOUT MONEY IN CAPE BRETON

A Set Back for Commandant Cameron of the Royal Military College. Sir Charles' Son-in-Law—What the Visitors Reported to Parliament.

Ottawa, Feb. 12.—If Sir Charles Tupper were not so old an offender his experience during the past two days might be expected to teach him the political inexpediency, if there were no higher reason against it, of bearing false witness against his neighbors. Throughout yesterday he was kept upon the pillory by the resentment of his opponents, of whom he had spread slander, which he could not prove and would not withdraw. With as near an approach to plainness as the rules would allow he was accused of untruthfulness, and that not isolated or exceptional, but persistent and characteristic. This was the entry into Parliament, this the triumphant accession to leadership for which he has laid his plans of political conspiracy, treachery, ambuscades and assassination. To-day the subject was revived upon the production of Mr. Davies of a statement from Attorney-General Longley denying every allegation made by the Secretary of State in which he was concerned. Sir Charles was not in his place, and did not attend the House all day, but the matter caused a spirited exchange of rancorous speeches and filled the chamber for an hour with angry excitement. When it passed over peace and placidity crept over the scene, when Mr. Flint rose to move his prohibition resolution. Unhappily, questions do not excite interest in Parliament according to their importance, and, although the cause of prohibition did not want for a good champion, the empty benches showed that the dullness which has hung over it since the appointment of the Royal Commission has not yet lifted.

The report to Parliament of the Board of Visitors to the Royal Military College, laid on the table to-day, will create a sensation in military circles. Attention is called to the large expenditure for maintainance. The drill is condemned, and the discipline, the instruction, and the methods, and finally the commandant should be changed. The visitors recommend greater accommodation, in order to increase the attendance from 65 to 104 cadets. The report states that drill is not up to date, and, according to evidence, there is a slackness in discipline. With a view to correcting these defects, the board recommends that the college be made part of the military system, and placed under a general officer commanding the militia, for purposes of drill, discipline and inspection. This is rough on Maj.-Gen. Cameron, who is Sir Charles Tupper's son-in-law, who is practically declared unfit for the position of commandant of the college, as the following extract shows: "The board considers that the education of cadets should be continuous, thorough and of a modern type, and that, in order to insure this desirable result, the commandant should be changed every five or seven years, as may be found expedient or necessary; also that as long as it is necessary to employ the services of a military officer from Great Britain as commandant, he be required to be an officer of not higher rank than Lieutenant-Colonel on the active list of the regular army. By following such a plan new blood will be infused, and the system will be prevented from running into a groove." The college is declared to be doing a high-class, useful and necessary work. The report is signed by Col. Walker Powell, Adjutant-General; Lieut.-Col. Duchesnay, Quebec; Lieut.-Col. Smith, London, and Capt. D. Macpherson, graduate and divisional engineer, Canadian Pacific Railway.

PUMPING THE GOVERNMENT.

A Shower of Questions From the Opposition Members of the House.

Ottawa, Feb. 12.—Special.—Some interesting answers were given by Ministers to questions put in the House this afternoon.

Mr. Dickey informed Col. O'Brien that Sir Charles Tupper was instructed to place a portion of the regiment of Royal Canadian Infantry at the service of the Imperial Government for garrison duty. Instructions were conveyed, in an informal telegram of the then Minister of Militia, the date of which could not now be accurately fixed.

Dr. Montague informed Mr. Bain that ten steamers were fitted with cold storage accommodation last year, at a cost of $5732.

Mr. McMillan was informed by Dr. Montague that 57,748 pounds of creamery butter were shipped to Britain last year under the Government advance of 20 cents per pound. The average net price realized in Montreal for the whole shipment, after deducting expenses from Montreal outwards, was 14 cents per pound. The highest price realized in Britain was 90s per cwt., and lowest price 63s per cwt. Some 14,683 pounds of butter was sold in Montreal at an average price of 21 cents, because the packages in which the butter was placed were not suitable for export.

Mr. Costigan informed Mr. McShane that the Government did not consider it advisable at present to remove the sick mariners' dues.

Mr. Costigan informed Mr. Casey of the steps which had been taken with the authorities of New York State for the reciprocal relaxation of the alien labor law on one side and fisheries laws on the other in the Thousand Islands. Negotiations were in progress regarding the legislation which would be necessary on the part of the respective Governments.

Mr. Davies again brought up the question of the alleged expenditure of $25,000 by the Liberals in the Cape Breton election and read a letter from the Attorney-General of Nova Scotia, in which he characterized the charge as an unmitigated falsehood. Mr. Davies said, on his personal honor, that $2000 was the very outside sum subscribed for Mr. Murray's expenses. He asked that a committee of the House be appointed to investigate the matter. If this were not done he threatened to move at an early day formally for a commission of enquiry. The Liberals did not carry elections by bribery and corruption—(derisive cheers)—and they would not rest under any imputation of that kind.

Mr. Dickey said Mr. Davies pledged his honor, whatever that might be worth. (Loud cries of "order.") Well, he would withdraw the phrase and state that it was not on personal honor but on personal knowledge of the facts that Mr. Davies should make his declarations to the House. If Mr. Davies wanted to investigate the amount of money spent he should do it through the proper channels, namely the courts.

The discussion was continued by Messrs. Mills (Bothwell) and Weldon, —who pointed out the facilities which the courts gave to the Liberals—Taylor, Mulock and others, after which the matter dropped.

Mr. Flint moved that in the opinion of the House the manufacture, importation and sale of intoxicating liquors, except for medicinal, sacramental and mechanical purposes, should be prohibited by law. In opening, he referred to the amendment which last session side-tracked his main prohibition motion. It said the consideration should be delayed until the decision of the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council was received on the question of jurisdiction to deal with prohibition, as between the provinces and the Dominion. Decision is not down yet, but he argued that there should be no further delay, but the subject should now be considered on its merits. He reviewed Hansard for a number of years with a view of showing that Parliament by its action at various times had taken the stand that the liquor traffic was an evil, that Parliament had power to deal with it, and had done so to a certain extent, and that it was desirable that Parliament should act, the majority in the House, however, holding that public opinion was not sufficiently strong to warrant the enactment of a prohibitory law. He contended that public opinion was ripe for prohibition, and that the holding of plebiscites was irrefutable evidence.

There was an interesting discussion in the Senate to-day—initiated by Senator T. R. McInnes—respecting positions of the two controllers. The Premier, while admitting that the original intention in establishing these offices was that the holders should be subordinate members of the Government, said there was nothing to preclude their becoming Cabinet Ministers. Col. Prior was proving himself a far better executive officer than he (the Premier) had expected and his province had every reason to be proud of him.

Senator Scott admitted that the prerogative of the Crown in the formation of Ministries was unlimited, but it was incongrous to appoint to a seat in the Cabinet a subordinate official who was under the control of another member of the Cabinet so far as his departmental duties were concerned.

The Premier gave notice that he would move that when the Senate adjourns to-morrow it stand adjourned until Monday the 24th instant. The reason for the adjournment was that it would take two or three days to prepare the Chamber for the gubernatorial ball which will be held on Monday evening and to clear it again. Wednesday was a holiday and he thought a longer adjournment would not seriously interfere with the dispatch of the public business.

Mrs. Potter Palmer of Chicago, President of the Women's Committee of the World's Fair of 1893, will attend the historical ball next Monday.

He Wants to Obtain an Interview with Jameson Before His Trial.

London, Feb. 12.—Prominence will be given by The Daily News to-morrow to a rumor that after Right Hon. Joseph Chamberlain, Secretary of State for the Colonies, had had an interview with Hon. Cecil Rhodes, the ex-Premier of Cape Colony, the Government decided that it was highly important to ensure the prevention of Dr. Jameson's communicating with any one before he should be delivered over to justice, and that they therefore hurriedly despatched Inspector Forest with a warrant for his arrest on his way to England, with instructions to prevent Jameson from holding communication with any person. The rumor has it that upon learning of this step on the part of the Government, ex-Premier Rhodes started forthwith for Naples with the intention of circumventing Inspector Forest and obtaining an interview with Jameson.

A BANQUET TO MR. MURRAY

Tendered by the Liberals to Sir Charles Tupper's Opponent.

Halifax, N.S., Feb. 12.—Over 200 attended the banquet at the Queen Hotel to-night in honor of Hon. George H. Murray, tendered by the Liberal party. A. A. McKay, president of the Young Men's Liberal Club of this city, presided, and among those present, besides the guest of the evening, were: Hon. W. B. Vail, Dr. Borden, M.P., William Paterson, M. P., Premier Fielding, Premier Peters of Prince Edward Island, Hon. A. G. Jones, Attorney-General Longley, and many members of the Provincial Legislature. The gathering was very enthusiastic and speechmaking good.

Y., has found time in which to write a great book of over a thousand pages entitled, The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser in plain English, or Medicine Simplified. Few books printed in the English language have reached so great a sale as has this popular work, over 680,000 copies having been sold at $1.50 each. The profits on this enormous sale having repaid its author for the great amount of labour and money expended on its production he has now decided to give away, absolutely free, 500,000 copies of this valuable book, the recipient only being required to mail to the World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N.Y., of which company he is president, 21 one-cent stamps, to cover cost of mailing only, and the book will be sent post-paid. It is a veritable medical library, complete in one volume. It contains 1008 large pages, and over 300 illustrations, some of them in colours. The Free Edition is precisely the same as that sold at $1.50 except only that the books are bound in strong manilla paper covers, instead of cloth. It is not often that our readers have an opportunity to obtain a valuable book on such generous terms, and we predict that few will miss availing themselves of the unusual and liberal offer to which we have called their attention.

CARD OF THANKS.

Messrs. Cox & Davis, Peterborough:

GENTLEMEN: I wish to thank you for your promptness in settling the loss on my furniture, which occurred through the upsetting of my coal stove, on Friday night last at 10 o'clock. On being notified next day you were good enough to send over a man to settle the loss in order that I might be able to get the house cleaned up and thereby saved me much inconvenience. From my experience with your office now, it is a source of pleasure for me to feel that my insurance is with you, and I shall not forget to tell my friends.

Yours truly,
MARY ANN O'BRIEN.

Installation at Orono.

The officers elect of Orono Lodge, A. F. and A. M., were installed at the last regular lodge communication by the D.D.G.M., Bro. Wood, of Peterborough, after which the W. M. Bro. M. M. Tucker, entertained the brethren at a banquet at the North American Hotel.—West Durham News.

Notice to Oddfellows.

Members of Peterborough Lodge, I.O.O. F., No. 111, are requested to meet in their hall on Friday afternoon, the 14th inst., at 1.30 for the purpose of attending the funeral of our late brother, G. W. Rubidge. Members of Otonabee and sister lodges are cordially invited. T. C. ELLIOTT, N.G.

Forester's Funeral.

The members of Court Peterborough, No. 2?, Canadian Order of Foresters, are requested to meet at their Court Room at 1.30 o'clock Friday afternoon to attend the funeral of our late Brother George W. Rubidge. A cordial invitation is extended to members of sister Courts. By order, Miss Louise Daly, Feb. 20th.

The concert to be given in the George street church on the evening of Feb. 20th promises to be exceptionally good. Those who have heard Miss Louise Daly sing are enthusiastic in praise of her. Lovers of organ and piano music will be delighted with Miss Hall, of Napanee, while Miss Lola Ostrom needs no introduction to a Peterborough audience. Other first-class talent will also appear. Watch for programme.

The Late Joshua Campbell Lilly.

This morning Joshua C. Lilly, only surviving son of the late Wm. Lilley, died at the family residence, 246 Antrim street. He has been ill for somewhere about two months with a pulmonary disease. He was 34 years of age. He was born in Toronto in 1862, and removed with the family to Peterborough. He was a druggist by profession, having for some time been employed in a George street drug store, but latterly he was employed as a sign writer and paper hanger. He leaves behind several sisters: Mrs. David Gamble, Ocala, Florida; Mrs. J. W. Miller, Mrs. S. W. English, Mrs. T. Goldie and Miss M. Lilly, town. The funeral takes place from the family residence on Friday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock to the Little Lake Cemetery.

Blockaded Country Roads.

The country roads, in every direction from the town, are almost impassable, owing to the depth of snow and drifts. In scores of places the highways have been diverted through fields. Yesterday a farmer started for town from Ennismore at nine o'clock in the morning and reached Peterborough at four o'clock in the afternoon, himself and team thoroughly exhausted; and another farmer from North Monaghan took four hours in covering seven miles to town. The highways are much worse blocked than the railways, and their condition suggests an improvement in the system of applying statute labour. It is highly probably that there will be a very small market on Saturday unless the snow ceases falling and the roads are cleared.

The Irish Hero.

It would seem that crowded houses are to be the rule with the Marks Bros. Co. for not a seat was vacant last night when "The Irish Hero" was presented. Mr. Tom Marks as the hero was awfully funny and has come to be a general favourite both as a comedian, and as a vocalist. The specialities were exceptionally good. Miss May Bell in her character songs was delightful, while Miss Myra Collins completely captured the audience with her singing. The songs and dances of little Gracie were much admired, but none of the specialities came in for greater applause than the off-hand wit of Mr. Wilson. The result of the hockey match were announced and the house nearly came down. To-night the great sensational drama "The Great Diamond Robbery" will be presented.

THE HOCKEY FINALS; PETERBOROUGH "IN IT."

The Victorias Snowed In and Snowed Under.

THE SCORE WAS 13 TO 1 IN FAVOUR OF PETERBOROUGH.

The Match Was Witnessed by Hundreds of Citizens, the Rink Being Jammed With Spectators — The Greatest Interest and Enthusiasm Manifested—The Strength of the Visitors was Greatly Overrated—Now for the Finals.

Nothing in the town is too good for the Peterborough hockey team since its decisive victory over the Victorias, of Kingston, last evening on the local ice, when it defeated them by the score of 13 goals to one, and won for itself a place in the finals for the junior championship of the Province.

The rink was opened at seven o'clock and almost immediately began to fill as those, who were anxious of securing a good point of vantage to view the game, knew that they would have to come early, as a big crowd would be present. In half an hour the big rink was almost filled and fifteen minutes later the galleries were crowded and every available spot, from which the ice could be viewed,

HAD ITS OCCUPANT.

The Kingston boys, who arrived in town on the early morning train, appeared on the ice at about eight o'clock and were accorded a warm welcome. When the town team, in their crimson jerseys, however, came gliding down the ice in a body the crowd almost raised the roof with the vehemence of their cheering, whilst the din of the horns and clatter of hundreds of sticks were deafening.

At twenty-four minutes past eight Referee Richardson, of Lindsay, rang the bell and the two teams lined up for appended:

Victorias.		Peterboroughs.
Lamb	Goal	J. Hamilton
Wilson	Point	W J Montgomery
Metcalf	Cover point	Sam Adams
Reynar	centre	W Phelan
Murray	Forwards	J Parsons
Murphy	Forwards	R David on
Taylor	Forwards	Lionel King
S Ray	goal umpires	O Dix
E Wasson	umpires	G A Schofield

The local team went upon the ice somewhat in doubt of the issue, but a very few minutes sufficed to show them that their opponents had

BEEN GREATLY OVER-RATED.

Reynar was was the only man on the visiting team who could be called a fast man, and he was as good as any three of the others. When the little fellow broadens out he will be a "corker." His dodging last evening was greatly admired, and with even one good forward to whom he could pass, he would have been able to make things decidedly more interesting for the Peterboroughs. As soon as it was seen that he was his pretty work on the ice and fast rushes were easily stopped by a little personal attention, he being the only man to watch. "Pinkie" Lambe, of whom the Kingston papers have spoken so highly, although he stopped many of the shots made in which the puck did not raise off the ice, was totally unable to do anything with the "lifts" which showered in on him so often. He, however, was not so much to blame as Wilson, the point man, who was taken on to strengthen the team, but was of no use whatever.

The visitors may have been somewhat handicapped by the ice being smaller than that on which they were accustomed to practice, but this would not account for the weakness in their defence. Difference in the size of the rinks, however, is an emergency which every team has to face at times. Last year the Peterboroughs won from the Kingstons on under very adverse circumstances.

It would be hard to particularize in regard to picking out the star players for the Peterboroughs last evening, as a faultless game was played by every member of the team. Hamilton gave perfect satisfaction in goal. Although he did not have very much to do in the last half, still, when he was called upon he was found to be all there and, for a young player, he showed up remarkably well. During the first part of the game, when the visitors made so determined an attack on the Peterborough flags, he kept his head and played a steady, careful game, worthy of commendation.

Montgomery is an exceptionally good man playing in any position, but last evening he showed that his proper place on the team is at point. He played and the lifts which he made were marvellous. He has no equal in Canada as a point man.

Sam. Adams checking at cover point, last evening was so sharp as to completely rattle the forward line of the Victorias. He played a faultless game and his proverbial coolness was the factor which broke up many a Victoria rush are it had well started. King played his usual fast game and his ready stick was always in the right place, at the right time to intercept the puck. Once he got it he knew what to do with it too, and his shots on the goal were always "red hot." Lionel scored seven out of the thirteen games, which is an illustration of the effectiveness of his shooting. Davidson played the fastest game of his life and he and King did together on the wing. Roger is essentially a team man, and as long as the goal is scored does not care which of his comrades does the trick. His work last night was very fast and sure. Parsons put up a grand game and deserves especial credit, as this is his first work on the forward line. By playing him in this position the team is fully as strong, if not stronger, than it was last year, as Parsons is a far sharper and stronger check than was Wonham. His rush up the ice last evening when he scored the third game was the feature of the whole match. Walter Phelan was a host in himself and played a splendid game at centre. It was seldom indeed that he did not take the puck at the face off and generally it was so quickly done that it would be half way down the rink before the Kingston forwards would realize it. Walter may fitly be termed of the forward line and if he had left town for good, as was expected, his place would have been impossible to fill. No man on the team is so capable of checking a man of any weight as Phelan, but last night he received very rough usuage at the hands of Murphy, who lost his temper completely, when time after time Walter deftly removed the puck from his stick. Mr. Richardson, as a referee, was most impartial, although there were times when the visitors should have been held down even more closely to the rules regulating "rough play." At the conclusion of the match when the visitors took exception to some of the rulings on offside play, Mr. Richardson made the statement that a more strict referee would immediately have ruled Wilson, Metcalfe and Murphy off the ice during almost every game for their roughness.

SOME BEAUTIFUL WORK

Mr. Richardson was late in arriving, and his debut on the ice was rather amusing. He was welcomed with a cheer, but almost immediately lost his feet on the glary ice and sat down amidst shouts of laughter.

The games were scored in the following order:

1	Peterborough,	by King, in	5 minutes.
2	"	Phelan,	1½ "
3	"	Parsons,	4½ "
4	"	King,	12 "
5	Kingston,	Reynar,	4 "
		HALF TIME.
6	Peterborough,	Davidson,	2 "
7	"	Phelan,	1 "
8	"	King,	2½ "
9	"	King,	5 "
10	"	Parsons,	4½ "
11	"	King,	4 "
12	"	Davidson,	½ "
13	"	King,	4½ "
14	"	King,	½ "

For the first few seconds the spectators watched the game with bated breath, as the Victorias were

AN UNKNOWN QUANTITY,

inasmuch, as they were supposed to be strengthened by a "ringer" or two. With apprehension it was noticed that the puck was collared right at the face off and rushed on the Peterborough flags, where it lingered for a second or two in dangerous proximity to the goal. Montgomery, however, soon relieved, and Parsons took the puck up the ice with a rush and made a clean shot on goal, which was neatly stopped by Lambe and sent whizzing down the rink again. Murray, Reynar and Murphy then carried the rubber sphere down into Peterborough's territory and the former made a lift on the flags, which Hamilton stopped very cleverly. Reynar was back in a second with the puck again and attempted to dodge past Hamilton through the flags, but "Jim" stayed with him in a manner which won him golden opinions from the spectators, and succeeded in SAVING HIS FLAGS.

For the next few seconds things were lively around the Peterborough goal as a most determined onslaught was made on it. The work of the local defence was faultlessly superb, and when the hot shots of the Victorias on the flags were cooly stopped, time after time the visitors seemed to lose heart, as at no time during the rest of the evening did they make such a combined and desperate effort to score. Presently they relaxed and instantly the puck shot out and like a crimson streak, the famous forward line of the Peterboroughs went down the rink, through the Victorias' defence like a flash, and a mighty cheer announced that King had scored "first blood" for Peterborough. Time five minutes.

The second game—Phelan took the puck at the face-off and, passing to King, it was carried into the Kingston territory, which it never left.

PHELAN SCORED

with a hot one from the side in one and a half minutes.

The third game—Phelan took the puck at the start, but Reynar intercepted it whilst it was being passed to King, and by a fine exhibition of dodging carried it down on the Peterborough goal. Monty stopped his onward career with a sharp check and returned the puck to the middle of the rink, where Metcalfe, the Victoria's big cover point, took it and attempted to rush. He was quickly stopped by Adams, who relieved him of the puck and passed over to Parsons. The Peterborough forwards then rushed down the rink and scored but the goal was not allowed as the referee thought the puck was obtained by an offside play.

DURING THIS GAME

little Reynar attempted to rush repeatedly but was so sharply checked that he was never able to get fairly started. Twice he almost got under way and dodged about until he was through the Peterborough forward line, but at this juncture he met Adams, who, with his usual coolness, promptly took the puck away from the Victoria's fast little forward and lifted over the player's heads on the Kingston goal, keeping Lambe in constant terror lest one of the long lifts should catch him unawares and score. Parsons finally scored in six and a half minutes.

The fourth game—After considerable scrimmaging in the centre the puck was taken down on the Peterborough' ice, but and making one of his old time rushes, carried the rubber sphere far into the Kingston stronghold. Reynar brought it back and scored, but as the referee was ringing the bell for an offside while he was careening down the ice, the goal was not allowed. Another rush was made by him on the Peterborough goal, but Parsons secured the puck and making the most brilliant rush of the evening, scored in 12 minutes.

The Fifth Game.—Metcalf made a good rush in this game, and got past both cover point and point. Hamilton, however, made a most brilliant stop when the shot was made, but Reynar coming down the ice like a flash, succeeded in scoring the first game for Kingston. Time, 4 minutes.

Half time was called before any further games were scored. The result of the match so far now stood in favour of Peterborough.

FOUR TO ONE

Sixth game—Phelan took the puck at the go off and it was carried down on the Kingston flags. Reynar attempted to rush up the ice with it, but was sharply checked by Phelan, who took the rubber sphere away from him and passed to Davidson, who with a lightning like shot scored in two minutes.

The seventh game—No one saw much of this game, as the combination work amongst the Peterborough forwards was of so dashing a character as to quickly outwit the Kingston defence and allow Phelan to score with a hot lift in one minute.

The eighth game — Kingston almost scored a goal in this game, as the scrimmage in front of the flags was of so rough a nature as to upset Hamilton and THROW HIM DOWN.

"Monty" finally relieved and after some quick combination work King scored in 2½ minutes.

Ninth game—The Kingston men were very rough in this game, Murphy and Metcalfe having to be repeatedly warned against "body" checking. Phelan after taking the puck from the former received a vicious blow on the head, with a hockey stick from him after his back was turned. King scored in five minutes.

The tenth game,—The Victorias in this game became so exceedingly rough in this game, as to force the referee to insist on the retirement of Metcalf, for a time from the ice, as into Adams was too palpable to be passed over. Parsons scored in 4½ minutes.

The game stood 9 to 1 for Peterborough at this juncture.

Eleventh Game.—Metcalfe was allowed back on the ice again, and feeling fresh after his rest, rushed things for the Peterboroughs for a few minutes. Montgomery saved the flags time and again. Adams relieved, and an onslaught was made on the Kingston goal, resulting in King scoring out of a scrimmage.

Twelfth Game.—No one saw how it was done, but a quick dash and sudden lift of the puck resulted in Davidson scoring in half a minute.

Thirteenth Game.—Little Reynar, who had been doing almost all the work for the Victorias' now began to play out and went back to play point, whilst Wilson was advanced to cover point and Metcalfe played centre. The game was for a few minutes, but Adams played all around Metcalf and easily foiled his attempts to rush. The result of some very neat combination work on the part of the Peterboroughs was that King scored in four and a half minutes.

A LITTLE FASTER

The fourteenth game fell to Peterborough in half a minute, King doing the necessary.

Time was called before any further scoring was done.

After the customary cheers had been given, the two teams changed their clothing, and later on in the evening the visitors were banquetted at Ed. Welsh's restaurant on Hunter street. Several score of the boys went down to the midnight train to see the Victorias off.

Catarrh in the Head

Is a dangerous disease because it is liable to result in loss of hearing or smell, or develop into consumption. Read the following:

"My wife has been a sufferer from catarrh for the past four years and the disease had gone so far that her eyesight was affected so that for nearly a year she was unable to read for more than five minutes at a time. She suffered severe pains in the head and at times was almost distracted. About Christmas, she commenced taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, and since that time has steadily improved. She has taken six bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla and is on the road to a complete cure. I cannot speak too highly of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and I cheerfully recommend it." W. H. How We Keep Busy.

One way is, because we have made this store of direct benefit to the community. We make the public interest our own, giving customers the best end of each and every bargain

Another way is, that we find out exactly what people want, and then go where the best goods are made. We buy big enough to bring prices down, and sell quick enough to keep stocks clean. We do this—not only now and then, but every week in every month—always anticipating needs and always developing trade.

Still another way is—during the manufacturers dullest season we place large orders on a spot cash basis besides gathering the surplus stocks of many well-known makers. But we run no risks. If prices are low enough we buy only worthy goods below market value, and then, we sell as we buy.

This Store is Going to be Bigger.

The tendency of trade is to pass the little near-by stores and come to the big ones. One reason for this is, that prosperous stores increase their variety and lower their prices according to their prosperity. This year we shall lift this store above its own level, so that what has been good service before—far above the average—will be excellent now.

We are more than doubling our advertising space. Advertising is necessary, and so long as it is nesessary it must be used to its full advantage. These are days of fierce competition and he who would sail at all must sail with a full head of steam.

We are doubling our Wall Paper capacity for the Spring Trade, and intend showing about 700 different patterns of the newest designs. When our new stock is all in we have no hesitation in saying that it will be unequalled in the Province for extent, designs and low prices.

We are doubling our Window Shade stock, having purchased, at a price, a manufacturer's entire stock on hand, which will require room for about 1600 shades of about 60 different designs. The prices will be a revelation to Window Shade buyers.

We are doubling our Department for Cornice Poles, Room Moulding and Picture Framing. House Decoration has developed into an art, and our aim will be to aid every housewife in her efforts to make home beautiful.

Were wise cooks in their day and they knew the virtues of using Cream Tartar and Soda in their baking. Their trouble was that sometimes they used a little too much Cream Tartar and sometimes a little too much Soda, and, besides, Cream Tartar can scarcely ever be bought twice of exactly the same strength, so that they rarely get the proportions correct, and that is the secret of success or failure.

Remember the power of indirect influences: those which distil from a life, not from a sudden brilliant effort. The former never fail: the latter often. Queen Victoria's Hard Work.

Most people have an idea that royalty has an easy time of it, but the fact is that kings and queens, even in times of peace, are almost as hard worked as day labourers. Queen Victoria, for instance, last year had to append her signature to some 50,000 documents. She practically never has a holiday while at Buckingham or Windsor. She rises at 7.30. At 8 she has prayers, and half an hour later breakfast, and then works with her secretary steadily for five hours and a half, until 2 o'clock. Sometimes she has been called up in the middle of the night owing to some urgent state paper requiring her signature.

He Looked in Three Places. Then Came Back.

Yesterday a man from near Bobcaygeon came in and asked to see our Coon Skin Coats. We showed him. Said he was selling wheat for 82c a bushel, and had to buy a coat cheap. We remarked that the coat before him was $25, and that it was equal to any we sold before Xmas for $35.

"That's a fine coat," said the man from Bobcaygeon.

"Let me try it on." (It fitted of course, ours always do.) He straightened up before the mirror, covered from head to foot with our coon skin coat, and in a calm deliberate manner said: "I'll give you 24 dollars for that coat, for it suits me." We had strength enough left to thank that man from Bobcaygeon and make the remark that we guessed he wasn't posted either on Fur coats or our way of doing business.

"I am going to look around," said he, "and if I can't do better I'll come back." "Very well, we shall be pleased to see you," and out went the man from Bobcaygeon to look around and try to beat our $25 coon skin coats if he could. He went up street and then down, so he said, then came back to us, after looking in two fur stores and one clothier's, and this is what he said: "Why, mister, these folks 'round here ain't in it with you on fur coats."

This man from Bobcaygeon looked around, and if you look around you will find just what he did.

GENTLEMEN'S OUTFITTERS.

A POINTER FOR BUSINESS MEN.

Printer's Ink, New York, recently contained a suggestion as to excursion advertising that is at least deserving of the consideration of Peterborough merchants:

"Many cities have tried the experiment of running excursions from along the lines of railways bringing shoppers into the city to do their trading, but the trouble that has been usually met with is the disinclination of the railroads to make a low enough rate to induce people to take the trip unless there is some big attraction offered to lure them away from their homes. A way to circumvent these agents of the big corporations has been discovered by the wide-awake citizens of a little city in Pennsylvania. In this place they organized an association of 100 business men each subscribing $5 to a fund, and with this $500 a committee goes to the passenger agent of a line and says: "Make us a picnic rate for 200 persons from ——— and intermediate points to this city." They then put up an amount sufficient to cover the cost of 200 tickets from the furthest point and go ahead advertising the excursion. Thursday is generally the day of the week selected to run it on and no other attractions than the low rate is offered excepting it may be special bargains are announced for that day by some of the merchants, and the hotels spread a 25 cent dinner to all. The big cut from the regular round-trip rate obtained by guaranteeing 200 people, or the purchase of 200 tickets, has always been inducement enough to fill the train to overflowing. In this way the business men are at no expense excepting for advertising, as after the excursion is over they receive back from the railroad the amount deposited to assure 200 tickets being sold. Should it happen to rain or for any cause the equivalent of 200 tickets from the farthest point is not sold, which seldom, if ever, happens, then the difference is deducted from the guarantee fund and each subscriber stands the loss pro rata. But to offset this, whenever over 200 are carried, the railways then give a rebate on each excess ticket sold."

[This scheme may not apply to Peterborough, but something in this direction is well worth the attention of Peterborough's live business men. Everything that can bring trade to Peterborough, legitimately, should be employed. We shall thrive only by enterprise. In these days of keen competition nothing comes to him who waits, but to him who acts comes success.

SPORTING PASTIMES.

HOCKEY.

The Peterborough II team go to Lindsay to-night to play the Collegiate Institute team a friendly game.

The following is the Toronto Granite team which will go to Berlin this afternoon: Goal, G. Dixon; point, McArthur; cover point, McDonald; forwards, Lilly, W. Dixon, Johnston and Crawford; spare, Davis.

THE WHEEL.

A report comes from Hamilton that Dr. Balfour is willing to retire in favour of "Bobby" Robertson if the friends of the latter will agree to support his candidature for the office of president of the C. W. A. next year.

The Montreal Herald says:—George Van Felsen and Frank Carrel, two prominent Quebec citizens, arrived in the city last evening, bent upon a special mission. They will confer with Montreal influence that may enable them to secure the C. W. A. meeting at Quebec.

CURLING.

The Montreal Star through its Ottawa correspondent reports that the Rideau's, Governor-General's and Ottawa Curling Clubs have held a meeting to consider a communication from the Peterborough Club.

It was a proposal that the city curlers should arrange for a series of matches about the 20th inst. in Ottawa, in which as many as fifteen rinks of clubs in the Peterborough district would come down and compete. If this could be arranged, the Peterborough state they would run an excursion of between three and four hundred people into the city with the curling teams. The proposal was accepted at the meeting of local curlers, and a committee appointed to arrange for the matches, etc. All the curling rinks of the city will be put into use. The bonspell will last at least two if not three days, and should be interesting, for the Peterborough district has long been famous as the home of the curler. The clubs of Peterborough and vicinity ran an excursion to Toronto last winter under similar conditions. The date of the bonspell will be announced in a few days. It will be as soon after the 20th as possible.

A Peterborough hockey team will also come down with the curlers, and a match will be arranged for them with either the Aberdeens or the Ottawa intermediates.

JOHN McNAUGHTON'S GREAT CLEARING SALE.

Big Bargain Boom in Boots and Shoes.

The clearing sale of the boot and shoe stock is still going on at his store, corner Bethune and Sherbrooke streets. The decided bargains offered are attracting numerous buyers. Those in need of first class boots and shoes for men, women and children should not miss this great sale. The stock must be cleared out, and the prices are made low, very low, for that purpose.

A QUEBEC WEDDING.

One in Which Mrs. Greenwood's Friends Will be Interested.

A very quiet wedding took place in the Anglican Cathedral in Quebec Monday morning, says the Montreal Herald, the high contracting parties being Miss Joly de Lotbiniere and Captain Mills, of the Royal Engineers.

The Lord Bishop of Quebec officiated, assisted by Dean Norman.

The bride was given away by her father, Sir Henri G. Joly de Lotbiniere, and the gallant groom was attended by Lieut. Harvey, of the Royal Engineers, as best man.

The bridesmaids were Miss McLimont, Miss B. Campbell, Miss L. Schwartz and the Misses Boswell, and the ushers were Lieut. Panet, R.C.A., Mr. Dudley Oliver and Mr. Edward Joly de Lotbiniere. The church, which was handsomely decorated for the occasion, was crowded with spectators and friends of the bride.

The bride is a sister of Mrs. H. S. Greenwood, of town, hence the local interest of the paragraph.

A DOURO WEDDING.

Celebration of the Nuptials of Mr. Thos J. Boland and Miss Josephine Foley.

On Thursday, February 11th, inst, Thomas James Boland, of Asphodel and Miss Josephine Foley, of Otonabee, were united in the holy bonds of matrimony. The interesting ceremony took place in St. Joseph's church, Douro, and the officiating clergyman was the Rev. W. J. Keilty, the parish priest, of Douro. The EXAMINER joins with many others in wishing the young couple a long life and happiness unlimited.

Calcutt's Dublin Porter.

Men and women are all more or less troubled with dyspepsia. Why? Because they suffer from constipation. This is easily cured if attended to. If neglected it will become chronic. Constipation is the cause of nine-tenths of all our sickness. Nature requires assistance to throw off impurities of the system and regulate the bowels. This is what Calcutt's porter will do. Build up your system by the moderate use of this tonic. It does not derange the system but builds it up and consequently adds to your strength and weight. Sold by all leading grocers, only $1.00 per dozen.

FIGHTING BUS DRIVERS.

One of Them is Assessed Thirteen Dollars and Sixty Cents.

Two bus drivers had an altercation at the Grand Trunk Railway station on Friday morning last and one of them made a complaint to the police of the names which had been applied to him by the other.

When he returned to the station to meet the next train he was asked if he had laid an information and on replying that such was the case he received a thrashing at the hands of the man of whose language he had complained.

When the case came up in the Police Court this morning the aggressor was fined ten dollars and costs, amounting to $13 60. He was given five days to pay and in default will go up on the hill for a couple of weeks.

CERTAINLY DANGEROUS.

A Modern Sword of Damocles in the Shape of Icicles

Attention of the EXAMINER has been called to the impending danger from the huge icicles hanging directly over the sidewalk, from the eaves of the buildings, on the principal streets. The huge overhanging drifts of snow on the roofs are also regarded as dangerous more particularly so, as the recent thaw and succeeding cold snap have hardened it to almost the consistency of ice. The pedestrians are kicking against these modern swords of Damocles, which are suspended by even less than a hair, over their heads.

Impoverished blood causes that tired feeling. Hood's Sarsparilla purifies, enriches and vitalizes the blood and gives vigor and vitality.

MUSICAL DONT'S.

DON'T forget that a glittering exterior is no guide in the selection of a Piano, but bear in mind that the artistic merit of a Piano is generally in inverse ratio to the gorgeousness of its outward appearance.

DON'T forget to read Canon Medley's letter on page 17 of our catalogue, which so felicitously expresses the above idea in the following words:—"It (the Mason and Risch Piano) is an instrument with no foppery about it. Its exterior seems to say, "I am good inside."

DON'T forget that an apparently low price is no evidence of a bargain. Articles of genuine merit invariably cost more than inferior goods. The Mason & Risch Piano is no exception to this rule.

DON'T forget that the cheap Pianos, for which it is claimed that they are reproductions of leading American makes, are invariably unsatisfactory. It is as impossible to reproduce a musical work of art (except by the originator) as it is to reproduce a great picture or a great piece of sculpture.

DON'T forget that the Mason & Risch Piano is not a copy, but a brilliant original conceived of artistic instinct and born of mechanical skill, care and precision.

DON'T forget to write to the address given below, at the earliest opportunity, and, by a thorough investigation of these Pianos, satisfy yourself as to the soundness of the above remarks.

His Face was a mass of Blotches.

But now his skin is clear as a year old babe's.

Scott's Sarsaparilla his Salvation.

Nothing blights existence like the knowledge that our appearance is repellant to those with whom we come in contact, nor is there any relief like that of feeling that the disfiguring causes have been removed. Says Mr. William Alger: My face on one side was a mass of blotches, some of which were constantly full of matter. I run a bake shop doing my own work, but my face got so bad that customers drifted away. Then I hired a man and went to a doctor. He said my blood was in a horrible condition. I sold my business and moved to the city where Scott's Sarsaparilla was recommended to me. The first bottle did me much good, and after taking five bottles my skin is as clear as possible, and not a sign of my previous disfigurement. I say Scott's Sarsaparilla is the best blood medicine going and am speaking from experience.

Pimples, blotches, boils, ulcers and all diseases arising from vital exhaustion and impure blood are radically cured by Scott's Sarsaparilla, a concentrated compound of the finest medicines ever known. Your druggist has it at $1. But get Scott's. The kind that cures.

WORLD OF WOMAN.

A FASHIONABLE COMBINATION A SUBJECT OF ILLUSTRATION.

A Fashionable Cold and Its Victim Graphically Described—Decadence of the Afternoon Tea—The Spring Styles of Neckwear.

"By tear Bolly, cadn't you write somedig goog arboud beeble wig goids?" gasped the nicest woman I know, but, alack! with a large and mighty cold in her blessed little head.

"Well," I said, "if I could write a column of your interesting conversation just now I think I could make almost as much of a hit as the Guilbert! It would be another original thing which no one could quite understand!"

But, seriously, this is the prolific season of colds. You don't say, "Now be good, and have a nice time," when you speed a parting friend, but you shriek: "Have you taken those troches and that box of mustard leaves? And don't forget the jujubes and the hot water bag, the flannel robe and the camphor bottle—and for pity's sake, don't get cold!"

That's what you say now—that is the appropriate February farewell. The girl with a cold is a study. When she feels the first symptoms she is inclined to be stuck up over being so evidently in style. She makes a coquettish little flutter with her handkerchief, distinctly conscious of wafting violet or peu d'espagne in faint breezes therefrom.

After that the cold germ has fun with the girl. It walks up her spine with its cold, clammy, froggy feet until the shivers run down her back like tricklings of ice water.

Then the germ claws her forehead with red-hot hands until her brow becomes a radiant inflammation-scarlet; it pokes its horrid burning nails into her eyes, and spears the eyeballs through with knitting needles heated to fusing, drawing the spluttering steel forward and back in a very aggravation of torment.

Then there are remedies galore and an expensive doctor. The girl sees her prospective Easter hat and spring suit vanishing away into the land of never-will-bes.

Then, as this poor, miserable bundle of aches and pains and shivers crawls out to become another blot upon the world, her friends say, "Oh, you've had a little cold; too bad, but never mind; a little cold isn't anything, you know!"

A Sense of Beauty Paramount.

It is probably because few women are artistic enough to design original and beautiful gowns that they blindly follow the prevailing fashions. In this way they at least escape criticism from their companions who do the same. The power of fashion is shown by the fact that the moment ugly dress or furniture is out of style its intrinsic ugliness becomes apparent. Most of us continue to be tyrannized over more or less by Dame Fashion, at least when she has inadequate means on our part, as her ally till we develop greater genius in working out the problem of how to make our surroundings beautiful. But the least brilliant and audacious of us may at least resist fashions which we know to be hideous or absurdly exaggerated, and try to follow those which to some degree commend themselves to our sense of beauty.

A FASHIONABLE COMBINATION.

A "Useful" and Beautiful "Black Silk."

From what seems time immemorial the "useful black silk dress" has been extolled. Ordinarily the term suggests to us a rather dowdy, but unobtrusive, gown, made high at the neck and very long in the sleeves, and, maybe, trimmed with a little lace or jet, whichever fashion seems most to commend at the time.

But there are black dresses and black dresses. The other day I beheld a charming gown for an elderly lady of black silk, satin, brocade or peau de soie, skillfully treated with black lace. The Swiss corselet front could be of any light and pretty shade of silk, covered and fringed with jet, and the velvet braces are to be fastened by jet buckles. The skirt should just sweep the ground at the back. This is the dignified length.

Decadence of the Afternoon Tea.

The long and despotic sway of the "tea" as a society function of more or less importance, appears to be on the wane. So a well-known society woman remarked the other day to the Philadelphia Press. In her opinion the "tea" stands in imminent peril of sending up its expiring oolong gasps amid the surroundings of medical colleges and kindred co-educational institutions, where the fragrance which once was the inspiration of fashionable chatter has become the means of developing a farternal spirit among the students.

"It is simply dying of its own ardor," the habitue said, "and in a certain sense it will be regretted—and deeply, too; for the tea has annually for a long period launched many thousands of debutantes into the vortex of fashionable life on its bland and soothing bosom, and he furnished no end of undergraduates with a pretext for meeting, sans the espionage of a chaperone, the objects of their youthful fancy.

For these reasons the passing tea will be bemoaned by these particular parties. But there is still another set who miss its early exclusive characteristics, and are not slow at expressing pleasure at its decline. To this latter class belong the woman who attended seventeen teas of a single afternoon, because it was the easiest way in which to pay off her old calls, and while that is truly an extraordinary number, the usual "tea round" averages six and eight.

To England, of course, belongs the origin of this famous function; and indeed, to England is due the credit for the introduction to Europe, through the Dutch traders in China, of the cheering cup that "not inebriates." This was early in the seventeenth century, and ancient records speak of it as "chaw alias tea." It did not take long, however, to discover the invigorating qualities of the new drink, and in 1660 we find the observant Pepys saying: "I did send for a cup of tea, a China drink, of which I had never drunk before."

The Spring Neckwear.

Neck frills of the season are as many and varied as the women who wear them. Any combination, no matter how odd, is acceptable if becoming.

As the spring approaches the flower collarette will be much worn. It is made in a variety of ways, but the newest, perhaps, consists of loops of ribbon, a curling tip or two and trailing flowers, arranged like a jabot. Either the lily of the valley or clematis is graceful in a collarette of this description. The fur boa is very seldom a creation entirely of fur. It is combined with lace, silk mull, and frequently flowers. Feathers and fur are also worn together.

A high standing ruff of ostrich tips makes an effective frame for a pretty face. Some of the newest fasten in front with a graceful lace bow. The Queen Bess ruff is a novelty just now and promises to be very popular this spring. It will be the finishing touch of many of the early spring costumes.

The Man Dressmaker.

"Everything will be bright for the springtime," quoth the man dressmaker to the Chicago Herald woman-about-town oracularly, "and instead of worrying to get something to 'tone up' the spring silks we are looking about for combinations to 'tone them down.'" The man dressmaker said "silks," for through the house of his connection he handles little or nothing but silk and satin fabrics, with their due accessories, of course. I like to talk with the man dressmaker, for he has ideas. Then, too, he is not afflicted with "nerves," but is always in a good humor. Moreover, and best of all, he is not snobbish when he learns that the questioner has reasons for economy, but will cheerfully acquiesce in looking up things "reasonable."

The New Swisses!

But the new Swisses, the new Swisses! Never since Mother Eve designed the first gown did sweet woman stand such a chance of being adorable as these textiles are bound to make her. The old dead white unbecoming ones have been numbered with things past, the new ones coming in soft tones or of white, they are so barred with crinkled ribbon stripes in gay tints and dotted with silk between that the white ceases to be trying.

A novelty Swiss for epicurian tastes has pale olive green ribbon stripes with black silk dots on the wide white Swiss stripes between. Made up over geranium pink silk and with a stock belt and sleeve twists of velvet in the same shade, this pattern would develop into an enchanting costume.

Golden Locks the Highest Priced.

Black hair is fashionable just now, but there are certain golden tints that always bring the highest price; for example, certain shades of light hair that fetch as much as a dollar an ounce. The peasant women of Brittany and Southern France supply most of the dark hair in the market, and from one to five francs is paid per head. The average weight of a single growth is one pound and agents refuse as a rule to handle less than that amount unless the hair is naturally curly or of a rare color. The peasants are obliged to wash it before the sale, and indeed as hair-growing is a business with them, they learn that it pays to keep

THE EYES OF THE WORLD

Are Fixed Upon South American Nervine.

Beyond Doubt the Greatest Medical Discovery of the Age.

WHEN EVERY OTHER HELPER HAS FAILED IT CURES

A Discovery, Based on Scientific Principles, that Renders Failure Impossible.

In the matter of good health temporizing measures, while possibly successful for the moment, can never be lasting. Those in poor health soon know whether the remedy they are using is simply a passing incident in their experience, bracing them up for the day, or something that is getting at the seat of the disease and is surely and permanently restoring.

The eyes of the world are literally fixed on South American Nervine. They are not viewing it as a nine-days' wonder, but critical and experienced men have been studying this medicine for years, with the one result—they have found that its claim of perfect curative qualities cannot be gainsaid.

The great discoverer of this medicine was possessed of the knowledge that the seat of all disease is the nerve centres, situated at the base of the brain. In this belief he had the best scientists and medical men of the world occupying exactly the same premises. Indeed, the ordinary layman recognized this principle long ago. Everyone knows that let disease or injury affect this part of the human system and death is almost certain. Injure the spinal cord, which is the medium of these nerve centres, and paralysis is sure to follow.

Here is the first principle. The trouble with medical treatment usually, and with nearly all medicines, is that they aim simply to treat the organ that may be diseased. South American Nervine passes by the organs, and immediately applies its curative powers to the nerve centres, from which the organs of the body receive their supply of nerve fluid. The nerve centres healed, and of necessity the organ which has shown the outward evidence only of derangement is healed. Indigestion, nervousness, impoverished blood, liver complaint, all owe their origin to a derangement of the nerve centres. Thousands bear testimony that they have been cured of these troubles, even when they have become so desperate as to baffle the skill of the most eminent physicians, because South American Nervine has gone to headquarters and cured there.

The eyes of the world have not been disappointed in the inquiry into the success of South American Nervine. People marvel, it is true, at its wonderful medical qualities, but they know beyond all question that it does everything that is claimed for it. It stands alone as the one great certain curing remedy of the nineteenth century. Why should anyone suffer distress and sickness while this remedy is practically at their hands?

How much business can a man do whose system is in a state of disorder? Headache is only a symptom. It is not a disease. The pain in the head is the sign of rebellion. There have been mistakes in diet. There has been overwork and sleepless nights. The machinery of the whole system is demoralized. A business man feels that he cannot afford to be ill enough to quit work. He drags along day after day, makes bad deals, says the wrong thing, and health and business collapse together. There's no need of either disaster. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are a gentle, effective renovator of both stomach and bowels. They assist nature without threatening to tear the body piece-meal. There are no griping pains, no nausea. One is a barely perceptible laxative. Two give more noticable results, and they may be continued until the system is throughly renovated, strengthened, and put into harmony with nature. One need not fear a "habit" of taking the "Pleasant Pellets." As soon as health is restored they may be discarded without a return of illness because of their absence. Therefore, you don't become a slave to their use.

A GREAT BOOK FREE.

When Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., published the first edition of his work, The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser, he announced that after 680,000 copies had been sold at the regular price, $1.50 per copy, the profit on which would repay him for the great amount of labor and money expended in producing it, he would distribute the next half million free. As this number of copies has already been sold, he is now distributing, absolutely free, 500,000 copies of this most complete, interesting and valuable common sense medical work ever published—the recipient only being required to mail to him, at the above address, thirty-one (31) cents in one-cent stamps to cover customs and mailing only and the book will be sent post-paid. It is a veritable medical library, complete in one volume. It contains over 1000 pages and more than 300 illustrations. The Free Edition is precisely the same as those sold at $1.50 except only that the book is are bound in strong manilla paper covers instead of cloth. Send now before all are given away.

WORLD OF WOMEN.

It clean. The dealers are careful to attend all the fairs and merry-makings in the fall of the year, in following up the trade.

It seems to be generally understood that the grass linens are all to be made over silk this year. The few rare models as yet seen were so combined, but a little experimenting proved that, with a plain grenadine or batiste, the same effect could be made with a sateen foundation, and this would certainly be much less expensive than a silk one.

A WALKING GOWN.

A novelty in these linens is a very pale creponated weave called "frou-frou."

A frou-frou linen gown made up on pink silk had for foundation the most vivid watermelon pink ever seen, but it only lent a rosy, becoming glow to the neutral linen. Bands of a thick white Russian lace run through the narrow black velvet ornamented the bodice, the velvet tying at the shoulders and at the bottoms of the puff sleeves in a great chrysanthemum rosette.

Her Natural Fascination.

One cannot help admiring the average Italian woman. She always looks chic and well-dressed, and yet an American woman would think it absolutely impossible to be even respectable on the sum that she has to expend. The material of her gowns is often poor, but they always fit, and there is a certain dignified look about them which is most fascinating.

Authoress and Farmer.

Miss Kate Sanborn, reared in the intellectual atmosphere of her father's home, her young womanhood spent in teaching in a girls' college and in writing books, is a New England farmer and a successful one, too. Her health broke down in the midst of her literary efforts, and instead of resigning herself to fate she gave up her pen and bought a farm near Boston. "Breezy Meadows" it is called, says a writer in the Philadelphia Press, and it has not only restored her to health, but is a model of its kind if it does not produce the largest crops and the biggest apples.

At first Miss Sanborn was not sure enough of her own powers to dispense with a man manager, but she is now, with the help of an experienced woman, "running things" herself, and she reports a great saving in money, time, patience and Christian charity, the latter commodity being heavily drawn upon under the male regime.

There is a certain air about her farm that impresses the visitor with the idea of unconventionality. It is not definable. One looks around and wonders what marks the difference.

With an energy born of sunshine and fresh air, she travels over the place, giving orders here, suggesting something there, the spirit of kind watchfulness permeating everywhere. Friends come in droves and are entertained royally.

How to Prepare Chocolate.

When William E. Evarts occupied a seat in the United States Senate and a fine house, with his family in Washington, the chocolate at their afternoon receptions became famous, says the Detroit Free Press. The receipt for it was as follows: One quart milk, one cake chocolate, essence of vanilla. Grate the chocolate very fine, mix with a teacupful of hot water and rub smooth. Let the milk come to a boil, put in the chocolate and boil about five minutes, or until of desired thickness. After removing it from the fire season with the essence of vanilla, according to taste. Boil in a farina kettle. The chocolate should then be poured into dainty cups while still in the kitchen and served quickly and steaming hot.

Fill the cups two-thirds full with the delicious brown mixture and add thick beaten cream. This addition constitutes the making of the famous Vienna chocolate introduced at the Centennial. If only one square of chocolate is required, draw a line across the two squares at the end, dividing them in half. With a sharp knife shave off the chocolate until you come to the line, which saves waste of time and material.

In the Cook's Domain

The French term risgole used in cooking means a rich mince of meat or fish rolled in thin pastry and fried.

When a heavy fish like salmon or trout is part of the dinner, be careful to see that the soup is light.

To test coffee put a spoonful gently on the top of a glass of water. If the coffee is pure it will not sink for some minutes and will scarcely color the water, but if chicory is mixed with it it will sink to the bottom at once, rapidly absorbing the water and also giving the water a dark reddish tinge.

Here is a good way to use up stale pieces of cake: Cut the cake in slices and arrange in the bottom of a glass dish. Moisten the pieces well with sherry, and then cover them with custard. This will be found a very good dessert.

In making soup stock be particular to cool the stock rapidly. If it be allowed to cool partially on the range before it is strained it will not keep well. The more quickly it is cooled after the straining the better it is.

Boudoir Chit-Chat.

When cotton thread was first made 840 yards of it weighed one pound. This was called No. 1, and if a pound contained just twice this number of yards the thread was designated as No. 2. This was the origin of the numbering of thread.

After dinner is said to be the best time to ask a man for money, and yet a woman will ordinarily prepare her claims in the morning, when the husband is in his most unamiable mood, and she herself very likely has her hair in curl papers.

It is always a great mistake to affect youth when one is no longer young, but there is no more mistaken way of doing it, think some, than by frizzing the hair. Frizzes seem to accentuate all the marks of time in a woman's face, while soft, straight, glossy hair, artistically arranged, has exactly the opposite effect.

Between Ourselves.

The dignity that refuses an insult will not be offered one.

Good breeding is the inborn courtesy that makes all feel at ease; etiquette is the handmaiden that is always asking questions.

Don't proffer sympathy with a gloved hand.

Submit when your fate is in the hands of a tyrant, or you'll sign your own death warrant.

Those who repeat a "hearsay" lengthen its wings.

'Tis better to have cherished one hope that was lost than to distrust all that are offered us.

We should first ask our own conscience for a pardon before we seek it from another.

Crepon Not In It.

Crepon does not seem to be on deck at the showing of spring dry goods, and nobody exactly knows the reason, for crepon is light, delightful wear, not too durable, and we had hardly begun to tire of it yet. Perhaps it may come yet—later on—to meet the demand,

"And age is a time of peace So it be free from pain."

Old Age AND ITS Infirmities.

The descent of the hill of life should be gradual and easy. The decline of life should be free from care and sickness and pain. So it would be in the great majority of cases were the prime of life lived according to Nature's rules. But in the struggle for wealth and fame, swimming against the strong tide of competition, health is neglected. We live too fast, work too hard, drink too much, sleep too little, keep our nerves on the jump all the time.

Then the Kidneys give out. They can't stand the terrible strain to which they are being subjected.

As a result the blood is not properly filtered. It passes through the system unpurified, and carries disease to every organ of the body.

That terrible affliction of old age, Rheumatism, seizes on the joints and makes life unendurable with suffering.

Muscular weakness, tiredness, depression, irregular heart action, and shortness of breath follow in its train.

Perhaps there is suppression of urine, frequently it scalds, and often there are brick red deposits in it.

The remaining years of life instead of being peaceful, happy and free from pain, are one continuous round of suffering.

Is there no help or hope this side the grave?

A thousand times YES.

Doan's Kidney Pills are the great remedy for all those ailments that arise through diseased or disordered kidneys.

They're the old people's friend. They relieve their sufferings, cure their diseases, and infuse new health and hope and happiness into their life.

AN AWFUL WRECK.

Two Freight Trains on the New York Central Collide With Appalling Loss of Life and Property.

Rochester, Feb. 12.—A freight wreck occurred at 12.30 o'clock this morning about four miles east of Fairport on the New York Central. An eastbound freight, running at a speed of 25 miles an hour, when opposite Macedon, Swamp, collided with a westbound freight. The eastbound train ran on track four, from Rochester to Fairport, as it should, but at Fairport it went on track three, owing to an open switch, which was undiscovered until too late. Six carloads of stock were scattered over the four tracks, and one car load of horses was turned loose. The 16 horses ran over to the West Shore tracks, where a number were killed by a passing train. Both engines are totally ruined and lie under the wrecked cars and debris. All four of the Central tracks are blocked, and trains are running around the scene on the West Shore tracks from Palmyra to Fairport. A Rochester wrecking train with several surgeons was at the scene at 3.30 o'clock, and went to work at once to take out the dead and injured from the wreck.

Fred Hisfad, Rochester, fireman, Thomas Welch, South Greece, engineer, Charles Wood, Dewitt, fireman, were killed and buried in the wreck, while three other train hands were badly injured.

EDISON STILL PLUGGING AWAY.

He is Not Yet in a Position to Photograph a Human Brain.

Orange, N.J., Feb. 12.—Although Mr. Thomas Edison is not ready to make a photograph of the human brain by means of vacuum tubes, nevertheless he has continued to pursue his experiments with the new force in many directions at his laboratory here. To-day he tested the distance of penetration of the rays through a funnel eight feet long. The result was not satisfactory after 40 minutes' exposure, but he says that he will make another attempt at a greater exposure in the near future. Mr. Edison has discovered the interesting fact that aluminum electrodes, after being in use a short time, become hardened or tempered so when at first they are so soft that they can easily be bent, after a few hours they become so hard that it is impossible to bend them, even with great force. Mr. Edison thinks that the hardening is caused by some parts of the material becoming separated from the aluminum, and are projected into the spaces in the glass. He discovery may mean that aluminum is not a simple but a chemical compound.

Members of the Royal Academy.

London, Feb. 12.—Edwin Austin Abbey, the American artist who removed to England in 1878, and J. Solomon Solomon, the English painter, have been elected associates of the Royal Academy, and Adolph Friederich Erdmann Menzel, the German historical painter, and Paul Dubois, the French sculptor, honorary academicians.

MR. HAYS AND HIS KEEN EYE.

The General Manager Now Touring the Chicago and Grand Trunk.

Windsor, Feb. 12.—General Manager Hays and the Chicago & Grand Trunk officials left Chicago this morning for an inspection of the affiliated lines of the Grand Trunk west of the tunnel. They will not reach Detroit until to-morrow or the day following. John W. Loud, the newly-appointed general freight agent of the Grand Trunk, will return to Montreal with Mr. Hays.

Maltine With Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites—A Palatable, Nourishing Body-Builder.

Consumption—that dread disease—too often arises from neglect. Colds not serious in themselves, by depressing the vital forces play an important part in provoking conditions that render lung disintergration almost certain. To obviate this deplorable sequence of neglected colds the body should be fortified, strengthened, nourished, and this may with certainity be accomplished by the use of Maltine with Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites. Its mode of action is plain—the oil rendered palatable and of easy digestion, does not irritate the stomach and unfit it for the digestion of food; but this preparation serves a much higher purpose than this, for by its action on starchy foods it affords for the replacement of the waste of the body an abundance of fresh strong blood. The patient gains weight, irritation of the bronchial tubes disappears, sleep is restored and the general improvement is immediate and permanent.

Milburn's Cod Liver Oil Emulsion with Wild Cherry and Hypophosphites of Lime and Soda, and pure Norwegian Cod Liver Oil in perfectly palatable form. It is the best for coughs, colds and all lung troubles. Price 50c and $1 per bottle.

A Sensational PULL-DOWN IN THE PRICE OF PANTS!

Here's a bit of good fortune unequalled in the Clothing trade. We just struck it in time. Our Pantry was getting low down. We had almost cleaned out of Trousers when the opportunity came along.

Thanks to our good fortune, we received advice from one of the largest Manufacturers of Clothing in Montreal, McKenna, Thompson & Co, informing us that they had a snap in Pants to offer Gough Bros. We went, we saw, we conquered. Our bid took the entire stock on hand at a phenomenally low uniform figure.

By rail we have received the full consignment—containing eight large cases, consisting of

1125 PAIRS OF PANTS

For Men and Young Men, which we can actually afford to sell at

ONE-HALF PRICE

The assortment is complete embracing well-known popular selling patterns in All Wool Material made up in leading styles of the tailors' art, and in a complete range of sizes—enabling us to suit men of all dimensions, tastes and purses. Here you have the figures that back up our statements:—

$4.00 Pants for $2.00.
$3.00 Pants for $1.50.
$1.50 Pants for 75c.

Two pairs of Pants for the price of one—cheap enough surely to buy two or three pairs at a time, and lay aside for future use. All those in favour of the same will please signify in the usual manner.

Can't sell them at less than half price. Kindly remember this fact and oblige. We're not going to go back on our words.

Dealers, please don't come—you're not invited.

SECOND CROP OF BARGAINS.

We start the Bargain Ball rolling for February in dead earnest. As there is a good deal of winter yet before us, it is unnecessary to point out the wisdom of buying now.

Our Stock-Taking is over—now for a month of lucky chances and snaps in mid-winter goods. An aftermath of Bargains for shrewd buyers—lines which we laid out during stock taking such as Serges, Cheviots, Heavy Tweeds and other Remnants, to be sold even at HALF REGULAR PRICES.

We don't want to carry winter lines past their regular selling season, so you may figure on getting pretty nearly your own way in prices.

You need the goods—we need the room they occupy—so there is mutual benefit all round in the selling of them.

Our New Spring Stock is wheeling into line, and we are glad to tell our lady friends that part of our programme for Spring is a NEW MILLINERY DEPARTMENT, of which we will tell you more in good time.

We don't "rest-up" during the winter months and take things easy until Spring. Business is full of worn-out, tired-out men who live almost wholly in the past and struggle for the success that never comes. And because of that they find fault with the times. While others are resting we're simply HUSTLING.

MISS RUDKINS

OUR AFFECTION FOR HER MAJESTY

Expressed by Both Sides in the Provincial Legislature Sir Oliver Moved and Mr. Marter Seconded the Resolution to the Queen—Many Reports Down

The Legislature sat for little over half an hour yesterday afternoon, and devoted most of the time to protestations of loyalty to the Mother Country and expressions of sympathy with the Queen and Princess Beatrice in their bereavement over the death of Prince Henry of Battenberg. The unusual spectacle was witnessed by a resolution being moved by the Attorney-General, seconded by the leader of the Opposition, and carried by a standing vote of the whole House.

Sir Oliver Mowat moved, seconded by Mr. Marter, that an address be presented to Her Majesty in the following words:

To the Queen's Most Excellent Majesty: Most Gracious Sovereign,—We, Your Majesty's dutiful and loyal subjects, the Legislative Assembly of the Province of Ontario, in Parliament assembled, desire, in view of recent events in relation to the territorial rights of Great Britain in South America and elsewhere, to assure Your Majesty of the unalterable loyalty and devotion of the people of Ontario to Your Majesty's person and Crown, and to the Empire over which Your Majesty presides, and that in case of any trouble affecting the interests of the Empire, no sacrifice which the circumstances might demand would be considered too great for the people of this province, should they be called upon to repel invasion, or to defend the integrity of the British Empire.

Speaking to his motion, Sir Oliver said that the circumstance that in case of war Ontario would be one of the first battle grounds made it fitting that the earliest opportunity should be taken to put on record the feelings of the country. We are all British subjects, said Sir Oliver; we are proud of the nation to which we belong. It has long been in the van of progress, and we are not willing to cut off from it. The rumor of war, Sir Oliver went on, had the effect of stirring up the loyalty of the country, and of making the people realize they had a country worth fighting for. The people of Canada, he said, were alive to the consequence of war; but they were prepared to stand by British connection to the last.

Sir Oliver's speech was applauded by both sides of the House.

Mr. Marter, in seconding the motion, repeated that the people of Ontario were prepared to stand by British connection let the consequences be what they may. The people of Ontario, he said, were all loyal; if there were any who entertained other sentiments the sooner they left this country the better for the country. He paid a loyal tribute to Her Majesty, describing her as a noble example of womanhood. She had discharged her duties with an eye single to the good of the subjects over whom she ruled. During the long period of her occupation of the throne, not one act of hers could be pointed to that could cause her to forfeit the respect of her people. He went on to point out the advantages enjoyed by Canadians through their connection with Great Britain, and asked why, under the circumstances, Canadians should not be loyal.

The resolution was carried by a standing vote of the whole House, Mr. Thomas S. Hobbs of London leading in singing the National Anthem.

Sir Oliver Mowat then moved, seconded by Mr. Marter, the following address to Her Majesty:

"To the Queen's Most Excellent Majesty: Most Gracious Sovereign.—We, Your Majesty's dutiful and loyal subjects, the Legislative Assembly of the Province of Ontario, in Parliament assembled, humbly approach Your Majesty with renewed assurances of our attachment to Your Majesty's person and Crown. The bereavement of Your Majesty and the Princess Beatrice by the death of Prince Henry of Battenberg, has caused profound sorrow to your loyal subjects in this province, and we humbly tender to Your Majesty and Her Royal Highness our sincere and heartfelt sympathy. We pray that the God of consolation may comfort Your Majesty and long preserve you to your people."

The resolution was adopted without discussion.

A select committee was appointed to strike standing committees, and also a committee to assist Mr. Speaker in the care of the Library. These committees are the same as last session, except that in the case of the former the name of Mr. Chapple is substituted for that of Mr. Awrey.

Mr. Dryden gave notice of a bill to Amend the Agriculture and Arts Society's Act. It will be read a second time on Tuesday.

Mr. Chapple gave notice of a bill to amend the Municipal Act.

Mr. Howland gave notice of a bill to amend the Revised Statutes of Ontario, chap. 134.

Mr. Cavan gave notice of the following resolution for Monday:

"That in the opinion of this House all county officials, paid by the county, except County Judges, should be elected by a direct vote of the municipal electors; the existing system of Government inspection being continued; and office be held during efficiency and good behavior; and that where incompetency or irregularity occur in any office, the inspector shall lay his complaint before a non-partisan tribunal, to be specified by an Act of this House, who shall have power to act."

Among the petitions presented was one from the United Counties of Northumberland and Durham, praying that measures be enacted to compel all societies and organizations that import pauper children to re-take and support all under the age of 18 years who prove to be incapable, worthless or criminal, and to reimburse the municipalities for any expense they may have gone to for such classes.

Mr. Pardoe presented a petition from the Board of Trade of Chatham, praying for the abolition of all exemptions from taxation, except in the case of cemeteries.

Two Single Tax petitions were presented, and two asking that municipalities be relieved of the cost of poling booths.

Hon. Mr. Gibson laid on the table a large pile of reports. The report of the working of the Tavern and Shop Licenses Acts for the year 1895 shows that the total number of licenses of all sorts issued in the year 1894-5 was 3205, a decrease from the previous year of 112. The provincial revenue derived from these licenses was $277,478.99, a falling off of $12,342.08 from the previous year. The commitments for drunkenness for 1895, as compared with 1894, show a decrease of 37.

The report of the Inspector of Houses of Refuge, Orphan Homes and Magdalen Asylums shows that in the 33 institutions reported on the total number of inmates during the year was 4484, as against 3639 in the previous year.

The report on the Belleville Institute for the education of deaf mutes shows the total number of pupils last year to have been 275, and the cost per pupil $171, a decrease of $5. The report urges the erection of an additional building and the extension of the time of attendance to 10 years.

The report on the Brantford Institution for the blind shows the total number enrolled during the year to have been 150, the same as the previous year. The cost per pupil was $260.70 for the year, $10 less than the previous year.

The report of the Committee on Finance of Toronto University shows a total estimated revenue for 1895-6 of $120,452.18, the chief items being $43,000 for University and College fees, $31,194.76 interest on loans, $15,506.70 interest on debentures, $8909.44 rents for University Park, $5000 payment from Toronto. The receipts for 1894-5 were $119,893.64. The estimated expenditure is $4313.13 in excess of the estimated revenue. The report of the Principal of Upper Canada College gives the present number of pupils at 175.

The report upon the lunatic and idiot asylums shows that the admissions for the past year were 968, which is in excess of the number in any previous year in the history of the province. The average daily number of patients in residence has also increased from 3809 in 1894 to 3995, an increase of 186. Of the total number of admissions, 516 were between the ages of 65 and 95, and most of these were in such a state of senile decay as to preclude the hope of any special benefit from the treatment for mental ailments. In reference to the present difficulty regarding the admission to asylums of unsuitable patients, the Inspector reports that if it were made obligatory upon the municipalities to pay a certain proportion of the maintenance of all the certified insane, but left optional with each county to provide suitable accommodation for them in the several localities, the difficulty would disappear. The annual cost per patient in all the institutions was $142.65, as compared with $127.22 the previous year. The increase is accounted for by the extraordinary outlay required to equip the Brockville institution.

The House rose at 3.15

At a caucus of the Patron members, held yesterday morning, Alex. Maclaren of East Hastings, was elected secretary; and Arch. Currie of West Simcoe, whip for the session, Messrs. Haycock, McPherson, Maclaren, Cavan, McNichol, Currie and Kidd were appointed a committee to prepare bills along the lines of the Patron measures of last session, for presentation before the next caucus.

The bill which Mr. Stratton will introduce regarding town councils will provide for the reduction of members by one-third, one-half the members to be elected from the entire town or city for two years, and the other half from the wards for one year.

The deputation from the Provincial Constables' Association, which was to have waited upon the Government yesterday, was storm-bound. The interview is now fixed for this afternoon after the House rises.

Hon. Mr. Dryden promised to consider the plea of the Sheep Breeders' Association, a deputation from which waited upon the Government yesterday, asking for an increased grant this year.

The following gentlemen, representing the Dominion Cattle Breeders' Association, waited upon the Government asking a grant of $1500 towards defraying the expenses of their winter show: Arthur Johnston, Greenwood; Robert Miller, Brougham; Wm. Linton, Aurora; James Russell, Richmond Hill; John Isaac, Markham, Mr. Biggins, Clinton; James Tolton, Walkerton; Mr. Jeffs, Bondhead; Mr. Petitt, Burlington; George Green, Fairview; John I. Hobson, Delaware; Capt. Robson, Ilderton; Mr. Christian, B.S.A., Guelph; Prof. C. S. Zavitz, O.A.C., Guelph; Capt. Rolph, Markham; F. W. Hudson, Guelph.

THE YOUNG LIBERALS

Banquet in Toronto Was a Big Success in Every Way.

MESSRS. TARTE AND DAVIES SPEAK

Both Were Greeted With the Greatest Enthusiasm by the Prominent Assembly—Mr. Tarte says His Tory Sins Have Been Forgiven—The Feeling in Quebec.

Toronto, Feb. 14.—The Toronto Young Men's Liberal Club has a knack of scoring successes, and at its annual banquet last night at the Rossin House the club adhered to its well-established rule. To share the hospitality of the sturdy young defenders of the cause of Liberalism, there came down from the thick of the fight at Ottawa two such Liberal chieftains as Hon. L. H. Davies and Mr. J. Israel Tarte, while the Local Government was represented by Hon. A. S. Hardy, Commissioner of Crown Lands. Sister clubs were represented in numbers, which showed how widely has spread the disposition of the young men of the country to organize to ensure the triumph of Liberal principles, and throughout the entire evening there was evident the ringing note of an assured triumph in the not distant future. The note of struggle culminating in triumph was especially clear in the splendid speech in which Mr. Davies outlined the policy of the Liberal party and predicted its speedy triumph, and it took a practical form when Mr. Tarte, who met with a peculiarly hearty reception, pledged himself that Quebec will give Mr. Laurier a majority of 20 seats. Hon. Mr. Hardy bore his part in the expressions of loyalty to and enthusiasm for Mr. Laurier, and he evoked loud cheers by his sturdy declaration of the country's attachment to the Empire. Harmony and enthusiasm, the prestige of a coming victory, were the characteristics of the gathering.

Over the entrance and at either end of the banquetting hall were Union Jacks, surrounded by the Royal Arms. Over the head of the chairman and betwen the Union Jacks was a picture of Hon. Wilfrid Laurier wreathed with evergreens. The tables were arranged in the shape of a horse-shoe, with one long table down the centre of the hall. At the corner end of the hall an orchestra discoursed music while the viands were enjoyed. The tables were also profusely decorated with flowers.

President Wm. J. Elliott officiated as chairman, and to his right sat Hon. L. H. Davies, M.P. for Queen's, P.E.I.; Mr. J. I. Tarte, M.P.; Mr. J. S. Willison and Mr. Hugh Guthrie, Guelph, vice-president Ontario Liberal Federation. To the left were Hon. A. S. Hardy, J. K. Kerr, Q.C., and Dr. Macdonald, Orillia. Other guests were Rev. Dr. Dewart, A. F. Pirie, Dundas; A. W. Fraser, Ottawa; President Murphy of the Ottawa Liberal Club; R. Armstrong, Toronto Young Conservatives; Neil McCrimmon, Toronto; J. A. Macintosh, Toronto; Joseph Tait, William Findlay, Hamilton; F. J. Gillespie, Uptergrove; President J. A. Mundle, Prescott Young Liberals; President Gross, Welland; President C. L. Dunbar, Guelph Young Liberals; Stewart Lyon, President Ontario Liberal Federation; Frank Pedley, ex-president Toronto Young Liberals; Alex. Smith, secretary Ontario Liberal Association; Ald. Spence, Toronto; R. U. McPherson, Toronto; Byron Nicholson, ex-president Barrie Y.M.L.A.; J. A. Ewan, Toronto, and others.

There was a large turnout of members of the Local House, those present being: Messrs. W. J. McKee, North Essex; T. S. Hobbs, London; John Dickenson, South Wentworth; Dr. D. Burt, North Brant; George A. Dana, Brookville; James Conmee, East Algoma; Robert Ferguson, East Kent; T. L. Pardo, West Kent; Donald McNish, West Elgin; W.H. Taylor, North Middlesex; E. J. Davis, North York; James Cleland, North Grey.

It was shortly before 10 o'clock when President Elliot rose to usher in the speaking part of the program. When the applause which greeted him had died away, Mr. Elliott explained that Hon. Mr. Hardy, who had not been able to be present during the earlier part if the evening, would soon be with them. In addition to that eminent gentleman, they had with them two of the leading warriors of the Liberal party of the country. Down by the sea was the beautiful Province of Prince Edward Island, a province which had, in addition to its many other achievements, produced such a man as their guest, Hon. L. H. Davies. (Cheers.) Further up the majestic St. Lawrence was Quebec, a province which, peopled by the children of sunny France, had produced so noble a man as their leader, Mr. Laurier—(loud cheers)—and his first lieutenant, their guest, Mr. J. Israel Tarte. (Cheers.) Than him no man had been more maligned by the Conservative press, but he might take consolation in the fact that most clubs were found under the best apple tree. Without further remarks, he would call on them to rise and drink the toast of "The Queen," which was received in heartiest manner.

Mr. S. E. Bruce then proposed the toast of the Queen, which was loyally honored.

The toast of "The Liberal party and its leaders" was next proposed by Mr. H. M. Mowat in a neat speech. The speaker then referred to Hon. L. H. Davies, a gentleman from the Maritime Provinces who was at all times ready to give his counsel to the leader Mr. Laurier. (Applause.) Then further up in Quebec they were glad to greet a gentleman who had contributed not a little to Liberal successes in the past. This reference to Mr. J. L. Tarte was received with applause, which was long continued when Mr. Mowat welcomed Hon. A. S. Hardy.

The toast of the Liberal leaders was then drunk, the gathering afterwards singing "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow."

Hon. L. H. Davies was the first to PROTECT THE CHILDREN.

The necessity of protecting children of tender years from the harshness and cruelty of their natural, yet unatural protectors, is daily evidenced by cases of abuse neglect and cruelty. A rather exaggerated case is reported from Ottawa. A despatch to the Mail says:

The trial of Mrs. Bell before Police Magistrate O'Hara for cruelty to her 10-year-old granddaughter, Oneita Short, today developed a case of shocking brutality, if the evidence of the child given today is to be believed. The child's story is that she was kept in a cold garret for four hours with nothing on her but a wet dress that her tongue was tied so tightly and for so long a time that it was swollen so much she could not shut her mouth, that she and her brother were hung up by their wrists, that she was given soda biscuts soaked in turpentine to eat, and also forced to consume filth, and generally subjected to cruel treatment. The grandmother was remanded for eight days without bail.

The two leading Conservative journals of Ontario, the Toronto World and the Hamilton Spectator, both denounce the Remedial Bill as coercive in character and a large section of the government supporters in parliament seem to share their opinion.

The Herald of Glasgow says it learns that Mr. Gladstone is greatly inclined to stand again for Parliament at the first available opportunity, in order to support the Armenians. The Herald adds that Mr. Gladstone does not conceal his conviction that both political parties in Great Britain have betrayed Armenia.

Mr. Haycock, Patron leader in the Ontario Legislature, hasn't a very high opinion of the prosperity enjoyed by the farmers under the much-vaunted "National Policy." In his speech during the debate on the address in the Ontario Legislature, he stated that during the past ten years the mortgage indebtedness of farm property had increased 40 per cent., and that farm lands had depreciated $67,500,000 in value. Thus it seems that this great policy that was to make every man rich, flood the country with population, provide a home market, and stud every hamlet with tall chimneys, has not been able to raise a mortgage any more than to raise the price of grain. The N. P. and Sir Charles Tupper are neck-and neck in the race for the champion record of broken promises, and it's a toss-up as to which is the most costly. They both come high, and in this respect keep company with the taxes and our rapidly rising public debt.

Mr. Marter blames the Government for referring in the Speech from the Throne to the reduction in the number of County Council representatives on the ground that there had been no demand from the parties interested for legislation in this direction. It's hard pleasing an opposition that has nothing substantial to oppose. Mr. Marter and his followers have blamed the Mowat Government for consulting public opinion in regard to certain questions and now they are blamed for taking a different course. But one cannot be surprised at such inconsistency—it is forced upon them by the circumstances. A Government whose record for honest and capable administration affords no chance for legitimate fault-finding, must expect to be assailed with whimsical and puerile criticism. An opposition must have something to oppose, and when there is nothing, the old proverb—ex nihilo nil fit—must be reversed and something created for the occasion.

Maltine With Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites—A Palatable, Nourishing Body-Builder.

Consumption—that dread disease—too often arises from neglect. Colds not serious in themselves, by depressing the vital forces play an important part in provoking conditions that render lung disintergration almost certain. To obviate this deplorable sequence of neglected colds the body should be fortified, strengthened, nourished, and this may with certainity be accomplished by the use of Maltine with Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites. Its mode of action is plain—the oil rendered palatable and of easy digestion, does not irritate the stomach and unfit it for the digestion of food; but this preparation serves a much higher purpose than this, for by its action on starchy foods it affords for the replacement of the waste of the body an abundance of fresh strong blood. The patient gains weight, irritation of the bronchial tubes disappears, sleep is restored and the general improvement is immediate and permanent.

THE IMPERIAL HOUSE

Sir William Harcourt After John Redmond

FOR ATTACKING THE HOME RULERS

Mr. A. J. Balfour's Opinion as to When the Dissensions Between the Two Nations Can be Removed—Mr. Healy Admits His Disloyalty to England.

London, Feb. 13.—In the House of Commons to-day the Right Hon. Joseph Chamberlain, Secretary of State for the Colonies, said, in a reply to a question put by Sir Ellis Ashmead-Bartlett, that only three of the Uitlanders arrested in Johannesburg and taken to Pretoria, were now in jail at the latter place, and it was his belief that if any of them were or should fall ill they would be released in a manner similar to that in which John Hays Hammond, the American mining engineer, was set at liberty. In view of the fact, however, that the inquiry into the cases of the men arrested had been adjourned without date, he was considering whether it would not be proper to suggest to the Transvaal Government that they be released on bail.

Mr. George N. Curzon, Parliamentary Secretary for Foreign Affairs, made a statement in regard to the small island of Trinidad, occupation of which is now a subject of dispute between Great Britain and Brazil. It was occupied by Great Britain, he he said, in 1781, and evacuated the following year. Subsequently Great Britain reoccupied the island, after communications on the subject had passed between England and Portugal. The Government, Mr. Curzon said, had proposed to submit the dispute with Brazil over the occupation of the island to arbitation. Mr. Curzon, continuing, said that the island of Trinidad had not been ceded to Brazil when it was abanoned by Great Britain, but to Portugal. Brazil had not at that time an independent existence. The re-occupation of the island by England was not based upon the ground of her previous occupation, but because, having been abandoned for a century, the island belonged to nobody.

The debate on the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne was resumed, the subject being the amendment offered by John Dillon, member for East Mayo, declaring that the absence of a bill providing for the self-government of Ireland had aroused discontent among the Irish and increased the difficulties existing in foreign affairs.

Sir William Harcourt, leader of the Opposition, said it was the belief of the Opposition that the discontent prevailing in Ireland would not be extinguished until the demand of the Irish for local self-government was satisfied. They would never cure the disorders of many centuries unless they went to the root of the evil. The Government had said that they would never grant Home Rule. "Never," was a word which, in the Liberal interpretation was an unwise word, especially in the mouth of the office of Chief Secretary for Ireland, and he would advise the Chief Secretary to modify the expression to "hardly ever." The future of Home Rule, he said, depended much upon the course pursued by the Irish members. Home Rule certainly did not get a great deal of encouragement from Mr. John Redmond, whose policy, Sir William said, appeared to be to attack Home Rulers wherever he found them. (Cries of hear, hear.) Sir William, continuing, said that nothing had occurred to alter the Home Rule policy of the Opposition and they continued to adhere thereto as they had repeatedly declared. (Irish cheers.)

Mr. A. J. Balfour said he believed that when the Irish at home and abroad realized that Parliament was sincerely and earnestly desirous of giving to Ireland a full and generous measure of justice, a change of opinion would occur, removing at once and for all time the dissensions between the two nations.

Mr. T. M. Healey, anti-Parnellite, admitted his disloyalty to England. He had been sent to this Parliament to secure the establishment of a native Irish Parliament and his endeavor, therefore, would be to harass, attack and thwart in every way the policy of those who refused to grant Ireland Home Rule.

THEY BRING GOOD MONEY.

The Shipment of Canadian Horses to England is a Success.

Montreal, Feb. 13.—Mr. W. W. Craig received a cable to-day stating that Maughan & Co. had sold over 90 Canadian horses, ex the Manitoban and Borderer. The prices ranged from £23 to £27 12s. These horses were from the vicinity of Owen Sound, Ingersoll and Orangeville, Ont. Mr. Craig has also shipped 40 more by the British Queen, while the same ship, with the Borderer, will take over 51 horses bought by Mr. Sheridan in York and Scarboro.

A BELLEVILLE MAN'S BREAK.

In Jail at Hamilton for Attempting to Hold Up a Citizen

Hamilton, Feb. 14.—James Thompson, a Belleville man, who arrived in the city yesterday, was arrested to-night for threatening to shoot H. M. Arthur of York-street. Thompson accosted Arthur, who is an old man, asking him for money, and when the latter refused, he drew his revolver and pulled the trigger three times, but it did not go off. The weapon contained one cartridge.

VERY PLAIN WORDS.

The Claim of a Great Treatment — "For Kidney Disease Only."

Ninety Per Cent. of All Sickness Due to Faulty Kidney Work—If Uncertain as to an Ailment—Use Dodd's Kidney Pills.

The truth in a few words is always easily understood.

The natural, the most effective kidney treatment ever known is Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"For kidney disease only" is very plain and to the point. This has been our motto from the first line ever printed concerning Dodd's Kidney Pills.

But where do kidney diseases begin on the list?

What proportion of the diseases that kill adult persons are really kidney diseases?

One of the most eminent and well-known doctors in the world answers this question and says: "Ninety per cent. of all serious disease arise from imperfect kidney work."

Then, if this be true, a good way to decide an uncertain ailment would be to take Dodd's Kidney Pills.

For, you see, that nineteen times out of twenty you would be cured while you were deciding what it was that ailed you.

In this way a great many people have been cured and only know their trouble to be kidney disease by being cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

But having decided on kidney treatment, do not make the mistake, so easy now to make, and buy any of the many substitutes or imitations of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

NEW BRUNSWICK LEGISLATURE.

Governor Fraser's Speech From the Throne—St John as a Winter Port.

Fredericton, N.B., Feb. 13.—The Provincial Legislature was opened this afternoon by Governor Fraser with the usual military display. In the speech of the Governor he makes mention of the success attending making St. John the winter port, and it is stated that a measure will be introduced providing for giving assistance to private enterprises for the establishment of cold storage warehouses at different points. M. W. Fowler moved the address in reply to the speech and C. L. Smith seconded.

CUT HER NEW BABY'S THROAT.

Shocking Case of Infanticide Reported From Chatham, N.B.

Chatham, N.B., Feb. 13.—A most shocking case of infanticide was developed here within the last 24 hours. Dr. Benson was called to the house of George B. Fraser to attend Mary Dwyer, a domestic in the house of Mr. Fraser. Mary denied that she had a child. A search revealed a boy baby with its throat cut, concealed under its mother's pillow. Coroner Benson was notified and held an inquest, the jury returning a verdict to the effect that the baby came to its death by its throat being cut by the mother.

BEYOND RECOVERY.

The Boy LaFlamme—His Cure was a Surprise—A few Boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

PAPPINEAUVILLE, Feb. 3 (Special).—The father of the boy LaFlamme is one of the leading merchants here and willing to talk of his son's cure. He says,—"My little boy Arthur, after scarlet fever about a year ago, never recovered and his ailment ran into a kidney trouble. His body was swollen to twice its natural size. The sufferings of the little fellow were very severe and we had all given up hope of him. But three months ago we commenced giving him Dodd's Kidney Pills, and to-day he is romping and playing with the other boys." This as an instance of prompt cure is very remarkable.

Shiloh's Cure, the great Cough and Croup Cure, is in great demand. Pocket size contains twenty-five doses only 25c. Children love it. Sold by John Nugent 389 George Street.

scrofula

Any doctor will tell you that Professor Hare, of Jefferson Medical College, Philadelphia, is one of the highest authorities in the world on the action of drugs. In his last work, speaking of the treatment of scrofula, he says:

"It is hardly necessary to state that cod-liver oil is the best remedy of all. The oil should be given in emulsion, so prepared as to be palatable."

He also says that the hypophosphites should be combined with the oil.

Scott's Emulsion of cod-liver oil, with hypophosphites, is precisely such a preparation.

THE YOUNG LIBERALS.

reply amid rousing cheers. Among other sensible things he said: "You cannot have a party without a leader, and I rejoice to know that the Liberal party in Canada have both, for which they may rejoice. (Applause.) We have a man who will probably lead the party to victory. (Applause.) When he started out a year ago to make a campaign among the people by whom he was so much loved he had a triumphal march. The French people love a hero; they must have a hero, and they find a hero in Wilfrid Laurier. (Loud applause.) He has the chivalrous qualities of the Frenchman and the common sense which characterizes the Englishman. (Renewed applause.) When he left his native province and came up to Ontario it was predicted that the reception would be entirely different. I need not say a word about the reception he got here. From one end of Ontario to the other he went as a king marching to victory."

Referring to the Manitoba school question, Mr. Davies said that in this Dominion of Canada the great question of education belongs to the people of each province. The people of each province know best what policy is best, and when and where Separate schools should be established.

Hon. Mr. Hardy joined heartily in the welcome to the leader from the Maritime Provinces, also Mr. Tarte, and spoke in the highest terms of the great leader of the Liberal party, Hon. Wilfrid Laurier.

The reception accorded to Mr. Tarte could not well have been more enthusiastic than it was. As a compliment to the guest from Quebec, the orchestra played "Le Marseillaise," while the meeting stood up and cheered to the echo. It was several minutes before Mr. Tarte could commence his address, which was listened to with the greatest attention. Mr. Tarte's numerous good hits at his opponents were received with great applause and laughter.

"It is my misfortune," began Mr. Tarte, "to be one of those unheavenly inspired heretics who have unbounded confidence in Mr. Laurier and his policy, even on the Manitoba school question. My misfortune is shared by the vast majority of the people of Quebec, on behalf of whom I beg to offer a message of union and brotherly sympathy. The Conservative party claim to be immensely strengthened by the presence of Sir Charles Tupper. All I can say is that I dare them to dissolve Parliament, and I make the prophecy that out of the 65 seats in Quebec 40 Laurier men will come back to Parliament. (Applause.)

"Our policy has been submitted to the people of Quebec. It is Mr. Laurier's policy and prestige which have carried L'Islet, redeemed Vaudreuil, a Tory hive, and carried Vercheres, in spite of the many 'holy' obstacles thrown in our way. (Laughter.) It was Mr. Laurier's policy which captured Montreal Centre, which has achieved a great triumph in Jacques Cartier, and last, but not least, has carried his banners to victory in Charlevoix. In all of these contests we preached the blessed gospel of peace between all the people of the Dominion. We invited them to free themselves from monopoly and to assert their right to British freedom, and our invitation has been everywhere responded to. We have been powerfully assisted by our brethren from other provinces. Ontario sent her noble veteran statesman, Sir Oliver Mowat. (Cheers.) All love and admire him in Quebec, and his name is a tower of strength down there. Ontario also sent the eloquent member for South Brant, Mr. William Paterson; she sent Mr. W. C. Edwards and Hon. George W. Ross—(cheers)—whose polished eloquence has captivated every one of us. Ontario like wise sent us Jimmie Sutherland and Charlie Hyman—(laughter)—two great boys, I tell you. (Renewed laughter.) We invited the leaders of the Liberal party to take the field with us in Quebec to show that we are a united party and have a broad and liberal-minded leader. The first plank in our platform is loyalty to our Queen, to our constitution and to ourselves. Let us be loyal to ourselves. (Hear, hear.) Let us build in this fair land a great nation. We can do it if we are patriotic, but we cannot build with monopoly and coercion. Went want peace and union between the members of the great Canadian family. We depreciate coercion. (Applause.) As a French-Canadian, I repeat, we depreciate coercion, and I mean every word I say. (Applause.) We hate bigotry and we raise our voices in protest against prejudices. It is by these means, these are the poisoned weapons, by which our opponents hope to subdue public opinion. They stand boldly for coercion; let us stand boldly for liberty. They like coercion so much that they are even trying to force their own Prime Minister out. (Laughter and applause.) They hope to have at their head in a short time Sir Charles Tupper, sr. Why, he is a product of coercion. (Cheers and laughter.) He has been elected by coercion, coercion of the workingmen by a monopoly and by other means, by a document which every broad minded Catholic should express disapproval of.

In referring to the Manitoba school question, Mr. Tarte said: "I find in The Ottawa Citizen that the Government is sure to lose 25 friends on this question, but it is just as sure to get 25 Liberals to make up the loss. If such as Tupper, Bowell and Caron wait for the Liberals to take them out of the hole, they will stay a great while in the hole." (Laughter.)

"I am an old Tory sinner," Mr. Tarte continued, "but my sins have been forgiven, and you may rest assured that I express the sentiments of the enlightened portion of the Province of Quebec. We are not a retrograde people down there. You will find us just as anxious for liberty as you up here. Do not believe those who accuse the Roman Catholic Church of Domination. There may be individuals who make some mistakes. In your own churches you may not always have been pleased with your ministers. It is the same thing with us, but we have behind us the better class of Roman Catholic clergy. They are citizens as you are, and just as good British citizens."

In conclusion Mr. Tarte said: "Believe me that in the coming elections Quebec will give a good account of itself. You have done us the honor of choosing as a leader one of my race."

Mr. J. S. Willison proposed the toast of the Ontario Federation of Liberal Clubs, which was acknowledged by Mr. Stewart Lyon, the able young president.

The evening was most enjoyably spent.

GOSSIP OF THE WORLD.

The French Chamber of Deputies yesterday passed a vote of confidence in the Ministry—326 to 43.

General Ezeta has given up all hope of being able to again instal himself as president of Salvador and will return to San Francisco.

The American liner Paris swung into and sunk the local steamer Her Majesty while docking at Southampton yesterday. No lives were lost.

Monseignior Averear, Bishop of Tarsus, the newly-appointed Apostolic delegate to Mexico, will sail from Rome on Tuesday next for New York, en route for his field of labor.

General Weyler, the new Spanish leader of the forces in Cuba, is disgusted with the manner in which the campaign has been carried on. The Spanish troops were too much scattered.

THE UNITED STATES.

Burglars blew open the safe of the Kennett, Mo., postoffice yesterday and set fire to the building. Loss $40,000.

A bill was introduced in the New York State Legislature yesterday appropriating $700,000 for the improvement of the canals in that State.

ANOTHER REVOLT IN COREA.

The King Orders That His Ministers Shall be Killed.

Yokohama, Feb. 13.—Despatches from Seoul, Corea, say a revolt took place on Feb. 11, during which the Prime Minister and seven other officials were murdered. The King and the Crown Prince were compelled to take refuge in the Russian Legation, where they are now being sheltered. The King had orerded that all of the Corean Ministers be killed. The Russian Legation is being guarded by a force of 200 Russians, sailors and marines.

THEY WANT THEIR OWN CANALS.

The United States Will Work Wholly Within Their Own Territory.

Washington, Feb. 13.—The House Committee on Railways and Canals to-day ordered a favorable report on the bill of Mr. Ohickering of New York directing the Secretary of War to cause to be made accurate surveys and examinations and final estimates of cost of construction of a ship canal by the most practicable route wholly within the territory of the United States from the great lakes to navigable waters of the Hudson River of sufficient capacity to transport tonnage of the lakes to the sea. An appropriation sufficient to enable the survey to be made is authorized.

A BLOW TO THE TARIFF BILL.

The Senate Refused to Consider it as Unfinished Business Yesterday

Washington, Feb. 12.—From the standpoint of the Republicans it was unfortunate that Mr. Morrill pressed his motion this afternoon to take up the tariff bill and make it the unfinished business. Especially was this so in view of the fact that when he made the motion, Mr. Toller, in charge of the military academy appropriation bill, and an ardent silver advocate, appealed to him not to do so to-day. But Mr. Morrill did not refrain and the Senate refused by the decisive vote of 29 to 21 to take up the bill. It still remains on the calendar subject to another such motion when Mr. Morrill, chairman of the committee, may deem it proper to make it. Whether the vote has any special significance or not can not now be known. The result was accomplished through the solid Democratic and Populistic vote, aided by the votes of the four Republican silver Senators—Teller, Mantle, Carter and Dubois

THAT KISS COST HER $10.

Mary Jones Arrested by a Policeman Whom She Kissed Just Once

Buffalo, Feb. 13.—Mary Jones has an expensive hobby. She likes to kiss policemen. She approached Policeman Reed of the Pearl-street station on Oak-street yesterday morning as if she intended to ask him a question. The officer removed his cap and bowed with the grace of a Chesterfield.

The woman threw her arms around his neck, and murmuring that she just loved to kiss policemen, smacked him on the forehead. He arrested her and she was fined $10.

EXPERIMENTING ON CONVICTS.

Dr. Ed a New Cure for Consumption Given to Men in Auburn Prison.

Auburn, N.Y., Feb. 13.—An experiment with aseptolin, a new cure for consumption of Dr. Cyrus Edson of New York City, was made in Auburn prison this afternoon by Drs. Thomas C. Sawyer and S. E. Austin of this city, under the supervision of Prison Physician Conant Sawyer. Fifty minims each were injected into C. H. Johnson, colored, and Arthur Kelly, white, convicts. This will be followed by the administration of the other forms of treatment as laid down by Edson, and the developments will be watched with much interest.

Ivorine For The Teeth

Asks only a trial. Boasting will not whiten teeth; Ivorine for the teeth does. Extravagant claims will not render the breath sweet and fragrant; Ivorine never fails to do this. Ivorine for the teeth asks you for an opportunity to demonstrate its value. Dentists have affirmed it and the public corroborate professional opinion, but do you know, as every tooth loving man or woman ought to know, Ivorine for the teeth is the best.

CARD OF THANKS.

Messrs. Cox & Davis, Peterborough:

GENTLEMEN: I wish to thank you for your promptness in settling the loss on my furniture, which occurred through the upsetting of my coal stove, on Friday night last at 10 o'clock. On being notified next day you were good enough to send over a man to settle the loss in order that I might be able to get the house cleaned up and thereby saved me much inconvenience. From my experience with your office now, it is a source of pleasure for me to feel that my insurance is with you, and I shall not forget to tell my friends.

Yours truly,

Don't touch any other new-fangled "stranded" imitation. "Just as good" is never as good as Butterick's and the Delineator.—A. H. STRATTON & Co., Peterborough Bookstore, sole agent.

Prize and Diploma.

Mr. S. S. Paupiat, head cutter for Grafton & Co., of Dundas, and head of the drafting department, was successful in carrying off the prize and diploma in the highest class for drafting Single and Double Breasted Suits and Overcoats at the recent Cutters' and Foremen Tailors Convention, held at Chicago. Good for Ontario and good for Grafton & Co., whose branch stores reap the benefit of their cutter's skill.

A Despicable Trick.

A man applied the other day for a position on the corporation. He presented an order which entitled him to work. The order read:—"Please give this tarrier a job at shovelling fog off the railway track. Signed, J., G." The seeker was very earnest in his petition for employment, and merely because he is unfortunate enough not to be able to read, he was made an easy dupe of some smart creature more to be pitied than he.—Kingston Whig.]

Belmont.

Mr. Samuel Johnston, of Belmont township, intends to build a two-storey brick cottage on his premises, about two miles and a half north-west of Trent Bridge. The contract has been given to Mr. A. H. McKeel, of Campbellford. We learn also that Mr. George Smith has decided to erect a two-storey frame building on his farm near the "Diamond" homestead, south of the English line. The contract for building this also has been given to Mr. McKeel.

Another Crowded House.

Nature cannot prevent people from attending the Marks Bros.' performances, as last night the attendance had not diminished, although the storm fiend was raging. The audience was delighted with the performance. The play was changed last night, that well-known comedy drama, "The Little Duchess," being presented. Mr. Tom Marks never appeared to better advantage. Mr. W. J. Kellam, in the role of Sir Leslie Gordon, a villain of rank, was exceedingly good. The specialties were of greater variety than before. Mr. Dan Simons appearing in his ever-catching clog dancing. Miss Myra Collins, in her singing, made another hit. The excellence of the performances given ensures a continuation of crowded houses. To-night a society comedy drama, "A Wife's Peril," will be presented.

Cures, absolute, permanent cures have given Hood's Sarsaparilla the largest sales in the world and the first place among medicines.

THE BALL WAS A GREAT SUCCESS.

BEAUTIFUL WOMEN AND WELL-GROOMED MEN.

Several Hundred Guests Participate in the Grand Ball in the Huffman House Last Evening—Superb Decorations Transform the Place into Fairy Land.

The ball given by the "Bachelors and young Benedicts" of Peterborough last night at the Huffman House, was a most brilliant success.

The committee deserve the greatest praise for the excellent manner in which the whole affair was carried out, the tout ensemble being admirable. Sitting rooms and artistic nooks were en evidence up stairs, while the ball and supper rooms were a dream of beauty. The small supper tables were set in the most tasteful manner, the green and softer colouring of the plants and flowers relieving the dazzling brilliancy of the silver and glass.

The supper (by Webb, of Toronto) consisted of everything desirable to tickle the palate of a Lucullus, from "aspics" to "hors d'œuvres."

The effect of the moving throng of exquisitely gowned women and well groomed men to the dreamy strains of Glionna's orchestra, was one long to be remembered by those privileged to witness it.

The ground floor of the new wing was utilized for a ball room and through the aid of cunningly draped flags and tapestried bunting on the walls, the room was transformed into a modern fairyland, to which great effect was lent by the free use of the incandescent lights. The young men instrumental in promoting the affair, laboured most diligently for days in decorating the ball room and arranging the preliminaries. Their reward came in the result which their efforts effected. Peterborough has never before been the scene of so brilliant an assembly of guests. The cloak rooms were on the second floor, as were a number of sitting rooms and the hallways and staircases leading from these apartments to the ball room were all most beautifully draped with bunting, the effect being enlivened with clusters of potted plants and flowers.

The guests were received by Mrs. Hatton, Mrs. Hammond and Mrs. Boucher, who performed their arduous duties in the most charming manner.

THE DRESSES.

The scene was lent an additional brightness by the presence of a number of cavalry and infantry officers in full uniform. The costumes of the ladies were such as to draw special comment from those witnessing the brilliant array. Amongst those noticed were the list appended:

Mrs. Hammond, handsome black lace, with garniture of red roses.

Mrs. Hatton, rich black satin gown with English point lace and diamonds.

Sauerkraut.

While it is generally understood that this appetizing dish is a strong favorite among the Teutonic race, its appreciation is not by any means confined to Germans, any more than porridge is to the Scotch. It will be of interest to all who relish a dish of sauerkraut to know that we keep a supply on hand by the quart or gallon. M. L. Henry & Co., grocers, No. 341 George street.

Calcutt's Dublin Porter.

Men and women are all more or less troubled with dyspepsia. Why? Because they suffer from constipation. This is easily cured if attended to. If neglected it will become chronic. Constipation is the cause of nine-tenths of all our sickness. Nature requires assistance to throw off impurities of the system and regulate the bowels. This is what Calcutt's porter will do. Build up your system by the moderate use of this tonic. It does not derange the system but builds it up and consequently adds to your strength and weight. Sold by all leading grocers, only $1.00 per dozen.

Purified Blood

Saved an operation in the following case. Hood's Sarsaparilla cures when all others fail. It makes pure blood.

"A year ago my father, William Thompson, was taken suddenly ill with inflammation of the bladder. He suffered a great deal and was very low for some time. At last the doctor said he would not get well unless an operation was performed. At this time we read about Hood's Sarsaparilla and decided to try it. Before he used half a bottle his appetite had come back to him, whereas before he could eat but little. When he had taken three bottles of the medicine he was as well as ever." FRANCIS J. HOCKEY.

The Kingston Whig speaks as follows concerning the hockey match here on Wednesday evening: "The Victoria hockey team arrived from Peterborough at nine o'clock this morning. They suffered defeat at the hands of the Peterborough team by a score of 13 to 1. The winning team played a strong combination, were quick at checking and followed up well. The rink on which the match was played is about the size of the Rockwood rink, and during the game the players were bunched together most of the time. The Victorias speak well of the treatment received from the Peterboroug team. Everything possible was done to make the visitors enjoy their stay. After the match the Victorias were tendered a banquet. The Victorias frankly acknowledge the Peterborough team a superior aggregation, but the referee, they say, a Lindsay man, did not know his business. This fact was acknowledged by the winning team. On the up trip the boys had to get out and shovel snow from off the track when within about five miles of Harrowsmith. The train arrived at the latter place about 2 o'clock in the afternoon, about the time it should have left Sharbot Lake on the return trip. Peterborough was not reached until near six o'clock on Wednesday morning."

The semi-final match in the junior series of the Ontario Hockey Association in Berlin last night between the Toronto Granites and Berlin drew a large attendance. The only game of the first half was scored by Berlin, but in the second half the Granites scored 4 to Berlin's 1, and won by 4 to 2, thus going into the finals against Peterborough, as was the case last year.

The Trinity College School Team defeated Millbrock by six goals to one yesterday.

THE BIG STORM.

The Railroads Making a Big Fight to Keep Their Lines Clear.

No serious blockade on this division of either the G. T. R. or C. P. R. has as yet been reported.

As the big storm blew from the east yesterday and is blowing from the west today the C. P. R. is not subject to such inconvenience as the Grand Trunk. The lines of the latter division running north and south are, with difficulty, kept open. Last night the wind veared around to the north for an hour or so and sufficient snow drifted into the C.P.R. cuttings to impede the midnight express on the Canadian Pacific, and it was fifty minutes later when it steamed into the Peterborough depot with engines at each end of the train, which were so covered with snow as to be almost unrecognizable.

The Grand Trunk train over the Midland from Toronto, due here at nine o'clock, was four hours late last night, but the train over the same line this morning was only forty-five minutes late. The Port Hope train last evening was an hour and ten minutes late in arriving here, but this morning ran in on time, as did the train from Belleville.

The freight traffic is almost at a standstill on both lines, as all available locomotives are utilized for snow plough service. The Grand Trunk sidings are in a bad way as the snow has drifted across the majority of them to a depth of six and eight feet. Local shippers have to wait until the storm blows over before making their consignments of freight.

The roads leading into town from the surrounding country are impassable and the market tomorrow will in consequence be small. Mr. George Dies started out this morning to drive to Keene, but before he had gone far he was glad to find a spot suitable to turn around as the road was unbroken only a few miles from town.

A party of commercial travellers, including Mr. T. H. Hamilton, of town, attempted to drive over to Bobcaygeon from Fenelon Falls, a distance of twelve miles. After getting over one-fourth of the distance, shelter had to be applied for at a farm house, where the party remained until morning, when they drove back into Fenelon. Bobcaygeon will be isolated for several days, and the mail will have to be conveyed by means of messengers on snowshoes. This will also be the case in the back country.

DEATH THE RESULT OF AN ACCIDENT.

Mr. John McClennan Passed Away This Morning.

The death of Mr. John McClellan, of Barnardo avenue, occurred this morning. Mr. McClellan, it will be remembered, was engaged in teaming gravel from Stothart's pit to the Trent Valley Canal, when the recent thaw caused the overhanging bank to give way and he was unfortunate enough to receive such internal injuries through being caught in the avalanche of sand and stones as to result in his death. The funeral will take place to-morrow afternoon at half past two, under the auspices of the Orange Order.

THE COLTS VICTORIOUS.

Peterborough's Young Curlers Again Win the Trophy.

The beautiful trophy of the Midland Colts' Association, which was won for Peterborough last year by Skips D. Davidson and G. J. Horkins and their rinks, will remain in Peterborough for yet another year, as these steady young curlers have once more been victorious, and after winning the district series were afterwards successful in defeating Campbellford in the finals by 7 points.

This year rinks were entered from Kingston, Belleville, and Campbellford, comprising district No. 1, with Peterborough, Port Hope and Cobourg in district No. 2.

Campbellford won from Kingston and Belleville at Belleville and Peterborough won from Port Hope and Cobourg at Cobourg.

Last evening Skip Horkins took one rink with him to Campbellford and succeeded in winning by the following score:—

Peterborough.		Campbellford.
C LeBrun,		R Boyes,
G L Hay,		J Dickson,
E Rutherford,		D H Douglas,
G J Horkins, skip...	16	R Lowrie, skip.....	12

The match was a closely contested one, but Campbellford never headed the lead which Peterborough took at the start.

By this morning's train Campbellford's second rink of Colts came up to Peterborough to play Skip D. Davidson, who won from them by the appended score:—

Peterborough.		Campbellford.
W Haines,		W J Thompson,
D J Lynch,		E B Clegg,
T S Tait,		C N Brown,
F J Smith, sk.....	12	D Davidson, sk.....	15

This too was a hard fought battle, but a four ender cleverly captured by neat play put the Peterborough's beyond catching.

As will be noticed the local men won with both rinks, and at the close stood seven up "all around," thus winning the trophy for the second time.

THE CONVENT PUPILS WELCOME THE BISHOP.

AND THE SCHOOL BOYS DO THEIR SHARE.

A Delightful Evening at the Convent—A Scene From Fairy Land—Music and Song and Flowers—The Graceful Tributes of Innocent Hearts—His Lordship's Appreciation—Address Presented by the Murray Street School Boys.

Last night Bishop O'Conner had the most beautiful and graceful evidence of the high place he holds in the hearts of his people, of the many proofs he has received since his return from Rome. While the adults of his flock gave him a most enthusiastic welcome, the one that appealed most strongly to his heart was the exquisitely charming welcome extended His Lordship by the children, "the white doves" of the Convent School.

The spacious music hall was dressed en fete, wreaths and festoons of evergreens, starred with roses, encircling the walls and drooping in graceful curves from the ceiling. A conspicuous greeting, "Welcome home," in large letters, was a mute evidence of the delightful vocal and musical welcome that followed.

But the brightest and fairest adornment of the evening was the white robed galaxy of children that occupied sloping ranges of seats on the eastern side of the hall. Their snowy attire and their bright eyes and fresh faces gleaming a welcome, made the picture an enchanting one and justified his Lordship's reference to them as "white doves."

The auditorium proper was filled with the parents and friends of the little ones, and besides His Lordship there were present Ven Father Casey, Rev. Father Scollard, Mr. D. W. Dumble, Mr. J. Hampden Burnham, Mr. M. H. Quinlan, chairman of the Separate School Board, Mr. Councillor Phelan and Mr. T. Cahill.

As the Bishop accompanied by his priests and guests, entered the room a grand march was performed on two pianos and two violins. The fair violinists were Miss Lottie Bell, of Keene, and Miss Louisa Sullivan, of Ashburnham. To this succeeded a song and chorus "Echoes of Gladness," which was beautifully sung, the following young ladies taking the incidental solos, Miss Annie Simons, Miss Nettie Lewis and Miss Dineen. At the conclusion of the chorus, the soloists presented his Lordship with splendid bouquets of cut flowers.

"The Child's Prayer" was a delightful surprise. Little Josephine Potter recited it in a very charming manner and when at its conclusion she presented a bouquet to the Bishop, she was greeted with most hearty applause.

One of the most pleasing features from an artistic point of view was the violin solos of Miss Ethel Burnham. Her first selection was a most appropriate one, "Absence and Return" and it was given in a very finished and graceful manner. Great sweetness and purity of tone and exquisite expression characterised its performance. Her second number, a pizzicato composition, was played with all the sprightliness and dash the composition demanded. Miss Burnham, though young, is a violinist, not only of excellent performance, but of excellent promise and is one of Herr Klingerfield's best pupils. She has the violin temperament in a high degree and possesses a most sympathetic taste.

A dialogue, "What the Flowers said," was beautifully done. Another shower of bouquets also accompanied this feature of the programme.

Music, "Whispers from Erin," a delightful arrangement of Irish airs for pianos and violins was splendidly given.

Miss Lilly Jackson sang in her usual sweet and finished manner, a solo "There's a spot so fair called home." She gave a beautiful interpretation to the sentiment of the song, which was well supplemented by a grand chorus and accompaniment of violins and piano.

Grace and airy daintiness marked the presentation of "Listowel's Fairies." A dozen little spirits in fairy attire joined in elfin dance that was exquisitely delightful. It is wonderful how the little tots could have been trained to such perfection.

Not less beautiful, in a different manner was the beautiful "Floral Welcome," consisting of a series of intricate evolutions perfectly performed, which concluded with seven little girls bearing the letters, formed from flowers, of the word, "W-E-L C-O M-E," and laying them in order in a semi-circle at his Lordship's feet.

"A Fond Tribute to His Lordship" was given by seven little girls in song, and at its conclusion Miss Lily Simons delivered in a very happy manner a welcome address, concluding it by the presentation of a splendid bouquet. A very fine performance of Irish airs on pianos and violins, followed by a sweet chorus, "Good Night," brought a most successful evening of enjoyment to a close.

The music was of a very high order, both instrumental and vocal, solo and choral, and the good Sisters are entitled to the highest praise for the admirable manner in which all taking part were trained. The songs of welcome seemed to be original and composed for the occasion, and their literary and musical merit, as well as their charming sentiments of loyal devotion to the honoured guest of the evening were very praiseworthy.

REMARKS.

At the conclusion the Bishop, who was literally barricaded with flowers, thanked the children for their presence in spite of the stormy weather. He thanked them most cordially for their graceful welcome, and though he appreciated the hearty welcome he had received from his people, yet he had received the greatest pleasure from the grateful, as well as graceful, greeting of the children. During his absence abroad there were only two scenes that came near the scene of the evening; one was the service at Dublin Cathedral when the sodalities took the communion, and the other was the feeding of the pigeons in St. Mark's Square, Venice, and the beautiful bright children in their white attire were counterparts in purity and innocence of the white doves. Reference was also made to the interest the Holy Father took in educational matters, and if he were present to-night he would see with delight that his (the Bishop's) assurance of the excellent state of education in Peterborough was not exaggerated. Again thanking the children for the most pleasant reception of the series since his return, His Lordship asked the sisters to give the children a holiday, which they are enjoying to-day.

Mr. Dumble thanked the sisters for their kind invitation that enabled him to be present. He had expected pleasure, but nothing like that he had received to-night. Though he was descended from the land of fairies, he had had doubts about their existence, but after to-night's scene he could easily believe there were fairies for he had seen them. The music he had heard was a delightful surprise, and what he had seen showed that the spirit of reverence for their spiritual guides had been inculcated. He took the occasion to congratulate the sisters upon the success their pupils had achieved at the High School entrance examinations, and congratulated the children upon the admirable manner in which they had acquitted themselves.

Mr. Hampden Burnham took pleasure in endorsing the remarks of Mr. Dumble, and it gave him great pleasure to join in the welcome to one, who is not only revered as a bishop but regarded with the greatest respect as a citizen. (Applause.)

Mr. M. H. Quinlan, chairman of the Separate School Board, said that the entertainment of the evening only reflected the care and assiduity the good sisters bestowed upon the culture of the children under their charge. Knowing in his official capacity, of the work of the Sisters, he was not surprised at the results. He congratulated the children and pointed out to the parents that they were living and eloquent evidence that the taxes so willingly contributed for education were well spent.

Mr. T. Cahill congratulated His Lordship on the splendid welcome he had received and endorsed the remarks of Messrs. Dumble and Burnham. He thought the children had excelled themselves. While there was so much talk about remedial legislation he would like to have the members of parliament see the scene of to-night. He thought it would remove—he would not say prejudices, but—misconceptions.

The young lady pianistes who performed during the evening were Misses Pollock, Doherty, Staunton, Doris, Lewis, Doran and Sullivan.

"God Save the Queen" brought a delightful evening to a close.

Warm Welcome of the Boys.

In the morning the pupils of the Murray street Separate School nobly did their share in their series of welcome to the Bishop. On His Lordship and Ven. Archdeacon Casey entering the assembly room, which was appropriately decorated, he was was warmly welcomed by the pupils and the staff and Mr. M. H. Quinlan, chairman, representing the Board, the former singing with great spirit a chorus, "Welcome to our Bishop."

Master Fred McGrath approached His Lordship and read the following address, Master James Mulligan presenting a beautiful bouquet on behalf of the school:

To the Rt. Rev. R. A. O'Connor, D. D., Bishop of Peterborough:

MAY IT PLEASE YOUR LORDSHIP,—We, the boys of your devoted flock at St. Peter's school, beg leave to draw near in reverence to your sacred person on this, the occasion of your first visit to our school since the return of your Lordship from the Holy See, to bid you loving welcome back again, to rejoice that God has spared you to watch over us and bless us and to tender you, as dutiful children, our fullest love, reverence and obedience.

While our beloved Bishop was far from us we were anxious for his safety. We missed the benignity of his presence, we missed the fond solicitude of his watchful care. But we knew that though absent from us in body his large and tender heart was with his boys in far off Canada, and that when communing with the blessed Saviour at the sacred shrines of holy Rome he prayed for us who are (D. V.) to become men of his diocese, that we might be brought to the true perfection of full Christian manhood and be made worthy of the name of Catholics. And though we know but little of the wonderful sights that have greeted your Lordship's gaze in the historic east, and though we have all to learn of the grandeur and blessedness of Catholicy, we desire to hear from the lips of our beloved chief pastor of all these wonderful things and to be obedient to his will and follow his God in a faith, sure that He will guide us aright and fit us for the work of men on earth and for the bliss of Heaven hereafter.

We trust that when you knelt at the throne of Peter to receive the papal benediction you remembered your dear wayward boys in the distant land and besought a blessing upon us and upon our studies, and we now crave that blessing from you, my lord, as the representative of the father of the church on earth.

We beg that the good God may see fit long to spare you to guide and direct, and bless us, and may ever fill our heart with increasing love and veneration for our good bishop, that we may be of use to the world and of a benefit to humanity.

And now we hope we have not been too presumptuous in thus freely addressing your lordship. It is love that prompts us. Be pleased to overlook our boyish failings for the moment and receive this short address in token of our affection and veneration for the chief of our priests.

Signed on behalf of the boys of St. Peter's school.

FRED MCGRATH,
GEO. LYNCH.

Peterborough, Feb. 12th, 1896.

The bishop made reply in his usual happy vein, sketching in an interesting manner scenes of beauty and interest he visited in his absence. He made particular reference to his journeyings in Ireland and of course told much that was of interest in reference to Rome. In conclusion His Lordship asked a half holiday for the boys, a kindness that was recognised by hearty applause.

MUSICAL DONT'S.

DON'T forget that a glittering exterior is no guide in the selection of a Piano, but bear in mind that the artistic merit of a Piano is generally in inverse ratio to the gorgeousness of its outward appearance.

DON'T forget to read Canon Medley's letter on page 17 of our catalogue, which so felicitously expresses the above idea in the following words:—"It (the Mason and Risch Piano) is an instrument with no foppery about it. Its exterior seems to say, "I am good inside."

DON'T forget that an apparently low price is no evidence of a bargain. Articles of genuine merit invariably cost more than inferior goods. The Mason & Risch Piano is no exception to this rule.

DON'T forget that the cheap Pianos, for which it is claimed that they are reproductions of leading American makes, are invariably unsatisfactory. It is as impossible to reproduce a musical work of art (except by the originator) as it is to reproduce a great picture or a great piece of sculpture.

DON'T forget that the Mason & Risch Piano is not a copy, but a brilliant original conceived of artistic instinct and born of mechanical skill, care and precision.

DON'T forget to write to the address given below, at the earliest opportunity, and, by a thorough investigation of these Pianos, satisfy yourself as to the soundness of the above remarks.

MLLE. ROSA BONHEUR.

THE GREATEST WOMAN PAINTER OF ANIMALS IN THE WORLD.

Her Life and Work—How the "Honored Master" was Honored by Eugenie, the Empress of the French—A Notable Franco-Prussian War Incident

By birth Rosa Bonheur belongs to France, by the right of genius to the world. She was born at Bordeaux in 1822. Her father, Raymond Bonheur, was a distinguished artist; but a, he married early he found himself obliged to abandon all idea of competing for the "Grand Prix de Rome," and gave drawing lessons to earn a living and provide for his family. Bordeaux became intolerable to the unhappy painter, and he removed to Paris when Rosa, his eldest child, was 7 years old. She was placed with her two little brothers, under the care of a worthy matron named Catherine, who lived in the Champs Elysees, and the children were daily sent to the school of the Sister Chaliot. But studdy little Rosa liked sunshine and rambles better than school, and she often played truant on pleasant days. Her wandering steps were drawn irresistibly toward the neighboring Bois de Bologne, which at that time bore little resemblance to the present beautiful park. Then it was a rough young forest. She bounded like a doe along the forest walks. At intervals stopping on the side of the road to sketch with a stick on the earth the objects that met her eye; horses and riders, animals and people. She became so absorbed in her drawings that she often failed to observe the odd group of people that gathered about her to admire the figures she had traced on the dusty roadside.

The father could not reconcile himself to the idea of allowing his little daughter to roam about in such a way, and, although far too young to be put out as an apprentice, she was sent to a dressmaker's. The spirited child felt the change bitterly:

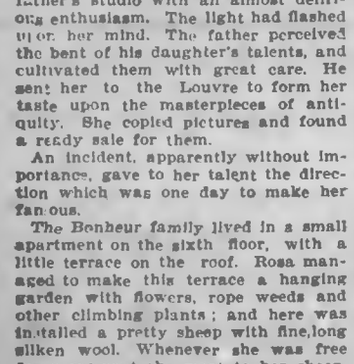
Raymond Bonheur found it necessary to take his daughter home, and there her disposition changed completely, and she became as laborious as she had been idle.

She began to draw and model in her father's studio with an almost delirious enthusiasm. The light had flashed upon her mind. The father perceived the bent of his daughter's talents, and cultivated them with great care. He sent her to the Louvre to form her taste upon the masterpieces of antiquity. She copied pictures and found a ready sale for them.

An incident, apparently without importance, gave to her talent the direction which was one day to make her famous.

The Bonheur family lived in a small apartment on the sixth floor, with a little terrace on the roof. Rosa managed to make this terrace a hanging garden with flowers, rope weeds and other climbing plants; and here was installed a pretty sheep with fine, long silken wool. Whenever she was free for a moment she went to her sheep, and drew him in every possible position. This subject had such a peculiar hold upon her that she declared to her father that she would devote herself to animal painting.

Raymond Bonheur was too much of an artist not to appreciate that animal painting was admirably suited to his daughter's aptitudes. He frankly accepted all the consequences necessarily involved in the study, and he knew his daughter well enough to allow her to go anywhere without apprehending any danger for her. It was a difficult matter for a young girl to go about alone to paint from nature, and it was still more difficult for her to visit slaughtering establishments, and horse and cattle markets, so Rosa



ROSA BONHEUR.

Bonheur, at 17, decided to cut her hair short and to wear male attire. Her features lent themselves to this disguise, and it was impossible to guess that she was a woman.

In 1841 Rosa Banheur made her debut at the salon, with two pictures, entitled "Goats and Sheep," and "Two Rabbits." The next year she followed with "Animals in a Feld," "A Cow Lying in a Meadow," and "A Horse Sale." During fifteen years in sucession she did not fail to exhibit, but her greatest success dates from 1847, when she sent to the salon her "Attelage Nivernais," which was enthusiastically received by the public; it is now in the gallery of the Luxembourg.

Mlle. Bonheur did not have to struggle through long years of obscurity. She rose at once to fame. Her works, though at first a little timid, showed accuracy, purity and an intuitive perception of nature.

When fortune smiled upon her, Mlle. Bonheur settled in the neighborhood of the Luxembourg. She continued to live in the same style as before, for she never had any taste for luxury.

She no longer lives in Paris but in a chateau near the forest of Fontainebleau. Henry Bacon says that the chateau dates from the time of Louis XV., and the garden is still laid out in the style of Le Notre. Since it has been in the present proprietor's possession, a quaint, picturesque brick building, containing the carriage-house and coachman's lodge on the first floor and the studio on the second, has been added; the roof of the main building has been raised, and the chapel turned into an orangery. Besides the main carriage entrance, which is closed by iron gates and wooden blinds, is a postern gate with a small grated opening, like those found in convents. The blinds of the gate and the slide of the grating are generally closed, and the only communication with the outside world is by the bell wire which terminates in a ring beside the gate. The artist who has twice visited Rosa Banheur asserts that a jingle of the bell at the chateau gate is at once echoed by the barking of numerous dogs, the hound and bassets in chorus, the St. Bernards in slow measure, like the bass drum in the orchestra.

In fact, in Mlle. Bonheur's pastures may be found almost every kind of animal ever painted by her. She receives gifts from all parts of the world. When she was painting a picture of a stampede of horses on the American plains, "Buffalo Bill" sent two wild mustangs to her for models.

"AN OLD MONARCH."

(From the painting by Rosa Bonheur.)

She wrote to thank him and asked him to sit for her. People who have seen he portrait of Colonel Cody on horseback in the act of throwing a lasso, assert that it is one of her best pictures.

It was within the beautiful park, which surrounds Mlle. Bonheur's home that "Nero" lived. "Nero" was the lion that posed for "The Old Monarch," and many other of her lion subjects. He was allowed the freedom of the park and was as tame as many of her dogs. A number of years since Mlle. Bonheur left France for a time and disposed of her pet to the Jardine des Plantes. He began to lose his spirits almost as soon as he was confined in a cage and became blind. When Mlle. Bonheur returned to France, she visited "Nero" at the Jardine des Plantes, and found him dying from homesickness. She spoke to him and he arose and came toward her, giving a pitiful imitation of his old note of welcome. Mlle. Bonheur wept, and decided to take him back home. He lived for a short time after his removal and died with his head in her arms.

There are many anecdotes and witty sayings in circulation about this quaint and great painter. A number of years since she was asked:

"Have you given the woman's rights question any attention?"

"Woman's rights!—woman's nonsense!" she answered. "Women should seek to establish their rights by good and great works, and not by conventions. If I had got up a convention to debate the question of my ability to paint, 'Marche au Cheraux' (The Horse Fair), the decision would have been against me. I felt the power within me to paint. I cultivated it and have produced works that have now the favorable verdicts of great judges. I have no patience with women who ask permission to think."

A friend after looking about the artist's studio one day remarked that she had accomplished much.

"Yes," she replied, "I have been a faithful student since I was 10 years old. I have copied no master. I have studied nature, and expressed to the best of ability the ideas and feelings with which she has inspired me. Art is an absorbant—a tyrant. It demands heart, brain, soul, body, the entireness of its votary. Nothing less will win its highest favor. I wed art. It is my husband—my world, my life dream, the air I breathe. I know nothing else, think nothing else. My soul finds in it the most complete satisfaction."

Rosa Bonheur, that "honored master," as she is termed by Claretie, is the greatest woman painter of animals in France and of all lands. She paints them with a simple, hearty love. Her daintiness imparts a charm to all her works; we are drawn to her creations as to the beasts themselves. Few women have won so wide a fame, or built a reputation on so broad and firm a basis. Wherever art is known and talked of, Rosa Banheur is known and talked of. She is a living refutation of the suggestion that a woman's genius has not the recognition that is given to that of man.

Mlle. Bonheur has received high honors. One day, in 1865, she was surprised in her studio by Empress Eugenie, who entered unannounced, kissed her as he rose from the easel to receive her, remained a few moments, and was gone. The woman artist found that the woman sovereign had pinned upon her working blouse the cross of the Legion of Honor. The Emperor had been hesitating to confer a decoration on a woman when the Empress, having during his absence, been left regent, drove over from Fontainebleau, near by, and, in its bestowal by her hand, added to its value. The painter has since received the Leopold cross of honor from the King of Belgium, and, by order of the Crown Prince of Prussia, her residence was respected by the Prussians during the Franco-Prussian war.

It is said that at 73 her face is full, but that it has a statute's delicacy of line. Her short, thick hair is now white, her eyes are black and lustrous, her small figure erect. She continues to wear the blouse which has given her the reputation of going about in man's attire, because it is simple and convenient. Rosa Bonheur works constantly; her studio is full of unfinished canvasses, and it is her cherished wish that they may all be finished before she dies.

Although a very busy man, Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., has found time in which to write a great book of over a thousand pages entitled, The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser in plain English, or Medicine Simplified. Few books printed in the English language have reached so great a sale as has this popular work, over 680,000 copies having been sold at $1.50 each. The profits on this enormous sale having repaid its author for the great amount of labour and money expended on its production he has now decided to give away, absolutely free, 500,000 copies of this valuable book, the recipient only being required to mail to the World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N.Y., of which company he is president, 31 one-cent stamps, to cover cost of mailing only, and the book will be sent post-paid. It is a veritable medical library, complete in one volume. It contains 1008 large pages, and over 300 illustrations, some of them in colours. The Free Edition is precisely the same as that sold at $1.50 except only that the books are bound in strong manilla paper covers, instead of cloth. It is not often that our readers have an opportunity to obtain a valuable book on such generous terms, and we predict that few will miss availing themselves of the unusual and liberal offer to which we have called their attention. 14DM

THEY COUNT BY THE SCORE

Yea, By the Hundreds, Those Who Have Been Cured of Dire Disease By South American Nervine.

A Remedy Widespread and Universal in Its Application.

Where Other Medicines Have Failed and Doctors Have Pronounced the Cases Beyond Cure, This Great Discovery Has Proven a Genuine Elixir of Life.

The Same Verdict Comes From Old and Young, Male and Female, Rich and Poor, and From All Corners of the Dominion.

If it is the case that he who makes two blades of grass grow where only one had grown before is a benefactor of the race, what is the position to be accorded that man who by his knowledge of the laws of life and health gives energy and strength where languor, weakness and anticipation of an early death had before prevailed? Is not he also a public benefactor? Let those who have been down and are now up through the use of South American Nervine give their opinions on this subject. John Boyer, banker, of Kincardine, Ont., had made himself a hopeless invalid through years of overwork. At least he felt his case was hopeless, for the best physicians had failed to do him good. He tried Nervine, and these are his words: "I gladly say it: Nervine cured me and I am to-day as strong and well as ever." Samuel Silya, of Meaford, was cured of neuralgia of the stomach and bowels by three bottles of this medicine. Jas. Sherwood, of Windsor, at 70 years of age, suffered from an attack of paralysis. His life, at that age, was despaired of. But four bottles of Nervine gave him back his natural strength. A victim of indigestion, W. F. Bolger, of Renfrew, says: "Nervine cured me of my suffering, which seemed incurable, and had baffled all former methods and efforts." Peter Esson, of Paisley, lost flesh and rarely had a good night's sleep, because of stomach trouble. He says: "Nervine stopped the agonizing pains in my stomach the first day I used it. I have now taken two bottles and I feel entirely relieved and can sleep like a top." A representative farmer, of Western Ontario, is Mr. C. J. Curtis, residing near Windsor. His health was seemingly completely destroyed through la grippe. No medicine did him any good. "To three bottles of Nervine," he says, 'I attribute my restoration to health and strength." Neither man or woman can enjoy life when troubled with liver complaint. This was the sentiment and feeling of W. J. Hill, the well-known bailiff of Bracebridge. "I was so bad," says he, "that one of my medical attendants said that I was dying, but, thank God, I am not dead yet. From the first few doses I took of Nervine I commenced to feel better, and am to-day restored completely to my usual health." A resident of the Maritime Provinces, in the person of S. Jones, of Sussex, N.B., says: "For twelve years I was a martyr to indigestion, constipation and headache. The treatment of several physicians did not help me. I have taken a few bottles of Nervine, and can truthfully say that I am a new man."

A shrewd observer of human nature has said: "The hand that rocks the cradle moves the world." How important it is, then, that health and strength should be made the lot of the mothers of this country. The women of Canada are ready by scores to tell of the benefits that have come to them through the use of South American Nervine. Mrs. R. Armstrong, of Orillia, wife of the colporteur of the Bible Society of that town, suffered for six years from nervous prostration. Medical assistance did not help. "In all," she says, "I have taken six bottles of Nervine, and can truthfully say this is the one medicine that has effected a cure in my case." Mrs. John Dinwoody has been for 40 years a resident of Flesherton, and has reached the allotted three-score years and ten. Three years ago her system sustained a severe shock through the death of a daughter. Nervine was recommended. She perseveringly took 12 bottles of medicine, with the result that she is to-day again strong and hearty. Hundreds of women suffer from impoverished blood and weakened nerves. "All vitality," says Mrs. J. Ballis, of Brampton, "seemed to have forsaken my system. I was unable to get relief from any source until I commenced taking South American Nervine. The results are most satisfactory—greater far than I could have hoped for." It came within the way of Mrs. H. Stapleton, of Wingham, to treat under the best physicians, both in Canada and England, for heart disease and nervous debility, but she failed to get any relief. "I was advised," she says, "to take South American Nervine, and must say I do believe that if I had not done so I would not be alive to-day."

Newspaper space is too valuable to permit of further additions to these earnest words of testimony from those who know just what they are talking about. In the common language of the day, they have been there, and are speaking from the heart. The dozen or more witnesses that here speak have their counterparts by the hundreds, not only in the province of Ontario, but in every other section of the Dominion. South American Nervine is based on a scientific principle that makes a cure a certainty, no matter how desperate the case may be. It strikes at the nerve centers from which flows the life blood of the whole system. It is not a medicine of patchwork, but is complete and comprehensive in its application.

The full intensity of living is reached only by the perfectly healthy. Sickness discounts the capacity for enjoyment. When a piano is badly out of tune, the noises that come from it are certainly not musical. They are not beautiful. If it is only a little bit out of tune, you can play some few things on it. You can create a semblance of music, but you cannot make really beautiful, satisfying, soul-stirring music, unless every string is tense and firm, unless every piece of the whole instrument is in perfect tune, in perfect condition, in perfect harmony with every other piece.

It is the same with a human being. If his body is all out of order and run-down, he will not be able to enjoy anything, no matter how full of enjoyment it may be for other people. If he is just a little bit out of order, if he "is not sick, but doesn't feel just right" he will only be able to enjoy things in a half-hearted sort of way. The nearer he is to being perfectly well, the nearer will his capacity for enjoyment be perfect. To really live, and to take his part in the work and pleasure of the world, his body must be in perfect condition. If this condition doesn't exist, something is wrong and something ought to be done. That something nine cases in ten means the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It works directly on the digestive organs, and on the blood and through these on every tissue of the whole body. It makes the appetite good, the digestion perfect and nutrition rapid and easy. It supplies rich, red blood to all the tissues and builds up solid, healthful flesh. It brings perfect health and restores vigorous, springy vitality. It makes every function in life a pleasure instead of a drag. It is an invigorating tonic as well as the greatest blood-purifier of the age. You can get it at any drug store. If you care to know more about it, and about your own physical make-up, send 31 one-cent stamps to cover cost of customs and mailing only and receive absolutely free a copy of Dr. Pierce's celebrated book, "Common Sense Medical Adviser"—1008 pages, profusely illustrated. WORTH $350,000,000.

DIAMOND KING ROBINSON THE RICHEST MAN IN THE WORLD.

He Has Amassed Fabulous Wealth, But Hopes to Be the World's First Billionaire—Lives Like a Prince, But Gives Nothing to Charity.

The wealth of Monte Cristo is no longer a dream of fiction, but an absolute reality. The dream of an "Aladdin's Wonderful Lamp," has become a possibility, and that in far-off South Africa, a country that but a few years ago was the home of savage tribes and cannibals.

There is one man in Africa whose wealth exceeds that of any other known individual, John B. Robinson is this man. He has the comfortable sum of $350,000,000. He could buy the whole output of gold from all the mines of the world for this year, and still have the neat little sum of $150,000,000, left to keep the wolf from the door. An idea of this man's vast wealth may be realized by this fact. If his millions were transferred into $20 gold pieces they would make a continuous chain 271 miles long.

His accumulation of wealth has been phenomenal. In 1878 he did not possess enough money to pay for a meal for himself and wife. He was absolutely penniless, without either friends or prospects.

Mr. Robinson had kept a grocery store for several years in the Orange Free State, but business was so bad that he was running daily into debt. His creditors were clamoring for their money, but he had none to give. His store was closed, and Robinson found himself penniless and friendless on an African prairie. He and his wife, who had remained faithful to him through all his adversity, saw starvation and death staring them in the face.

Mr. Robinson decided to tramp to Kimberley, a distance of over 300 miles, hoping to secure work at the new diamond diggings. This resolution was the means of making him the richest man on earth.

Trudging along one day with his wife he picked up a diamond in the rough weighing sixty carats. Here was to him a fortune beyond his expectations. But yesterday he had to ask the Boer farmers to give him something to eat; to-day his wealth had come to him like a thunderbolt from the sky. This diamond he sold at Kimberley for $1200. If he had been unfortunate in the past fortune now lavished upon him her greatest gift—riches. Whatever he touched turned to gold.

At the Kimberley fields Mr. Robinson became an out and out diamond dealer. He would buy diamonds, from any one and everyone without asking any questions. Those were the days when negroes stole over $3,000,000 worth of diamonds from the fields annually. Happy days for the African negro, who was delighted to get $10 for a stone worth $2000. It was these times that made such men as Barney Barnato and the great Croesus, Robinson.

Robinson's wealth increased in volume. From a penniless roamer in 1878 he found himself in 1881 with $500,000 to his credit in the bank.

The great gold boom of Barberton broke out in 1885, and Robinson with several others left the Kimberley fields for the new gold districts. Here his same phenomenal luck followed him. Stock and claim buying was his principal business, always selling at a handsome profit. The old Barberton boom died out in 1886. The new cry was Johannesburg. Again the soldier of fortune answered the golden call and left the Barberton mines for the new gold fields of the Rand. The same speculative spirit was with him here.

He bought a large claim from an old Boer farmer for $95,000. All his friends called him a fool for throwing his money away on such a piece of property. Even Robinson himself began to think he had made a bad bargain of it. For months, yes, for two or three years, this claim remained on his hands. Nobody would buy it from him, even at half the price he had paid for it. This mine, now known as the Robinson mine, is the richest on the Johannesburg field.

The next venture of Mr. Robinson was the buying of some fields at Jagersfontein, near the capital of the Orange Free State. This ground he bought for next to nothing from an old Boer farmer. To-day this Jagersfontein property bears every indication of being richer in diamonds than the renowned mines of Kimberley. A London syndicate offered him $10,000,000 for the property, but it was promptly refused.

In the early part of 1894 a diamond weighing 971 carats, the largest stone ever known, was found on Robinson's Jagersfontein property. The stone is a gem, and is considered by experts to be one of the purest ever seen. This largest diamond of the world measures four and a half inches in length, three inches in depth, and is from two to three inches wide.

A rajah of India offered 4,375,000 rupees ($1,250,000) for the gem, but as yet the offer has not been accepted.

Mr. Robinson is an elderly man. His father was of Jewish extraction, and his mother English. He now lives in princely style, but will not give or donate one penny toward charity. His views of life and people are very cynical.

This man's income for 1894 was $25,000,000, and is increasing annually. He manages to get along on $480,000 a week without touching his principal. It is the dream of his life to become the first billionaire of the world, that history may point him out as one of the greatest men in finance that ever lived.

Sunday Letters in Belgium.

The Belgian authorities, it seems, are anxious to save the postoffice as much trouble as possible in the matter of delivering letters on Sunday. For this reason every postage stamp is issued with a little perforated supplement inscribed with the legend: "Ni pas livrer le dimanche!" Those who are anxious to have their letters delivered on the seventh as on the other six days of the week tear this off, while those whose communications are not of any special importance, leave it on.

DR. FRANKLIN'S INVENTIONS.

Many of His Ideas Have Been Patented Many Times.

There is not in existence a biography of Benjamin Franklin which gives a complete account of the inventions and scientific discoveries made by the versatile genius who is rightly called "the brains of the American Revolution." Great as was Franklin as a diplomat and statesman, says the Boston Pilot, he was greater as a scientist in the domain of physics, wherein he planted seeds which bore fruit in his own time, and again in our own generation.

His pet study, electricity, which in the eighteenth century was a diversion of schoolmen, has become a gigantic industry, affording employment for nearly 2,000,000 persons in the civilized parts of the earth. To Franklin are we indebted for many things which remained fallow in the science of electricity, until Davy, Faraday, Edison, Brush, Thomas and Tesla began to pick up the threads which Franklin left in the bloom of life, when he was summoned from earth. Within two years an expensive litigation between two joint stock companies concerning the right to use a certain submarine electric machine for blowing up ledges and sunken wrecks was brought to an end when evidence was introduced showing that Franklin used similar apparatus in the Delaware River in 1787. Many of his inventions have been patented over and over again in our patent office, where articles in daily use by the cave dwellers may be patented by any person foolish enough to consider a United States patent of any value, and who does not know that the 400 patents taken out by Edison have been "pirated" under the protection of United States laws, which are apparently made for the profit of infringers of patents and for the bankrupting of inventors. Franklin's electric inventions number 18, all made when his intellectual faculties were brightest.

ELECTRICITY

Its marvellous advances.

An interview with a prominent electrician and inventor.

Mr. D. C. L. Ferguson, of the Eclipse Electric and Manufacturing Co'y, 211 Church st., Toronto, consented to be interviewed by our representative the other day. Mr. Ferguson said: "To see me now you would not fancy that I had undergone severe hardships and battled with disease, yet such is the case, and were it not for the events I am about to relate I would not now be able to prosecute further scientific researches.

"I have been troubled with my kidneys and liver for the past 10 years. During the last 4 years I have been growing worse rapidly, until I was almost unable to work. I have been treated by doctors and taken a large variety of medicine without benefit. I had constant pain across my back, at times almost unbearable, especially at night. My urine was wine color as if mixed with blood, and with much sediment, burning sensation when venting. I felt tired and dragged, and it was with the utmost effort I was able to work at all. Seeing the Doan Kidney Pill Co. advertisement, I thought I would try one box of their pills on the principle that it would do no harm to try again, so I got one from W. S. Robinson, Druggist, 832 Yonge st. I have not quite finished that first box, but am happy to say it has proved the best experiment of my life. I improved from the start and there has been a rapid improvement daily, until I am to-day a well man. Pain all gone. Urine natural in color, no sediment. I am stronger, and able to work as well as ever I did. I cannot be too thankful for the result of my trial of Doan's Kidney Pills. I would be glad to tell anyone who suffers as I have done, how I was before, and how I am after taking Doan's Kidney Pills, if they will call at my place."

Delicious Way to Prepare Figs.

Take dry figs. The choicest, thin-skinned ones are not necessary for this purpose. Wash and cut them carefully, to be sure no imperfections are left. Pour boiling water on them, and let them simmer till the skins are tender. Then remove the figs and add sugar sufficient to make a rich sirup of the water in which they were boiled, and lemon or grape juice to give color and acidity. Pour this on the figs and set them away to cool.

A REMARKABLE CASE.

Rheumatism of 20 years' standing radically cured by Scott's Sarsaparilla.

Mrs. Sarah Browning, an estimable resident of the Ambitious City, was for twenty years a sufferer from acute rheumatism, and her restoration to health is so remarkable that we present the case for the benefit of our readers, many of whom are doubtless sufferers from this painful complaint which arises from blood poison. Mrs. Browning says: "I used only one bottle of Scott's Sarsaparilla and received such benefit that I continued taking only at intervals for two months. That is seven months ago, and the pain has not returned. I had spent a fortune in various "treatments" and was told by one medical man that a cure was impossible as I had suffered so long."

Scott's Sarsaparilla cures by making and keeping the blood pure. It increases flesh by digesting flesh-forming foods. It is the most successful medicine in the world to-day, for dyspepsia, nervous troubles, rheumatism, sciatica, syphilitic afflictions, pimples and all diseases originating in a foul condition of the blood. Dose from one half to one teaspoonful.

(From Our Own Corresponden

Our esteemed and popular M.P.P., Mr. Thos. Blezard, left for Toronto on Tuesday morning to attend Parliament. His family, during the session, will live in Westwood at Dr. McNaughton's. Mr. Blezard will be there also from Saturday afternoon until Monday morning.

A Farmer's Institute meeting will be held here on Saturday, Feb. 22nd. There will be an afternoon meeting at 2 p.m., and an evening meeting at 7.30. At the evening meeting the speeches will be interspersed with music, songs, etc. Farmers especially, and also the general public should take advantage of these meetings, as they will be addressed by men of wide experience, besides they are free to all. Mr. Crosby, of Peterborough, has kindly offered the entertainment committee the use of a fine organ for the evening meeting.

Mrs. J. W. Kindred, of Zion, Otonabee, is visiting her parents and relatives near here.

Mr. Robt. Weir, who formerly taught in our public school here, was visiting friends our vicinity last week.

Prof. G. W. Mulligan, who is now teaching a class here in vocal music, will give a concert early in March. Besides his class, he will have a dozen trained singers from Peterborough to assist him, so that an excellent programme will be furnished. The hall should be packed, and everyone should come to hear a chorus of nearly fifty voices.

The roads are now very bad and fast becoming as difficult to travel on as they were last winter.

One Honest Man.

Dear Editor:—Please inform your readers, that if written to confidentially I will mail in a sealed letter, particulars of a genuine, honest home cure, by which I was permanently restored to health and manly vigor, after years of suffering from nervous debility, sexual weakness, night losses and weak shrunken parts. I was robbed and swindled by the quacks until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but thank heaven, I am now well, vigorous and strong, and wish to make this certain means of cure known to all sufferers. I have nothing to sell, and want no money, but being a firm believer in the universal brotherhood of man, I am desirous of helping the unfortunate to regain their health and happiness. Perfect secrecy assured. Address with stamp:—L. A. Edwards, Jarvis Ont

THE WHEEL.

"My 'Bike' and I."

My "Bike" and I are comrades dear
As we roam the country o'er,
We know not worry, care or fear,
While we Nature's haunts explore:

Chorus—Whirr! whirr! whirr!
Swift as on wings we fly;
Whirr! whirr! whirr!
My trusty "Bike" and I.

We leave the city far behind
With its pomp, and pride and show;
With love and beauty store the mind
As we feel health's ruddy glow:

Chorus—Whirr! whirr! whirr!

The trees bow welcome as we pass,
And the glad leaves clap their hands;
Sweet flowers peek at us from the grass
As we rush through fertile lands:—

Chorus—Whirr! whirr! whirr!

When evening zephyrs gently blow
We seek our well-earned rest,
Then home we hie at sunset's glow
With a bouquet at our breast:—

Chorus—Whirr! whirr! whirr!

My "Bike" gives courage, joy and health,
As we spin in God's free air;
Enjoying these I've nature's wealth,
More rich than a millionaire:—

Chorus—Whirr! whirr! whirr!

A NORTHERN WINTER'S WELCOME.

Hurrah for the ski! and the taut snowshoe,
And the swift skate's shrill refrain!
When the world's enwrapped in its mantle new
And winter awakes again!

I laugh as I see him cover the wolds
With a fair, soft pall of white,
And rejoice at the drifting, swirling folds
That bury them out of sight.

For the wattled shoe will come by its own
And so will the speeding ski;
Now the white paved track has at last been sown
Where the Mercury-footed flee.

Then hail to the frost! and the Northern King!
And hail to their reign benign;
May the snowshoe's swing and the keen skate's ring
Be heard till the end of time.

For they bring good health, and sturdiest strength,
And healing on their wings,
And the flame will glow, and the blood swift flow
Wherever their music sings.

INDIA'S FATHER DAMIEN.

Work Among the Lepers That Has Produced Good Results.

Valuable work is being done by devoted Catholic priests among the lepers of Burmah, says the London Times. The annexation of Upper Burmah in 1886 revealed a terrible need for succor to this unhappy class. Bishop Simon, R. C., addressed the officials on the subject within two years after the country passed under British rule, but it was not until 1891 that Father Johann Wehinger was able to found the St. John's Leper Asylum on a grant of six acres near Mandalay.

In Burmah, lepers are not forbidden to frequent public places and are not separated from their families, as in India. They lie at the gates of the temples, in the food bazars and on the sides of the bridges, whaere they expose their hideously-mutilated limbs to excite compassion and obtain alms. An asylum for these miserable objects was hailed with gratitude. In two days after it opened the wards were crowded and new buildings had to be commenced.

Father Wehinger has made the institution a model for all leper asylums—with a perfect system of hygiene and measures for the alleviation or even curative treatment of the disease, separate wards for the unaffected children of leprous parents and a vernacular school for their education. During the last year 200 lepers were on the rolls and the demand for fresh wards grew urgent. Father Wehinger came to the end of his resources. All that self-denial and devotion could achieve he has accomplished.

He has been in England lately, seeking aid to enable him to go on with his work. It is a work which can most effectively be done by celibate brethren, without the responsibility of wife or possible children to whom the disease might be communicated. Johann Wehinger is the Father Damien of India.

The Schools of Paris.

For smaller children there are what are called maternal schools. These are like our kindergartens. Attendance is not compulsory, but it free. From 50,000 to 60,000 little pupils attend these.

The abrupt transition from the tender guidance of the teachers of the maternal schools is bridged over by the infantile schools. These are for timid, sensitive or backward children from 6 to 8 years old.

One hundred and fifty physicians visit all of the schools regularly and frequently. They report on sanitary conditions, cases of contagious diseases and children who need medical attendance. Medical school dispensaries and school baths have recently been established.

Children whose parents are away from home at work all day are cared for till night and then safely delivered to their homes.

A warm noon meal is provided for those poor children who would otherwise have little or nothing to eat during a school day. The children of the better class, who are able to pay, are charged 10 centimes (two American cents) a meal. A uniform ticket system is used so that the children fed gratuitously cannot be distinguished from those who pay.

Shoes and clothing are given to the children who need them and all are decently and comfortably clothed. Every year theh city council votes a large sum of money to be used for school vacation trips.

THIRTY LIVES WERE LOST.

And $2,000,000 Worth of Property Destroyed in Guayaquil's Great Conflagration.

Panama, Feb. 13.—The great fire in Guayaquil, Ecuador, began at 1 o'clock in the morning. When it was under control, thousands of panic-stricken persons were wandering homeless in the streets, many lay dead in the morgues, and property worth nearly two million dollars had been destroyed, including the noble cathedral and the convent which adjoined it.

The fire was first discovered in the convent. It spread with such rapidity that it was with the utmost difficulty that the majority of the inmates escaped with their loves. The firemen were on hand within a few minutes, but their work was powerless to save either the convent building or the cathedral of San Augustin, which the flames immeditely attacked. From that point the fire flew to surrounding property, and in an incredible short space of time many of the houses were in a blaze.

The fire brigades of the suburbs and all surrounding towns were summoned and battalions of guards were despatched to aid the firemen. Through their united efforts the spread of the element was checked and the city was saved from destruction.

The panic, which began among the nuns in the convent, several of whom were burned, was contagious, and the city became terror-stricken. It is believed that at least 30 persons suffered death and many were injured.

NATURE'S LATEST FREAK.

The Big Cataract at Niagara Almost Runs Dry—Nothing Like the Present Transformation in This Generation.

Niagara Falls, Ont., Feb. 13.—Special—The thirteenth of February will long be remembered by all who were fortunate enough to see the great cataract when it almost went dry. Hundreds flocked to Prospect Park, the islands and out on the Suspension Bridge to see the most remarkable sight for ages. The elements were responsible for this state of affairs. After a severe west wind, which drove the ice down Lake Erie to the head of the river, an east wind set in and piled the ice up, blocking the river and forcing the water back up the lake. The river dropped until it is claimed that not more than four inches of water was passing over the brink of the American Falls, and one could walk out on the bar at the horse Shoe for fully 100 feet in the river. The falls between Luna Island and Goat Island went dry and one could look right into the Cave of the Winds. The ice scenery is grand and the transformation here is something the like of which has never before been seen by the present generation. The ice bridge, which was forced up by the rapid rise in the river a few days ago, is now high up from the water and presents a novel sight, with its great chasms and holes. Some fear that it will crack and fall off, but old river men say it will stand until spring. The low water deprives the Canadian side of the river of its water supply, its water power and the trolley car service is entirely suspended. The Buffalo and Falls trolley line has out three big electric snow plows, but can not keep its line open. As the snow has commenced to drift, trolley traffic will no doubt be practically suspended by morning. The railroads are beginning to feel the effects of the storm, and the Western Chicago trains are from three to four hours late to-night on the Grand Trunk, and the Michigan Central. The snow is now nearly four feet on a level.

A Sensational PULL-DOWN IN THE PRICE OF PANTS!

Here's a bit of good fortune unequalled in the Clothing trade. We just struck it in time. Our Pantry was getting low down. We had almost cleaned out of Trousers when the opportunity came along.

Thanks to our good fortune, we received advice from one of the largest Manufacturers of Clothing in Montreal, McKenna, Thompson & Co, informing us that they had a snap in Pants to offer Gough Bros. We went, we saw, we conquered. Our bid took the entire stock on hand at a phenomenally low uniform figure.

By rail we have received the full consignment—containing eight large cases, consisting of

1125 PAIRS OF PANTS

For Men and Young Men, which we can actually afford to sell at

ONE-HALF PRICE

The assortment is complete embracing well-known popular selling patterns in All Wool Material made up in leading styles of the tailors' art, and in a complete range of sizes—enabling us to suit men of all dimensions, tastes and purses. Here you have the figures that back up our statements:—

$4.00 Pants for $2.00.
$3.00 Pants for $1.50.
$1.50 Pants for 75c.

Two pairs of Pants for the price of one—cheap enough surely to buy two or three pairs at a time, and lay aside for future use. All those in favour of the same will please signify in the usual manner.

Can't sell them at less than half price. Kindly remember this fact and oblige. We're not going to go back on our words.

Dealers, please don't come—you're not invited.

Granby Rubbers

It is no wonder that rubbers, which are not the same shape as the boot, should be uncomfortable. It costs money to employ skilled pattern makers but the result is a satisfactory fit. Each year new patterns are added, to fit all the latest shoe-shapes, and Granby Rubbers are always "up-to-date." They are honestly made of pure rubber, thin, light, elastic, durable, extra thick at ball and heel.

SECOND CROP OF BARGAINS.

We start the Bargain Ball rolling for February in dead earnest. As there is a good deal of winter yet before us, it is unnecessary to point out the wisdom of buying now.

Our Stock-Taking is over—now for a month of lucky chances and snaps in mid-winter goods. An aftermath of Bargains for shrewd buyers—lines which we laid out during stock taking such as Serges, Cheviots, Heavy Tweeds and other Remnants, to be sold even at HALF REGULAR PRICES.

We don't want to carry winter lines past their regular selling season, so you may figure on getting pretty nearly your own way in prices.

You need the goods—we need the room they occupy—so there is mutual benefit all round in the selling of them.

Our New Spring Stock is wheeling into line, and we are glad to tell our lady friends that part of our programme for Spring is a NEW MILLINERY DEPARTMENT, of which we will tell you more in good time.

We don't "rest-up" during the winter months and take things easy until Spring. Business is full of worn-out, tired-out men who live almost wholly in the past and struggle for the success that never comes. And because of that they find fault with the times. While others are resting we're simply HUSTLING.

400 Acre Farm FOR SALE.

IN SNOWDEN.

I WILL SELL AT A BARGAIN A 400 acre Farm in the Township of Snowden—very convenient—about half a lot from the Village of Gelert and Gelert Station. The property consists of lots 16, 17, 18, 19, in the 11th Con less a strip of Lots 17, 18 and 19, through which runs the Victoria branch, of the Grand Trunk Railway. There are cleared on lot 16, 20 acres; on lot 17, 60 acres; on lot 18, 20 acres, and on lot 19, 25 acres, balance good hardwood bush and well timbered. Log House. Log Barn. The property is well watered by a branch of the Burnt River and would make an excellent farm for stock and grain and the Timber being convenient to the station can be sold at a good price or shipped as purchaser desires, and in the most profitable manner. It is close to school and church.

At a recent examination it is estimated that there are upon the four lots the following quantities of wood, etc.:—800 cords maple wood; 800 cords birch wood; 800 cords hemlock, balsam and soft wood; 2000 cedar ties; 800 cedar posts; about 300 acres good farming land; 100 acres good pasture land. It is one of the best farms in the country for stock raising, pasture being always good.

Will sell to a good man on reasonable terms Apply to

THE BUDGET DEBATE

Mr. Foster's Expectations Not to be Realized.

AND IT WONT WIND UP ON TUESDAY

Union Printers Oppose the New Copyright Bill—Mr. David Maclaren Will Intervew Mr. Chamberlain on Behalf of W. R. Lingham in Jail at Pretoria.

Ottawa, Feb. 14.—The budget debate was continued to-day. The first speaker was Dr. Sproule, who spoke for more than two hours. He was followed by Mr. Lister, whose vigorous declamation roused the House for a time out of the legarthic state in which it passed most of the afternoon and evening. The other speakers were Mr. Rider and Dr. Cameron (Inverness). Mr. Foster remarked the other day that he wanted the budget debate to conclude on Tuesday, but he cannot seriously expect that, taking into account the ordinary length of budget debates. There has thus far been not the slightest ground for supposing that the debate is being unduly prolonged. Up to the present there have not been more speakers on one side than on the other. Members naturally desire to take the opportunity afforded on the eve of a general election to make speeches for the benefit of their constituencies and the country generally.

Mr. Cockburn to-day presented a petition of the City Council of Toronto, asking that no legislation be granted to the Nipissing and James' Bay Railway for extending the time of construction except on condition that at least ten miles of the road be built this year and that the line be completed to Haileybury by July 1, 1898.

The Controller of Customs was waited upon to-day by the representatives of a large manufacturing firm in Toronto, protesting against any action being taken by the Government on the petition of the Manitoba members asking that cream separators be placed on the free list. The firm in question not only manufacturers separators, but also steel bowls therefor, which were placed on the free list in 1890, and Mr. Wood was urged to have both made dutiable in order to afford adequate protection to the manufacturers.

Messrs. Robinson and McAllister, M.P.'s, and Senator Adams interviewed Mr. Costigan to-day regarding the question of fishery rights repealed by the act of 1879, taking away from the residents of non-tidal waters the privilege of salmon fishing. They urged that the fishermen of Mitamichi should be given the privileges which they formerly enjoyed, and once more establish the principle of riparian owners' rights. The Minister promised an early consideration of the matter.

The members of the House were delighted to see Sir Donald Smith in Ottawa to-day, attending to his parliamentary duties. Sir Donald, who may be considered Canada's foremost citizen, finds his health greatly improved and left for Winnipeg on a short visit this afternoon. It is four years since he was at the Prairie Capital, where, in addition to his connection with the Hudson Bay Company as governor, he has large interests, financial and otherwise.

David Maclaren, the well-known Ottawa millionaire lumberman, and brother-in-law of John A. McGillivray, M.P., left for England to-day to interview Colonial Secretary Chamberlain with a view to securing the release of Mr. W. R. Lingham, formerly of Belleville, who is now in prison at Johannesburg at the instance of the Transvaal Government. Mr. Maclaren believes that Mr. Lingham is the victim of a Boer conspiracy. He is manager of a company which has an important railway concession in the Transvaal, and the impression prevails here that the Boer Government want to break the contract.

The following conversation took place in reference to the free importation of "boiler plate."

Mr. John Ross Robertson: I do not agree that they can print more cheaply in England than we can in Canada. That is not my experience. Within a very few months tenders were called for on a book, and the English price was 30 per cent higher than the price quoted from Canada. Under this act, we can importe the plates; and not only that, but we can import the matrics by post and cast our own plates here.

Mr. Mackenzie Bowell: But, while you are protecting the paper maker, the pressman and publisher, why should you not protect the printer as well?

Mr. Robertson: We will, if we can.

This remark was added by Mr. Rose: "The type-setters have joined us in the clause, which leaves the type-setting optional, because they appreciate the fact that many books will be published with short additions, which would not be published if we had to set the type again."

These statements do not appear to be correct as the International Typographical Union has appointed a deletion of Ottawa printers to watch the copyright legislation, and prevent the copyright agreement, which was reached at the Ottawa Conference on Nov. 25 last, between Hall Caine and T. R. Daldy, and the Canadian Copyright Association and the members of the Government seem to have struck a snag, on the occasion in question.

Sir Charles Tupper is still confined to his house. It appears he was treating his throat, which is sore, with excessive speaking and fumes got to his eyes, necessitating a care of them.

Judge Bole of New Westminster arrived here this afternoon.

Controller Wood has been urged to have carbonate of potash for the manufacture of glass, placed on the free list.

Further petitions against bonusing the immigration of pauper children were presented to-day on behalf af the County Councils of Bruce and Simcoe.

The Debates Committee this morning appointed J. A. Bernard to translate to the staff of the House, in place of O. Bolsvert, who has resigned on the ground of ill health.

Elaborate preparations were in progress in the Senate Chamber to-day for the great historical ball which is to take place on Monday. The principals taking part will hold a rehearsal to-morrow night. Over 100 people will take part.

Mr. Bell-Smith, the Toronto artist, is in town, he having received a commission from Their Excellencies.

A commission has been issued to Judge Johnston of Sault Ste. Marie to investigate into the charges against Noble Bros.

Mr. W.J.Poupore was nominated at Shawville to-day as the Liberal-Conservative candidate for Pontiac. Addresses were delivered by Messrs. Ives, Powell, Bergeron, Cochrane and McLennan. There was a large attendance and great enthusiasm.

Mr. Allan McPherson of Forest, County of Lambton, has been appointed receiver of wrecks for the district embracing all the waters of Lake Huron and the River St. Lawrence, from the north limit of the Township of [illegible]pton, southwardly to the southern limit of the town of Sarnia.

The deposits in the Dominion banks last month exceeded withdrawals by $68,000.

Postoffices were opened in Muskoka district on the 1st inst. at Gordon Bay and Pearceley and at Wellbeck in South Grey.

Mr. W. J. Gage was here to-day and had an interview with Mr. Foster in reference to securing Government aid towards the proposed sanitarium for consumptives, which Mr. Gage is establishing in Muskoka district.

THEY WORE CLIPPED A MURDERER.

When Americans Do Make Fools of Themselves the Big "D" Describes Them.

Troy, N.Y., Feb. 14.—"Bat" Shea's funeral yesterday was a revelation Nobody supposed that there was such a strong current of sympathy for Shea running through the feelings of the masses until it was made evident today. The demonstration was without a parallel.

Five thousand girls from the collar factories shed tears about the dead man's bier; ten thousand persons plodded through the snow and slush and falling sleet to the church, and a throng of people, carried away by sentiment that nobody undertakes to account for, swarmed about the wagon loads of flowers, unmindful of the menacing clubs of policemen, to snatch a leaf or a stem or a petal of a blossom as a memento of "Bat" Shea, the thrice convicted murderer of a man whose only fault was an intensely enthusiastic determination to preserve the purity of the ballot box.

BILL PASSED IN COMMITTEE.

And Supreme Chief Ranger Oronhyatekha Returns to Toronto Happy.

Ottawa, Feb. 14.—The Independent Foresters bill passed the Banking Committee this morning and the Big Chief has now gone home happy, having secured his object. The clause to allow a maximum death benefit of $5000, under the license of the Insurance Act, was put through without dissent. A statement of the receipts and expenditures of the society is to be forwarded yearly to the Superintendent of Insurance, and the latter has power to enquire into books of the I.O.F. at any time he may see fit to do so. Every policy must have marked on it that the society is now required by law to maintain the reserve required of ordinary life insurance companies. In addition to the deposit already required, the Minister of Finance may require other deposits to be made by the society, provided that they shall not exceed the sum of $500,000 The provision to allow the society the right to hold real estate to the amount of $350,000 carried. The society is empowered to invest such portion of its funds in foreign securities as is necessary for the maintenance of any branch outside of Canada, as the treasury board may approve of, provided that at no time shall more than one-fourth of the available surplus money of the society be invested outside of the Dominion. The society is also held responsible to any legislation that may be passed affecting assessment and other societies. An important clause also inserted was that the society shall not, after the date of passing the bill, assure to any member a certain annuity, either immediate or deferred, whether for life or for a term of years, or any endowment whatever.

The Product of Convict Labor.

Washington, Feb. 14.—In the House to-day Mr. Southwick (Rep., N.Y.) introduced a bill to protect free labor and the industries in which it is employed from the injurious effects of covict competition by confining the sale of all articles manufactured by convict labor to the state or territory in which they are produced.

Loss Figures Up $4,000,000.

Panama, Feb. 14.—Only five members of the fire brigade were killed in the great fire at Guayaquil, Ecuador, but the loss figures up $4,000,000.

Another Weak Boiler Explodes.

Winston, N.C., Feb. 14.—A fatal boiler explosion occurred last evening at T. J. Plummers' sawmill, 10 miles southwest of Ashboro. Three workmen were killed and three fatally wounded.

WHAT DOES IT MEAN?

Montreal Banks are Calling in Their Loans.

A DESIRE TO BE ON THE SAFE SIDE

In Case of Financial Troubles Brewing—The Stock Brokers Go Short of Money to Carry on Their Business—Exchange Members Speak.

Montrael, Feb. 14.—Special.—The Montreal Stock Exchange adjourned over to-day until the beginning of the week, and the writer learns that this rather unusual step was taken because of a lack of money on the street to do business. The correspondent looked into the matter and found that the relations between the banks and the street are more or less strained.

"It would take a round million dollars to make business run along smoothly," said a leading member of the stock exchange to-night.

After President Cleveland's unfortunate message, the Montreal banks began to call in their loans, and up to to-day the following amounts have been withdrawn from the stock brokers and operators in this city: Hochelaga Bank $350,000, Jacques Cartier Bank $250,000, Merchants' Bank of Canada $300,000, Canadian Bank of Commerce $300,000, the Bank of British North America $200,000, the Merchants' Bank of Halifax $100,000, and the Bank of Hamilton $100,000, so that at the present time a great deal of money must be lying idle in the vaults of the city banks.

The members of the stock exchange allege that since the scare is over the banks are quite willing to put out their funds once more, but that the borrowers are quite independent and say that if the banks can pay dividends with millions in their vaults, they are desirous of seeing them at the work. It is alleged that when the Government statement is out to-morrow, it will show larger sums awaiting use at the banks than at any previous period.

It is learned, however, that there is an exception in the case of the Hochelaga Bank, as the directors of that institution have taken the amount withdrawn from the street and disposed of it as follows: Dominion Government bonds to the extent of $250,000, bringing the bank 3 1-8 per cent. interest, also $100,000 in Province of Quebec bonds, earning for the bank an annual rate of 3 1-2 per cent. When it is known that this bank pay 4 per cent. interest on their deposits the transaction does not look like a profitable one, but those who know say that the bank is wise for if a financial storm were to overtake the city these bonds could be converted into cash and within 12 hours this handsome reserve could be levied upon.

Sir William and Lady Van Horne sailed from New York to-day for Nassau, intending to be back in Montreal on or about the 27th of March.

Hon. Henry Starnes and Mr. Alexander Molson, both well-known citizens, are dangerously ill.

PROBABLY A NEWSPAPER FAKE.

This Strange Story That Dr. Nansen Has Found the North Pole.

London, Feb. 14.—All whose opinion is of any value strongly discredit the report from Irkutsk that Dr. Nansen has discovered the North Pole. Mr. Clements R. Markham, president of the Royal Geographical Society, treats the story as an amusing canard, saying that if Dr. Nansen had been able to send a messenger he would have come himself, or, at all events, would have sent some message to his agents and friends.

Mr. J. Scott Keltie, who is Dr. Nansen's London agent, says:

"I should have been the first to receive a message from him if the news were true. Rumors of a similar kind and from similar sources have reached this country more than once before. If the story were true it would indicate that Dr. Nansen had not accomplished his object in the way he intended, which was to drift across the Polar regions and emerge on the other side. According to this report he must have returned the same way he went."

President Cleveland will arbitrate the questions in dispute between Italy and Brazil.

Gen. Weyler is to take personal command of the Spanish forces in the field in Cuba.

All the Johannesburg prisoners are out on bail except Hammond, the American. They have returned to Johannesburg from Pretoria.

A despatch to The Imparcial, Madrid, from Havana, says that Capt.-Gen. Weyler has decided to order all the peasants to concentrate in the towns and villages. Any of them found in the open country after a fixed date will be treated as rebels.

The Invention of Cryptoscope

London, Feb. 14.—Confirmation comes from several sources of Prof. Salviont's invention of an instrument which enables the human eye to see through opaque objects. The instrument consists of a cylinder of cardboard, the inner surface of which is coated with a material that becomes fluorescent under the action of the Roentgen rays. The lens is at one end of the cylinder. The object to be examined with its coverings is placed between a Crookes tube and the cylinder; on looking into the tube through the lens, the observer sees the outline or shadow of the concealed object, which is thrown on the fluorescent interior. The device is still crude, but the inventor expects soon to perfect it. He calls it the Cryptoscope.

Short Sketches of Great Men.

No. 1.—Socrates.

However much they may have been neglected or despised in their lifetime, the great teachers of mankind have been ultimately pedestalled above all others in the affections and memories of mankind. The Jews of one generation might stone the prophets, but the next built their monuments. Wisdom in due time will be justified of her children. This is preeminently true of one of the greatest and wisest of men, the Athenian Socrates.

Socrates was born about 469 B.C. It was the golden age of Athens. The Persians had been expelled from Greece, and no longer threatened the public peace. Themistocles and Aristides were the great politicians. Philosophers flourished by the score. Æschylus, Sophocles and Euripides were presenting the problems of life to the Athenians, to whom the play was not so much a recreation as an education. Phidias was wielding the artist's brush and Polycletus the sculptor's chisel. Pericles and other statesmen were adorning their city with magnificent buildings, whose ruins alone are left to tell of a bye-gone civilization.

It was in such surroundings that Socrates moved. He was, needless to say, a good citizen. He fought through three great campaigns, and was conspicuous for his bravery, his extraordinary physical vigour, and indifference to heat and cold. As a citizen and an official he dared, at a great personal risk, to stand alone in his refusal to put an illegal proposition to the vote. But he took no great interest in politics. Before all things, he loved and sought the truth. He was convinced that a great deal of what passed for knowledge was folly; in their use of the commonest terms, men were continually in error. He was very fond of conversing with the young men who had been attending the lectures of the philosophers, with the people of the market place, and indeed with any who were were willing to enter into conversation with him.

* * *

In appearance Socrates was one of the ugliest of men—thick lips, snub nose, corpulent body. But as Alcibiades, the handsomest man of his day, said, under the mask of Silenus was concealed the image of a god. He dressed meanly and took no pay for his teaching, in which, by his practical common sense, he brought down philosophy from heaven to earth. He was much more alive to the limits than to the extent of his knowledge. He professed and was amazed at the self-satisfied conceit of the philosophers. His method of conversing with these was to ask them a series of questions (this is the famous Socratic method). He assumed the humble position of a man intellectually bankrupt, who seeks information. He addressed some master of rhetoric, with a modest and deferential air; he will take it as a favour if the great man will condescend to answer a few easy questions on some apparently obvious questions in morality. Then Socrates leads the unsuspecting victim on through a series of what seem innocent questions, yet all bearing indirectly on the main point of the agreement, till at last his opponent is landed in some gross absurdity or contradiction. Here is a short instance. The enquiry is as to the nature of justice.

"To know this only, that he nothing knew."

Soc: "By justice Simonides means doing good to our friends and harm to our enemies.

Polemarchus,—I think so.

S.—Now, in cases of illness, who is best able to do good to friends and harm to enemies, with reference to health and disease?

P.—A physician.

S.—And on a voyage, who is best able to do good to friends and harm to enemies, with reference to the perils of the sea?

P.—A pilot.

S.—Well; in what transaction and with reference to what object, is the just man best able to help his friends and injure his enemies?

P.—In the transaction of war, I imagine, as the ally of the former, and the antagonist of the latter.

S.—Good! You will grant my dear Polemarchus, that a physician is useless to persons in sound health?

P.—Certainly.

S.—And a pilot to persons on shore?

P.—Yes.

S.—Is the just, than, useless to those who are not at war?

P.—I do not quite think that.

S.—Then justice is useful in time of peace, too, is it?

P.—It is.

S.—And so is agriculture, is it not?

P.—Yes.

S.—And further, the shoemaker's art is also useful, is it not?

P.—Yes.

S.—Well then, of what does justice, according to you, promote the use in time of peace?

P.—Of covenants, Socrates.

S.—And by covenants do you understand co-partnerships?

P.—Yes.

S.—Then is it the just man or the skilful draught-player that makes a useful partner in draughts?

P.—The draught-player.

S.—Well, in brick-laying or masonry is the just man a more useful and a better partner than the regular builder?

P.—By no means.

S.—Well then, in what partnership is the just man superior to the harp-player in the sense in which the harp-player is a better partner than the just man in playing music?

P.—In a money partnership I think.

S.—Excepting perhaps when the object is to lay out money; as when a horse is to be bought or sold by the partners, in which case I imagine the horse-dealer is better. Is he not?

P.—Apparently he is."

And so the argument proceeds and as it proceeds Polemarchus sinks deeper and deeper in the mire and is committed to such statements as "that justice can only be usefully applied to money when the money is useless," and finally that "to all appearances it turns out that the just man is a kind of thief." When he gets to this point Polemarchus gives up in despair and admits that he no longer knows what he did mean.

All this doubtless appears to be elaborate fooling, but Socrates' object was to show that such a thing as justice was not easily defined, and that men's ideas about it were really quite confused. His questioning is only to clear away this rubbish of mixed thought in order to build up, step by step a true conception of so good and great a virtue as justice.

PROTESTANT AND CATHOLIC CLERGYMEN.

Are of One Mind Touching the Remedial Character of Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder.

While Protestants and Roman Catholics are wide apart as to certain remedial measures proposed just now, they find common meeting ground in Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder. Take Hamilton alone. This medicine has been used by Presbyterians like the Rev. Mungo Fraser, D. D., and Rev. John Scott, D.D., by Episcopalians as with the Rev. W. H. Wade, and Rev. Chas. E. Whitcombe; by the well-known Baptist, Rev. G. Anderson; by prominent members of the Methodist church; and by the Rev. Father Hinchey, and many of his parishioners. They all tell the one story of the great good this medicine has done them. The same story has come from the most prominent clergymen in Toronto and elsewhere. It is unlike any other catarrhal remedy, simple, easy and pleasant to take, and quick in a cure. It will give relief within ten minutes in hay fever. Sold by all druggists. Sample bottle and blower sent on receipt of two 3-cent stamps. S. G. Detchon, 44 Church street, Toronto. Sold by H. S. Macdonald.

THE U.S. WILL GO IT ALONE.

Apparently They Have No Further Use for the Costly Canals of Canada.

Washington, Feb. 14.—Mr. Chickering (New York), from the Committee on Railways and Canals, to-day reported to the House his bill providing for ascertaining the feasibility and probable cost of constructing a ship canal from the great lakes to the Hudson River. The proposed survey is to be made under the direction of the Secretary of War, and $50,000 is appropriated for expenses.

CONGRESS THREW IT OUT.

Had No Use for the Senate's Free Silver Coinage Substitute.

Washington, Feb. 14.—By a vote of 215 to 90 the House to-day, after debating the matter for almost two weeks, decided that it would not concur in the Senate's free silver coinage substitute for the bill of the House authorizing bonds, and to maintain the gold reserve sales of Treasury certificates to meet temporary deficiency of revenue and providing additional revenue for the Treasury. Nothing else was presented in the course of the five hours' session.

THIS TRAMP WAS IN GREAT LUCK.

He Picked Up $20,000 Which Had Been Stolen From the Overland Express.

Sacramento, Cal., Feb. 14.—John P. Harmens, a tramp, 50 years old, who, by his own confession, recovered over $20,000 that was hidden by train-robbers a year ago, is locked up in the jail in this city. For months he has been living in San Francisco on the fat of the land from the proceeds of the money taken from the overland express near Sacramento by Jack Brady and Browning over a year ago. The prisoner has turned over $800 to the police.

WILL MAKE IT HOT FOR BURNS.

He is Charged With Stealing $1500 Worth of Gold From a Buffalo Store.

Buffalo, N.Y., Feb. 14—A jury was drawn to-day for the trial of Frank Burns, who was arrested a month ago in Hamilton, Ont., on the charge of robbing Schlenkler's jewelry store here of $1500 worth of gold. Two of Burns' confederates who were arrested in this city will testify against him.

Maltine With Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites—A Palatable, Nourishing Body-Builder.

Consumption—that dread disease—too often arises from neglect. Colds not serious in themselves, by depressing the vital forces play an important part in provoking conditions that render lung disintergration almost certain. To obviate this deplorable sequence of neglected colds the body should be fortified, strengthened, nourished, and this may with certainity be accomplished by the use of Maltine with Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites. Its mode of action is plain—the oil rendered palatable and of easy digestion, does not irritate the stomach and unfit it for the digestion of food; but this preparation serves a much higher purpose than this, for by its action on starchy foods it affords for the replacement of the waste of the body an abundance of fresh strong blood. The patient gains weight, irritation of the bronchial tubes disappears, sleep is restored and the general improvement is immediate and permanent.

GOOD KIDNEY WORK.

Good Health—Life Itself Depends Upon Healthy Kidneys.

The Lessons of Experience—Thousands Have Learned and Testified—Dodd's Kidney Pills Never Fail in Curing Kidney Disease.

Each particular organ in the body is put there to do a special work.

The lungs, the liver and the kidneys all have their functions.

The stomach and bowels receive and digest the food on which we live.

Not everything in the food should go into the blood as blood material.

There is a separation effected by these organs.

But the chyle may have germs and poisonous matter in it which would wreck life if once in the blood, so it must be taken out.

The kidneys are at once and always filters.

Nineteen times out of every twenty when we are sick, it is because of weak kidneys. If anything goes wrong look to the kidneys first. Fast living, over-work, colds, or injuries, may any of them weaken the kidneys so that they do not perform their important—their indispensable work.

It has been found that Dodd's Kidney Pills at such a time are exactly what is wanted to help the kidneys. If you have headache, restless feeling, tired feeling, chills, sallow skin, aching across the loins, coated tongue, rheumatism, cloudy urine, loss of flesh, shortness of breath.

Then you will find that one box of Dodd's Kidney Pills is worth more than its weight in gold, for they always cure.

STARVATION IN BUFFALO.

One Thousand Unemployed Polish Laborers Demanding Work or Bread

Buffalo, Feb. 14.—About 1000 unemployed Poles gathered at the sub-office of the Street Department on South Division-street this morning and demanded work, threatening trouble if it was not given them. The police were sent for and the crowd dispersed. Some of them appeared at police headquarters and stated that their families were starving. The poor-master will investigate their cases and furnish relief where needed. The crowd was made up entirely of unskilled laborers, whose work at this time of the year is not needed.

BRITISH FLAG HAULED DOWN.

The Strange Affair said to Have Occurred on Raraka Island.

San Francisco, Feb. 14.—When the brig Galilee left Tahiti, 28 days ago, it was reported that Raraka Island, on which the French are striving to secure the natives' recognition of a protectorate, had been the scene of a remarkable use of the British flag. It is stated that the natives, as a subterfuge, raised a British flag, and that the British consul in Tahiti, who was taken to island on a French warship, hauled it down and French marines shot away the flagstaff.

A Singer's Voice

MR. ALONZO HATCH, the sweet-voiced tenor, says:—"In January I was afflicted with a catarrhal cold in the head, extending to the throat, producing hoarseness and almost total loss of voice, on account of which I was obliged to cancel three weeks of professional engagements. I tried three physicians, and many remedies, without relief. Finally a friend recommended "77," and, I am happy to state, I used it with most gratifying results. In five days I was sufficiently recovered to keep my engagements and am now entirely cured. Can heartily recommend it to the singing profession."

DICKSON'S RACE.

I take great pleasure in announcing to the people of Peterborough and surrounding country that I have bought out the entire Plant, Patterns, Machinery and Agencies of the above well-known Factory on Dickson's Race.

I have also made arrangements to continue the lease and to carry on the manufacture of Iron and Wooden Force and Lift Pumps, Cisterns, Steel Windmills, Tanks, Fanning Mills, Hand Seeders, Churns, Washing Machines and every other line formerly manufactured in the above premises.

I have also removed the temporary Pump Shop which I opened on Charlotte street a short time ago—and will now be found at my Factory on Dickson's Race.

With the long, practical experience I have had in this business, and with the splendid facilities which I now have for turning out good work, I am confident that I will be able to guarantee perfect satisfaction to all who may favour me with their orders.

My Millbrook Pump and Windmill business will still be continued in the Old Stand, on Tupper Street, Millbrook.

A DAY FOR QUESTIONS

HOW APPOINTMENTS ARE MADE

No Legislation on the Subject is Necessary Because the Desire of the People is the Government's Will—The Premier Wants to Stop Bribery.

Toronto, Feb. 15.

The session of the Legislature yesterday afternoon was brief and formal. Several petitions were presented, including a number praying for the amendment of the Assessment Act.

Mr. Pardo presented a memorial from the County of Kent, praying that the Drainage Act be so amended as to allow of no appeals from the referee to the Court of Appeal.

The Town of Wallaceburg petitioned to have the Assessment Act so amended as to place towns and villages on the same footing as townships, with reference to personal property.

A petition was presented from the County Council of Prince Edward County, praying that the jurisdiction of Division Courts be extended.

Mr. Crawford will ask the Government on Wednesday next who the shareholders in the Georgian Bay Ship Canal and Power Aqueduct Company are, how much stock is held and the amount paid thereon by each; who the officers and directors of the company are, and what agreements have been made by the company with any municipality or municipalities; also, what part of the works of the company have been constructed and what works are under contract to be constructed.

Mr. Marter will ask on Wednesday, "What was the average cost per year for each prisoner at the Central Prison for the years 1891, 1892, 1893, 1894 and 1895, for provision also for clothing, giving each of these items separately; also the average earnings for each of the same years of prisoner ?"

Mr. Meacham gave notice of an enquiry as to the estimated value of the stock at the Experimental Farm, Guelph, on Jan. 1, 1894 and 1895.

Mr. Marter gave notice of the following motion for Wednesday next:

"That there be laid before this House a return of copies of all correspondence, documents and writings between any member of the Government or any person or persons and the Government in connection with the recent changes made by James Massie, late Warden of the Central Prison, against certain officials therein.

"For copy of appointment and instructions to Commissioners who investigated said charges.

"For copy of all the evidence taken of said investigation.

"For copy of report of said Commissioners."

Mr. Marter has also a notice on the order paper for Wednesday for a return showing the names of all persons, firms or companies indebted to the Province since last return, on account of timber dues, ground rent or bonuses for timber limits, the amount of indebtedness in each case, the balance, if any, due by such persons, firms or companies at the time of last return and the total amount of such indebtedness on the 1st day of January, 1896.

Dr. McKay (South Oxford) gave notice of a bill for Tuesday to amend the Municipal Act; also a bill to amend the Assessment Act.

Mr. Ryerson gave notice of a bill respecting contractors and employes on public works.

Answers were given to the long string of questions proposed by Mr. Whitney. In answer to the first one Hon. J. M. Gibson replied that the position of Farmer at the Rockwood Asylum, Kingston, had been filled by the appointment of Hugh Ross, son of the late Farmer. The application did not state whether or not he was a graduate of the Agricultural College, nor was there any law, regulation or custom requiring that he should be.

The second question was: Has the attention of the Government been drawn to the judgment in the case of Harpelle v. Carroll with reference to the construction put upon section 4 of The Landlord and Tenant Act, 1895, by Chief Justice Meredith, and is it the intention of the Government to introduce, during the present session, any legislation on the subject?

To this Sir Oliver Mowat replied that the attention of the Government had been called to the judgment, and that the judgment interpreted rightly what the section was intended to enact. If any legislation was introduced, it would be for the purpose of confirming that judgment, but no legislation was needed.

In answer to another question Sir Oliver pointed out that legislation to increase the jurisdiction of the County Courts was foreshadowed in the Speech from the Throne.

The next question was as follows: Is it the intention of the Government to introduce, during the present session, legislation providing that, except as provided by the Act respecting the Legislative Assembly, no person shall be appointed to an office in the gift of the Government of the province to which any salary or emolument is attached while he is a member of the Legislature of Ontario, or until at least one year has elapsed since the dissolution of the Legislature of which he was a member.

To this Sir Oliver replied that no member having been appointed to such an office, and no ex-member, except when it was ascertained that the appointment was the desire of the people, or when there was some other good reason, it was not the intention to introduce any legislation.

The next question directed the attention of the Government to the judgment of the trial judges in the Kingston election petition, and asked if it was the intention to submit the judgment to the Legislature in any other way than by printing it in the Votes and Proceedings, and also if it was the intention to amend the law in the direction of increasing the certainty of proper punishment being imposed upon all persons guilty of bribery.

Sir Oliver replied that the Government would be glad to discover any practical means not yet provided of preventing or diminishing bribery in elections. So far the Government had not been able to discover any better means than already provided. Neither was the Government aware of any means of communicating to the Legislature such matters, except by the publication in the Votes and Proceedings of the judgment of the trial judges.

After these questions had been disposed of the House adjourned till Monday afternoon.

A Steamship's Land Expedition.

New York, Feb. 14.—The steamship Eldorado, a freighter of the Morgan line, is ashore on Liberty Island. She arrived in port this morning from New Orleans and grounded on what is called Oyster Island reef at 5 o'clock. The Eldorado is now high and dry.

DIZZINESS IN THE HEAD.

This is a Sure Precursor of Apoplexy and Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart at Once to be Taken.

No one can read the daily papers without being seriously impressed with the fact that a large number of people in the present age have within their system the evidence of apoplexy. This is seen and felt often in a trembling and uncertainty of the limbs, and frequently in an unpleasant dizziness and lightness of the head. He is a very unwise man who, knowing these symptoms to exist, does not promptly take measures to have them removed. We know of no remedy that has been so remarkably successful in this particular as Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart. Primarily it is a Heart cure, but it is equally effective in what is to some extent a parallel disease, apoplectic symptoms. In a season when unusual heat prevails and excitement often runs high we are doing a kindness to men and women by letting them know of this remarkable medicine. Sold by H. S. Macdonald.

CUNNING OLD KRUGER.

The Boer President Claims That Lord Salisbury Has Misrepresented the Position of the Transvaal Republic.

New York, Feb. 14.—Ballard Smith cables from London: President Kruger has cabled directly to Lord Salisbury a vigorous protest, it is reported in certain well-informed circles, against the reference to the Transvaal made by Lord Salisbury in his recent speech.

In the ordinary course, President Kruger makes all communications through Sir Hercules Robinson, the Governor of Cape Colony, to the British Secretary for the Colonies, at Downing-street. Mr. Kruger declares, in this despatch, it is said, that the comparison Lord Salisbury is reported to have drawn between the situation of the Uitlanders in the Transvaal and the situation in Ireland involves such a misrepresentation of the position in the Transvaal towards Great Britain that he cannot believe the British Prime Minister gave expression to such views. Lord Salisbury's maladroit references to the Transvaal are evidently construed to mean that Great Britain still regards the Transvaal as in the position of a colonial dependency, and not of a republic, independent of Great Britain in all respects save those reserved by the right of suzerainty.

Prince Bismarck once styled President Kruger the only born diplomatist he had ever met. The story is current that the President's reply to Colonial Secretary Chamberlain's invitation to visit England shows that his hand has not lost its cunning. According to this report, he not only made his acceptance of the invitation conditional, on the assent of the Volksraad, as already published, but he intimated that assent would be assured if Mr. Chamberlain would consent that their negotiations should include the discussion of the convention of 1884. There is nothing the Salisbury Government desires less than any reopening of the convention of 1884. It was because of this condition, so says the report, that Mr. Chamberlain declined to make public President Kruger's reply.

Ivorine For The Teeth

Asks only a trial. Boasting will not whiten teeth; Ivorine for the teeth does. Extravagant claims will not render the breath sweet and fragrant; Ivorine never fails to do this. Ivorine for the teeth asks you for an opportunity to demonstrate its value. Dentists have affirmed it and the public corroborate professional opinion, but do you know, as every tooth loving man or woman ought to know, Ivorine for the teeth is the best.

NERVOUS DEBILITY,

VARICOCELE, NIGHT LOSSES,

AND ALL WASTING DISEASES should write to me for advice. I have been a close student for many years of the subject of weakness in men, the fact is, I was a sufferer myself. Too bashful to seek the aid of older men or reputable physicians I investigated the subject deeply and discovered a simple but most remarkably successful remedy that completely cured me and fully enlarged me from a shrunken, stunted condition to natural strength and size. I want every young or old man to know about it. I take a personal interest in such cases and no one need hesitate to write me as all communications are held strictly confidential. I send the recipe of this remedy absolutely free of cost. Do not put it off but write me fully at once, you will always bless the day you did so. Address,

Lost a Finger.

A lad named Murray lost a finger this morning whilst working on a machine in the shops of the Canadian General Electric Company.

Evangelistic.

There was a large attendance last night at the special evangelistic services held in the Charlotte street church. The interest is deepening and the services will be continued next week.

Off for Toronto.

Mr. George E. Elliott, president of the Peterborough Central Exhibition, and Mr. R. H. Braden, one of the directors, leave for Toronto on Thursday next, to attend the annual meeting of the Canadian Association of Fairs and Exhibitions.

Missionary Convention.

The Revs. H. F. Laflamme, missionary from India, and A. P. McDiarmid, Secretary of the Baptist Foreign Missionary Society, will conduct a missionary Conference on Thursday and Friday next in the Murray street Baptist church. Two meetings each day, at 3 and 8 p.m. All are invited. No collection.

Progressive Farmers.

The Wentworth County Council voted $1,060 to agricultural societies, divided as follows: South and North Wentworth Societies, $200 each; Barton, Saltfleet, Binbrook, Glanford, Ancaster, Dundas, Beverly, West Flamboro', Freiton, East Flamboro' and Waterdown Societies, $60 each.

Fulfilled a Big Contract.

"The street railway company deserves the greatest credit for the way in which the line has been kept open, and the service continued uninterruptedly despite the difficulties incident to the exceptionally heavy snow storm of the past few days." So spoke a citizen this morning, and his sentiments will be echoed by the residents in all parts of the town.

"Dublin Dan."

The immense business that Marks Bros. did at the opera house the past week proves that if the right plays are put on at the right prices people will fill the opera house nightly. Marks Bros. carry the largest and best line of specialties ever seen with a dramatic company and judging from the repertoire of their plays announced for next week full houses will be the rule. To-night, "Dublin Dan," Monday night, "Driven from Ireland or the Duke's Daughter."

St. Luke's Popular Concert.

On Monday evening next a more than usually entertaining concert will be given in St. Luke's School House, under the auspices of the Young Women's Chapter of the Guild. The principal piece on the programme will be an amusing farce in two acts, entitled "The Young Amazon," by Misses Armstrong, Bysh, W. Armstrong and P. Bysh. Miss Burnham and Mr. Lount and others will sing, and Mr. Mackenzie will play the violin. There will be also a pretty drill by six little girls. Admission 10 cents.

Laid at Rest.

The funeral of the late Geo. W. Rubidge, which took place yesterday afternoon, was largely attended. Among those present were the only surviving brothers of the deceased, Mr. H. A. Rubidge, secretary and auditor of the Chicago and Eastern Illinois Railway, and Mr. Charles Rubidge, agent for the Michigan Central Railway at Millington, Michigan. The funeral was under the auspices of the Oddfellows and Canadian Foresters, who, in a united body, followed the remains of their late brother to the Little Lake cemetery.

Death of a Former Citizen.

A telegram has been received from Spokane Falls, W.T., announcing the sad news of the death at his son's residence, of Mr. Benjamin Green, a former resident of this town. The deceased gentleman was well known in Peterborough. Thirty-five years ago he kept a store on George street, and afterwards conducted an ashery on the river bank, east of the market. He also was in the grocery business with his brother, Mr. Edward Green, and subsequently bought grain on the market for Mr. W. H. Wrighton. He was a brother of Mr. Ed. Green, Water street, and father of Mr. W. J. Green, Lonsdale street.

STILL IT SNOWS.

Feathery Flakes Doing Great Damage to Buildings.

The railways are making strenuous efforts to keep the lines clear for passenger traffic and snowplows are in great demand. Considering the immense quantity of snow which has fallen during the last few days both the Grand Trunk and C.P.R. authorities are to be congratulated on the way the trains have been kept running. This morning the train from Toronto over the Midland division was only 50 minutes behind time, while the Belleville train was but an hour late. Freight traffic is of course at a standstill for the present.

The market this morning, showed plainly the condition of affairs in the country, and those who secured fowl were indeed lucky as by far the greater number of those who came seeking it went away disappointed.

The roads back of Bridgenorth, over in Ennismore, are completely blockaded and it will be days before roads are broken. The state of affair is not so bad in Smith and Monaghan, but in Ottonabee, Douro and Cavan as well as in the back townships and those down around Rice Lake, the farmers are completely isolated from the rest of the world. A heavy wind, which would drift the snow is greatly feared.

A danger which menaces the farmers is the collapse of their buildings through the weight of snow on top of them and already a number of valuable barns have fallen in throughout the county. The sheds in connection with the Methodist church at Keene are amongst those which have been crushed.

THE HEARSE FELL UPON HIM.

Mr. A. Clegg Meets With a Serious Accident.

Yesterday afternoon as Mr. A. Clegg was assisting in getting his hearse out of the barn the deep snow caused it to lean over to one side to such an extent as to cause Mr. Clegg to leap to its rescue and endeavour to support it.

The hearse, however, was of too great a weight to make his effort of any avail and it overturned, burying him beneath it in the deep snow. When Mr. Clegg was extricated from beneath, it was found that he had been seriously injured, his side having been badly wrenched and the sharp rim surmounting the hearse had cut through his clothing into his leg. He will be confined to his residence for a few days.

Beef as Cheap as by the Quarter.

Now's your chance! I am retailing for a limited time any weight of beef in cuts of 5 lbs. and upwards as cheap as you can buy it on the market by the quarter. J. J. Howden, 461 George. 'Phone 39.

Died of Pneumonia.

Mr. Hugh J. Morton, son of Mr. Archibald Morton, a promising young man of 18 years, died on Friday from pneumonia. The deceased was an employee of the Canadian General Electric Company, and was held in high respect by his fellow workmen who sent a beautiful wreath. Funeral from the family residence, Lundy street, on Sunday afternoon, at 3.30 o'clock. The deceased was a member of the Charlotte street Sunday school, which will meet as usual to-morrow afternoon and adjourn to attend the funeral in a body.

A Wife's Peril.

Marks Bros. Comedy Company again appeared before a crowded house in a sparkling society comedy drama "A Wife's Peril" in which all the members of the company appeared. Mr. Tom Marks's rol of the Hon. Agustus Stanley, an English dude is one of his best. His personation was literally "out of sight." Miss May A. Bell as the dashing young widow, took her part admiriniky, and her song entitled "The Old Stage Door," won for her two encores. Mr. Alex. Marks as Douglas Field, the indulgent father was very fine. Mr. Lee Kellam's topical song, in which he worked in a reference to the hockey club's recent victory was greatly appreciated. The company have played to crowded houses all week and will no doubt continue drawing for the coming week. This evening "Dublin Dan" will be presented.

The Bishop's Convent Reception.

By a typographical accident, the type of the remarks of Ven. Archdeacon Casey and of Mr. Councillor Phelan was omitted from the report of the splendid reception given his Lordship by convent Sisters and pupils:—

Mr. Councillor Phelan, in a few pointed remarks, heartily endorsed the well deserved praise that had been bestowed upon the children and Sisters, and expressed the pleasure it gave him to join in such a welcome to his Lordship.

Ven. Archdeacon Casey, in a few eloquent words, referred feelingly to the loyally cordial reception that had been accorded his Lordship in Peterborough on the occasion of his return from his visit to Rome. It was a cordial, loving, reception from the people of Peterborough, but in this case the best of the wine was kept to the last, and the present reception in its beauty and excellence surpassed them all, and the girls deserved a very large share of the congratulation the occasion demanded. He then paid a warm tribute to the excellence of the training the children received at the hands of the good sisters—not only was instruction given such as they had witnessed the results of to-night, but with it was given sound instruction in the truths of our holy religion. He heartily congratulated the sisters and children upon the fine success of the reception to their beloved bishop.

A Bobcaygeon Man Snowed Under.

Business has come to a fine pass, when the "Fur Manufacturing" firm of Fairweather & Co. has to resort to such means in letting the public know how a Bobcaygeon man after the inspection of the other two fur shops returned to the place of his first inspection to buy that racoon coat he was so well pleased with at the price of $25. My sons' firm needs no such clap trap falsifications of lies, as the reputation of their furs are well known to the public. The writer is able to show by documents that fifty-five years ago he possessed more knowledge of furs than the said "Manufacturing Furrier" at present knows or ever will know. How about that Racoon cape of last month, when two ladies entered my sons' store to buy a racoon cape which presented all the qualities desirable except the price. After three times returning they left the town without the cape being bought. Our surprise was complete when the following Saturday the same party returned and bought the cape at the same price offered before. The true fact of the matter is that the ladies had been persuaded to leave their order with the so called "manufacturing furrier," but the result was that after inspection they would not accept the cape if offered at half price. Unless Mr. Fairweather can bring that Bobcaygeon man as proof of his assertion, (as neither my sons' store nor Mr. Mills has been called on by that Bobcaygeon man) such an assertion is imaginary. In conclusion I would give the manufacturing furrier the advice that living in glass houses, it is a dangerous practice to throw stones.

ORDINATION AT ST. PETER'S.

Rev. C. J. Phelan to be Advanced to the Priesthood.

To-morrow, at St. Peter's Cathedral, Rev. Charles Joseph Phelan, deacon, will be promoted to the priesthood of the Catholic Church. The impressive ceremony to be performed by his Lordship Bishop O'Connor will begin at 10.30. Rev. Father Teefy, principal of St. Michael's College Toronto, will preach the special sermon. Special interest will attach to the occasion, as the young gentleman was born and has spent his life in Peterborough, and won a high degree of respect in his personal capacity, that will doubtless be deservedly repeated in his capacity as a priest of the church. Rev. Mr. Phelan received his religious teaching principally at St. Michael's College, Toronto, and at the Grand Seminary, Montreal. He was, it will be remembered, made a deacon at the har Bishop O'Connor last summer.

It expected that Rev. Father Teefy will preach in the Cathedral in the evening.

THE D. A. G. IS COMING.

He Will Inspect the Damage Done the Drill Shed.

The drill shed has been so severely tried by the large amount of snow which collected on the roof that Deputy Adjutant General Cotton, of Kingston, will come to town on Monday to inspect and report upon its condition.

Before the snow could be shovelled off the roof, the building was so severely strained as to cause many of the iron supporting rods to spring from their fastenings and one was actually torn apart.

The D. A. G. after examining the shed will also view the one which collapsed the other day in Omemee. He will return to Peterborough on the 20th and inspect the local armouries.

PERSONAL.

Miss Mary Stretton is visiting friends in Hamilton.

Mr. J. Wainwright is in Belleville on a business trip.

Mr. Dickson Hall, it is thought, sailed for home to-day.

Miss Hales is at present visiting friends in Norwood.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Stratton have returned from Toronto.

Mrs. Alfred Sanders is spending a few days in Norwood with friends.

Mrs. J. J. Turner, Jr., has returned home after a pleasant visit in Lakefield.

Miss E. Morrow, has been visiting Mrs. (Rev.) Limbert, of Lakefield, during the week.

Mr. J. O'Keefe and Miss O'Keefe have been absent from town for the last few days visiting relatives in the vicinity of Norwood.

Postmaster H. Gladman, says the Lindsay Post, was visited to-day by his brother Mr. Thos. Gladman, bookkeeper for Mr. Adam Hall, of Peterborough, and the latter's son, George, now a prosperous merchant at Parry Sound, both of whom will no doubt be remembered by many of our readers. Mr. Gladman, Sr., was Lindsay's second banker, succeeding the late James McKibbon as manager of the branch of the Bank of Upper Canada, then doing business here, in 1854, and later on occupied the position of Midland Railway station agent here for about 15 years. In 1872 he removed with his family to Peterborough, where he has since resided.

JOHN McNAUGHTON'S GREAT CLEARING SALE.

Big Bargain Boom in Boots and Shoes.

The clearing sale of the boot and shoe stock is still going on at his store, corner Bethune and Sherbrooke streets. The decided bargains offered are attracting numerous buyers. Those in need of first class boots and shoes for men, women and children should not miss this great sale. The stock must be cleared out, and the prices are made low, very low, for that purpose.

Mr. John Ball, Tailor.

Keeps a select stock of fashionable cloths for suits, trousers and overcoats. He is one of Peterborough's favourite cutters, and always fits his customers. Parties who prefer to make up their own clothing at home, can have them cut by Mr. Ball. A few loads of good sound hardwood wanted. JOHN BALL & Co., Tailors, etc., Cox's New Block, Water street.

One Honest Man.

Dear Editor:—Please inform our readers, that if written to confidentially I will mail in a sealed letter, particulars of a genuine, honest home cure, by which I was permanently restored to health and manly vigor, after years of suffering from nervous debility, sexual weakness, night losses and weak shrunken parts. I was robbed and swindled by the quacks until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but thank heaven, I am now well, vigorous and strong, and wish to make this certain means of cure known to all sufferers. I have nothing to sell, and want no money, but being a firm believer in the universal brotherhood of man, I am desirous of helping the unfortunate to regain their health and happiness. Perfect secrecy assured. Address with stamp:—L. A. Edwards, Jarvis Ont

A Commissioner in B. R.

GENTLEMEN, — Having used Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam in our family for years I have no hesitation in saying that it beats everything else we ever tried for coughs and colds in children as well as grown up people. It relieves that tight binding sensation in the chest. We would not be without it for anything. WILLIAM ANDREW, Commissioner in B.R., Balmoral, Man.

A PLEASANT EVENING

With the Junior Endeavourers of St. Andrew's Church.

A very interesting time was spent, in the Sunday School room of St. Andrew's church, last evening, when the Junior Endeavour Society furnished an exceeding well rendered programme. The attendance was not as large as expected, owing to the disagreeable weather and the number of other entertainments being held the same evening.

Rev. Mr. McWilliams, pastor of the church, occupied the chair.

The programme was rendered as follows:

Chairman's address	Mr McWilliams
Opening address	Master Fraser Cobb

DIED.

MORTON—In Peterborough on Friday, Feb 4th, 1896, of pneumonia, Hugh J. Morton second son of Mr. Archibald Morton, aged 18 years.

Funeral from the family residence, Lundy treet, at 3.30 o'clock on Sunday afternoon.

Mr. Jacob Wilcox of St. Thomas, Ontario, is one of the best known men in that vicinity. He is now, he says, an old man, but Hood's Sarsaparilla has made him feel young again.

"About a year ago I had a very severe attack of the grip, which resulted in my not having a well day for several months afterwards. I was completely run down and my system was in a Terrible Condition.

I lost flesh and became depressed in spirits. Finally a friend who had been benefited by Hood's Sarsaparilla advised me to try it and I did so. I continued taking it until I used twelve bottles and today I can honestly say Hood's Sarsaparilla has restored me to my former health." JACOB WILCOX, St. Thomas, Ontario.

Employ Home Talent.

As you work for and expect an increase of home trade, employ home talent whenever possible in all your alterations and improvements. By showing your fellow-townsmen that you have confidence in their ability and workmanship you will win their confidence and good-will towards you. While on this subject it might be well to inquire where you buy your own personal necessities. Do you patronize your neighbor in the grocery, furniture or shoe business, or do you supply your household wants from the city? You may be able save a penny or two in city buying. You may possibly have an inside track with wholesale houses in the furniture or shoe trade, but if all your purchases are made away from home, the penny that is saved will mean the dollar lost, for depend upon it your actions are noticed and commented upon.

South Ward Mission Entertainment.

Last evening there was an "At Home" given in the south ward mission under the auspices of the Girls' Guild. On account of the various other attractions there was not a large attendance. Rev. Carl Smith acted as chairman and remarked that the gathering was to increase social feeling in the congregation. The following programme well presented:

Pianoforte duet	The Misses English
Pianoforte solo	Miss N Lewis
Instrumental duet	Master and Miss Harmer
Dialogue
Concertina solo (encored)	Mr J Aspinwall
Vocal solo, "The Wheel of Fortune"	Miss L Jackson
Instrumental trio	Miss Harmer and Messrs Freeburn and Sabin
Song	Mr Turner
Vocal solo	Mrs Seward

Refreshments were served during intermission and heartily enjoyed by all. Mr. J. Aspinwall's concertina playing was very effective and he was compelled to respond an encore.

SELLING LIQUOR TO INDIANS.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

SIR,—In re the Indian cases tried at Lakefield on the 3rd inst., before Mr. Edmison, County P.M., and John Hull, Esq., J.P., a statement was made by the counsel for the defence, which, I think, should not be allowed to go unchallenged, inasmuch as its whole tendency is corrupt, and its object to defeat the ends of justice when carried into practice.

After both cases had been proven against the defendants, the Police Magistrate stated that the prosecution was disposed to not press both cases if defendants would tell where they got the liquor.

The defendants' counsel then said if it was his case, he "would not tell," even when asked by the Court to do so. He "would go to gaol first." He thought "it would be a low, mean, cowardly, contemptible thing for anyone to break the law by getting liquor, and then peach on the man who gave it to him."

This, then, is the standard of honour? set up in matters of this kind to which I decidedly object, because of its pernicious effects upon those who may not take the trouble to think for themselves. It would be interesting to know whence it comes.

It is said there exists such a sentiment as "honour among thieves," but surely this sentiment is not to be commended as applicable to society generally.

Chap. 43, Sec. 95 of the "Indian Act," enacts that "if it may be proven that an Indian was in possession of liquor, or that he gave liquor to another Indian, he is liable to a penalty not to exceed one hundred dollars, nor less than twenty-five dollars, or to imprisonment for any term not exceeding six months, nor less than one month, or to both penalty and imprisonment, at the discretion of the convicting judge, magistrate, justice of the peace, or Indian agent."

Sec. 104 enacts that "for simply being found in a state of intoxication an Indian is liable to a penalty not to exceed thirty dollars, nor less than five dollars, or to imprisonment for any term not exceeding one month, or to both penalty and imprisonment at the discretion of the convicting judge, etc."

Sec. 105 enacts that "if an Indian or non-treaty Indian who has been so convicted refuses upon examination to state or give information of the person, place and time, from whom, where and when he procured such intoxicant, he shall be liable to a further penalty, not exceeding fifteen dollars nor less than three dollars or to imprisonment for a further period not exceeding fourteen days, or to both penalty and imprisonment at the discretion of the convicting judge, magistrate, justice of the peace or Indian agent."

It will be seen from the foregoing quotations that the law demands the information in the interest of justice and to apply such epithets to the man who dares to tell the truth under the circumstances, is to put it mildly, an insult to society.

It will also be granted, I think, that the Indian who gets the liquor cannot conceal his guilt, for the liquor will certainly make him intoxicated if he takes enough of it, and for simply being found in that state, or in possession of liquor, he is liable to the foregoing penalities. But what of the greater criminal who sold him the liquor, and thus, for purposes of gain, became, indirectly, the Indian's accuser, by providing the only evidence that could convict him?

He must be protected and to do this the Indian must either perjure himself by telling a falsehood to the court, or simply refuse to tell and "go to gaol first," and there suffer the penalty, not only of his act, but also as far as the law demands the penalty due to the man who sold him the liquor, while he not only goes free, but pockets the Indian's money, and stands prepared to sell on the same terms to the next dupe that comes along and if the Indian is man enough to tell the truth and refuses to carry more than his own load, he is dabbed "a low, mean, cowardly, contemptible creature," and this in the name of "British fair play." Truly "a Daniel is to come to judgment."

Ours is said to be an age of progress, and some wonderful discoveries are being made but I venture to think that a large majority of honourable men are positively unprepared to agree, that such language is applicable to the man who, being forced before the court, as an unwilling witness takes the only honest course under the circumstances and tells the truth.

If one deliberately goes and gets liquor and voluntarily offers his information for the purpose of personal gain, he should not make anything out of it, but it is fully within the right of every citizen, and sometimes rendered necessary by the promulgation of false theories of honour, etc., to adopt even this course, to detect and put a stop to this sort of crime, and if the informant can show that his object is a fair and honest one, he may pass under the anathema of defendant's counsel, but he will receive the thanks of society.

And if these expletives are applicable to any one they are doubly applicable to the servile creature who stands before the court and quibbles, or who rather than tell the truth, will "go to gaol" and in compensation, receives the approving smile of the defendant's counsel.

Yours truly,
ONE INTERESTED.

VISITED BY HIS LORDSHIP.

ONE OF ROME'S BEAUTIFUL CHURCHES.

Erected Through the Gifts of a Faithful and Loving People as a Memorial of Pope Leo.

Amongst the many beautiful churches in Rome which His Lordship, Bishop O'Connor, visited whilst in the Holy City, was that of St. Joachim, which is just completed, and is built from the funds subscribed during the celebration of the Pope's jubilee. The edifice is therefore erected as a memorial to Pope Leo, and its dedication will take place almost immediately.

This church costs 950,000 francs aside from its magnificient collections of painting and statuary, which were the gifts of different rulers of Europe, and the Catholics of this country, South America and Mexico. Catholics of all nations have not only contributed to the building fund of the Pope's church, but made gifts of the marbles and onyxes, rare and precious stones, and choice woods found in their respective countries. The church has been several years in course of erection, but it is expected that the dedicatory exercises will occur within a month.

The Pope has decided to make the church the centre of a universal society, to be known as the International Reparative Adoration, which will have for its object the counteracting, by prayer and meditation, the attacks made on the Catholic Church. One of the striking works of art in the new church is a heroic size statue of the Pope, in marble.

On the 2nd of August, 1892, the crypt was blessed and dedicated to divine service. The church to be erected over this crypt will be sixty meters in length and thirty in width. In the interior the three naves are divided by magnificent columns of white marble, the base of each of Carrara marble, the capitals of bronze. At the union of these three naves are ten chapels dedicated to the principal Catholic nations associated in the Reparative Adoration.

A magnificent gallery will surround the interior of the church; this is the matroneo. The portico is formed of six columns and pilasters, superb monoliths in rose-colored marble, with base and capitals of white marble.

The portico was completely and perfectly finished early this year. The facing of the lower portion of the walls under the portico is of granite from the Pyrinees. The facing of the walls has been also made as far as the floor of the portico. The balcony above the portico which unites the two arms of the matroneo is also finished. On the exterior has been set up and uncovered the grand mosiac representing the five parts of the world prostrate before the Blessed Sacrament, presented by Pius VIII, the founder of the Forty Hours, to Leo XIII, the Founder of the International Reparative Adoration.

Marble columns, white and red, from the Pyrinees are set up against the wall on the right and left of the mosiac, and serve as a base for the grand entablature, or altar piece, on which rests the pedestal of the beautiful bronze statute of St. Joachim, by Valentine. On the four panels formed by the wall between the columns will be painted two male and two female saints of the Blessed Sacrament — St. Bonaventure, St. Thomas, St. Claire and St. Julianne of Liege. Large pelicans will complete the ornamentation of this part of the facade. In the two upper niches of the facade will be placed the statues of St. Peter and St. Paul. On the summit of the tympan (dome) is raised the grand labarum of Constantine, set in a globe of brass.

The work on the Eucharistic throne has been begun. All the columns have been finished and put in position, and the grand arch of the base is nearly finished.

The windows are thirty six in number, and represent the flora, fauna and history; the Eucharistic virtues, Pentecost, the apparition of the Sacred Heart, the monograph of the Holy Family, St. Peter and Leo XIII. surrounded by the cardinal virtues.

On the lower part the row of rose colored granite columns of Baveno are much admired and rise admirably against the wall of the portico, which is in grayish blue granite, from the Pyrinees. This wall is crowned with freize, beautiful and symbolical. A bunch of ears of corn and grapes executed in mosaic arises from above the principal door, and beneath is a radiant Host; from there the frieze is continued, entwining gracefully, and folding one after another the whole series of shields in armorial form. On the red or blue base of each shield is inscribed the name of some one of the countries, in its own language, which have contributed to the erection of the monument.

Calcutt's Dublin Porter.

Men and women are all more or less troubled with dyspepsia. Why? Because they suffer from constipation. This is easily cured if attended to. If neglected it will become chronic. Constipation is the cause of nine-tenths of all our sickness. Nature requires assistance to throw off impurities of the system and regulate the bowels. This is what Calcutt's porter will do. Build up your system by the moderate use of this tonic. It does not derange the system but builds it up and consequently adds to your strength and weight. Sold by all leading grocers, only $1.00 per dozen.

MUSICAL DONT'S.

DON'T forget that a glittering exterior is no guide in the selection of a Piano, but bear in mind that the artistic merit of a Piano is generally in inverse ratio to the gorgeousness of its outward appearance.

DON'T forget to read Canon Medley's letter on page 17 of our catalogue, which so felicitously expresses the above idea in the following words:—"It (the Mason and Risch Piano) is an instrument with no foppery about it. Its exterior seems to say, "I am good inside."

DON'T forget that an apparently low price is no evidence of a bargain. Articles of genuine merit invariably cost more than inferior goods. The Mason & Risch Piano is no exception to this rule.

DON'T forget that the cheap Pianos, for which it is claimed that they are reproductions of leading American makes, are invariably unsatisfactory. It is as impossible to reproduce a musical work of art (except by the originator) as it is to reproduce a great picture or a great piece of sculpture.

DON'T forget that the Mason & Risch Piano is not a copy, but a brilliant original conceived of artistic instinct and born of mechanical skill, care and precision.

DON'T forget to write to the address given below, at the earliest opportunity, and, by a thorough investigation of these Pianos, satisfy yourself as to the soundness of the above remarks.

Nervous Prostration.

Cured effectually by Scott's Sarsaparilla.

His heart was affected.

"Overwork as a student at college brought on an attack of nervous prostration," says Mr. Gilbert, a railway missionary. "I was exceedingly nervous and if I exerted myself my heart commenced to flutter violently, and I was warned that even ordinary exercise endangered my life. But thanks to Scott's Sarsaparilla I feel better than I ever expected to feel, for I can now address a meeting without effort, can walk a brisk pace for two hours or more without exhaustion and am free from that distressing palpitation. In my work I have oftentime recommended Scott's Sarsaparilla, and have seen many cases where its effects have been most marked."

Scott's Sarsaparilla acts like magic in restoring shattered nerves because it rebuilds the nerve centres. Nervous headache, nervous dyspepsia and all nerve derangements wear on the system. Scott's Sarsaparilla makes new blood and muscles and strong nerves. Of all druggists, $1 per bottle. Dose from half to one teaspoonful.

A FARMER'S ADVICE.

HE TELLS THE PEOPLE TO SHUN IMITATIONS.

He Had Been Imposed Upon by an Unscrupulous Dealer With the Result That it Nearly Cost the Life of a Loved Member of His Family.

From the Woodstock, N.B. Sentinel.

A reporter of the Sentinel recently dropped into the Victoria Hotel looking for general news and to scan the register for arrivals. Among those present he noticed a well dressed farmer sitting reading a small pamphlet. The reporter asked the landlord if there was anything new, and being answered in the negative the farmer turned and addressed him. "Looking for news, eh? Well, sit down and I'll give you something worth publishing." The reporter was at once on the alert and the farmer continued, "You see this little book I hold in my hand? Well the title of it is "Five Prize Stories" and there is more sense in it than in half of the philosophical works of the day, and it don't lay in any of the stories either. Well about a year ago I got hold of another little book by the same authors entitled "Four Generations" which I read carefully through and one very important thing I read in it was, beware of imitations, just as I read in this little book. Now I wish to show how I had been taken in (deceived) and how I had found it out and how near it came to costing me the dearest member of my household. Well to begin at the beginning. My name is Shepherd Banks; I reside 11½ miles from the village of Bristol, Carleton Co., N. B., and am a well-to-do farmer. For several years my wife was troubled with pains in the back and weakness of the kidneys. About two years ago she was taken very ill, the trouble taking the form of acute rheumatism. We consulted no less than three different doctors who, however, failed to help her. She continued to grow weaker and weaker, and the pains she endured were something terrible. For over a year she was unable to do a single thing about the house, and she had fallen away in weight from 180 to 130 pounds and we despaired of her recovery. I happened to notice in one of the newspapers a testimonial of a similar cure through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I immediately got a couple of boxes. My wife began taking them, and by the time she had used these she began to gain appetite and her pains were much eased, and we began to have great hopes of an ultimate cure. I then went for another supply of the pills. This time I purchased them in bulk, paying 30 cents for 100 pills, which were taken from a large glass bottle. I took them home and my wife began their use. Soon after she began to grow worse again; the old pains returned severer than ever. We still continued the use of the pills until about a third of them were gone. About this time I got through the mail, along with my neighbors, the book entitled "Four Generations," issued by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co. On reading it it did not take me long to find out that the pills I had bought in bulk were a fraud, as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are not sold in bulk, but in boxes, with the trade mark on the wrapper. I went to the cupboard and taking down the box in which the pills were threw it and its contents into the stove. I then went and procured a half dozen boxes of the genuine Pink Pills, and from the time my wife began their use there was an improvement in her condition. She used about twelve boxes altogether, and to-day there is no heartier or healthier woman in the neighbourhood, and Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are the standard medicine in our home. Publish this? Yes, it may do some other sufferer good. We are all thankful for what Pink Pills have done for us, but be sure you caution your readers against those vile imitations."

The warning uttered by Mr. Banks is one that the public will do well to heed, for some unscrupulous dealers in different parts of the country try to impose upon the public by trashy imitations coloured to present the appearance of the genuine Pink Pills. The public can always protect themselves by bearing in mind that the genuine pills are never sold by the dozen, hundred or ounce. They are always put up in boxes around which will be found full directions for their use, the whole enclosed in a label bearing the full trade mark, "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People." If you want a medicine that will cure all diseases due to poor or watery blood, or shattered nerves, ask for the genuine Pink Pills, and take nothing else, no matter what some interested dealer, who is looking for a larger profit, may say.

DARING HIGHWAYMEN.

The Tuckett Company's Cashier at Hamilton Waylaid and Robbed.

Hamilton, Feb. 14.—Hamilton's reputation for highway robberies for two days is good or bad, as the case may be. Yesterday H. M. Arthur, 307 York-street, an old man, was assaulted on York-street by James Thompson, who pulled a revolver and would have shot the old man, only there was but one cartridge in the revolver, because Arthur refused to give him money, and this afternoon, about 2.20, John Cauley, cashier for the George E. Tuckett & Son Company, was brutally assaulted and robbed of $1430.15. Cauley is a young man and small of stature. He was returning from the Bank of British North America with the money for the employes' salaries in a satchel, and when he got off the car at Queen-street, proceeded to walk north towards the factory. When about half way down two men ran at him. One was tall and the other short. With a hickory baseball bat they battered him over the head, knocking him down and unconscious.

One of them grabbed the satchel and both ran up Queen to Peter-street, up to Ray and south on Ray-street, where all trace of them was lost. Wm. Cliffe, a teamster for the Norton Manufacturing Company, who was some distance from the scene, saw the three men, but thought they were only scuffling, till he saw the two men run. He went to the scene and picked Cauley up, who was unconscious, and carried him to the factory, where Drs. Stark and Philp were hurriedly summoned, and attended to the man's wounds. In about half an hour he recovered consciousness, but was unable to describe the occurrence. The police were summoned, and the patrol, containing a posse of detectives and police set out to run down the highwaymen, but no trace of them could be found. At a late hour this afternoon the doctors could not say to what extent Cauley had been injured. The brain may be affected. It is conceded that the assaulters are city men, familiar with the time the cashier drew the money from the bank.

At a late hour to-night Cauley was in a semi-conscious state, suffering considerably, and unable to give an account of the affair. The perpetrators of the deed have not been caught, although the police are still on the hunt. This afternoon they found the empty satchel in a barn near Ray and Napier-streets, into which the men ran and took the money from it.

WESTERN DAIRY SCHOOL.

Formally Opened at Strathroy by a Couple of Ontario Cabinet Ministers.

Strathroy, Ont., Feb. 14.—The Western Dairy School was formally opened to-day at 2 o'clock. Invitations had been liberally sent out around the county, which were responded to by the building being crowded long before the appointed hour by most all the prominent people of the town and adjoining townships, together with their lady friends. The forepart of the afternoon was spent in going through the different rooms, watching the students testing milk, making butter and cheese, all of which was explained by Mr. Sleightholm, the superintendent. Short addresses were given by the Hon. John Dryden, Hon. G. W. Ross, Prof. Mills, of the Guelph College, and W. H. Taylor, M.L.A. The Ministers and party arrived about noon, and partook of lunch at the American, at which were present the Hon. Messrs. Ross and Dryden, Prof. Mills, W. H. Taylor, M.L.A., Sheriff Cameron, Mayor Smith, Reeve Gillies, ex-Mayor Cox, J. P. Whitehead, George C. Elliott, D. Cross, E. W. Rowland, J. T. Pearce, J. Wheaton, D. Evans, J. H. McIntosh and others. The day was a beautiful one and the proceedings altogether passed off most pleasantly, all enjoying themselves and being impressed with the fact that an excellent and useful institution had been successfully launched in one of the finest districts of the province.

DO NOT SUFFER.

With Kidney Complaint—You can be Relieved Within Six Hours.

I take much pleasure in stating that I have been using South American Kidney Cure and found relief within six hours after first dose taken. I became sick in January, 1893, when I employed several of the physicians, and was treated by them until the fall of 1893 without receiving much benefit. I then began using South American Kidney Cure and have found great benefit, and am almost, if not quite, cured. Have not been taking any of the medicine for seven weeks, and feel as well as ever.—MRS. A. E. YOUNG, BARNSTON, P. Q.—Sold by H. S. Macdonald.

A PROGRESS IN THIS CASE.

How a Young St. Catharines Girl Was Rescued From Perdition at Tonawanda.

Tonawanda, N.Y., Feb. 14.—While the police were investigating the complaint of a mother regarding the sheltering of her 15-year-old daughter in a disorderly house here, they also found another girl in the house who said her name was Mary Hamel, that she was 16 years old and had run away from her home at St. Catharines, Ont., on last Decoration Day, at the instigation of her aunt, who lives in North Tonawanda. She also claimed to be ignorant of the character of the place. Sentence was suspended on her promise that she would return at once to her parents in St. Catharines. It appears from the statements of the girls that they were both recommended to go to the place by the same woman.

THE GRAND OLD MAN IS MUM

About the Story That He Intends to Return to Parliament.

New York, Feb. 14.—Special cables from London to The Sun say: The report that Mr. Gladstone intends to return to Parliament as champion of the cause of the persecuted Armenians has been widely discussed to-day. It is naturally received with incredulity, especially in those quarters where the announcement of the Grand Old Man's proposed retirement was ridiculed two years ago. Many inquiries addressed to Mr. Gladstone, who is now at Cannes, have thus far brought no reply.

BEYOND RECOVERY.

The Boy LaFlamme—His Cure was a Surprise—A few Boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

PAPPINEAUVILLE, Feb. 3 (Special).—The father of the boy LaFlamme is one of the leading merchants here and willing to talk of his son's cure. He says,—"My little boy Arthur, after scarlet fever about a year ago, never recovered and his ailment ran into a kidney trouble. His body was swollen to twice its natural size. The sufferings of the little fellow were very severe and we had all given up hope of him. But three months ago we commenced giving him Dodd's Kidney Pills, and to-day he is romping and playing with the other boys." This as an instance of prompt cure is very remarkable.

A Side Wall Fell Out

Leroy, N.Y., Feb. 14.—The north side of the malt house of W. D. Matthews & Company of Toronto, fell out yesterday, carrying with it about 10,000 bushels of malt. As the accident occurred while the entire force of employes were at work, the bulk of the malt was saved.

The Falls in Working Order Again.

Niagara, Falls, N.Y., Feb. 14.—The wind to-day has changed to the southwest, and is blowing the water down the river and over the falls, the result being that the water is 7 to 8 inches deeper than yesterday.

A Chicago Occurrence.

Chicago, Feb. 14.—John, alias Patsy, Harris was hanged here to-day for the murder of Mathew Spruell, which occurred in Georgetown July 4, 1895. Both men were colored.

Who is This Miss Ward?

Monte Carlo, Feb. 14.—A quantity of jewels belonging to Miss Ward,, an American, have been stolen from her apartments in a hotel here.

Will They Conquer Cuba?

Barcelona, Feb. 14.—Further reinforcements to the number of 2280 troops sailed from this port for Cuba to-day.

Although a very busy man, Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., has found time in which to write a great book of over a thousand pages entitled, The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser in plain English, or Medicine Simplified. Few books printed in the English language have reached so great a sale as has this popular work, over 680,000 copies having been sold at $1.50 each. The profits on this enormous sale having repaid its author for the great amount of labour and money expended on its production he has now decided to give away, absolutely free, 500,000 copies of this valuable book, the recipient only being required to mail to the World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N.Y., of which company he is president, 21 one-cent stamps, to cover cost of mailing only, and the book will be sent post-paid. It is a veritable medical library, complete in one volume. It contains 1008 large pages, and over 300 illustrations, some of them in colours. The Free Edition is precisely the same as that sold at $1.50 except only that the books are bound in strong manilla paper covers, instead of cloth. It is not often that our readers have an opportunity to obtain a valuable book on such generous terms, and we predict that few will miss availing themselves of the unusual and liberal offer to which we have called their attention.

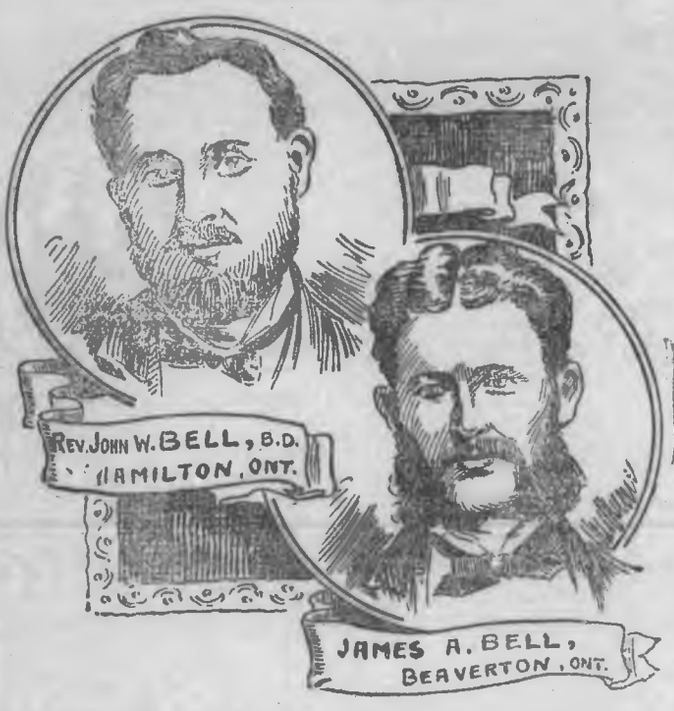
BUILT UP THE SYSTEM IN A WONDERFUL MANNER.



James A. Bell, of Beaverton, Ont., brother of the Rev. John Wesley Bell, B.D., prostrated by nervous headaches

A victim of the trouble for several years.

South American Nervine effected a complete cure.

In their own particular field few men are beter known than the Rev. John Wesley Bell, B.D., and his brother Mr. James A. Bell. The former will be recognized by his thousands of friends all over the country as the popular and able missionary superintendent of the Royal Templars of Temperance. Among the 20,000 members of this order in Ontario his counsel is sought on all sorts of occasions. On the public platform he is one of the strong men of the day, battling against the evils of intemperance. Equally well known is Mr. Bell in other provinces of the Dominion, having been for years a member of the Manitoba Methodist Conference and part of this time was stationed in Winnipeg. His brother, Mr. James A. Bell, is a highly respected resident of Beaverton, where his influence, though perhaps more circumscribed than that of his eminent brother, is none the less effective and productive of good. Of recent years, however, the working ability of Mr. James A. Bell has been sadly marred by severe attacks of nervous headache, accompanied by indigestion. Who can do fit work when this trouble takes hold of them and especially when it becomes chronic, as was, seemingly, the case with Mr. Bell? The trouble reached such intensity that last June he was completely prostrated. In this condition a friend recommended South American Nervine. Ready to try anything and everything, though he thought he had covered the list of proprietary medicines, he secured a bottle of this great discovery. A second bottle of the medicine was taken and the work was done. Employing his own language: "Two bottles of South American Nervine immediately relieved my headaches and have built up my system in a wonderful manner." Let us not deprecate the good our clergymen and social reformers are doing in the world, but how ill-fitted they would be for their work were it not the relief that South American Nervine brings to them when physical ills overtake them, and when the system, as a result of hard, earnest and continuous work, breaks down. Nervine treats the system as the wise reformer treats the evils he is battling against. It strikes at the root of the trouble. All disease comes from disorganization of the nerve centers. This is a scientific fact. Nervine at once works on these nerve centers; gives to them health and vigor; and then there courses through the system strong, healthy, life-maintaining blood, and nervous troubles of every variety are things of the past.

A mirror could not lie if it wanted to. The glass has nothing to gain by flattery. If the roses of health and plumpness of beauty are leaving your face, your mirror will tell you so. You can see for yourself you are in danger of losing the admiration which is every woman's due. You may not really realize it, but health is the greatest beautifier in the world. Lotions, plasters, creams and cosmetics cannot make as good a complexion as health can. They cannot hide the story of ill-health. They merely emphasize it. Health shows in clearness of eyes and skin, in redness of lips and vivacity of manner and expression. Disease is proved positively by the absence of these things. When a woman sees the indications of ill-health in the face, she may with almost absolute certainty look for the cause in one or both of two conditions—constipation, and derangement of the organs distinctly feminine. These things in themselves are in some degree related, and nine-tenths of all the sickness of women come from them. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will cure permanently and positively any so-called "female complaint." Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets will cure constipation. There is no reason in the world why a woman should not be perfectly healthy. It rests with herself. If she will take these truly wonderful remedies, and follow a few hygienic measures, she may become perfectly strong and healthy in all ways. She will gain in health, strength and flesh. Hollows and angles will give place to fullness and grace. She will be that noblest and most beautiful of all creation—a perfect woman. All druggists sell Dr. Pierce's medicines, but if you care to know more about them and to know all of the grandest medical truths, send 31 one-cent stamps to cover customs and mailing only, and a complete copy of Dr. Pierce's 1008 page book, "The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser" will be sent post-paid. It is a veritable medical library, complete in one volume. Several finely illustrated chapters are devoted to the consideration of diseases of women and their successful home-treatment. Address, World's Dispensary Medical Association, 663 Main St., Buffalo, N.Y.

A HOT SOUP SPRING.

A WONDERFUL FREAK OF NATURE FOUND NEAR ELKO, NEVADA.

Visitors Bring Cups and Crackers and Feast on Something That Tastes Like Chicken Broth—Nature's Soup Kitchen in the Foothills of the Sierras.

The free soup houses might have been dispensed with during the hard times if the people of Nevada had only put up barrels of the chicken soup that bubbles from the foot hills of the Sierra Nevadas, in Elko County, Nev., and had dispatched it to the poor in our great cities. Incredible as it may seem, it is nevertheless a fact that soup is a natural product; and I have often satisfied my hunger, says a correspondent of the Philadelphia Press, from this boiling hot spring, which, judging by the palate, is simply nature's hot soup tureen. The pool, scarcely 100 yards in diameter, lies just off the stage road among the foothills of the Sierra Nevada Mountains. The traveler comes upon it just after crossing the toll bridge over the Humboldt River, which rushes like a cataract through the Humboldt Valley far below, making Chicken Soup Spring seem rather insignificant; but in reality this wonderful little body of water has been sounded to the depth of 100 feet, while the turbulent waters below are shallow in comparison.

The south side of the pool is deepest and seems to be the source from which the peculiar solution flows; for the bubbling, boiling water on that side will cook a goose egg in two minutes. It is a common sight to see tourists wending their way with bags of crackers and cups in their hands.

The neighboring roadbed is ballasted on one side by what appears to be a covering of hardened lime; but it is in reality pure crushed lava of unmistakably volcanic organ, for lying in close proximity are evidences of volcanic eruptions.

The pool has been dragged many times, but nothing has ever been taken from its depths but cedar. Cedar trees once abounded in this locality, and the bark, which bears marks of considerable age, was probably thrown in by the Indians while building their rafts and canoes.

This wonderful freak, lying about three and one-half miles from the rough little mining town of Elko, is never visited by the inhabitants, unless they are passing that way and feel hungry. The miners and the rest of the matter-of-fact population have long ceased to wonder at nature's partiality, and except the existence of this boiling soup caldron as a convenient fact. Whether it is due to the mineral properties of the soil or to the close proximity of lava beds, or is itself a volcano in a mild state of aqueous eruption, I know not. But, there it is, and any one who will go to Elko can easily find the spring and sample the soup to corroborate my statements.

Footwear of a Giant.

"Big Foot Johnson is a noted criminal of Southern California and recently he was traced from the scene of a highway robbery to his hiding place in a swamp many miles away, by the immense foot prints he left en route. But Johnson's shoes were only sixteen inches long and now another Californian turns up at San Jose and beats the record with pedal apparel seven inches wide and eighteen and a half inches long. John Defant is the owner of the feet and he has just left an old pair of shoes in a San Jose shop and had a new pair made to order.

The youth of the town gathered about the shop and saw those wonderful feet enshrouded in two calf skins. Defant was not annoyed by the curiosity. He frankly said he had long got over that feeling.

"They may look large," he said frankly and modestly, as one knew the real worth of his possessions, "but they ain't. You just ought to see my sister's feet." And he proceeded to reveal to those gaping youngsters the broad and noble dimensions of his sister's Trilbys.

Defant is working about the mines in the Sierra foothills. Though a Frenchman he looks as big as the biggest of the Cornish miners in that locality. He is six feet six inches tall, weighs 230 pounds, and is 45 years of age.

The Doctor's Uncertainty.

The physician looked troubled.

"Do you know anything about the Browns?" he asked at last.

"What do you want to know?" inquired his wife. "I have met Mrs. Brown a number of times and she seems to be a very pleasant, well-bred woman, who"——

"Oh, I don't care anything about that," interrupted the physician quickly. "I was thinking about Mr Brown's financial condition."

"I think he pays his bills very promptly."

"I know he does," exclaimed the physician impatiently. "But is he really a wealthy man, or is he only moderately well off?"

"I don't see what business that is of yours," suggested his wife.

"I want to prescribe for his wife."

"What's the matter with her?"

"Nothing. That's just the trouble. She complains of a feeling of lassitude and all that, and I must humor her or lose all the business of the family."

"I don't just see"——

"Oh, of course you don't. You've been a doctor's wife for ten years, and you don't know anything about the business yet."

"But what effect can his wealth have upon your prescriptions?"

"Why, the whole thing depends upon that in a case like this. If I have no idea how much he is worth, how am I to know whether to advise a trip to Europe or a little exercise?"—Chicago Post.

Blushing Can Be Cured Easily.

"An annoyance with which many persons are afflicted is the habit of blushing," said Dr. Whiteside. "When I was a young man I was a blusher of the worst type. Advice I had in plenty. 'Go into society,' recomended some; 'cultivate will power,' said others, with as much sense; and so on it went, each successively more stupid than the last, until it became evident that relief from outside was not forthcoming. Upon turning the matter over in my mind, and before I had studied medicine for any time, I came to the conclusion that blusing was not a disease, but a symptom—a symptom of a defective nervous system. The sequel showed that, in my case at least, this was perfectly correct, and I believe that it is equally true of the vast majority of others. Having got thus far I set about removing the cause. I carefully avoided tea, coffee, stimulants, late hours and other agents well known to have an enervating influence, living at the same time as healthy as possible. The result was most gratifying. At the end of a few months blushing no longer made my life intolerable, and after a further period of time the tendency almost entirely disappeared."—Kansas City

THE PIONEER

A SIMCOE COUNTY MAN WHO HAS AN INTERESTING HISTORY.

At 263 McCaul st., in this city, lives Mr. Samuel Kilgore, a vigorous specimen of those sturdy pioneers to whom the rapid development of this Province is mainly due. Mr. Kilgore relates, with pride, how he cleared the land on which Judge Gowan (now Senator Gowan), had his house built, and how himself and that honorable gentleman together laid the corner stone and deposited a box with various coins, etc., within the corner stone at the time. With his own hands also he cleared the land on which stands the Barrie High School, which numbers among its ex-pupils such names as Wm. Lount, Q.C., and D'Alton McCarthy, Q.C. Mr. Kilgore has served as reeve and councillor also in the township, and his sterling integrity and sound judgment give great force to his words. A few words from him will be sure to be of interest. Mr. Kilgore says:

"The dull aching pains around my loins and in the small of my back indicated to me several years ago that my kidneys were affected. I had to get up frequently at night and my rest was broken accordingly. I procured a box of Doan's Kidney Pills at Gilpin's drug store some time ago, and they did wonders for me. They gave me relief almost immediately. The annoying pains around my back fled. The trouble in urinating was felt no more. My stomach, though foul, became sweet, and my whole system became so regulated that I looked back, with pleasure, to my boyhood days when pains and aches were unknown to me. I am now over seventy-three years of age, and Doan's Kidney Pills are the most wonderful medicine I ever took. After having given them a fair trial I can heartily recommend them to any one with kidney or stomach troubles."

PYNY-PECTORAL
The Quick Cure for COUGHS, COLDS, CROUP, BRONCHITIS, HOARSENESS, etc.

MRS. JOSEPH NORWICK, of 68 Sorauren Ave., Toronto, writes: "Pyny-Pectoral has never failed to cure my children of croup after a few doses. It cured myself of a long-standing cough after several other remedies had failed. It has also proved an excellent cough cure for my family. I prefer it to any other medicine for coughs, croup or hoarseness."

H. O. BARBOUR, of Little Rocher, N.B., writes: "As a cure for coughs Pyny-Pectoral is the best selling medicine I have. My customers will have no other."

your child

You note the difference in children. Some have nearly every ailment, even with the best of care. Others far more exposed pass through unharmed. Weak children will have continuous colds in winter, poor digestion in summer. They are without power to resist disease, they have no reserve strength. Scott's Emulsion of cod-liver oil, with hypophosphites, is cod-liver oil partly digested and adapted to the weaker digestions of children.

A QUEER CASE

Came to light here yesterday. It's the queerest case of the kind that ever showed up in this town. A telegram was received by us from Bobcaygeon as follows :—

FAIRWEATHER & CO., PETERBOROUGH:

"Keep 25-Dollar Coon Coat, same as Jack's. Can't get down; snowed in.

"R. J. L."

This man has shown his sense in spending 25c on a telegram to secure this coat. We have four others. Come in and see them and a whole shopful of similar bargains.

Down at the Rink Amongst the Curlers and the Hockeyists—Other Items of Interest.

CURLIANA.

Amongst the matches played at the rink yesterday was that in the Kendry cup series, between Skips C. Rutherford and R. S. Davidson, in which the former won by one shot. Skip Davidson had a lead of three on the 15th end, but on the 16th Skip Rutherford tied the score by making a three end. Another end had to be played to break the tie and it was won by Skip Rutherford. The rinks were composed as follows :

H Snowden,	R Hay,
C N Brown,	C LeBrun,
A Blade,	H LeBrun,
C Rutherford, skip..14	R S Davidson, skip ..13

The winner of the Ferguson-Connal draw plays Skip Rutherford and the winner of that match plays against Sam Ray in the finals for the cup.

The following scratch matches were played :—

W E Loch,	Dr Caldwell,
W H Meredith,	W Stocker,
John Stanger,	D Belleghem,
S Ray, skip.....16	J McClelland, skip....8
Alf Terrill,	J Blaine,
Geo Giroux,	R Kerr,
J Connal,	W J Thompson,
J Salisbury, skip....19	Geo Brown, skip,.....7

The following match was played at the rink yesterday afternoon :—

R E Wood,	G Giroux,
W Manson,	D Belleghem,
F A Taylor,	W Allen,
Judge Weller, sk...20	Harry Allen, skip....12

When the Lindsay curlers returned from Oshawa, after winning the Dryden Cup, they were met at the station by the band and driven up to the rink at the head of a procession. A public meeting was afterwards held and remarks laudatory of Lindsay's curlers made by a large number of speakers.

The Toronto Granites have again won the Ontario Tankard for the fourth time. Lakefield succumbed to Dundas.

HOCKEY.

The Kingston News has the following to say of the Wednesday evening game of hockey :—The men from Peterborough were bound to win the game at any cost. So a man, who formerly played on their forward line was called from Toronto "to do his little cyclone rush act." The Kingstonians were badly hampered by playing on a small box of a rink, and describe the game as like trying to play hockey on a billiard table. The local men had the cushion shots down fine, and knew just where the puck would land. Even with the disadvantage of being stuck in a snow bank all night, and playing on a small rink, the Kingston boys would have made a better showing, but for the Referee, who did not seem to know the game of hockey "from a hole in the wall." A few of the actions of this "personage" will show fairminded public how little he knew of the game. He tried to rule the "Vics" goal-keeper off because he tried to stop the puck with his hand. He ruled Metcalfe off because this player stopped the puck with his stick, when it was in the air. He threatened to rule "Mack" Murray because "Mack" did not hold his stick straight when facing off. Every time Peterborough scored, he jumped in the air threw his hat up and applauded. The only wonder is that the score was not 131 to 1, instead of 13 1. Even the fair-minded spectators protested against the unjust decisions of this genius. The general opinion was that he had better go back to his home in Lindsay and read up the hockey rules or perhaps learn how to skate before he tries to referee a match again. The "Vics" are confident that they can hold their own with the speedy men from Peterborough. It is only hoped that a game can be arranged to be played on Kingston ice, between the two teams. If the Peterborough men come here they will be well received, and if they can play better hockey than the Victorias, when everything is equal, the Kingstonians will give them the credit of being a better team.'

It would be almost useless to begin to correct the many mistatements in the above account of the match. The goal-keeper got into trouble because he picked the puck up off the ice an threw it the full length of the rink. Metcalfe was not ruled off for stopping the puck in the air with his stick, but was only put on the fence after being repeatedly warned against indulging in rough play. Metcalfe has often been retired from the ice by Kingston referee, so the experience was not a new one to him. The only mistake was that Murray and Wilson were not put off with them.

It would have been bad taste on the part of the local papers to "roast" the visitors from Kingston, but this attack of the Kingston News will justify us in saying that a more unsportsmanlike set of young fellows never before abused the hospitality of the Peterborough hockeyists. Young Reynar was the only member of the team who comported himself as a gentleman.

The "News" promises that the Peterboroughs would be well treated if they went to Kingston. The boys went last year to Kingston and the Kingstonians themselves must acknowledge with shame that they treated their visitors with but cold hospitality.

Secretary A. Mercier of the Riverside Park Hockey Club, has received a challenge from the Hiawathas of Rice Lake to a game of hockey at their rink, Rice lake, any day next week. The challenge has been accepted, and the following players will represent the Riversides :

Harry Neil	Goal
Chas Calcutt, (Cap')	Point
R Tivey	Cover Point
A Mercier	Forwards
W Logan	Forwards
W J Scott	Forwards
R T Hartley	Forwards
J Collins	Goal umpire

No doubt the game will be a fast one, as both teams are in prime condition. A series of three games will be played for a handsome silver cup, presented by Commodore Calcutt. It has to be won three times before passing into the possession of either club.

THE YORK COUNTY LOAN AND SAVINGS COMPANY.

Annual General Meeting in Toronto—Its Record for the Year unequalled in the History of Loan and Savings Companies.

(Toronto News, February 12th)

Yesterday the annual general meeting of the shareholders of the York County Loan and Savings Company took place in the general offices of the company, in Confederation Life building.

The prosperity of the company, as evidenced by the annual report, must be gratifying to the shareholders and to the energetic president, Mr. Joseph Phillips.

The record of progress has been beyond expectation. During the year the assets of the company increased from $68,643.14 to $174,608.04, a gain of $105,964.81, which is a record that is seldom equailed in the histories of loan and savings companies.

The mortgage loans were increased from $40,273,99 to $146,900, a net gain of $106,626.01.

In the same period the total net earnings of the company were increased from $3,491 45 to $13,442.72, a net gain of $9,848.44.

A dividend of 12 per cent has been credited to the instalment stock, and $1,000 carried to the reserve fund.

Since the company commenced three years ago the large sum of $63,198.98 has has been paid to withdrawing members.

The membership has increased 10,000 members.

ASSETS.

Mortgage loans on real estate	$146,900 00
Loans on this company's stock	16,373 25

Total liabilities	$174,608 01

PROFIT ACCOUNT.

Total net earnings	$ 13,389 89
Dividends paid in cash, 1895	3,540 31

The appraised cash value of real estate loaned upon is $296,300.

This company is in high favour, and its business is extending to the remotest bounds of the Province. The money-saving habits it is cultivating among the people are to be commended. Its easy plans have led many already to escape from the dreaded mortgage which so ruthlessly followed them for years.

It is surprising what can be accomplished by people in paying off a mortgage when a powerful ally such as a company like this stands behind them, while at the same time it leads the way.

The retiring officers were unanimously re-elected as follows :—Joseph Phillips, president ; A. T. Hunter, LL.B., vice-president ; Albert E. Nash, secretary ; V. Robin, treasurer.

The Peterborough District Agency is managed by Superintendent A.A. Cutting, office No. 352 Water street. It is gratifying to learn that so successful has Mr. Cutting's management been that Peterborough ranks third on the list of the most prosperous agencies of this Company.

A Sensational PULL-DOWN IN THE PRICE OF PANTS!

Here's a bit of good fortune unequalled in the Clothing trade. We just struck it in time. Our Pantry was getting low down. We had almost cleaned out of Trousers when the opportunity came along.

Thanks to our good fortune, we received advice from one of the largest Manufacturers of Clothing in Montreal, McKenna, Thompson & Co, informing us that they had a snap in Pants to offer Gough Bros. We went, we saw, we conquered. Our bid took the entire stock on hand at a phenomenally low uniform figure.

By rail we have received the full consignment—containing eight large cases, consisting of

1125 PAIRS OF PANTS

For Men and Young Men, which we can actually afford to sell at

ONE-HALF PRICE

The assortment is complete embracing well-known popular selling patterns in All Wool Material made up in leading styles of the tailors' art, and in a complete range of sizes—enabling us to suit men of all dimensions, tastes and purses. Here you have the figures that back up our statements :—

$4.00 Pants for $2.00.
$3.00 Pants for $1.50.
$1.50 Pants for 75c.

Two pairs of Pants for the price of one—cheap enough surely to buy two or three pairs at a time, and lay aside for future use. All those in favour of the same will please signify in the usual manner.

Can't sell them at less than half price. Kindly remember this fact and oblige. We're not going to go back on our words.

Dealers, please don't come—you're not invited.

SECOND CROP OF BARGAINS.

We start the Bargain Ball rolling for February in dead earnest. As there is a good deal of winter yet before us, it is unnecessary to point out the wisdom of buying now.

Our Stock-Taking is over—now for a month of lucky chances and snaps in mid-winter goods. An aftermath of Bargains for shrewd buyers—lines which we laid out during stock taking such as Serges, Cheviots, Heavy Tweeds and other Remnants, to be sold even at HALF REGULAR PRICES.

We don't want to carry winter lines past their regular selling season, so you may figure on getting pretty nearly your own way in prices.

You need the goods—we need the room they occupy—so there is mutual benefit all round in the selling of them.

Our New Spring Stock is wheeling into line, and we are glad to tell our lady friends that part of our programme for Spring is a NEW MILLINERY DEPARTMENT, of which we will tell you more in good time.

We don't "rest-up" during the winter months and take things easy until Spring. Business is full of worn-out, tired-out men who live almost wholly in the past and struggle for the success that never comes. And because of that they find fault with the times. While others are resting we're simply HUSTLING.

CHAMBERLAIN'S DAY.

The Colonial Secretary is Now in Front

AND A POSSIBLE PRIME MINISTER

Mr. George W. Smalley Cables an Article on the Leader's Past, Present and Probable Future—How He Has Treated Canada and Her Sister Colonies.

New York, Feb. 16.—Mr. George W. Smalley contributes to The Herald today an interesting article on the past, present and probable future of Mr. Chamberlain. In the course of this article Mr. Smalley says: Early in Mr. Chamberlain's Parliamentary career the word most often flung at him was parochial. He could not shake off the mayoralty of the midland capital. At one time the taunt was just enough. He took narrow views. His mind was concentrated on questions of domestic life. He was an economist, a social reformer, and, when he uttered his too-famous phrase about ransom, a socialist. He was in his right place as president of the Board of Trade and president of the Local Government Board. What he had to deal with in those offices were questions of commerce and questions of internal administration. He filled both offices with energetic capacity, but his mind did not expand till he had shaken off home rule. Down to that time he was almost a Little Englander. The necessity of defending the integrity of the United Kingdom taught him Imperialism.

There came a change in the tone of his speeches and in his handling of large subjects. He became interested in foreign affairs. He took a journey and discovered Egypt; returned, and announced that the English occupation of Egypt was a necessity, as it was and is. His visit to America had brought him into relations with Canada, perhaps the most stiff-necked of all English colonies. Greater Britain became to him something more than a phrase. Foreign affairs presented themselves to him in a light different from that in which the Mayor of Birmingham had viewed them. He passed from politics to statesmanship. Brooding much over these newer interests, considering, as he has ever done, with some exactness, the chances of his own career, considering also in a spirit of true patriotism the larger interests of the empire, he saw that his one great opportunity, both of building up his own place and of serving his country, lay in a new policy for the colonies.

It is characteristic of him that he should have spoken of them as neglected estates which needed development. It is but a figure of speech, but it shows how commercialism had saturated his mind. His conception, at any rate, no matter how it was phrased, was a great one. He shook off the notion that the colonies were only so many encumbrances, a favorite notion of Liberals and Radicals this many a year—a notion from which Lord Beaconsfield himself was not free. He persuaded himself that it was possible to weld the empire together more closely than ever before, and to make these outlying provinces in a sense integral parts of the huge Imperial fabric which covers the globe. Australia had taught him a lesson when she offered to send troops to Suakim.

Canada taught him another by her perpetual assertion of self-interest as her sole rule of conduct in her relations with the mother country. One was an inspiration, the other a warning. Out of the two he framed a policy, or in the two he found a germ capable of great national growth. To encourage the loyalty of which New South Wales had given so splendid an example, to repress the centrifugal tendency of Canada by making her see that interest and loyalty might be harmonious—such seems to have been Mr. Chamberlain's purpose. His reward and the signal proof of his sagacity came soon. When the German Emperor began to bluster, Australia, and not Australia alone, showed herself ready to spring to arms for the empire.

When a war cloud hung over England and the United States, Canada, the very province which had seemed readiest to make light of her Imperial obligations, the province which must be first to suffer if war actually came, rivalled, and perhaps surpassed, all others in her declaration of devotion to the Crown and of her purpose to stand or fall with the empire itself. And it was under Mr. Chamberlain's Ministry that these things came to pass.

How capable Mr Chamberlain proved himself for the Transvaal business all the world knows. Strictly that, like Venezuela, might seem to have belonged to the Foreign Office rather than the Colonial Office. But, as the Transvaal concerned Cape Colony and all colonial South Africa, and as Venezuela's real dispute was with British Guiana, the masterful Colonial Secretary annexed them both to his own department and dealt with them both. Lord Salisbury, as the ruler of the empire, seemed for a moment effaced, and Mr. Chamberlain stood in the forefront of the battle.

The Prime Minister, who is also Foreign Minister, was, of course, not really effaced, but there were critical days and weeks when not he, but Mr. Chamberlain, loomed largest in the eyes of England and the world. It was Mr. Chamberlain who gave orders to the Governor of British Guiana and to the High Commissioner at The Hague. It was Mr. Chamberlain who signed despatches. It was Mr. Chamberlain who communicated with President Kruger. It was Mr. Chamberlain, and not Lord Salisbury, who found in South African affairs the material for a personal encounter with the ablest—incomparably the ablest—of colonial statesmen and adventurers, so that the struggle in South Africa looked at one time like a duel between Mr. Chamberlain and Mr. Cecil Rhodes. Nothing was wanting to Mr. Chamberlain's triumph but that challenge to England's power which the German Emperor was so considerate as to supply.

The roar of defiance which followed was the voice of all England, and yet, somehow, you seemed to detect amid the deep utterance of the anger of a great people the sharp and sometimes rather shrill note which Mr. Chamberlain's powers as a debater have made familiar to the House of Commons. It was the hour of his political apotheosis. He had regained in a few months, almost in a few days, all, and far more than all, the prestige of which he had sacrificed some part when he separated from the remnant of those Liberals whom, as a united party, he at one time seemed destined to lead. He had completely vindicated his claim to leadership. He had eclipsed for the time, not only Lord Salisbury, but the predestined heir to the succession of Lord Salisbury, Mr. Arthur Balfour. He had silenced the clamor against him, whether Conservative or Radical. He had the nation behind him; he was the idol of the nation.

Constantinople, Feb. 16.—The following is a Turkish estimate of Turkish violence in the Province of Harpoot and some of the adjacent villages, being a translation of a list prepared in Turkey by a local Moslem in high extra Governmental position. The original is sealed with his seal. The total number killed is given at 39,234; number destitute, 94,770, as follows, total killed, males, women and girls murdered, 29,544; persons burned to death in the fires, 1333; ministers, priests and school teachers killed, 51; deaths from hunger and cold, 3,266; deaths in mountains and snow, 4,330; number of miscarriages from fear, 660; number wounded 8,000; number of buildings burned, 28,562; forcibly circumcised and converted to Islam, 15,180; number of violations, 5,530; monasteries, schools and churches demolished or burned, 227; number of women and girls forcibly taken in marriage by the Moslems, 1532; number of men, women and children in destitute condition, 54,770.

GAGNON BLEW OUT HIS BRAINS.

A French-Canadian Shantyman Stopped Off at Orillia to Do the Deed.

Orillia, Feb. 15.—Auriele Gagnon, returning from the lumber camps, got off the Soo express at 5.40 this morning, and registered at the Daly House under an assumed name. He asked to be called in time for the noon train. At 11 o'clock the clerk called him, but could get no response, and, fearing something was wrong, the authorities were notified, who forced open the door and found the body of the young man seated on a chair with a bullet hole in the left temple and a 32-calibre revolver lying on the floor in a pool of blood. He had evidently been dead four hours when found. It was a clear case of suicide. The body has been sent to Riviere Onelle, Que.

Young Hughitt's Health Was Bad and He Concluded to Die.

Chicago, Feb. 16.—Wm. G. Hughitt, 21 years old, son of Marvin Hughitt, president of the Chicago & Northwestern Railroad, was found dead on the floor of his room in the family residence, 2828 Prairie avenue, this morning, having a bullet wound in his head. The ball which killed him was fired by his own hand. The young man had been despondent for some time past on account of ill health. An inquest was held during the afternoon and a verdict rendered, "Suicide caused by despondency produced by ill health."

WHAT WAS M'DONALD'S FATE?

The Postmaster of Creiff Believed to Have Perished in the Snow.

Hespeler, Feb. 15.—James Macdonald, postmaster of Creiff, Township of Puslinch, was in Hespeler on Monday. He had supper at the house of Malcolm McLelland and left the village for home between 7 and 8 o'clock on the evening of that day. He was walking and was last seen a short distance from the village, going towards Puslinch. Nothing has been heard of him since that time, though searching parties have been doing all they could to locate him. The worst wind and snowstorm of the season was raging that night and it is feared he may have perished and been covered by the drifting snow.

ANSLOW HAD PLENTY OF STUFF.

Yet He Died at Niagara Falls Saying He Was Too Poor to Buy Medicine.

Niagara Falls, N.Y., Feb. 15.—A remarkable story comes from Niagara Falls, Ont., of an Italian citizen named Anslow of that place, who died there yesterday. He claimed that he was too poor to buy medicine. After his death it was found that he had over $2,500 on deposit in the Postoffice Savings Bank, besides sundry sums hidden about in various parts of his house. Anslow was an unmarried man and a shoemaker by trade.

TO GET PROPER ARMS

At Last the Government Gets Some Sense.

SEES THE ABSOLUTE NECESSITY

Of Placing Magazine Rifles in the Hands of the Canadian Militia. The Garrison and Field Batteries Will Also Have Modern Guns in Future.

Ottawa, Feb. 16.—The announcement made two or three weeks ago that the Government had about decided to purchase 4000 stand of Martini-Enfield rifles led to an official statement from the Minister that no definite conclusion had been reached. The original statement, however, had the effect of demonstrating the strong feeling existing throughout the country in favor of the adoption of a magazine rifle, as opposed to a single shot weapon, and I hear on good authority that a magazine rifle has now been decided upon. Whether the weapon chose will be the Lee-Metford or the Lee-Enfield (the difference between which lies only in grooving, both weapons taking the same bullet, that is a 303), has not yet transpired, but in whatever action the Government takes, it will be guided by the advice of the Imperial authorities. Communications have recently been received from Col. Lake, Quartermaster-General, at present in England, who speaks in high terms of the assistance which the War Office and the Horse Guards are rendering to him. It transpires that the purchase of a rifle is simply one phase of the Government's policy regarding the militia. The most modern equipment in the shape of big guns is to be procured for garrison and field batteries, and possibly a supply of Maxim-Nordenfeldt guns. The total appropriation which Parliament will be asked to vote will be in the vicinity of three million dollars.

Strong representations are being made to the Government to place a revenue cutter on B.C. waters for the prevention of smuggling and the protection of the valuable fisheries owned by the Dominion. Col. Prior has the matter in hand and is being strongly backed up by his fellow members from British Columbia. As a preliminary step it is expected that when the Dominion steamer Quadra goes into commission in the spring she will be fitted out like the fishery cruisers on the Atlantic coast. Hitherto the Government steamer in Pacific waters has been altogether unarmed, a condition that is undesirable should she be required for police duty anywhere along the coast. A short time ago cutlasses and Hotchkiss rifles were sent out by the department here and the crew are to be instructed in their use. Besides this, it is understood that a nine pounder rifled muzzle loading gun similar to those used by the Canadian Field Batteries is to be mounted on a pivot on the Quadra's deck. This gun could be used if necessary for signalling and bringing to vessels suspected of smuggling and would, it is expected, overawe them if they feel disposed to offer any resistance to arrest. Such an equipment has at times been found necessary in Atlantic waters, especially a short time ago, when the whisky smugglers on the Lower St. Lawrence were giving the authorities considerable trouble. Hitherto in British Columbia waters there has not been anything in the shape of an armed vessel for use when the warships were away from port.

An effort is being made to induce the Dominion Government to transfer the nine lepers now held in restraint in British Columbia, to the new lazaretto recently erected at a cost of $20,000 at Tracadie, N.B. In this institute there are nine male and 16 female patients. Three died during the past year. For many years Dr. A. C. Smith has been in charge of this institution. Regarding the result of his experience with leprous patients, he says: "No real cure for leprosy has yet been discovered. My predecessor, Dr. Nicholson, and after him myself have treated several of our lepers with colored water, to see if the influence of the mind over the body would cause a change, and in every instance it did so. For a time all symptoms of the disease were in abeyance, and there was a decided improvement, but, of course, only for a time, and it seemed to me that the disease made up for lost time afterwards."

Mr. Earle, M.P., whose firm has two sailing vessels in commission in the waters of the Pacific, received word yesterday that nearly all vessels of the Victoria fleet have left port to take part in the coast catch. They will meet the seals off the coast of California, as far south as San Diego, and follow them up the coast north until May 1, when the close season commences.

The fishery protection service last year experienced considerable trouble with evasions of the law by licensed vessels flying the Stars and Stripes. Their practice was to buy supplies and bait in ports not entitled to, and outside the three-mile limit transfer them to unlicensed American vessels. A clause will be added to the modus vivendi treaty making such practices an offence rendering the offender liable to confiscation.

TORONTO GRAIN MEN

Object to be Debarred From Representation in Fixing the Wheat Standards

Toronto, Feb. 17.

The grain section of the Board of Trade met on Saturday to protest against the proposed action of debarring Ontario and Quebec grain dealers from representation on the board fixing standards for Manitoba wheat. Mr. McLaughlin, chairman, and Messrs. H. N. Baird, W. D. Matthews and John Brown addressed the meeting, and it was unanimously agreed that the proposed change will result in injury to the trade. Mr. George A. Chapman was selected by the section as a delegate to co-operate with the Montreal delegation in interests of eastern trade, and will leave for Ottawa to-night. Mr. C. B. Watts goes to Ottawa to represent the Dominion Millers' Association.

MONDAY, FEBRUARY 17, 1896.

A RAID ON THE TREASURY.

The pat cry of "obstruction" raised by Government organs and Government parasites is raised to cover a gigantic raid on the Dominion strong chest. Liberal members of parliament are denounced as obstructionists because they object to the passage of a full supply bill, whose object, if not expressed specifically, is to furnish the Government party with corruption funds for the coming general elections. Last parliament sufficient funds were voted to last till the 30th of June, 1896. There is, therefore, no necessity for voting another supply bill to be manipulated by the present government; and, besides it is contrary to the constitution. Parliament must be dissolved by the lapse of time on April 25th at latest, and the constitutional law on the subject is that in the event of a dissolution of parliament the government of the day is only entitled to a vote on estimates sufficient in amount to carry on the affairs of the country until a general election can be held. The present government being, as before stated, already in possession of funds voted by parliament last session, sufficient to last till June next, is not, according to law, entitled to any additional vote. Not only is it contrary to law, under the circumstances, to vote a supply bill at this session, but it is contrary, to every consideration of prudence, to entrust a moribund government, which has no claim to represent the country with thirty or forty million dollars, a large amount of which is pretty certain to be devoted to wild-cat-schemes, to purchase constituencies in gross, and warrant the letting of contracts that can be "milked" to furnish campaign funds. The present government does not in reality, though it may technically represent the, country. The bye-elections have gone overwhelmingly against the government, and even Sir Charles Tupper, who was represented as a tower of strength to the party, had to seek a constituency where the election of a Liberal is a simple impossibility. It is the veriest nonsense to characterize the laudable desire of the Liberals in Parliament to protect the public chest, as obstruction. It is just as reasonable to call a citizen an obstructionist who defends his house against a burglar. The Government has shown how it can use the public funds for corruption purposes through the medium of grants to schemes of no public benefit, with the understood condition that a liberal percentage of such grants is to return to the Government purely for campaign funds. Everybody knows that; and it is the height of fatuous folly to entrust a government in its last hours with between thirty and forty millions of dollars to play fast and loose with. The passing of the estimates at the present Parliament is a crime against the public on the part of the party which proposes it, and it is the duty of every honest representative to prevent the perpetration of such an outrage.

Weak Young Men or Women

Are seen everywhere. Heredity or overstudy renders them unfitted to cope with the responsibilities of life, susceptible to consumption or decline. Medicine has failed and must fail, for they need food. Take cod liver oil? No! Their poor stomachs rebel. Take emulsions? No! They are equally distasteful. Nothing will effect a cure but Maltine with Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites. The oil, rendered palatable and easy of digestion, is quickly assimilated, and the maltine, equal in nutrition to the oil, and even surpassing it in energetic action upon the digestive processes, unite in producing increased weight, improved colour, and that elasticity and buoyancy which herald returning health. Maltine with cod liver oil has a remedial value ten times greater than emulsions. Try it.

A final meeting of the patrons of Star Cheese Factory was held on Monday night. The annual meeting was held last month, but over $200 of cheese was made and sold after the annual meeting, so the Monday meeting was held to finally wind up. The report at the annual meeting by the secretary, Mr. Morgan Johns, was as follows:—

No. of cheese made		1,323
Pounds of milk		889,449
" cheese		84,911¼
" milk per lb. cheese		10 47-100
Net av. price per 100 lbs of milk		51 61-100
Cash received for cheese		$6,646 47
Manufacturing	$1,374 10
Milk drawing	773 78
Net amt. to patrons	4,573 31
Expenses	4 50	6,646 19

After this statement was presented, 2,467 lbs. of cheese was made and sold at 9c., realizing $222.03, which was divided on Monday night, and besides six cheese were made free for the use of the patrons. The season was considered quite satisfactory. The maker and owner of the factory, Mr. Archie Beavis was complimented on his work, the fact that not a single cull cheese had been made speaking for the care of manufacture. Mr. Thos. Robertson, who had been chairman of the Lindsay Cheese Board, spoke favourably of the working of the new board and thought the board would increase in importance. The make was as good quality as that boarded at Peterborough and should next season attract more buyers. Mr. Morgan Johns was thanked for his painstaking care as secretary, and the patrons were satisfied with the result of the season. Experience has now brought the manufacture of the cheese to the taste of the English market. Canadian cheese is retailed to the English workman, and this trade requires a firm, close texture, mild and nutty flavor. A soft, open, sharp cheese is invariably culled by the local inspectors. One of the anomalies in the cheese trade, as in all other lines of commerce, is that the workman in the Liverpool or Cardiff docks, buys his half pound of cheese as cheap, or cheaper, than it can be obtained in Dunsford, Bobcaygeon or Lindsay. When cheese sold at the factory for 10c it was retailed in Liverpool at sixpence, 12½c. The Babcock tester was used by Mr. Beavis throughout the season, and he had no reason to complain.

Although a very busy man, Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., has found time in which to write a great book of over a thousand pages entitled, The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser in plain English, or Medicine Simplified. Few books printed in the English language have reached so great a sale as has this popular work, over 680,000 copies having been sold at $1.50 each. The profits on this enormous sale having repaid its author for the great amount of labour and money expended on its production he has now decided to give away, absolutely free, 500,000 copies of this valuable book, the recipient only being required to mail to the World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y., of which company he is president, 21 one-cent stamps, to cover cost of mailing only, and the book will be sent post-paid. It is a veritable medical library, complete in one volume. It contains 1008 large pages, and over 300 illustrations, some of them in colours. The Free Edition is precisely the same as that sold at $1.50 except only that the books are bound in strong manilla paper covers, instead of cloth. It is not often that our readers have an opportunity to obtain a valuable book on such generous terms, and we predict that few will miss availing themselves of the unusual and liberal offer to which we have called their attention.

A Quaint Discovery Made by Photographing a Supposed Swathed Mummy.

Berlin, Feb. 16.—Although it is evident that America is fully abreast, if not ahead, of Europe in expanding and developing Roentgen's discovery, some quaint incidents of the process here may not be duplicated on the other side. For instance, the Vienna Museum for some time has possessed as its chief treasure an Egyptian mummy, which is swathed to resemble a human being, but the inscription on which suggested it to be an ibis instead. The thing was too rare and precious to run the risk of unwinding its bandages to solve this problem, but the shadow photograph now plainly reveals the skeleton of a large bird. Prof. Bergmann of Berlin utilized the discovery the other day for a surgical operation, but at the same time made a speech to the students in the university class, warning them of the possible dangers involved in this new and weird multiplication of facilities for diagnosis. He foresees that, now the position of metal substances inside the human form may be traced with ease, everybody who has been carrying bullets, needles and shot for years without harm to himself will be possessed with the passion to have them located and dug out, and against this he protests fervently. He says he made his special reputation in surgery in the Russo-Turkish war by never extracting a bullet if it was not absolutely necessary, more than anything else, and even in time of peace, where antiseptic aids are at their best, he earnestly deprecates all but strictly essential operations of this nature.

Appeal From the Armenian Relief Association to the Women of the U.S.

New York, Feb. 16.—The following appeal has been issued to the women of the United States by the Armenian Relief Association: "In the midst of the black ruins of hundreds of Armenian villages and once peaceful homes, appalled by the horrible murder of 50,000 men, women and children, shelterless, hungry and in fear of death, three hundred thousand Christian people, mostly women and children, are ready to perish in the terrible cold of a highland winter. One dollar suffices to supply one person with food for two months, so that at least $250,000 more is required to keep the people from starvation until next April. We appeal to one thousand women of America to send one hundred dollars each to save at least one hundred thousand women and children from death and starvation. The Duke of Westminster, president of the London Relief Committee, has informed this association that committees for the distribution of help have been established in thirteen principal cities under the supervision of British consular officers and American missionaries. Cheques should be sent to Charles H. Stout, treasurer Armenial Relief Association, National Bank of the Republic, New York City.

PAPPINEAUVILLE, Feb. 3 (Special).—The father of the boy LaFlamme is one of the leading merchants here and willing to talk of his son's cure. He says,—"My little boy Arthur, after scarlet fever about a year ago, never recovered and his ailment ran into a kidney trouble. His body was swollen to twice its natural size. The sufferings of the little fellow were very severe and we had all given up hope of him. But three months ago we commenced giving him Dodd's Kidney Pills, and to-day he is romping and playing with the other boys." This as an instance of prompt cure is very remarkable.

DICKSON'S RACE.

I take great pleasure in announcing to the people of Peterborough and surrounding country that I have bought out the entire Plant, Patterns, Machinery and Agencies of the above well-known Factory on Dickson's Race.

I have also made arrangements to continue the lease and to carry on the manufacture of Iron and Wooden Force and Lift Pumps, Cisterns, Steel Windmills, Tanks, Fanning Mills, Hand Seeders, Churns, Washing Machines and every other line formerly manufactured in the above premises.

I have also removed the temporary Pump Shop which I opened on Charlotte street a short time ago—and will now be found at my Factory on Dickson's Race.

With the long, practical experience I have had in this business, and with the splendid facilities which I now have for turning out good work, I am confident that I will be able to guarantee perfect satisfaction to all who may favour me with their orders.

My Millbrook Pump and Windmill business will still be continued in the Old Stand, on Tupper Street, Millbrook.

DOES IT MEAN WAR?

The London Spectator Sounds an Alarm

TO GREAT BRITAIN TO PREPARE,

As a Terrific Conflict Will Likely Follow the Statement of Bieberstein in the Reichstag—Natal Journal Says Only a Miracle Will Stop It.

London, Feb. 16.—The Spectator says that the possibility of a terrible war underlies the declaration of Baron Marschall Von Bierberstein, the German Foreign Minister, that Germany will not abandon her resolve to interfere in the affairs of the Transvaal. The paper declares it thinks that if Great Britain was fairly roused, there would be no danger of Parliament refusing the demands of the Government for munitions of war, but adds that it is doubtful if the country even now is aware of the dreadful suddenness with which an extreme emergency may arise.

The Spectator protests against the Government devoting part of the Budget surplus to the relief of the agricultural distress, and declares that this money ought to be expended in putting the country in a state of full preparedness for war. It asks what time would elapse, supposing there should be need for immediate action, before materials and reinforcements could be landed in South Africa. Germany, it adds, has entered upon a struggle with Great Britain to obtain the controlling influence in the Transvaal. An entente on this subject is impossible. The need for full naval and military preparations without a moment's delay is plainer than ever.

The latest despatches from Cape Colony confirm the view generally entertained there that the Volksraad of the Transvaal will decide that it would not be wise or expedient for President Kruger to make a visit to England. The newspapers of Natal say they expect that the negotiations between Great Britain and the Transvaal will end in a rupture of diplomatic relations, and this will be followed by hostilities. According to The Natal Advertiser, only a miracle can avert a war.

The tone of the Conservative and Liberal speeches in the debate last night in the House of Commons and the consequent comments to-day of the newspapers of both parties disclose the fact that there is a current of opinion favorable to British intervention in the Transvaal on the pretext of defending the rights of the foreign residents of that republic. Sir William Harcourt's moralizing on the fate which attends those who interfere in the arrangement of domestic differences did not seem to be taken seriously by the Liberals whose leader in the House he is. The Westminster Gazette, which is a Liberal organ, replies to Sir William, saying that as far as the domestic comparison goes Great Britain has already secured a locus standi by checking the fight between the Boer husband and the Uitlander wife. It adds that if the Boer laws make it impossible for a man to become a burgher they must not at the same time deprive him of his rights as a British subject. The gravity of the situation is becoming recognized.

VON BIEBERSTEINS BOLD WORDS

May Lead Two Great Nations Into a Terrible Naval Conflict.

Berlin, Feb. 16.—The speech delivered by Freiherr Marschall Von Bieberstein in the Reichstag, which has been revised and published in The Reichsanziger, the official gazette, discloses the case in one sentence, thus: "The German Government will uphold the statu quo of Delagoa Bay and also the rights involved in the ownership of the German railways and the maintenance of the independence of the South African Republic as guaranteed by the treaty of 1884."

The Cologne Gazette, while warning England not to venture to interfere in the international reforms of the Transvaal, advises the Boers to remove any possible pretext for such interference by granting some concessions to the Uitlanders.

The Vossische Zeitung says that England, if she is desirous of living upon good terms with Germany, must become accustomed to see Germany maintaining a hold upon a part of the mainland of the South Coast of Africa. Besides having weighty interests in South Africa, Germany, The Zeitung says, has subjects there and must also protect her right to save a nation connected with her by race from brutality, and to compel respect for treaties. The sum of the matter is that if Great Britain should menace an attack upon the South African Republic, upon the pretext of defending their subjects in that territory, Germany would be unanimous in disapproving the intervention of the Imperial Government in the most active form in defense of the Boers.

THE IRISH LEADERSHIP.

Mr Sexton Declined to Accept Mr. Healy's Offer Hon. Edward Blake Would Not Oppose Mr. Dillon.

New York, Feb. 16.—Mr. Ballard Smith cables from London to The World: "Timothy Healy's letter to Mr. Sexton, offering him an apparently loyal and unqualified support should he accept the chairmanship of the Irish party, has created a situation of considerable perplexity among its members. Several leading members of the majority have again pressed Mr. Sexton to reconsider his refusal, but I believe with little prospect of success. The letter of refusal which Mr. Sexton handed to the chief whip of the party, on Monday has not yet been published. It is said that its terms are such that even Mr. Healy's assurances of support would not enable Mr. Sexton to withdraw his refusal.

"The members of the Irish party also feel that Mr. Healy has made a very adroit move, one which will materially strengthen his position in opposing Mr. Dillon's election, which is inevitable unless Mr. Sexton consents at the eleventh hour. Even in the event of Mr. Dillon's election there is no expectation that Mr. Healy will openly revolt. He has not yet decided whether he will resist Mr. Dillon's nomination by simply registering a negative vote, or by proposing the name of another candidate as an amendment. Sir Thomas Esmonde has been approached by the Healyites to permit his nomination in opposition to Mr. Dillon, but, it is said, has declined.

"It is reported that Healy may propose Edward Blake, who is now on his way from New Zealand, and who, if here, would not accept the nomination—at any rate, not against Mr. Dillon."

NOW IT IS BULGARIA!

The Russian Bear Has Begun to Growl Over the Independence Talk

New York, Feb. 16.—A special cablegram from St. Petersburg to The Herald says: "There is a growing conviction here that Bulgaria must recognize Russia's supreme sway. The Novosti says: "M. Nachevits, the Bulgarian Foreign Minister, talked of the independence of Bulgaria, but Bulgaria is a vassal, in two degrees—first, toward Turkey; and, second, toward the powers of Europe, who guaranteed her existence. Under these conditions all talk about independence is only empty words. Bulgaria should understand that none of the Balkan States at once received its independence. Bulgaria, according to M. Zankoff, now leaves the sphere of external politics."

The Novoe Kremya says: "We have now to see that Bulgaria does not become a menace to the peace of Europe with her desire for a Macedonian agitation."

The Viedomosti solemnly warns Russia that Bulgaria must not be trusted, for she will be discontented that Russia does not assist her in the Macedonian agitation. "Russia," it adds, "will not allow Bulgaria to interfere with the rights of Turkey or Greece and create an agitation somewhat like the Armenian one, just to suit England. Russia has much graver political duties in full sight."

A Herald special from Philippopolis says: "The Sultan of Turkey is disposed to recognize the independence of Bulgaria in return for a lump sum of money paid down. The recognition of Prince Ferdinand is now certain."

MR. GREENWAY'S MOVE.

It Will Discard All Formal Religion From Manitoba Schools.

Winnipeg, Feb. 16.—It is learned from a trustworthy source that Premier Greenway will in a few days make another clever move, calculated to strengthen himself and his supporters throughout the Dominion on the school question. One of the strongest objections to the present school law is the provision for formal religious exercises, which are held by opponents of the law to be Protestant. If this were removed, schools would be thoroughly secular and much of the Roman Catholic grievance would be removed. So much, at any rate, that there need scarcely be any excuse for remedial legislation by the Federal Parliament. It is hinted, too, that an understanding has been arrived at between Mr. Greenway and his political friends in the east to make such amendment and thus ensure the defeat of the remedial bill now before the House of Commons. The first practical step in this direction was made on Saturday, when the Advisory Board of the Department of Education took the matter up at a special meeting and almost unanimously recommended the change. The only opponent of the proposal was the Archbishop of Rupert's Land, the head of the Episcopal Church. Although the Archbishop's opposition is a serious matter, it is not thought the Advisory Board will be deterred from making an official report to the Government in favor of doing away with all religious exercises in schools. On this recommendation Mr. Greenway will take action at the present session of the Manitoba Legislature. The Advisory Board is composed of representatives of nearly all the Protestant churches. With this amendment it is claimed there can be no opponents of the Manitoba school law except the Roman Catholic clergy.

OUR GRIEF-STRICKEN QUEEN.

Message to the Nation Expressing Thanks for Sympathy Extended to Her

London, Feb. 16.—A message from the Queen to the nation was issued this evening. In it Her Majesty expresses her thanks for the sympathy extended to her on the occasion of the death of her son-in-law, Prince Henry of Battenberg, and says: "This new sorrow is overwhelming. I lose a dear, loved and helpful son, whose presence was like a bright sunbeam in my home, and my daughter loses a noble and devoted husband, to whom she was united by the closest affections."

SETTLED THE BILL.

A Hotelkeeper That Preferred to Pay an Intended Suicide's Fare.

Suicides are never wanted by hotel proprietors. Each one costs a hotel a considerable amount of money, and for months the room in which it occurred is shunned. At one of the leading hotels of Washington lately a guest acted strangely, and the proprietor made up his mind that the man was going to do something desperate. So one night he went to the guest's room. There was no answer to his knocks, and the door was locked. A look over the transom showed the guest writing a letter, a pistol at one side and a bottle of poison at the other.

"Let me in or I'll break open the door," called the landlord.

The door was opened after a little hurried work disposing of the things on the table.

"I don't want any suiciding here," said the landlord, entering. "What's the matter with you, anyway?"

"Out of money, out of work and can't get out of town," sullenly said the guest.

"Well, how much cash will you take and agree to get out of town?" asked the hotel man.

"I could get home for $30," was the reply.

"Here's the money; now pack your grip and take the first train."

The man went. It was a good business transaction for the landlord.—Washington Star

Out of Tooth Powder!

Then get the best. The best is Ivorine. "Best" because it whitens the teeth and does not destroy the enamel. Good as the best in fragrance and cleansing and polishing properties. Better than most, as it contains no acids to destroy. Better than all because pleasant, fragrant, cleansing and whitening, all the good qualities combined. Ivorine for the teeth alone can claim to be the best.

Triumphs of Mechanism.

"Scales are now made of such a nice adjustment," says the Railway Review, "that they will weigh anything, to the smallest hair plucked from the eyebrow. They are triumphs of mechanism, and are inclosed in glass cases, as the slightest breath of air would impair their records. The glass cases have a sliding door, and as soon as the weight is placed in the balances the doors slide down. Two pieces of paper of equal weight can be placed in the scales and an autograph written in pencil on either piece will cause the other side to ascend, and the needle which indicates the division of weight even to the ten-millionth part of a pound and less will move from its perpendicular. A signature containing nine letters has been weighed and proved to be two milligrammes, or the fifteen thousand five hundredth part of an ounce, troy.

A Costly Bug.

Secretary Morton was showing a reporter through the entomological bureau the other day, and this is a part of what the reporter says he said: "I've got a bug in there that cost the Government $20,000; he does not look it, but he did. It's a fact. One day an outfit of scientists started in pursuit of this bug. They ranged all over the hemisphere and stuck to his trail like bloodhounds; they ransacked North America all the way from the Isthmus to Alaska. After the most remarkable adventures by flood and field they treed their bug and took him prisoner. He was then brought captive to Washington, and he's right there now in that brick house, the highest prized bug on earth. A round-up of the total expense of that one bug hunt came to over $20,000. But we got the bug."

CARD OF THANKS.

Messrs. Cox & Davis, Peterborough:

GENTLEMEN: I wish to thank you for your promptness in settling the loss on my furniture, which occurred through the upsetting of my coal stove, on Friday night last at 10 o'clock. On being notified next day you were good enough to send over a man to settle the loss in order that I might be able to get the house cleaned up and thereby saved me much inconvenience. From my experience with your office now, it is a source of pleasure for me to feel that my insurance is with you, and I shall not forget to tell my friends.

Yours truly,

MARY ANN O'BRIEN.

Miss Burnham and Mr. Lount and others will sing, and Mr. Mackenzie will play the violin. There will be also a pretty drill by six little girls. Admission 10 cents.

Funeral of the Late Hugh Morton.

The funeral of the late Hugh J. Morton, a member of Miss Goard's Bible class of the Charlotte street Methodist Sunday school, took place on Sunday afternoon and was largely attended. A large number of the fellow-pupils of the Sunday school followed the remains to the grave, the following members of his class being pall bearers:—George Tovey, Albert Vass, William Housie, Alex. Turner, Alfred Goodwin, Robert Fowler and Henry Goodwin. Handsome floral tributes were sent by the fellow-workmen of deceased in the Electric works, by the Sunday school and by private friends. The family have general sympathy in their bereavement.

Bright Ideas in Window Dressing.

Judging by the following letter, Mr. M. T. Ostrom, of Peterborough, the energetic Canadian manager of the Keystone Remedy Company, the proprietors of Uncle Sam's Tobacco Cure, is making quite a reputation for himself as an effective advertiser for his company. The subjoined letter is only one of many which Mr. Ostrom states he has received from druggists complimenting him for his novel and attractive window dressing with the Anti-Tobacco Cure goods:

AYLMER, Ont., Feb. 14th, 1896.

DEAR SIR,—Your window display and plant exhibit in the store of Mr. W. T. Strong, druggist, London I consider one of the most handsome and attractive of anything I have ever seen. Should like to put it in my store, if you could make suitable arrangements.

Yours sincerely,

A COLD SNAP.

The Thermometer Indicates 38 Degrees Below Zero.

The sudden drop in the temperature yesterday played havoc with the water pipes in a great many private residences.

As the day grew older the cold became more intense and from the sidewalk sounds were emitted resembling pistol shots as the frost caused the boards to contract.

Although everyone knew that the temperature was below zero, it was not generally known that the mercury sank as low as 38 degrees below. Many ears and noses were nipped returning from church last evening, and from complaints heard this morning pater familias was kept busy shaking up the fires all night.

A BOBCAYGEON LEGAL CASE.

An Appeal Dismissed Without Costs—No Opinion Expressed as to Provincial Jurisdiction.

The following report in respect to an appeal of Messrs. Boyd and Company, is taken from the proceedings of the Court of Appeal:

Re Little Bob River Dam and Slide.—Judgment on appeal by Messrs Boyd and Company, from order and judgment of the judge of the County Court of Peterborough dismissing an application made by them under section 13 of R. S. O., ch. 120, an act for protecting the public interest in rivers, streams and creeks, to fix the amount which they may be at liberty to charge for tolls under the Act, for the use of constructions and improvements made by them for the purpose of floating saw logs and other timber down the river. The question raised by the appellants was whether they came within the provitions of R.S.O., ch. 120, which are taken from 47 Vic., ch. 17, an Act passed in consequence of the litigation in McLaren v. Caldwell. 6 A.R. 456; App. Cas. 392, which established the right of the public to float timber and logs down streams during the season of freshets, even if such streams were rendered floatable only by means of improvements made by the owner of the bed of the stream, and to use such improvements without compensation. The appellants contend that their mill-dam was an improvement within the meaning of the Act, for the use of which by others they were entitled to payment of reasonable tolls. The application and appeal were opposed in the interest of other lumbermen, on two grounds, viz.:—(1) that the Little Bob not being a navigable stream, and the channel being the property of the Dominion Government, and part of the property and public works of Canada, was not within the legislative authority of the province, or subject to the provisions of the Rivers and Streams Act; and (2) that, even if it was, the improvement in question was one which, by sec. 20 of the Act, was excluded from its operation as coming within the third and fourth sections of the Act respecting mills and mill-dams. R. S. O., ch. 118. Held, that the dam in question being a mill-dam, built by the appellants for the purpose of their mill, and not intended, except as incident to that, to facilitate the floating or transmission of logs and timber, the effect of sec. 20 of the Rivers and Streams Act was to exclude them from its operation, and to leave them simply in the position and subject to the burdens of the mill-dam owner under R. S. O., ch. 118, the stream being one of the character mentioned in the 20th section of that Act. No opinion expressed as to whether the stream or channel is, or is not, one subject to the provincial legislation. Appeal dismissed without costs. Wickham for the appellants. W. Cassels, Q.C., and Stewart (Lindsay) for the respondents.

A Professional Beggar.

On Thursday last, says the Cobourg Post, Chief Rankin arrested a deaf and dumb vagrant named William Darlington, of Dublin, Ireland, who was making an appeal from house to house for money. It appeared from the admissions of the prisoner that he had been doing a lively business in other towns, and had been well received by the charity dispensing public. From his diary, produced in court, it was shown that the people of Peterborough had been extremely kind, having given $107. Port Hope added $40, Lindsay $38, while other places had also been liberal, until the sum on hand amounted to $205. From his book it was learned that he was the possessor of four houses in Dublin, and had a fat bank account in the Bank of Ireland. He is a professional beggar, and was recently fined $10 in Toronto and sent over the Don for fifteen days. His work is conducted on true business principles, he keeping a correct account of all the money received and expended. His wardrobe is an extensive one, he having several suits of clothes, two pairs of boots, an unlimited number of shirts, stockings, and, in fact, everything in the line of wearing apparel. The magistrate decided, after hearing the evidence, to give the prisoner the full extent of the law and fined him $50 or six months in gaol. Darlington willingly gave up the amount, and then purchased a ticket to Ireland.

A SOLEMN CEREMONY; ORDAINED A PRIEST.

REV. C. J. PHELAN ADVANCED TO THE PRIESTHOOD.

Bishop O'Connor the Officiating Prelate—A Very Large Congregation—Significance of the Ceremony—Rev. Father Teefy's Eloquent Sermon—Rev. Father Phelan's First Blessing.

Sunday morning, Feb. 16th, St. Peter's Cathedral was the scene of a solemn and impressively beautiful ceremony, the occasion being the ordination to the priesthood of Rev. C. J. Phelan. There was a very large congregation present, which included a large number of Protestants; and naturally enough, for the young man who was to be advanced to the priesthood, was born and reared in the town and lived a life that won for him the high respect, not only of his co-religionists, but of all other citizens who knew him, and interest in him on the most momentous occasion of his life, accounted for their presence.

At 10.30 o'clock precisely the episcopal procession, consisting of His Lordship, Ven Archdeacon Casey, Rev. Father Teefy, principal of St. Michael's College, Toronto, Rev. Father Marijon, provincial of the Basilian order, Rev. C. J. Phelan, the postulant for ordination and the Cathedral clergy, Rev. Father O'Connel, Rev. Father Scollard, Rev. Father Fitzpatrick, Rev. Father Calnan, came into the church by the western entrance, and to the strains of a stirring march by orchestra and organ advanced and entered the sanctuary by the middle entrance. The Bishop was clothed in full canonicals, amice, alb, cincture cross, tunic, dalmatic, maniple and chasuble, "emblematic of the sacred power, which, in obedience to the divine commission he confers" upon the candidate for admission to the priesthood.

The candidate having previously taken the four minor orders, Porter, Lector, Exorcist and Acolyte and also the sacred orders of sub-deacon and deacon, and was arrayed in the vestments of the latter order, a lighted taper in his hand and carried a folded chasuble and a purificator for binding his hands at a subsequent stage of the ceremony.

The candidate, after the prescribed forms were observed, was presented to the Bishop by the Archdeacon, with the words:—

"Most Reverend Father, our Holy Mother, the Catholic Church, asks that this deacon present be raised to the dignity of the priesthood."

Then in response to the demand by the Bishop as to his "worthiness for the sublime office," the Archdeacon answered affirmatively, and then the Bishop proceeded to address the assembled clergy and people upon their common responsibility in regard to the selection of as priests, and asked that any that had anything to say against the promotion of the present suppliant should come forward and declare it.

After a moment's pause and no objection being presented, the Bishop delivered a solemn charge to the candidate upon the duties of the priesthood and an exhortation to a worthy discharge of such duties. Here the candidate, prostrated himself before the altar and the litany of the Saints was chanted as far as the prayer for the "faithful departed," when the bishop blessed the prostrate candidate thrice. When the litanies were concluded, the bishop and the clergy present in turn performed the ceremony of the imposition of hands upon the head of the kneeling candidate, for whom the bishop recited a special prayer.

At the conclusion, the bishop resumed his seat in front of the altar and removing the stole from the candidate's left shoulder crossed it upon his breast with the words;

Receive thou the yoke of the Lord; for His yoke is sweet and His burden is light.

The bishop next invested him with the chasuble folded on the shoulders, saying:

Receive the sacerdotal vestment, by which charity is understood, for God is powerful to increase in thee charity and every perfect work.

After singing the first verse, "Veni Creator Spiritus," the bishop annointed the hands of the ordained with Holy oil, making the sign of the cross and prayed;

That whatever these hands bless shall be blessed and whatever they consecrate shall be consecrated and sanctified in the name our Lord Jesus Christ.

Then the hands of the ordained were joined and bound with the purificator, and he was presented by the bishop with chalice containing wine and water and a patena with host, which he touched, while the bishop said;

Receive the power to offer sacrifices to God; to celebrate mass as well for the living as for the dead, in the name of the Lord.

Then mass was continued by the Bishop to the offertory and in the meantime the new priest washed his hands and presented the Bishop with an offering.

The Bishop then administered communion to the priest, after which the ordained by reciting the creed, standing before the Bishop in front of the altar. He then knelt before the Bishop, who, placing both hands upon his head, said:

MADE PROFESSION OF FAITH

Receive the Holy Ghost; whose sins ye shall forgive they are forgiven them and whose sins ye shall retain they are retained.

Next the Bishop unfolded and clothed the priest entirely with the chasuble.

After the priest had promised reverence and obedience to the Bishop and his successors the Bishop gave him, the priest, the kiss of peace, and, with mitre and crozier, solemnly admonished him and then pronounced his blessing upon his priesthood.

Mass was then continued till the Benediction when the priest kneeling received another solemn injunction from the Bishop and with the last gospel the solemn and impressive ceremony was concluded, and after announcements by Ven. Archdeacon Casey, reported in another column, the

SPECIAL SERMON WAS PREACHED

by Rev. Father Teefey, who took his text from the 109th Psalm:

"Thou art a priest forever, after the order of Melchidedech."

He began by pointing out that the beautiful ceremony that we had just witnessed was more eloquent than any words that he could apply to the occasion. It was an object lesson to all from the Bishop on his throne to be the humblest member of his flock. It showed throughout the anxiety of the church for the glory of God. He then proceeded to detail the significance of the ceremony, much in line with the foregoing description, yet amplified and adorned with the flowers of eloquence with which the reverend gentleman is so apt in gracing his speech. The ceremony received special significance from the circumstances under which it was held. Rev. Father Phelan was born and brought up amongst the congregation, and the citizens of the town. They had known his life and had seen him advance step by step to the great dignity of the priesthood—and he was now endowed with power to call down from Heaven the Son of God in the holy sacrifice of the mass. The speaker congratulated the young priest; he congratulated his brethren and the congregation, and especially the father and mother. They had now an answer to their prayers and a reward for their pious solicitude, and these prayers had only begun, for their son had just entered upon the priesthood, and would need their prayers for strength and grace to discharge its sacred duties. He congratulated the Bishop that he had and prayer added to the list of his clergy, one that would help to fill up the gaps that death might make in their ranks. He had personally known the young priest for five years and could speak of his piety and zeal in the highest terms.

But the ceremony had a further meaning as to the significance of the priesthood. Jesus Christ came to the world with power over the hearts and consciences of men; he came to wipe out the doom pronounced through sin. He offered Himself on Calvary and in His blood a priesthood was established that would last forever. He came not to do away with sacrifices, but He came to crown religion with a diadem of glory, so that when religion stood before the altar its prayers would be heard. Jesus Christ came to perfect religion—he came to establish a new sacrifice, which would be to the new dispensation what the paschal lamb was to the old. The priests were given power to offer bread and wine in memory of the last supper, and thus was established an everlasting priesthood. Christ came with the power of pardon, to blot out the sins of men, and that his ministry might continue, he gave power to forgive sins to His apostles and to those that succeeded them in the ministry of the Church. Jesus Christ came with light to lighten the world and to illuminate the dark corridors of the soul, a light that casts the only brightness that falls upon the darkness of the tomb. It gives us hope and trust for a blissful future. Jesus Christ came with love that changed the world. He came in poverty and suffering and knew nothing but self denial. O what an example of the ministry of suffering was His life towards the suffering and sinful! And thus the sinner comes burdened to the priest, and he pronounces with authority the words "I absolve thee." The priest is sent with according to the words of the divine injunction to the Holy Apostles—to enlighten the sinner, and to lighten the pathway of the dying soul—to enlighten the world in its various relations to God and man. This is the light that has this day been given to the young priest. He is sent with knowledge to teach and with the love of God, the love of a jealous priest of the Catholic Church, who shows forth the self-denying love that gives and spends itself for poor souls.

The speaker then personally addressed the young priest, and bade him go forth and exercise the powers with which he had been endowed, with prudence and zeal, and carry light and love into the darkened homes of sorrow and suffering. He reminded him that he was a priest of Jesus Christ, and urged him to see that he worked, not for himself, but for the glory of Christ before all other considerations, and that he put the glory of the Catholic Church before all other things. He was a priest to the souls that were trusted to his care. He was a priest forever, and the day would come when he would have to give an account of his priesthood.

His Lordship then spoke a few words. He congratulated the people of Peterborough that a young man, born here, had been elevated to the dignity of a priest of the Catholic church. He referred to the pleasure it gave him to say that during the past seven years many young men had dedicated their lives to the priesthood and hoped that the beautiful ceremony of today would be an incentive to other young men to enter the same priesthood. He then, after announcing that Rev. Father Phelan would sing his first mass on Ash Wednesday, remarked that the young priest would give his first blessing which had special merit, to the congregation, giving preference to his father and mother and brothers, which was done, Mr. Thos. Dunn, during the blessing, which required a considerable time, singing "Pro Peccatis," from Rossini's Stabat Mater, with very fine effect.

The special music provided for the occasion was much appreciated. The choir was assisted by an orchestra. In Farmer's Mass in B flat the solos were well taken by Mrs. Ball soprano, Mr. Talbot tenor, Miss Lizzie Mahony contralto, and Mr. T. Mahony basso. In "Veni Creator" the solos were also well taken by Mrs. Ball, Miss Minnie Hurley, Miss Lizzie Mahony and Mr. T. Mahony.

Last night Rev. Father Phelan sang vespers, Rev. Father Teefy preaching the sermon, and an excellent one it was, on the subject of "sacrifice," being a continuation of his morning discourse.

Nervous Prostration

It is now a well established fact in medical science that nervousness is due to impure blood. Therefore the true way to cure nervousness is by purifying and enriching the blood. The great blood purifier is Hood's Sarsaparilla. Read this letter:

"For the last two years I have been a great sufferer with nervous prostration and palpitation of the heart. I was weak in my limbs and had smothered sensations. At last my physician advised me to try Hood's Sarsaparilla which I did, and I am happy to say that I am now strong and well. I am still using Hood's Sarsaparilla and would not be without it. I recommend it to all who are suffering with nervous prostration and palpitation of the heart." MRS. DALTON, 69 Alice St., Toronto, Ontario. Get Hood's, because

Prominently in the public eye today. It is not what we say but what Hood's Sarsaparilla does that tells the story.

Their trouble was that sometimes they used a little too much Cream Tartar and sometimes a little too much Soda, and, besides, Cream Tartar can scarcely ever be bought twice of exactly the same strength, so that they rarely get the proportions correct, and that is the secret of success or failure.

Our chemist analyzes a sample of every pound of Cream Tartar we use and the ingredients are used strictly in accordance with his report, so that there can be no possible chance of failure if you BAKE with Juvenile Shop-lifters.

The stores around town have been pestered of late by petty shop-lifting. The different book stores came in for a fair share of the losses and as a result a watch was placed and on Saturday night two were caught at the Peterborough Book Store in the act of stealing a number of novels. One of the offenders was sent to the cells, but was let go this morning. The other was summarily dealt with by the proprietor.

Lost Her Reason.

Some time ago, says the Lindsay Post, the wife of Mr. John Reid, of Galway, lost her reason, and about two weeks ago she was committed to the Lindsay gaol, the necessary papers being made out by Magistrate F. Train, of Kinmount, in the absence of Reeve Mansfield. It now turns out that the poor woman should have been taken to Peterborough. Galway being a portion of that county. Mr. Reid was in town to-day and was informed of the difficulty, but naturally enough took the view that he was not to blame.

The Hockey Club Lauded.

Saturday night the opera house was again packed to the doors, the gallery included. The play was one known to Peterborough audiences, namely "Dublin Dan," and was put on by the Marks Bros. Company in a high class manner. Mr. Tom Marks in the character of Dan McGinty made a great hit. Little Pug, the role of Miss Myra Collins, was exceptionally well taken. Mr. Wilson as Squire Ludlow, the villain, was fine. The role seemed to suit him admirably. Miss May A. Bell in her songs and dances was the delight of the audience, while Petite Gracie, the child wonder, excelled herself. During the play and in the songs the local hockey club was lauded repeatedly, which of course brought down the house. Dan Simons appeared in his Silence and Fun Act, and the audience could not get enough of him.

Death Duties.

Among the legislation to be introduced into the Ontario House this session there will in all probability be a bill respecting the estate succession taxes, which have proved so profitable a source of income to the province. A number of persons whose estates would be liable to the death duty, have evaded it lately by transferring their property to their heirs, retaining a life interest in it, in such a way as to escape the incidence of the tax. This practice has been growing, and in consequence a bill will in all probability be brought in by the Provincial Treasurer, which will render ineffective any attempt in this way to elude the payment of duty within a certain number of years before the death of the person making the transfer. Another feature of the bill will probably be a reduction of the limit of the size of estates coming under the operation of this act. At present only estates of $100,000 and upwards are taxed. A reduction probably to $50,000 is likely to be made, thus assuring a large additional source of revenue to the province.

HOCKEY.

The Port Hope Guide says.—Peterborough is crowing because they defeated Kingston Victorias by a score of 13 to 1 last Wednesday night.

When is that game coming off that was talked of between Peterborough and Port Hope to be played in Cobourg?

No "stock" in slang phraseology is taken in the protest of the Kingston club against the referee's decisions in last week's hockey match. If the score had been a close one there might be some ground for the Executive looking into the matter, but after being beaten by 13 goals to 1 it is utter childishness to protest the game.

The townspeople are very anxious to have the finals played off in Peterborough this season, as Toronto had the game last year. A little effort on the part of Geo. Horkins, who is on the executive, should be sufficient to bring the Granites to town for the match. As the Toronto people are not sufficiently interested in the junior games to patronize them to any extent it is hard to see why Peterborough should be asked to play there. At the match last year the Peterboroughians outnumbered the Torontonians by twenty to one almost at the final game. If this was the case in the Granite's own city they should realize that Peterborough takes more interest in the game than Toronto, and give way to meet the strong desire to have the match played here. In case the Peterborough's have to go to Toronto, the club should see that if there is any bonus given by the railways that it finds its way into the club's coffers.

The Kingston News of Saturday says,—The Victorias say they were well treated by the Peterborough hockey club. They were entertained to any oyster supper after the game. If the Victoria's protest is allowed, the game may be played here.

The Globe of to-day says,—Great pressure is being brought to bear on the O. H. A. Executive to have the final game in the junior series played in Toronto between the Granites and Peterborough, instead of at Kingston. In 1893 and 1894 the finals were played in Peterborough and last year in Toronto, the same teams being the contestants each time. The Granites claim that it would only be justice that the game should be pulled off in this city, as they had to travel to Berlin to play their semi-final match. Another argument in their favour is that for two successive seasons the championship was lost and won in Peterborough.

CURLIANA.

The Peterborough curlers have been invited to send three rinks of colts to participate in a bonspiel to be held in Cobourg on Thursday next. It is not probable that the invitation will be accepted, however, as the curlers are making arrangements for their annual trip to Toronto.

Centuries ago, people used to fear what they called the pestilence. Black Death was the most terrible thing in the world to them. They feared it as people now fear the Cholera and Yellow Fever. And yet there is a thing that causes more misery and more deaths than either of these. It is so common that nine-tenths of all the sickness in the world is traceable to it. It is merely that simple, common thing, constipation. It makes people listless, causes dizziness, headaches, loss of appetite, loss of sleep, foul breath, and distress after eating. The little help that is needed is furnished by Dr. Pearce's Pleasant Pellets. One pill is a gentle laxative, and two a mild cathartic. Once used they are always in favour. If you are careless enough to let an unscrupulous druggist sell you something on which he makes more money, it is your own fault if you do not get well. Be sure and get Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.

ADVERTISING THAT GOES TO WASTE.

A newspaper writer has calculated that 50 per cent of the enormous aggregate of the annual advertising expenditure by business men goes to waste. That is a statement that ought to call for the most serious consideration, for, without going into figures, it can be easily estimated by a glance at the daily, weekly and monthly press, of the country, that the aggregate expenditure runs into very large figures.

What is the reason for this waste? The writer already quoted attributes it to the haphazard, hit-or-miss, take-your-chances sort of advertising. Many a man has everything else connected with his business reduced to an intelligent system, while his advertising is all happy-go-lucky guess work. Where such is the case, he must expect that his advertising will be wasteful and unsatisfactory.

Mixing charity with advertising is severely censured, and rightly, too. Business men have the life plagued out of them by the solicitor craving an ad. for this or that programme or other printed document, not on business grounds, but simply to help on "the good work."

Let us not still the hand of sweet charity, but when charity is to be given, let it be open-handed on the basis of charity and not a mixture of philanthropy and business, a hodge-podge dish that is neither one thing or the other, and unpalatable to them who taste it.

REV. FATHER SCOLLARD GOES TO NORTH BAY.

A Popular Priest Sent to an Important Parish.

At the conclusion of the ordination mass at St. Peter's yesterday, Ven. Archdeacon Casey made an announcement that was at once a source of pride and of deep regret to the congregation.

He stated that the death of Rev. Father Bloem, of the parish of North Bay, had created a vacancy, and it had pleased his Lordship to appoint Rev. Father Scollard to this parish. Archdeacon Casey was sure that all were sorry to lose a priest who, during a ministry of five years, with piety, zeal and faithful discharge of his priestly duties, had endeared himself to his flock by his readiness to meet all calls and by his charity and kindness. There would be a natural regret at his departure, but it was necessary that a priest of sound knowledge and experience should be appointed to the most important parish of the northwestern portion of the diocese. While we regretted Father Scollard's departure, his work in that important field would bring out the many good qualities that he has shown as a priest in Peterboroubh, and he enjoined the congregation to unite with the clergy and following them with their good wishes and prayers.

Rev. Father Casey then made several announcements of interest to the congregation, among them the regulations for observance of Lent which begins on Ash Wednesday, when three masses would be sung, at 7, 8 and 9 o'clock, and that at the last Rev. Father Phelan would celebrate.

The departure of Rev. Father Scollard, who will leave town during the last week of this month to be in readiness to assume the duties of his new parish on Sunday, March 1st, will be much regretted beyond the members of his congregation. His course in life since his residence in Peterborough as a priest has won for him the respect of the citizens generally, irrespective of creed. At the same time he is to be congratulated that the Bishop has thought him worthy to fill the important duties of a very important parish.

CHURCH CHIMES.

Last evening the choir of the Park street church sang as an anthem "Jesus Wants to Pardon You." The solo was taken by Mr. Padey.

"Eventide" was the title of the anthem which was sung in St. Paul's last evening. The solo was taken by Mrs. Mein and the duet by Mrs. Mein and Miss Montgomery.

Services were conducted in the Park street Baptist church yesterday by Rev. Mr. Padey, who spoke to a large congregation in the evening from Prov. xxviii., 1.

The regular Friday evening prayer meeting in the Park street Baptist church will be held on Wednesday evening, this week, in conjunction with the young people's meeting.

Last evening Miss Hendren and Mr. J. Miller took the solo parts alternately in the anthem "Come unto Me," in the Charlotte street Methodist church very effectively.

There was a quintette sung in the Charlotte street Methodist church last evening by Misses Hendren, Stephens and Hall and Messrs. Alf. Miller and W. Squires. The harmony was perfect and was much appreciated by the congregation.

Rev. J. E. Trotter, yesterday morning, spoke from the fifteenth Psalm and dwelt on the excellence of abiding in the tabernacle. In the evening the service was taken by Rev. C. W. Sowter, who is at present residing in Peterborough.

WILLIAM WONT RECEIVE HIM.

M. Herbette, the French Ambassador to Germany, Grows Obnoxious.

Berlin, Feb. 16.—A report is in circulation which is generally credited in the diplomatic circles that the Emperor is going to Hubertusstock to remain over the carnival, so as to avoid the duty of receiving M. Herbette at the court bal. If M. Herbette should be recalled in the meantime the Emperor will return in time to be present at the ball. M. Herbette has made his continuance at his post impossible through a succession of acts which have been offensive to the Emperor's ideas of gentlemanly deportment. Members of the diplomatic corps are free to say that, while M. Herbette is a diplomat of undoubted ability, he is by no means a courtier. His manners are conspicuously bad, and his share in influencing the recall of Lieut. Baron de Grancey, the naval attachee to the French Embassy here, representing that he was not personae grata at the German court, brought things to a crisis.

The Cologne Gazette prints a vicious article on the subject, declaring that the relations between Germany and France have been rendered a great deal worse than they have been or otherwise could have been through the presence of M. Herbette in Berlin as the chief representative of France. The article has created a great sensation.

RHEUMATISM

Its Cause and Cure.

A poisonous Acid in the Blood, which needs removal.

Only one means for a radical cure.

Rheumatism is a blood disease, due to the presence of uric acid—a poison—in the system, and it is only by the removal of this pain-producing poison, that a radical cure can be effected. Acute rheumatism is hereditary, and thus it is that young children are often victims to this torture. The use of liniments, embrocations and outward applications, may give temporary relief, but can never cure, for the poison is in the blood, and until it is expelled, rheumatism, sciatica and neuraligic pains will continue. Scotts' Sarsaparilla cures rheumatism by removing the cause—by neutralizing and expelling this poisonous acid. In chronic cases, this medicine reaches the source of the disease as no other medicine can. It gives renewed energy to the organs that sustain life, the forces that make the blood. For the nervous troubles of youth, for the debility that precedes old age, for ladies in their severe ordeals, it is without a competer.

Scott's Sarsaparilla is a concentrated compound of the finest medicines known to modern medical science—The dose is from one half to one teaspoonful and during its use the ordinary vocations are not interfered with.

SCIENCE NOW ON THE RUN.

Certainly It Is Not Merely Marching These Days.

Chicago, Feb. 14.—What is believed to be the first surgical operation to be performed in the United States as a direct result of the revelation of Roentgen's rays was effected last night in ward C of Mercy Hospital. The operation in itself was simple and consisted merely in removing a buckshot encysted between the bones of the third and fourth fingers, and about an inch and a half back from the knuckles. The operation was performed by Dr. James Burry, assisted by Dr. J. S. Rankin and Dr. J. L. Miller. The subject was Louis Burkhardt, and his hand was "photographed" on Thursday. A buckshot was discovered, and Burkhardt assented to an operation. He was accompanied to Mercy Hospital by a hypnotist, who appeared in the dual capacity of friend of Burkhardt and as a rival to ether. As the patient had been placed under a hypnotic spell, Dr. Burry prepared to perform the operation, but the first scratch of the knife caused the patient to flinch.

"You see," said Dr. Burry, "hypnotism affects only the mind and, as the nerves involved in this operation affect the cord, your hypnotism will not work."

"Exactly," suggested the man of spells, and after some persuasion Burkhardt and his friend consented to the use of ether. When the anaesthetic had been given time to produce the desired effect, Dr. Burry made an incision about an inch long, well back to the palmal region, and his knife struck the bullet at the exact point indicated by the bromide print taken from the Roentgen plate. The encysted missile was extracted without difficulty, and the operation was at an end.

Mr. Healy offers to withdraw from the party if his retirement will induce Mr. Sexton to accept the chairmanship. If Mr. Sexton will accept the leadership without his retirement Mr. Healy promises that he will co-operate with him heartily.

CANNIBALISM IN FORMOSA.

Some Ghastly Evidence at Kelung That Japanese Had Been Eaten.

Victoria, B.C., Feb. 14.—The Japan Mail, speaking of the arrival of the Japanese troops in Keiung, Formosa, says: "The troops were horrified at the ghastly spectacle of 19 bodies of their countrymen beheaded and mangled. Many may not be aware that cannibalism exists among the Chinese, although there is probably not a foreigner in Formosa but knows of the eating of portions of the bodies of savages, or is unaware that markets in Formosa settlements contain human flesh for sale. The mutilated bodies of Japanese were found with the hearts and other parts cut out. Charred bodies were also found."

A NORTHERN WINTER'S WELCOME.

Hurrah for the ski! and the taut snowshoe,
And the swift skate's shrill refrain!
When the world's enwrapped in its mantle new
And winter awakes again!

I laugh as I see him cover the wolds
With a fair, soft pall of white,
And rejoice at the drifting, swirling folds
That bury them out of sight.

For the wattled shoe will come by its own
And so will the speeding ski;
Now the white paved track has at last been sown
Where the Mercury-footed flee.

Then hail to the frost! and the Northern King!
And hail to their reign benign;
May the snowshoe's swing and the keen skate's ring
Be heard till the end of time.

For they bring good health, and sturdiest strength,
And healing on their wings,
And the flame will glow, and the blood swift flow
Wherever their music sings.

INDIA'S FATHER DAMIEN.

Work Among the Lepers That Has Produced Good Results.

Valuable work is being done by devoted Catholic priests among the lepers of Burmah, says the London Times. The annexation of Upper Burmah in 1886 revealed a terrible need for succor to this unhappy class. Bishop Simon, R. C., addressed the officials on the subject within two years after the country passed under British rule, but it was not until 1891 that Father Johann Wehinger was able to found the St. John's Leper Asylum on a grant of six acres near Mandalay.

In Burmah, lepers are not forbidden to frequent public places and are not separated from their families, as in India. They lie at the gates of the temples, in the food bazars and on the sides of the bridges, whaere they expose their hideously-mutilated limbs to excite compassion and obtain alms. An asylum for these miserable objects was hailed with gratitude. In two days after it opened the wards were crowded and new buildings had to be commenced.

Father Wehinger has made the institution a model for all leper asylums—with a perfect system of hygiene and measures for the alleviation or even curative treatment of the disease, separate wards for the unaffected children of leprous parents and a vernacular school for their education. During the last year 200 lepers were on the rolls and the demand for fresh wards grew urgent. Father Wehinger came to the end of his resources. All that self-denial and devotion could achieve he has accomplished.

He has been in England lately, seeking aid to enable him to go on with his work. It is a work which can most effectively be done by celibate brethren, without the responsibility of wife or possible children to whom the disease might be communicated. Johann Wehinger is the Father Damien of India.

JUMPING CARS IN MOTION

The Acrobatic Feats Performed By the Average Tramp.

"I haven't much hair on my head," said Supt. Mansfield, of the Indianapolis and Vincennes, "but what little I have was up in the air like porcupine quills this afternoon. Several of us were coming down the Union tracks as No. 20, the fast train of the Indianapolis division, was pulling out.

"At Delaware street three tramps were standing. By the time the train reached that point it was going at a lively rate. Each of the tramps selected a coach and as the train whirled by caught the iron rod that extends under the side of the car and swung beneath the train in front of the trucks. Like acrobats they turned over the rod and rested their feet on the brakebeam, and as the train rolled away settled down for a ride. A single mistake, a slip of the hand or the failure to place their feet on the brakebeam meant for them a horrible death. I was so frightened at their recklessness that I fairly lost my breath. Experienced railroad men that I am, I would not have attempted such a feat for $1,000,000."

"That was a common trick," said Frank Lewis, formerly with the Union Pacific Railway Company. "I have had a good deal of experience with tramps, and there are few of them but risk their lives daily on the cars. The old-time tramps used to walk over the country. Up-to-date tramps ride. I have taken them out from beneath the pilot of the engine. I have hauled them from the brakebeam of passenger cars, and a favorite hiding place for them is at the top of the vestibule. On top of the cars is a pleasant place during the summer, but in the winter they try to make themselves as comfortable as possible. It is seldom that you hear of a tramp being killed by the cars unless in a wreck. To become an expert car jumper is one of the requisites of a tramp of the first class."—Indianapolis News.

A MALE REBELLION.

Chicago's Society Men Have Formed a Union Against Tea and Wafers.

Some of the society young men in Chicago have organized themselves into a sort of self-protective union. The objects of this association are "mutual sympathy and counsel, and a united effort toward the higher civilization of society in providing substantial edibles." In plain words, these young men of (more or less) official popularity have rebelled against the "tea and wafer" style of entertainment. They refuse to be comforted with bonbons or stayed with a bread and butter sandwich. Frappe is to them a weak abomination and they are sick of chocolate. Salted almonds and ice cream will not make amends for the lack of more substantial things. Unless there is "something to eat" at a social affair the hostess will go sorrowing for the fair young men who are not. Their resolve comes after many seasons of gilded famine. They have grown weary of teas (for occasionally there are men who go to even teas!) at homes, and afternoon receptions, where they fasted but did not pray.

Pure, rich blood is the true cure for nervousness, and Hood's Sarsaparilla is the One True Blood Purifier and nerve tonic.

BUILT UP THE SYSTEM IN A WONDERFUL MANNER.

James A. Bell, of Beaverton, Ont., brother of the Rev. John Wesley Bell, B.D., prostrated by nervous headaches A victim of the trouble for several years.

South American Nervine effected a complete cure.

In their own particular field few men are beter known than the Rev. John Wesley Bell, B.D., and his brother Mr. James A. Bell. The former will be recognized by his thousands of friends all over the country as the popular and able missionary superintendent of the Royal Templars of Temperance. Among the 20,000 members of this order in Ontario his counsel is sought on all sorts of occasions. On the public platform he is one of the strong men of the day, battling against the evils of intemperance. Equally well known is Mr. Bell in other provinces of the Dominion, having been for years a member of the Manitoba Methodist Conference and part of this time was stationed in Winnipeg. His brother, Mr. James A. Bell, is a highly respected resident of Beaverton, where his influence, though perhaps more circumscribed than that of his eminent brother, is none the less effective and productive of good. Of recent years, however, the working ability of Mr. James A. Bell has been sadly marred by severe attacks of nervous headache, accompanied by indigestion. Who can do fit work when this trouble takes hold of them and especially when it becomes chronic, as was, seemingly, the case with Mr. Bell? The trouble reached such intensity that last June he was completely prostrated. In this condition a friend recommended South American Nervine. Ready to try anything and everything, though he thought he had covered the list of proprietary medicines, he secured a bottle of this great discovery. A second bottle of the medicine was taken and the work was done. Employing his own language: "Two bottles of South American Nervine immediately relieved my headaches and have built up my system in a wonderful manner." Let us not deprecate the good our clergymen and social reformers are doing in the world, but how ill-fitted they would be for their work were it not the relief that South American Nervine brings to them when physical ills overtake them, and when the system, as a result of hard, earnest and continuous work, breaks down. Nervine treats the system as the wise reformer treats the evils he is battling against. It strikes at the root of the trouble. All disease comes from disorganization of the nerve centers. This is a scientific fact. Nervine at once works on these nerve centers; gives to them health and vigor; and then there courses through the system strong, healthy, life-maintaining blood, and nervous troubles of every variety are things of the past.

CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY.

(Incorporated by Act of Legislature 1893.)

Information requested. Informant's name kept strictly private. FINCH W. MILLER Agent and Asst. Secy. OFFICE:—Town Building. Office Hours—10 to 1 a.m. and 2 to 5 p.m

A card on the outside of office door says: "Gone to lunch. Be back in ten minutes." And, the man will be there on time. That is, for some days, weeks or even months, he will. Then he will be at home occasionally for a day. He'll tell you he had a headache—a turn of cholera morbus, or maybe he'll say he had a lump in his stomach and felt too miserable to move. The lump was probably two or three ten-minute lunches condensed. They were hurried in, but they were taking their own time about getting out, or even "moving on." This is a great mistake, but as long as there's life there's a chance to rectify mistakes.

The man who "bolts" his lunches will find Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets the best friend he ever met. The "Pellets" may not hurry as much as the man does, but they will do the work for which they are intended—surely—promptly—effectually.

There is no case of biliousness, constipation, indigestion, "heart-burn," or any of the rest of the night-mare breeding brood, that these little "Pellets" will not cure.

They are not disagreeable to take, neither are the effects disagreeable. They are gentle laxatives. They cure permanently. There's no danger of forming a "Pellet habit." Therefore, you don't become a slave to their use.

Send 31 one-cent stamps to cover cost of customs and mailing only, and receive absolutely gratis, Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, and find out how to keep yourself and family healthy. The book contains 1008 pages, over 300 illustrations and over 680,000 copies have been sold at $1.50 each. The new edition of 500,000 copies is to be given away absolutely free. It is a veritable medical library, complete in one volume. Address, with stamps, World's Dispensary Medical Association, No. 663 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

A BEAUTIFUL HOME.

ARTISTIC ARCHITECTURE ADDS TO THE COMFORT OF A HOUSE.

Description of a Model $3,000 Country Residence—It Presents Many New Features in the Arrangement of Rooms—Cozy Nooks, Inviting Corners

This beautiful country residence contains nine rooms and will cost $3,000.

The size of the parlor is 15x22 feet; library, 15x15 feet; dining room, 15x17 feet; kitchen, 13x17 feet; hall, 10x24 feet; chambers, 16x19, 15x15, 15x17, 13x18 and 10x15 feet.

The parlor and chamber above finish into a tower, making a pleasing feature. The parlor contains a fireplace and an arch between it and the hall. The hall has a nice treatment at one end and contains a seat and spacious stairway leading to the second story. A nook with seats at either side of the fireplace, furnishes a quiet retreat, and tends to make the hall really an inviting room. The library and dining-room contain fireplaces. The kitchen has a sink, brick opening for stove and boiler. There is a butler's pantry, 8x9 feet, a pastry pantry, 6x8 feet, and a vestibule for ice box, 6 feet 6 inches by 8 feet.

FRONT ELEVATION.

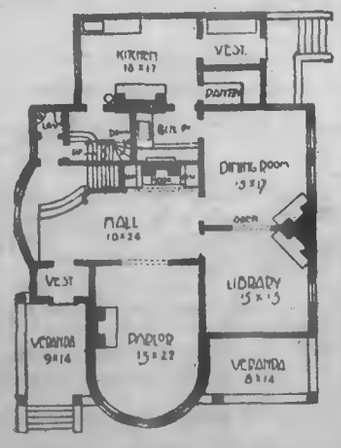
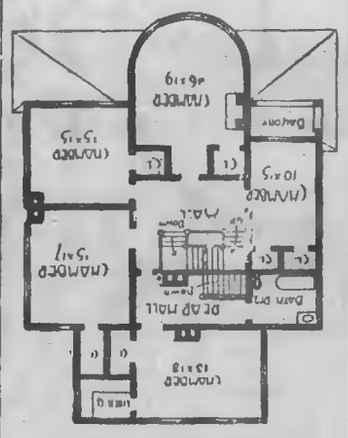
The foundation will be of rubble stone 18 inches thick. The siding will be 4 inch; the studding 2x4, placed 16 inches on centers. Floor joist will be 2x10, 16-inch centers.



PLAN OF FIRST FLOOR.

Sheathing is to be of fence, flooring and shingles are of extra cedar quality. All gutters, downspouts, flashing and saddles must be perfect. Glass is to be American double thick and free from defects. The frieze will be of composition carving. The chimneys showing above the roof and the columns of veranda will be of yellow pressed brick. All floors will be double, having felt paper between. Tar paper will be placed between siding and sheathing.



PLAN OF SECOND FLOOR.

The house will be plastered with two coats of plaster, a brown coat and a putty coat. All interior wood work will be of Georgia pine, finished in oil.

The exterior of the house will be painted three coats, including the priming. The height of the first story ceiling is 10 feet, second story ceiling is 9 feet 6 inches. The entire basement floor is concreted. The house will be wired for electric bells. Front door panel is to be of plate glass, as shown by front elevation. Furnace room, coal room, fruit room and laundry are in the basement. The hardware will be of a good substantial kind. In the attic a single floor will be laid. The bathroom fixtures will be of good make.

The front mantels will be of oak, one-quartered-sawed and of a neat design.

This house will look well painted a pea-green, with white trimmings, the roof to be the same color as the brick used for the chimney, leaving the cement cap on top of chimneys the cement color.

DO NOT SUFFER.

With Kidney Complaint—You can be Relieved Within Six Hours.

I take much pleasure in stating that I have been using South American Kidney Cure and found relief within six hours after first dose taken. I became sick in January, 1893, when I employed several of the physicians, and was treated by them until the fall of 1893 without receiving much benefit. I then began using South American Kidney Cure and have found great benefit, and am almost, if not quite, cured. Have not been taking any of the medicine for seven weeks, and feel as well as ever.—MRS. A. E. YOUNG, BARNSTON, P. Q.—Sold by H. S. Macdonald

A Malapropos Proverb.

"It's too bad," said Miss Cayenne thoughtfully. "It must have hurt Miss Primwell's feelings very much, but I spoke before I thought."

"Were you rude to her?" inquired the mutual feminine friend.

"I am afraid so. She was telling me how Mr. Wickles proposed to her. She was wonderfully pleased because he declared that if he had the wealth of the Indias he would lay it at her feet."

"And what did you say?"

"I said 'a fool and his money are soon parted.'"

Bad Advice.

"Every experience of your life, my friend," said the solemn-faced visitor at the jail, "is for you to make the right use of it. Utter no complaint. Bear your punishment in silence. Take things as you find them."

"I allus do," said the dejected vagabond, behind the bars. "That's how I got here."

One Honest Man.

Dear Editor:—Please inform your readers, that if written to confidentially I will mail in a sealed letter, particulars of a genuine, honest home cure, by which I was permanently restored to health and manly vigor, after years of suffering from nervous debility, sexual weakness, night losses and weak shrunken parts. I was robbed and swindled by the quacks until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but thank heaven, I am now well, vigorous and strong, and wish to make this certain means of cure known to all sufferers. I have nothing to sell, and want no money, but being a firm believer in the universal brotherhood of man, I am desirous of helping the unfortunate to regain their health and happiness. Perfect secrecy assured. Address with stamp:—L. A. Edwards, Jarvis Ont.

The Schools of Paris.

For smaller children there are what are called maternal schools. These are like our kindergartens. Attendance is not compulsory, but it free. From 50,000 to 60,000 little pupils attend these.

The abrupt transition from the tender guidance of the teachers of the maternal schools is bridged over by the infantile schools. These are for timid, sensitive or backward children from 6 to 8 years old.

One hundred and fifty physicians visit all of the schools regularly and frequently. They report on sanitary conditions, cases of contagious diseases and children who need medical attendance. Medical school dispensaries and school baths have recently been established.

Children whose parents are away from home at work all day are cared for till night and then safely delivered to their homes.

A warm noon meal is provided for those poor children who would otherwise have little or nothing to eat during a school day. The children of the better class, who are able to pay, are charged 10 centimes (two American cents) a meal. A uniform ticket system is used so that the children fed gratuitously cannot be distinguished from those who pay.

Shoes and clothing are given to the children who need them and all are decently and comfortably clothed. Every year then city council votes a large sum of money to be used for school vacation trips.

REV. W. R. YOUNG SPEAKS ON THE MERITS OF THE ORGANIZATION.

This is an Age of Union and Associations, and They Should not be Condemned Unjustly—"By Their Fruits Ye Shall Know Them."

As it was understood that Rev. W. R. Young, B.A., of the George street Methodist church, was to take "The Epworth League" as the subject of his discourse last evening, there was an exceptionally large attendance of young people at the service.

The text for the sermon was taken from St. Paul's First Epistle to Timothy, ch. 4v., ver. 12. "Let no man despise thy youth; but be thou an example of the believers, in word, in conversation, in charity, in spirit, in faith, in purity."

The speaker opened by stating that this was eminently a young people's age, and in substantiation of his argument, diverted the attention of the congregation to the fact that the majority of the most important positions in the world were held by the young. This was the case in the political, the ecclesiastical and the business world, and he shuddered to think of the responsibility which the shoulders of youth were bearing in the present century.

It would be hard, he thought, to draw the line separating as many were old in years, but young in spirit. Bent shoulders and wrinkled visages were not indicative of age, as no matter how old in years, a man might have a young spirit, blooming with all the freshness of youth. Such a man was always young and the line would be difficult to draw in his place.

AGE FROM YOUTH,

The present age demanded the concentration of the talents of youth. It was an age, too, of organized and combined effort—an age of unions and organizations. There was not a class of the community but had its unions. This principle also largely governed the social life of the present day. It entered also into the churches, which had their unions, associations and leagues. These, said the speaker, are not to be condemned, as the present age was the peer of any of its predecessors. The effects would have to be observed before these unions could be either condemned or lauded unduly.

In speaking of the achievements of youth in the past, Mr. Young referred to William Pitt, who at the age of twenty-five was Chancellor of the Exchequer, Prime minister of England, Ruler of Parliament, the favorite of his sovereign and the ideal of the nation, but he held these positions not on account of his youth but because he was a minister of great talents. In 1796 Napoleon entered Paris

AMID WILD ENTHUSIASM.

That he was only 27 years of age was forgotton in the fact that he was a skilled soldier and brave general. John Calvin laid the Christian world under tribute and those who paid tribute forgot, that he was only 34 when he entered the controversial arena. Then he was only known as the theologian of Geneva. These men were powers in the political, military and theologic worlds and the fact that they were young neither predjudiced nor favored them.

Youth in this practical age should not be frowned upon because of its youth or condemned on that account. "By their fruits ye shall know them" is the text which should be applied in judging.

Any society which had for its object the benefitting of the condition of man should command the approval of the world. The last quarter of a century had been marked by the most extraordinary wave of public feeling in favour of such organizations being formed. In speaking thus the speaker referred more particularly to the organization of the Young People's Society of Christian Endeavour, which movement had grown so rapidly that Dr. Clarke, its founder, would yet live to see a greater number of followers than any previous religious movement, at present even rivalling General Booth in this respect. The success was phenomenal as proven by the ever increasing attendance at

THE ANNUAL CONVENTIONS.

In 1893 the convention in Cleveland was attended by 5,000 delegates. In 1895 there were 10,000 at Chatanooga and in 1897 this attendance would doubtless be doubled in Toronto.

The question had been asked "why was the Epworth League formed when the Christian Endeavour already existed." It had not been formed in Opposition, but as the Endeavour society was undenominational or rather inter denominational, it was not under the direction of any particular church, and the Methodists thought it wiser to have their own young people controlled by the church, believing as they did in denominational loyalty and in the necessity of the church making provision for the spiritual wants of its people, especially for the denominational instruction of the young, who would eventually grow up to become teachers and leaders.

The society was an organization of young people for Christ's work. A pledge was taken on becoming a member, and there was nothing in the pledge which one could not take who desired to lead a better life. The members thus pledged carried on the work under four department: Christian Endeavour was the chief of these whereby the members undertook to "look up and lift up for Christ and the Church," to develop Christian life and to stretch forth a hand to the stranger and to the young men drifting away from the church.

There was also the missionary work in which both the Foreign and Home Missions were encouraged.

The literary and social departments were branches of the work most necessary attractions for the restive spirit of the young.

In concluding his sermon Mr. Young impressed upon his congregation that the words of Paul to Timothy were in reality spoken directly to them and he urged them strongly to comply with the advice contained in the text.

JOHN McNAUGHTON'S GREAT CLEARING SALE.

Big Bargain Boom in Boots and Shoes.

The clearing sale of the boot and shoe stock is still going on at his store, corner Bethune and Sherbrooke streets. The decided bargains offered are attracting numerous buyers. Those in need of first class boots and shoes for men, women and children should not miss this great sale. The stock must be cleared out, and the prices are made low, very low, for that purpose.

Calcutt's Dublin Porter.

Men and women are all more or less troubled with dyspepsia. Why? Because they suffer from constipation. This is easily cured if attended to. If neglected it will become chronic. Constipation is the cause of nine-tenths of all our sickness. Nature requires assistance to throw off impurities of the system and regulate the bowels. This is what Calcutt's porter will do. Build up your system by the moderate use of this tonic. It does not derange the system but builds it up and consequently adds to your strength and weight. Sold by all leading grocers, only $1.00 per dozen.

THE HIGHWAYMEN CAUGHT

Arrest of the Murderous Thieves Who Robbed the Tuckett Company's Cashier.

Hamilton, Feb. 16.—(Special.)—The police have in custody the two men who beyond a doubt, clubbed and robbed John Cauley, Mayor Tuckett's cashier, on Friday afternoon. On Friday night the detectives were told that Mike Horn and Mark Tompkins were the men seen running away, and they immediately set out to capture them, and on Saturday morning Detective Bleakly saw Tompkins standing on the corner of York and Locke streets. Tompkins had only a small sum of money on him, and there was nothing about him that would indicate that he was the man wanted. The detectives and policemen, in plain clothes, continued their search for his pal, Mike Horn, who could not be seen about his customary haunts on Friday night or Saturday. About 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon Detective Bleakly had a warrant sworn out to search the house of Mrs. Lyon on Locke street, near Barton, for the money stolen, and was accompanied by Detectives Reid and Campbell and P.C.'s Clarke and Aiken, to the house. To the surprise of the officers they found Horn and Lyon sleeping on a bed, both drunk. The significance of this was that Mrs. Lyon is Tompkins' sister. Detective Reid took Horn away, and the other officers found $460 in a drawer. Of this, $215 was in $5 Bank of British North America bills, and the balance in $2 and $1 bills. The authorities are still searching for the rest of the money. Horn has been in the Police Court several times, and Tompkins has served a term in Central Prison for assault. They have both been receiving undue attention from the police for years.

Cauley, the victim of the assault, is somewhat better to-night. He rested well last night and if complications don't set in, Drs. Stark and Philp have hopes of his recovery.

PRETTY SLICK CRACKSMEN.

They Blew a Safe in New York and Got Away With $2175.

New York, Feb. 16.—Burglars, undoubtedly professionals, gained an entrance to the building at 25 Park Row, occupied by the Dennett Restaurant Company, through a skylight some time between 12.30 o'clock this morning and 4.30 this afternoon, and blew open with dynamite six safes and stole the contents, which at present are estimated at $2175 cash. The interior of the restaurant is exposed to passers-by on the street by bright lights, and there are no curtains to check the view. Notwithstanding this fact, the burglars removed the safe, which stood beside the cashier's desk on the street floor, and in full view from the street and pushed it around under the stairway leading to the second floor. Here they drilled holes around the combination and inserted explosives, which almost blew the front of the door out and scattered the papers which the safe contained around the floor.

TAR AND FEATHERS FOR ONE.

How the People in Buffalo Bill's Town Treated Bailey, the Alleged Healer.

North Platte, Neb., Feb. 16.—William Bailey was tarred and feathered and ordered to leave town by a Vigilance Committee consisting of 150 citizens last night. Bailey is an imitator of Schlatter, the Denver healer, and has been working his so-called miracles all winter. The man had endeared himself to the members of one of the families who had believed in his faith until he became so frequent in manifesting his powers that the husband ordered him to leave the house and never return. He paid no attention to the orders, and the husband ejected the intruder. This act was heartily approved by the citizens. The healer was ordered to leave town yesterday and disobeyed, and after dark the mob quietly organized to enforce the order. The mob broke in the doors of the house where the healer was stopping, and after administering the tar and feathers turned him loose, telling him that if they caught him again he would be lynched.

SIR HENRY AND HIS OLD LOVE,

He is Very Sanguine Regarding the Future of the Grand Trunk.

New York, Feb. 16.—Sir Henry Tyler, ex-president of the Grand Trunk Railroad, arrived in this city last Friday, after an extended tour over the Peruvian railways and guano fields in the interest of British stockholders. Sir Henry still retains an affectionate interest for the Grand Trunk, and he is very sanguine regarding the future of that property. He prophesies large increases in the revenues of the road in consequence of the operation of the new joint traffic association. Sir Henry and his son, Lieut. Tyler, sailed for Europe on the Aurania yesterday.

MISS BARTON NOW IN TURKEY.

The Red Cross Party Arrive at Constantinople Death From Smallpox.

Constantinople, Feb. 16.—The representative of the United Press in this city learns that Miss White, a member of the family of Rev. C. E. White, an American missionary at Marsovan, has died from smallpox.

It is reported that Russia alone objects to the United States having a despatch boat here. The Hon. A. W. Terrell, the American Minister, has referred the matter to Washington for settlement with the Government at St. Petersburg.

Miss Clara Barton and her colleagues of the Red Cross Society have arrived here.

A Comet Hunter in Luck.

Boston, Feb. 16.—The comet whose discovery was announced Saturday by a cablegram from Kiel, Prussia, proves to be a new one. It has been observed by Prof. Perrine, who is at Lick Observatory, and is not the one discovered by him in November. The object has a motherly motion and is the first comet of the year.

Floated Off Oyster Island.

New York, Feb. 16.—The steamer Eldorado, before reported ashore on Oyster Island, was floated at high tide last night after discharging part of her cargo. The vessel lost two blades of her propeller. Otherwise she was not injured.

THAT IMPALING CASE.

Mr. H. E. Hudson, Combermere, Severely Injured—Protruding Knot Entered the Body—Cured by One Box of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Combermere, Feb. 17, (Special)—Mr. H. E. Hudson, trapper, hunter and lumberman, was injured by falling on a knot which entered his body from beneath and injured the bladder and kidneys. He says: "I was confined to my bed for six weeks and was rarely able to work, feeling too weak since the injury over eight years ago. I have taken one box of Dodd's Kidney Pills and am perfectly cured and as able-bodied as ever before in my life. One box was worth one hundred dollars to me, if it is possible to estimate such a benefit in dollars."

SECOND CROP OF BARGAINS.

We start the Bargain Ball rolling for February in dead earnest. As there is a good deal of winter yet before us, it is unnecessary to point out the wisdom of buying now.

Our Stock-Taking is over—now for a month of lucky chances and snaps in mid-winter goods. An aftermath of Bargains for shrewd buyers—lines which we laid out during stock taking such as Serges, Cheviots, Heavy Tweeds and other Remnants, to be sold even at HALF REGULAR PRICES.

We don't want to carry winter lines past their regular selling season, so you may figure on getting pretty nearly your own way in prices.

You need the goods—we need the room they occupy—so there is mutual benefit all round in the selling of them.

Our New Spring Stock is wheeling into line, and we are glad to tell our lady friends that part of our programme for Spring is a NEW MILLINERY DEPARTMENT, of which we will tell you more in good time.

We don't "rest-up" during the winter months and take things easy until Spring. Business is full of worn-out, tired-out men who live almost wholly in the past and struggle for the success that never comes. And because of that they find fault with the times. While others are resting we're simply HUSTLING.

400 Acre Farm FOR SALE.

IN SNOWDEN.

I WILL SELL AT A BARGAIN A 400 acre Farm in the Township of Snowden—very convenient—about half a lot from the Village of Gelert and Gelert Station. The property consists of lots 16, 17, 18, 19, in the 11th Con less a strip of Lots 17, 18 and 19 through which runs the Victoria branch, of the Grand Trunk Railway. There are cleared on lot 16, 20 acres; on lot 17, 60 acres; on lot 18, 20 acres, and on lot 19, 25 acres, balance good hardwood bush and well timbered. Log House. Log Barn. The property is well watered by a branch of the Burnt River and would make an excellent farm for stock and grain and the Timber being convenient to the station can be sold at a good price or shipped as purchaser desires, and in the most profitable manner. It is close to school and church.

At a recent examination it is estimated that there are upon the four lots the following quantities of wood, etc.:—800 cords maple wood; 800 cords birch wood; 800 cords hemlock, balsam and soft wood; 2000 cedar ties; 2000 cedar posts; about 300 acres good farming land; 100 acres good pasture land. It is one of the best farms in the country for stock raising, pasture being always good.

FANCY DRESS BALL.

A Brilliant Affair Given by the Aberdeens.

LORD DUFFERIN'S DAY OUTDONE

The Stately Senate Chamber Transformed Into a Veritable Fairyland Onlookers Were Carried Back a Thousand Years—Gorgeous Costumes and Fine Music.

Ottawa, Feb. 17.—(Special)—Fairyland has moved to-night from wherever fairyland usually is and taken up its abode temporarily in the Senate Chamber, while the last eight centuries have held friendly converse together and representatives of nearly all the nations of the earth, past and present, have joined together to do honor to His Excellency the Governor-General and Lady Aberdeen, and to shed lustre on the grand historical ball which closed the festal season ere the advent of Lent. To say that the ball was successful is but very faintly and inadequately to express the happy culmination of much careful, earnest and thoughtful preparation, of many hours of hard practice and pleasurable labor, and a great outlay of time and talent and money in planning out harmonious groups, in studying graceful posturings, in learning stately, but intricate dances and in preparing costumes, which were rich, elegant, tasteful and as nearly historically correct as any ancient costumes can possibly be reproduced in modern times.

Their Excellencies are to be congratulated on having given what was in every respect the grandest and most completely successful entertainment ever seen in Ottawa, and one which it is doubtful has ever been excelled on this continent, and the ladies and gentlemen who took part in the historical dances deserve the highest possible praise for the careful and painstaking manner in which they prepared and dressed for their respective parts, and for the excellent manner in which they sustained them. Heretofore the measure of social success in Ottawa has been measured by Lord Dufferin's grand masquerade ball 20 years ago, and which has remained unequalled until to-night, when the record was broken, and in the future the great and overpowering social triumph of Ottawa will be counted as the grand historical ball given by Lord and Lady Aberdeen.

The Senate Chamber, and in fact the Senate wing and the vestibule to the two houses were given up to His Excellency for the occasion and for days past the transformation of the Chamber has being going on, so that to-night it presented a vastly different appearance from its ordinary stately, but cold grandeur. the treatment of the decorations was simple but strikingly effective. Each of the 16 tall, stately marble columns which form the strikingly distinctive feature of the chamber was draped with a long, heavy blue plush streamer, corded and tasseled and surmounted by crowns. Beneath these were shields bearing the coats of arms and mottoes of a number of the Governors of New France under the French regime, and of the Governors of Canada since the cession. On the left, extending along the whole of the eastern wall, and to the centre of the main entrance, were the shields of the French Governors, under each of which a pair of the French standards, the white silken banner spotted with golden fleur de lis, were gracefully draped, while on the right the shields of the English Governors from Murray to Aberdeen were similarly supported with the Union Jack. Between these shields were numerous magnificent banners and bannerets of crimson velvet, gorgeously ornamented in gold, the whole decoration being exceedingly rich and extremely effective.

A new floor was laid on the level of the second row of Senators' desks, thus greatly enlarging the floor space and affording ample room for those forming the various courts to group about the sides of the chamber and still leave a sufficiently large space in the centre for the special dances of the various courts. The galleries were devoted to those in costume not specially attached to any of the courts, to members of Parliament and the Senate and to the press, and every available seat was filled, and almost every inch of standing room was occupied. By carefui estimate, there were over two hundred and fifty ladies and gentlemen who participated in the historical dances and formed part of the various courts, while there were fully one thousand other guests, who filled the galleries and corridors.

By half-past 9 the different courts had assembled, and shortly after the strains of the National Anthem announced the entrance of His Excellency and Lady Aberdeen, preceded by two heralds with trumpets and followed by the viceregal party. Immediately after Their Excellencies took their places on the dais the first of the historical dances commenced. This was a polka by the Vikings, the first discoverers of Canada, personated by the Government House party. This was a bold, dashing dance, which set things going at a lively pace.

The other historical dances were:

Pavane—Cabot starting his voyage of discovery—Mrs. Mackintosh's party.

Quadrille—Jacque s Cartier leaving France—Mrs. T. M. Daly's party.

Bourree—The early settlers in Acadia—Mrs. Dickey's party.

Pavane—Maissoneuve and the founders of Montreal—Madame Laurier's party.

Gavotte—New France—Mrs. Gwynne's party.

Farandole—Canada in the times of Montcalm and Wolfe—Mrs. Bourinot's party.

Acadian peasant dance—Acadia in the days of Evangeline—Mrs. White's party.

Sir Roger de Coverley—The United Empire Loyalists—Mrs. R. W. Scott's party.

At the end of the court dances those taking part in them were presented to Their Excellencies. The presentation was closed by Mr. Hayter Reed in the dress of an Indian chief advancing at the head of his band, emitting melodious warwhoops and saluting His Excellency with great empreement. Mr. Reed, on behalf of his band, then presented His Excellency with a calumet or pipe of peace, accompanying the same with a short speech in Cree, which was punctuated by the band with expresive grunts, and finished off by one grand final war whoop.

During each dance the lady whose party was dancing was conducted to the dais by Col. Smith, A.D.C., and received by Their Excellencies during that dance.

All of the Cabinet Ministers were present in uniform, except Sir Frank Smith and Hon. Dr. Montague, and the following ex-Cabinet Ministers were also present in uniform: Sir Richard Cartwright, Sir Hector Langevin, Sir John Carling, and Hon. R. W. Scott. Hon. S Laurier was also present, but not in uniform.

Madame Albani and Mrs. Potter Palmer were amongst those present.

The historical dances were all good, the stately dances of old France forming a fine contrast to the martial and wild steps of the Vikings, but the dance which caught the fancy most, and which was the only one which had to be repeated, was the May pole dance by Mrs. White's Acadian maidens, which was a most charming and pleasing spectacle.

Immediately after the court dances were over, supper was served in the vestibule of the House of Commons, which was fitted up specially for the occasion. The whole Government House staff of servants, largely supplemented with extra help, was on hand, and a most excellent supper was well served. In the meantime three extra waltzes were danced and the regular program continued until an early hour.

IRISH POLITICAL PRISONERS

John Redmond Makes an Impassioned Appeal on Their Behalf in the Imperial House—Closure Moved

London, Feb. 17.—The Imperial House took up the debate on the amendment to the address in reply to the Queen's Speech, moved on Friday by Timothy Harrington, Parnellite member for the Harbor division of Dublin, favoring the release of the Irish political prisoners.

John E. Redmond, Parnellite, made an impassioned speech, in which he said that the feeling throughout Ireland was in favor of amnesty to the Irish political prisoners. The use of dynamite had originated with Irish Americans, who were regarded by Irishmen generally as being mad and reckless. All Irishmen now concurred in the belief that the time had arrived for the exercise of clemency towards the Irish political prisoners. The Irish were blamed for their lack of sympathy with England in her foreign complications. They would be hypocrites if they were to pretend that they were in sympathy with England. Were these hatreds to exist forever? He hoped to see the day when England and Ireland would face the world hand in hand. He appealed to the Government to hasten the day of the release of an old and dead moment of passion and madness. (Irish cheers.)

Mr. Balfour said the Government must follow the regular practice. The quinquennial revision would be applied to the Irish prisoners with absolute impartiality.

Prof. Lecky, the historian, was loudly cheered as he rose to make his first speech in the House, urging clemency for the Irish prisoners.

Mr. Balfour moved closure, which was carried by 270 to 107, and Mr. Warrington's amendment was rejected by 279 to 117.

A Boiler in a Chesley Factory Explodes While They Were at Breakfast.

Chesley, Feb. 17.—At 7.30 o'clock this morning the boiler in Messrs. Moore & Wallace's sash and door factory here exploded. Fortunately no one was in the building at the time, all the hands having left a few minutes before for breakfast. The force of the explosion was so great that the whole building was torn into atoms, and parts of the boiler were found over 100 yards distant from the ruins. The explosion is supposed to have been caused by the feed pipe to the boiler having become frozen. The loss will be slightly over $2000

THE BLOSSOM OF PEACE.

A Stirring Sermon by Bishop Coxe of Buffalo Delivered to Young Men at Cleveland—It's Arbitration.

Baltimore, Feb. 17.—Right Rev. Arthur Cleveland Coxe of Buffalo, Protestant Episcopal Bishop of Western New York, preached at old St. Paul's Church last night to young men, of whom the large congregation was principally composed. His text was, "Nation shall not lift up sword against nation, neither shall they learn war any more." "A war is suicidal," said the bishop. "The terrible implements which modern science puts in the hands of the soldiers of modern armies operate for universal peace. On land and sea war is devoid of fascination. It has come to be human butchery, with nothing of beauty to touch the human imagination in contrast to the awful carnage.

"Mark the recent agitation which was but a ruffling of the eagle's wings and not a roar from the lion, although we saw his teeth. How surely out of that battle will spring the blossom of peace. Out of that moment of peril will spring the world-wide unity of the Anglo-Saxon family.

"What else can we expect from the world-wide diffusion of English speech, of Anglo-Saxon blood, of English institutions, learning and literature, the control of the safeguards of peace, the great sinews of war and the spread of holy faith, of our hereditary church? Take the map of the world and color like our heart's blood every point where our race is flourishing. The perpetual concord of this great Anglo-Saxon family by settling family differences in courts of arbitration would form such an example as the civilized world would follow for economic reasons alone. It would teach the nations to learn war no more.

"It is true that such courts might at times act unjustly; but, as in the case of other courts of justice, it is the duty of the citizen to defer to them. Peace with honor is always to be preferred.

Answer 'Yes' to the question as to whether or not the American people are educated up to such a high standard of principles as to be ready for such settlements of questions as lately came up."

SUDDEN WEALTH IN PROSPECT.

The Cronk Family of Windsor to Have $12,000,000 Among Them.

Windsor, Ont., Feb. 17.—The Cronk family, living in this city, has, it is said, every indication of suddenly becoming wealthy. The family consists of Albert, Harvey and Cord Cronk, and their sister, Mrs. T. G. Lowe, formerly of London. The fable goes that toward the middle of the last century three brothers, Jacob, James and Caspar Cronk, came from Holland and settled in New York. In a short time Caspar returned to Holland, where he became very successful in business. He wished to share his good fortune with his brothers and invited them to return and live with him. This they refused to do, which their brother never forgave. Caspar died on April 6, 1796, and left a very curious will. He devised his wealth, amounting to about $12,000,000, to the fourth and fifth generations of the family. It was ordered that the will should be read in America on April 6, 1896, and the money divided among the heirs. The family spoken of belong to the fifth generation.

Dr. Wilfrid Nelson Decorated by the Queen Regent of Spain.

Washington, Feb. 17.—A cablegram from the Minister of Foreign Affairs at Madrid, to the Spanish Minister here, announces the decorating of Dr. Wilfrid Nelson by the Queen Regent of Spain. The decoration conferred is the Cross of a Commander-in-Ordinary of the Royal Order of Isabella the Catholic. Dr. Nelson of New York is a Canadian, and fellow of the Royal Geographical Society of Great Britain.

IS RUSSIA PLAYING THE GAME?

Japan Believes the Bear is at Work in Corea Just Now.

Tokio, Japan, Feb. 17.—There is great activity among all the naval forces. The Japanese Government is confident that Russia is encouraging the revolt in Corea with a view to the early establishing of a Russian protectorate over the Kingdom. The seat of the Corean Government is now in the Russian Legation at Seoul, where the king remains guarded. It is believed that the King of Corea authorized the outbreak in revnge for the murder of the queen. The Emperor of Japan suspended the sitting of the Parliament in the midst of the opposition attacks on Premier Ito's Ministry.

Manager Hays Tells the Tunnel People to Cut Their Rates in Two.

Port Huron, Feb. 17.—It is reported that General Manager Hays of the Grand Trunk Railway system, while in the city, gave the tunnel officials to understand that they must cut their present rates in two or the car ferries which at present are laid up will again be put in service. The cost of taking a freight car through the tunnel at present is $1, a passenger coach $3, and an engine $6. The tunnel company will probably reduce the rates.

The Presbyterian Church at Westport, Ont., was totally destroyed by fire yesterday morning. The fire, when discovered at 10 a.m., had gained such headway that it was impossible to extinguish it. Loss probably $25,000, with insurance $7,000.

science

Science is "knowing how." The only secret about Scott's Emulsion is years of science. When made in large quantities and by improving methods, an emulsion must be more perfect than when made in the old-time way with mortar and pestle a few ounces at a time. This is why Scott's Emulsion of cod-liver oil never separates, keeps sweet for years, and why every spoonful is equal to every other spoonful. An even product throughout.

In other emulsions you are liable to get an uneven benefit—either an over or under dose. Get Scott's. Genuine has a salmon-colored wrapper.

TUESDAY FEBRUARY 18, 1896.

HON. MR. FOSTER is ruthlessly robbed of the credit of originating the sounding phrase of Britain's "splendid isolation." A novelist coined the phrase months before the Finance Minister quoted it. We would willingly give Mr. Foster all the credit he desires in the matter of phrases, if he would only give us the ghost of a chance of giving him credit for successful financial administration.

CONSERVATIVES are hard to suit in the matter of a leader. They imported the "war horse" to trample the life out of Sir Mackenzie Bowel, and now the basket is ready for Mr. Marter's head. Ever since Mr. Meredith's retirement and Mr. Marter's appointment as leader of the Opposition there has been dissatisfaction. It is said that many of the new leader's colleagues thought at the time of his selection that he was not big enough for the job, and this feeling was confirmed when, after having declared during the London election in favour of the abolition of Separate schools in Ontario, he turned about a few days later and became the apologist of dualism in this province. Aside from the merits of the question altogether, people thought that such sudden whirls indicated irresolution and lack of fixity of purpose, failings which are fatal to a party leader. This dissatisfaction, it is reported, has at last reached a head and a party caucus is to be held to-day to consider the question of leadership. There is a strong disposition among the rank and file in favour of the selection of Mr. Whitney, and it is not improbable the representative of Dundas will be the Opposition leader ere this week is out.

WHERE POOR JOE REN RAMPANT.

The London City Council Deadlock Has at Last Been Broken.

London, Feb. 17.—Col. Lomis, chairman of the Hospital Board, is still in a very dangerous condition.

The City Council for 1896 is evenly divided as regards politics, with a Liberal Mayor in the chair. As a result of the absence of one of the Liberal aldermen from the city for the past six weeks, a dead-lock resulted in the appointment of standing committees for the year, which was not broken until to-night. The bone of contention was the chairmanship of No. 2 Committee, which is the great money-spending and labor-hiring committee of the Council, and it is expected that the chairman of this committee will be of great assistance to his political party in the coming elections. The Liberal aldermen to-night voted one of their members chairman of No. 2 Committee, and appointed Conservative chairmen on the other committees. The Conservative aldermen claimed that the proceedings were illegal and refused to have anything to do with the elections, and those of them elected to chairmanships of committees declined to accept for the above reason. The Mayor, however, had legal opinion upon the subject, and ruled that the proceedings were legal. The Liberal members withdrew a second time, and elected chairmen from their ranks. The dead-lock has been the subject of a great deal of discussion, and the Council have practically done nothing since their election until to-night. The City Hall was crowded with citizens watching the proceedings.

How to Revive the Colours of Faded Carpet.

After a carpet has been thoroughly cleaned, the original colour may be brightened and renewed with Diamond Dyes. Thoroughly dissolve a package of Diamond Dye, the colour wanted, in a quart of boiling water, and strain into a glass jar. Brush this over the proper colour or colours in the carpet, using flat, bristle brushes, not too stiff. If necessary, go over it again after the first application has perfectly dried.

Be sure you use the Diamond Dyes for this work; other dyes give poor results.

THE WOMEN'S FOREIGN MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

MEETING OF THE PETERBOROUGH PRESBYTERIAL SOCIETY.

The Fourteenth Annual Meeting Held in Cobourg Last Week—Mrs. W. M. Graham's Comprehensive Report.

The fourteenth annual meeting of the above society was held in the Presbyterian church, Cobourg, on Tuesday and Wednesday, Feb. 11th and 12th.

The programme presented for the five sessions was varied and interesting and those who were privileged to attend could not but go back to their societies with greater zeal for the Master's work.

TUESDAY MORNING.

The first session commenced at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning. Mrs. J. K. Smith, of Port Hope, conducted the Bible reading, and Mrs. Lord, of Grafton, led in prayer. Mrs. McWilliams, of Peterborough, gave the opening words, which were listened to with deep interest.

The election of officers took place during the morning and resulted as follows:

President—Mrs. N. F. MacNachtan, Cobourg.
1st Vice-President — Mrs. McLelland, Havelock.
2nd Vice-President—Mrs. Smith, Port Hope.
3rd Vice-President—Mrs. MacWilliams, Peterborough.
4th Vice-President—Mrs. Lord, Grafton.
Cor. Secretary—Mrs. W. M. Graham, Lakefield.
Asst. Cor. Secretary—Mrs. Laird, Port Hope.
Rec. and Lit. Secretary—Mrs. Craick, Port Hope.
Treasurer—Mrs. Craick, Port Hope.

TUESDAY AFTERNOON.

After a Bible reading, entitled "The Heathen," conducted by Mrs. McLelland of Havelock, and prayer by Mrs. Johnston of Millbrook, Mrs. MacNachtan, the President, after expressing her pleasure at seeing so many delegates present, in an able address reviewed the work of the society for the past year. The address was warmly received and most favourably commented on.

Mrs. Burnet extended a very hearty welcome to the visitors, which was followed by greetings from sister societies, through Mrs. Ward, King street Methodist church, and Miss Lena Kerr, Division street Methodist church, Cobourg.

Mrs. Graham, the corresponding secretary, then gave her report, which was one of the most brilliant to which it has ever been the privilege of the society to listen.

Mrs. Craick, the treasurer, presented the financial statement, which showed a most encouraging increase in the funds. The dedicatory prayer was offered by Miss Dickson of Peterborough.

The speaker of the afternoon, Mrs. McCrea of Collingwood, whom all were glad to welcome once more, delivered a most practical and sympathetic address, which was listened to with much interest by the large congregation of women present.

The Misses Pearce sang a duet very sweetly while the offering was being taken up. Mrs. Stewart of Peterborough, closed the meeting with prayer.

TUESDAY EVENING—OPEN MEETING.

At 8 o'clock on Tuesday evening, with the Rev. John Hay, B. D., in the chair, an open meeting of more than usual interest and largely attended by nearly all denominations, was held. Prayer was offered by Rev. Mr. Gilchrist of Baltimore, and the evening's proceedings were enlivened by the best of music, furnished by the Presbyterian church choir, assisted by the charming voices in song of Miss Pearse, Miss Howden and Mr. Anderson.

Mrs. W. M. Graham, of Lakefield, the Corresponding Secretary, submitted the following summary of the annual report of the Peterborough Presbyterial Society:—"According to human measurement of progress and judgment of success, our society may be said to have had a good year. In membership, attendance and monthly meetings and contributions there is an increase over previous years. Furthermore, the fluctuating spirit which bespeaks lack of interest, as well, perhaps, as lack of missionary intelligence, seems largely to have disappeared, and in its place we find a spirit of sympathy and purpose which tells of knowledge gained and applied under the power and direction of the Holy Spirit's influence in the human heart. We have at present a force of 23 auxiliaries, 6 young women's bands, and 3 juvenile bands—making in all 32 branches. In auxiliaries there are 525 members; 163 of these belong to the general society. In mission bands there are 175 reported, and 11 members of the general society, making in all 705—38 in advance of 1894. There has been, we regret to say, a falling off in our representation in the general society, which may possibly be traced to the continued commercial depression.

The average attendance at monthly meetings has also taken an upward turn, being 333 against 320 in 1894. Our mission band average, however, is reduced from 96 to 83. Havelock has added an auxiliary to our number, and is our only addition for 1895.

In the "Scattered Helpers" Association we have also enjoyed growth and progress. 32 being the number last year, while this year we have 51. Those isolated, faithful "Helpers" have added $50.87 to our revenue, a not inconsiderable sum assuredly, one that tells of much premeditated self-denial of perhaps actual necessaries, as well as eagerly-desired luxuries. Only seven of our branches have so far instituted this department, and we cannot but believe our work seriously incomplete until every branch in our Presbyterial Society has its association of "Scattered Helpers," which in its significance, reminds one of the mothers at home, working and praying for the comfort, safety, and ultimate victory of their husbands and sons on the battlefield.

Our clothing supply was sent to Miss Baker for the Indian schools at Prince Albert, Sask., and was acknowledged by her in very grateful and pleased terms. The quality was excellent, and the quantity about 1200 lbs. In addition to this, several of our mission bands sent a contribution of gifts, prizes, etc., to the boarding school at Indore, C. I. The whole consignment was estimated at a money value of $643.46; $119.91 of this amount being the value of new material.

The financial results of the years' work indicate that the missionary spirit has really reached the p rse,—so that the strongest pickets in the fortress of opposition to Foreign Missions may be said to have been surrendered.

The total contribution to the general fund amounts to $1,638.99—$36.67 more than the previous year's returns. Of the total amount, our bands have given $215.95 and auxiliaries $1381.61. Nearly all of this sum is the result of voluntary giving—very few of our branches now use any means of augmenting their funds other than by direct offering to the Lord, "as each purposeth in her heart."

The monthly Letter Leaflet, which is the official organ of the W. F. M. S. (western section) has a monthly circulation of 547 among the members and others in our Presbyterial Society; one branch takes 100 copies and two is the least number taken by any of our branches. To the silent influence of this enlightening, educating agent is due, we believe, much of the secret of the growth and strength of the missionary spirit in the hearts of Presbyterian women.

During the year nine members have been removed from us by death; one of these, the aged and venerable Mrs. Tassie, of St. Paul's Peterborough, and since the new year's dawn, Mrs. Cassie, of First church, Port Hope, has also gone to her rest. Among the number, Cobourg auxiliary mourns the loss of Mrs. Warner, who laid down her burden in February of last year. Of those whose loss we deplore, we rejoice that it may be said, "They rest from their labours," and we trust their works may be manifested in the awakening of much greater interest and zeal in us, whose sands of life are, rapidly as the fleet-winged time, running out.

23 thank-offering meetings have been held during the year in the various branches of our society, and it would be impossible to estimate the far-reaching effects of these meetings, which can now be regarded as an annual occurrence in most of the branches throughout the W. F.M.S.

We trust that the record for 1896 may be such, that the history of the Church shall be illuminated as never before, by the consecration of her women to the service of Him whose right it is to reign."

The Reverend Mr. Laird, of Campbellford, gave one of the most eloquent and practical addresses on mission work that has been delivered in Cobourg in many a day.

To the lecture of the Rev. Dr. Smith, of Honan, China, the people, had looked forward as an instructive treat, an intellectual, foreign-mission treat, and such indeed it proved to be. With the learned Doctor's vivid description of the customs peculiar to the almond-eyed children in the Land of the Rising Sun, everyone in the vast audience was deeply interested and delighted.

After votes of thanks, the benediction was pronounced and an evening's proceedings as pleasurable and as profitable as could well be desired were terminaned at 10 o'clock.

WEDNESDAY MORNING.

The devotional exercises were conducted by Miss Russell of Cobourg, and Miss Cochrane of Port Hope.

Mission Band work was one of the subjects on the programme which was looked forward to with interest and the expectations were fully realized for the five papers viz., "Their place and importance," by Miss M. Dickson, Peterborough; How to revive and maintain interest," by Mrs. W. Hamilton, Cobourg; "Importance of sympathy between auxiliaries and Mission Bands," by Mrs. Gilchrist, Baltimore, and "Juvenile Work," by Mrs. Lord, Grafton, and Miss Hall, Peterborough, were filled with many practical and useful hints.

Prayer by Miss Gilchrist of Baltimore, brought the session to a close.

WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON.

After the Scripture reading by the president, and prayer by Miss Crosby, of Campbellford, many items of business were brought up and discussed.

Votes of thanks were accorded the Cobourg ladies for their much appreciated kindness, and to the organist, the choir, and all who had contributed to the pleasure and success of the meetings.

St. Andrew's church, Peterborough, is the next place of meeting. The semi-annual meeting will be held in Centreville.

The following were the delegates representing different branches of the society:

Port Hope—Mrs. Craick, Miss Craick, Mrs. Laird, Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Carson, Miss Brodie, Mrs. Fogarty, Miss Cochrane, Miss McNaughton, Miss K. McNaughton.

Peterborough—Mrs. Stewart, Mrs. McWilliams, Mrs. Mulholland, Mrs. Lech, Miss Forsyth, Miss Dickson, Miss Brown, Miss Connall, Miss Hall.

Paine's Celery Compound Puts Rheumatism to Flight After the Doctors Failed.

It is now an established fact, that Paine's Celery Compound cures ninety-nine out of every one hundred cases of rheumatism pronounced incurable by the doctors. Day after day reports are received, giving particulars of cures effected by the great Compound. These cures are astonishing the medical profession, and compel the doctors to acknowledge the claim so often made, that no other medicine in the world possesses like curing virtues. The following letter from Mrs. F. McMann, of Thorold, Ont., should lead every rheumatic sufferer to use the medicine so strongly recommended :—

"I think it my duty to let you know what Paine's Celery Compound has done for my husband. For two years he suffered very much with rheumatism in the back, and became so bad that he could not bend, stoop, or sit in a chair at the table, and I was obliged to take his meals to him while he lay in bed. He was treated by various physicians, but received no benefit until he used Paine's Celery Compound. The first bottle gave him relief, and after he had used six bottles he was quite free from the rheumatism. He was troubled with piles for fourteen years, and found great relief from the Compound. He says he feels like a new man just now. We think there is no medicine like Paine's Celery Compound."

Require no description, since, with rare exception, all at some time have experienced their twinges. Rheumatism is not easily dislodged, only the most powerfully penetrating remedies reach to its very foundations. The most successful treatment known, and it is now frequently resorted to by medical men, is the application of that now famous remedy for pain—Polson's Nerviline. It is safe to say that nothing yet discovered has afforded equal satisfaction to the suffering, and no matter how bad the case may be Nerviline is sure to cure it. TERRIBLE DISASTER.

Fire and Death in a Troy Collar Factory.

TWENTY GIRLS LOSE THEIR LIVES

A Small Boy's Carelessness Starts a Hot Blaze in a Building Who 300 Operatives Were Closing Their Day's Work—Girls Jump to Death, Others Burned.

Troy, Feb. 17.—There is mourning in the homes of Troy collar girls to-night. An untimely and fearful death overtook many of them late this afternoon. Working girls, whose day's labor was almost over, were cut down almost without warning by fire. Three girls jumped to their death from a burning building. Distracted mothers waited for the return of their daughters at night, and they waited in vain.

Bright, pretty collar girls, who had left their homes in the morning full of life and health and spirit, never lived to tell the tale of agony, torture and death. Their charred bodies are now resting under tons and tons of red hot embers, stone and brick. Identity even when found will probably be impossible. The scene was one that Trojans will never forget. It is a black page in the city's history, unparalleled in its century of existence.

The fire started in J. Stathelmer & Co.'s shirt waist factory and Van Sant & Jacob's collar factory at 5.30 o'clock this afternoon. There were 300 girls at work in the shop and in Van Sant & Jacobs' collar factory, which is situated in the same building.

The flames spread so rapidly that the narrow stairway, which was the only exit outside of the fire escapes in the rear, was almost immediately cut off, and during the panic that followed five girls jumped from the windows, three of them to their death, and many others were injured.

The dead: Mrs. Horbort of Water-street, Mrs. Kane of 193 Fourth-street and Mrs. Foley.

Missing: Miss Mamie Danks, Miss Kittie O'Connor, Miss Kane and Miss Foley.

The injured: Miss Mamie Day, burned and bruised; Miss Lillie Kreger, badly bruised; Alfred Casey, fireman, Osgood Co., driven insane by shock; Miss Mamie Downs of Sixth-avenue, almost suffocated; Miss Annette Harrington, face and hands burned; Miss Lillie Outhouf, West Troy, badly burned; Miss Clementine Lloyd, Miss Gertrude Lloyd, Miss Johnston, all three of Lansingburgh, badly and perhaps fatally burned; James Ross, crushed by falling walls, leg broken and seriously injured; Officer Burke, crushed by falling walls, condition serious; Officer Guy, badly bruised; Officer Watson, scalp wound and bruised; Alfred Casey, fireman, Osgood Co., spine injured; John Ornsby, fireman, Osgood Co., knee hurt; John Boland, fireman, Eddy Co., scalp wound and leg broken.

It is believed by everybody, even the proprietors and employes in the shops, that about 20 girls were overcome before they reached the street and were burned up in the building. People who are familiar with the interior of the building, and who know how limited are the means of escape, place the total loss at least 30.

The scene of the catastrophe was at the corner of Broadway and River-street, a portion of the city chiefly prized for its immense business buildings. The structure is known as the Burdett building. The building is six stories in height. It was occupied by J. Stethelmer & Co., manufacturers of ladies' shirt waists, whose factory was situated on the fifth floor; Van Sant & Jacobs, manufacturers of collars and cuffs, who occupied the three floors below, and a restaurant and saloon on the ground floor. There were also several other minor enterprises carried on in the building.

The fire, which ended so disastrously, started in the fifth storey in the part occupied by Stethelmer & Co. About 5.25 o'clock this afternoon a little boy attempted to light the gas in what is known as the cutting department. This is where the goods of which the shirt waists are made are cut. He climbed up on the cutting table and lighted the gas. Then he threw the match, which was still burning, to the floor and it ignited a pile of scrap cambric. In an instant there was a crackling of fierce and uncontrollable flames, and the room was filled with smoke.

Miss Lillie Kreiger, a girl, realized the imminence of peril, and at the risk of her own life rushed through the different departments of the building and warned the employes of the danger. Nothing but the bravery of a volunteer fireman saved her from death. When the employes in the fifth storey realized that the fire was beyond control and was likely to prove disastrous a scene of great panic immediately ensued. The girls rushed about the room. Some of them found their way down the stairway, others succumbed to the dense smoke and sank to the floor, and some jumped from the dizzy height of the River-street windows to the pavement below. About half of the girls who were employed on the top floor did think of the fire escape and found their way to the ground in safety.

For 20 minutes after the fire started the scene was the most exciting ever witnessed in Troy. During this time there was a continuous panic, and in the rush for a place of safety many were injured. The crush on the stairway was something frightful. About 200 men and girls attempted to make their escape by this exit at the same time. Many were trampled under foot. The ones who were in front were knocked off their feet and thrown to the landings, and some are said to have been left unconscious on the stairway. The majority of the employes finally reached the street, but they were so overcome by excitement that it was impossible to learn from them how many of them had been left in the building.

Quite a number found their way out by means of the fire escapes. The scene here was a most exciting one. The girls fairly threw themselves down the ladders to reach the ground quickly, and the firemen had their hands full in carrying the girls down the ladders from the terminus of the escape.

Probably the most heart-rending scenes were those witnessed on the streets. The mothers and other relatives of the girls who were at work in the factory soon learned of the disastrous fire and hurried to the scene. They gathered around the burning building, distracted with grief and fear and making anxious inquiries for their loved ones. Some of them attempted to rush up into the burning building, and the officers and bystanders found it difficult to restrain them. A number of women were soon on their knees on the ice covered pavements crying piteously to heaven for assistance.

The spread of the flames was remarkable. There was a strong wind blowing at the time, and in less than it takes to tell it the building was afire from top to bottom. Twenty streams of water seemed to have no effect, and there was every indication early in the evening that the entire block would be consumed. The fire extended into the big structure north and gutted it, the Western Union building was burned out and it was not until about four hours after the fire started that it was under control. The loss will probably reach $400,000. The three women who were killed by jumping from the windows were almost unrecognizable when picked up, so fearfully were their heads crushed. Many of the injured were those caught under falling walls.

SPAIN'S CENSOR STEPPED IN.

Fragment of a New York Special From Cuba That Got Through

New York, Feb. 17.—The World to-day prints a special cable from Havanna, which was stopped by the censor, after a portion had been despatched. The portion of the special, as received, is as follows:

"Gen. Weyler issued to-day a proclamation to the people of Cuba, which clearly defines his position. It establishes the fact that he is determined to have the people understand that he came to Cuba not for pleasure but for business; that he will tolerate no interference, and that he is determined to deal with the enemies of Spain in the severest manner. It also proves that he believes too much time has been wasted in dealing with the insurgents. He has undoubtedly made up his mind to crush the revolution at any cost. His orders plainly show that he wants the name of every person friendly to the insurgents or who in any way affords aid to the rebels. He wants it understood that he will not tolerate indifferences, that he will punish all enemies of Spain, and that punishment will be swift. It is announced that all offences, even such as now come under the civil code, will be tried by court-martial. Life imprisonment or death will be the sentence upon conviction of certain offences. In one word, he wants to deal with the rebels as they never have been dealt with before. He wants to know every person who is a friend of Spain and——"

WHERE VENEZUELA STANDS NOW.

She is Hanging on to the Coat Tails of Her Uncle Samuel.

New York, Feb. 17.—A special to The Herald from Caracas, Venezuela, says the people of Venezuela do not look favorably upon the proposition to submit the Yuruan incident to arbitration, nor do they desire to come to a direct understanding with Great Britain upon the boundary dispute. They believe it is better to wait till the report of the United States Commission is prepared.

Much talk has been occasioned in the press of Venezuela by the fact that a British vessel is taking soundings at the mouth of the Orinoco River.

GLADSTONE RUSHES INTO PRINT

And Digs Up a Reminiscence About England and France Forty Years Old

Paris, Feb. 17.—Mr. Gladstone has written a letter to The Figaro in which he recalls the circumstance that 40 years ago he declared in the House of Commons that France and England contemplated relations beyond those of ordinary friendship, and that their cordial union assured the peace of Europe. He has never altered the opinion he then expressed, but his retirement from public life prevents his further declaring England's policy.

INSURGENTS HAVE EVERYTHING.

So Says a Kansas Man Who Was Arrested in Cuba Many Were Shot.

Chicago, Feb. 17.—A special from Emporia, Kansas, says Charles Christick of Waverly, Kan., a young lawyer, well known here, has just arrived home from Cuba, where he was a prisoner. He says that he and 400 others were captured in one of the battles near Havana. All but he and 15 other Americans were lined up and shot. The American Consul saved him and his countrymen. Christick reports that the insurgents have everything on the island except Havana.

CARD OF THANKS.

Messrs. Cox & Davis, Peterborough:

GENTLEMEN: I wish to thank you for your promptness in settling the loss on my furniture, which occurred through the upsetting of my coal stove, on Friday night last at 10 o'clock. On being notified next day you were good enough to send over a man to settle the loss in order that I might be able to get the house cleaned up and thereby saved me much inconvenience. From my experience with your office now, it is a source of pleasure for me to feel that my insurance is with you, and I shall not forget to tell my friends.

Yours truly,

PRESENTATION TO MR. "BERT" GIROUX LAST EVENING.

His Brothers in the E. B. A Give Him a Handsome Pin as an Evidence of the Esteem in Which They Hold Him.

A special meeting of Branch No. 21 of the E. B. A. was called last evening for the purpose of making a presentation to Mr. A. L. Giroux, the local financial Secretary.

The chair was occupied by the President, Mr. J. Daly, whilst upon the platform were seated Messrs. J. W. Fitzgerald and Thos. Cahill.

Mr. Cahill and Mr. Fitzgerald were called upon for a few remarks and both congratulated Mr. Giroux most heartily upon the mark of favour which was about to be shown him as an evidence of the Branch's appreciation of his work.

Chancellor W. J. Devlin then stepped forward and read the following address, at the same time presenting Mr. Giroux with an emblematic E. B. A. pin:

BROTHER A. L. GIROUX,—We, the members of St. Peter's Branch, No. 21, of the E. B. A. in order to show our appreciation of your services as Financial Secretary of our Branch for the past year, wish to say that it is with feelings of deepest gratitude we extend to you our most sincere thanks for the great interest you have taken in the welfare of our beloved society.

We have always found you an earnest and trustworthy officer, who always had the interest of the Association at heart.

As a slight token of our esteem, we ask you to accept this pin, not on account of its value, but as a souvenir from your brother Emeralds.

Wishing you long life and prosperity, and that heaven will shower its choicest blessings on you, and that in the near future we may again have the pleasure of seeing you in office,

Signed, on behalf of the Society,
J. DALY, Pres.
W. J. DEVLIN, Chan.
J. J. HICKEY, Rec. Sec.

Mr. Giroux, in a few well chosen words, thanked the members for the honour which they saw fit to confer upon him and stated that while he acted in the capacity of finance secretary of the branch he worked for the extension of the E. B. A., not through any hope of recognition, but in the discharge of his duty as an official.

The President briefly addressed those present, eulogizing Mr. Giroux's work during the past year. The branch had an enrollment of 24 members, he stated, at the beginning of the year and through Mr. Giroux's exertions the membership had become enlarged to 76.

Before adjourning, quite a number of the members took occasion to speak concerning the good work done by the financial secretary, and by the many laudatory remarks which were made Mr. Giroux is evidently quite as much a favourite in E. B. A. circles as he is amongst the many friends whom his popularity has made for him outside of the organization.

ST. LUKE'S CONCERT.

A Varied Programme Pleasingly Rendered Last Night.

The concert held in St. Luke's school house proved a very successful entertainment. The programme was good, reflecting great credit upon the Young Women's Chapter of the Guild, and almost every piece was encored. The following is the programme:

Master Houlden Blackwell.
Song—"Ah, Leave Me Not".....Mr. Lount
Quartette—"Sweet and Low".....Misses Burnham and Symonds, Mr. Lount and Rev. H. Symonds
Parasol drill.....Maud and Bella Long, Janie Moore, Lulu Scott and Madeline Stone
Song, with violin obligato by Mr. Mackenzie...
Miss E. Burnham
Violin solo.....Miss L. Sullivan
Song.....Mr. Lount
Dialogue in two acts—"The Young Amazon"...
Miss Armstrong and Miss Byah, Messrs. E. and W. Armstrong and Percy Byah
Instrumental solo.....Miss Naomi Lewis
Song, with violin obligato.....Miss E. Burnham
"God Save the Queen."

At the close of the concert the rector proposed a vote of thanks to the performers, which was carried with hearty applause. He also announced that Ven. Archdeacon Tims would address a united missionary meeting of the congregations of St. John's and St. Luke's, in St. Luke's school house, on Monday next, to which the public is cordially invited.

Mrs. Capt. Eden, of Ashburnham, is at present in Belleville on a visit to friends.

Mr. R. P. Bradburn is home from Oshawa for a few days.

Mr. W. F. Kerr, who was in town visiting Mr. F. D. Kerr, last week, has returned to Cobourg.

The Port Hope Times says that Rev. C. B. Kenrick is recovering from a severe attack of la grippe.

Mr. A. Clegg has sufficiently recovered from the effects of the recent accident with which he met, as to be able to again attend to business.

Mr. Will McIntosh, of the Canadian General Electric Works, who broke his leg last fall when looking after some company business, has recovered after a long illness and is again back in town.

Mr. C. M. W. Fothergill, who has lately been acting accountant of the Deseronto branch, has joined the Bank of Montreal here in the same capacity.

Mr. Herbert Edmison, having served his apprenticeship with Mr. John McKee, druggist, in conformity with the requirements of the faculty of the Ontario College of Pharmacy, has for the present accepted the agency for the Dominion of the McKee-Judge inhaler and vaporizer. As "Herb" is always most genial and obliging, and is thoroughly versed in practical chemistry, he will doubtless do well with the new invention.

Ireland for the Irish.

Last night George street was crowded with people rushing from all directions, all bent upon securing a seat at the Marks Bros. show. Those that came early got a seat, but long before 8 o'clock the Opera House was crowded to the doors. The play was "Driven from Ireland, or the Duke's Daughter," and it is seldom if ever a better play is presented in Peterborough. The costumes were magnificent, those of Miss May A. Bell, as Marguerite, dazzled the audience, while those of Mr. Allen Marks and Mr. Kellam were superb. Their roles were well taken by all the members of the company, but of Mr. Alex. Marks, as Victor Laurent, the faithful husband, too much cannot be said in his praise. Mr. L. J. Kellam took the part of the villian to perfection. Mr. Tom Marks took two parts, the first that of Sergeant Casey, the second as Bridget Doyle, which latter part completely deceived the audience. Miss May A. Bell never appeared to better advantage than last night. Her heart was in her work, and round after round of applause greeted her when the climax was reached in the last act. The usual specialties were also introduced. To-night, "In North Carolina," a comedy drama.

A BARRIE BANKER ASSASSINATED.

J. A. STRATHY SHOT AT HIS OWN DOOR.

An Unknown Man Commits the Mysterious Deed—Mortally Wounded.

(Special to the Examiner.)

BARRIE, Ont., Feb. 18.—J. A. Strathy, manager of the Bank of Toronto here for the past fifteen years, was shot and mortally wounded at his home at 10.30 this morning by an unknown man. The latter called and asked for Mr. Strathy and, when he appeared, drew a revolver and shot him.

ATTEMPTED ABDUCTION.

Italians Attempt to Carry Off a Lindsay Girl.

(Special to the Examiner.)

Two Italians, Giovanni Sulla and Charles Demarco, are in custody at Lindsay on a charge of attempting to abduct a young English girl. They were employed as labourers on the Kinmount Railroad, and when the young girl was passing near where they were engaged in work they attempted to carry her off. Her screams attracted attention, and the assailants were pursued and taken into custody. Michael Basso, of Toronto, left for Lindsay yesterday to act as interpreter at the trial, which comes off to-day.

THE CHICAGO CATHOLIC EDUCATIONAL EXHIBIT.

A Superb Work Devoted to its History and Illustration.

The EXAMINER has to acknowledge with thanks, through Mr. J. J. Sheehy, secretary and treasurer for J. S. Hyland & Co., publishers, of Chicago, receipt of a superb copy of "The Catholic Educational Exhibit, World's Columbian Exposition, 1893." The handsome number before us is the first of a series of sixteen numbers, which are to compose an illustrative and descriptive history of the fine educational exhibit made by Catholics at the Columbian Exposition. It is in the highest style of the typographer's and the illustrator's art. Facing a full page portrait of His Holiness, Leo XIII, is a letter from this venerable prince of the church, endorsing the original undertaking and, incidentally, its commemoration. The work is edited by a well known Catholic writer, under the supervision of Rev. Father Maurelian who had charge of the exhibit, and the illustrations of the work, outside of portraits, which will include those of every archbishop and bishop of the Catholic Church on the continent, will be taken from special photographs of the exhibits. Each of the sixteen numbers contain sixteen pages, so that the collective numbers will make a superb volume which should be in every Catholic library, and, indeed, it will add completeness to any book collection that aims to comprehend what is worthy of remembrance in the noble and ennobling art of education, such as this work affords, and as, in the words of His Holiness:—"that the Catholic church, mindful of its being built by the Divine wisdom bestows care everywhere in general and prefers especially that which is most perfect in those things that relate to the proper communication of knowledge." In a word, the work in question is a gem of art and a mine of information, with the gold of useful knowledge on the surface.

What adds local interest to the work is that the well remembered J. J. Sheey is secretary and treasurer of the enterprising publishing company; and "Jimmy" generally doesn't tie himself to anything that is not first-class in its sphere—he was city editor for some time of THE EXAMINER, which heartily congratulates him and his company on the splendid work they are turning out.

NEWS NUGGETS.

Paragraphs Picked Up and Pencilled for Public Perusal.

—Council meeting to-night.

—The weather is moderating.

—Robins are already returning to Brockville.

—The doctors are kept busy looking after influenza patients.

—The Riverside Skating Rink was flooded this morning and is now in splendid condition.

—The snowshoes are having some splendid moonlight tramps these evenings. There were not many out last evening, however.

—The Orillia firemen went out on strike, but the city fathers were equal to the occasion and formed themselves into a fire company with the mayor for captain.

—The proprietor of the Huffman House was charged with allowing other persons than the employees, in the bar during prohibited hours—In this case a guest of the house. The charge was this morning admitted, and a fine of $20 and costs imposed.

—Marks Bros.' company opened their second week last night to the largest house the Opera House has ever held. Over a hundred stood all night and many were turned away. The second week's receipts promise to out-do the first week's large business. The play was "Driven From Ireland," the best so far in the repertoire. To-night, "In North Carolina."

Do Not Do This.

Do not be induced to buy any other if you have made up your mind to buy Hood's Sarsaparilla. Remember that Hood's Sarsaparilla cures when all others fail. Do not give up in despair because other medicines have failed to help you. Take Hood's Sarsaparilla faithfully and you may reasonably expect to be cured.

Hood's Pills are purely vegetable, carefully prepared from the best ingredients. 25c.

Calcutt's Dublin Porter.

Men and women are all more or less troubled with dyspepsia. Why? Because they suffer from constipation. This is easily cured if attended to. If neglected it will become chronic. Constipation is the cause of nine-tenths of all our sickness. Nature requires assistance to throw off impurities of the system and regulate the bowels. This is what Calcutt's porter will do. Build up your system by the moderate use of this tonic. It does not derange the system but builds it up and consequently adds to your strength and weight. Sold by all leading grocers, only $1.00 per dozen.

Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam cures coughs, colds, asthma, bronchitis and all throat and lung troubles.

WEDDING BELLS.

The Marriage of a Young Lady From Gore's Landing.

From the society column of the Chicago Times-Herald of the 6th inst., we take the following paragraph which will be of interest to many of our readers: "A very pretty wedding took place at the Holy Family Church yesterday, the contracting parties being Mr. J. McHugh, of this city, and Miss Ellen McAllister, only daughter of Mr. John McAllister, of Gore's Landing Canada. The ceremony was performed by Rev. M. P. Dowling, S.J. After the nuptial mass the grand organ pealed forth the wedding march as the bridal party was retiring from the church, and from whence they were driven to the future home of the happy couple which had been prepared and furnished by the groom. Here they were received by a large number of friends (invited guests) with showers of congratulations. A sumptuous repast was served, the bride's cake was cut, and a very pleasant time spent. The presents were numerous and valuable."

A TRAMP ON TRIAL.

One of the Quartette who Participated in the Battle of Curtis' Out.

County Constable Cochrane is in Cobourg to-day where he will arrest one Henderson as soon as he is liberated from the gaol in that town.

Henderson is wanted here to answer to the charge of resisting arrest and will also have a graver charge laid against him.

He is one of the tramps who had the temerity to show fight when his capture was attempted in the famous battle of Heap's Run.

The County Constable will probably arrive in town in this evening or in the morning and Henderson will appear before Magistrate Edmison at ten o'clock in the morning. Some further particulars concerning the battle will doubtless be brought out at the trial.

Weak, Tired, Nervous

Women, who seem to be all worn out, will find in purified blood, made rich and healthy by Hood's Sarsaparilla, permanent relief and strength. The following from a well known nurse:

"I have suffered for years with female complaints and kidney troubles and I have had a great deal of medical advice during that time, but have received little or no benefit. A friend advised me to take Hood's Sarsaparilla and I began to use it, together with Hood's Pills. I have realized more benefit from these medicines than from anything else I have ever taken. From my personal experience I believe Hood's Sarsaparilla to be a most complete blood purifier." MRS. C. CROMPTON, 71 Cumberland St., Toronto, Ontario.

Were wise cooks in their day and they knew the virtues of using Cream Tartar and Soda in their baking. Their trouble was that sometimes they used a little too much Cream Tartar and sometimes a little too much Soda, and, besides, Cream Tartar can scarcely ever be bought twice of exactly the same strength, so that they rarely get the proportions correct, and that is the secret of success or failure.

DAILY MOTTO.

Tuesday, Feb 18th.

Whatever evils our neighbours suffer themselves to do, we can never know how much they are tempted to do, which they effectively restrain. Could we know all that is resisted and overcome, we should often have to admire the virtue rather than condemn the fault.

Pure, rich blood is the true cure for nervousness, and Hood's Sarsaparilla is the One True Blood Purifier and nerve tonic.

Young Women's Association.

A special meeting of Directors and Committees will be held in the rooms on Thursday evening at seven o'clock sharp. A full attendance is desired.

Grace Church Opening.

On Tuesday, Feb. 25th, Grace church, will be dedicated. Rev. S. J. Shorey will preach at 2:30 p.m., and conduct the dedicatory services. In the evening a platform meeting will be held to be addressed by Rev. Mr. Shorey and ministers of the town.

Free Skating Rinks.

Cobourg's mayor has had a number of free skating rinks created on vacant lots in different parts of the town. With its extended water service, Peterborough could flood a couple of lots in each of the wards for this purpose.

—The Josephine Kid Glove Cleaner is unlike any other—that's the good of it. Ladies will not do without it at twice the cost once they use it. Sold by Robt. Fair, sign of the Golden Lion, headquarters for Perrin Freres' celebrated Kid Gloves in newest styles for all occasions.

A Runaway.

The falling of some snow from the Carton building, on the corner of George and Charlotte streets to day, caused a farmer's team to start to run away. Before they got fairly under way, the sleigh caught in a post on Charlotte street, east and brought them to a sudden standstill.

A Pleasant Evening.

One evening last week Mrs. Walter Guy and Mrs. Wm. Guy, of Ashburnham were "at home" to a large number of their friends. During the evening, the entire party adjourned to Riverside Park rink and enjoyed an hours skating after which dancing was indulged in for the remainder of the evening to the strains of Prof. Green's orchestra.

Be Simple.

Nothing can be worse in advertising than the grandiloquent style. It is hardly excusable in literature, though it may pass on the stump. But when a writer gets down to talking to the masses with the view of influencing them to buy his wares, then let him be simple as a child in his expression. The commencement essay of the young student may be adorned with an abundance of fine writing and fancy ribbon, but this kind of language has no place in an advertisement.

Telfordian Temperature Topics.

Tuesday, Feb. 18th.—One of the coldest snaps for some time has just occurred. After receiving 9 inches of snow and some lovely drifting, for everything is beautiful in its season, on Sunday morning the snap set to work indicating 12 degrees below zero; one o'clock 9 degrees below; sundown 10 degrees below, and yesterday (Monday) the self-registering thermometer indicated 38 degrees below zero, being the lowest on my calandar. The glass at one o'clock stood at 15 degrees and at sundown 10 degrees below zero. At this morning's observation we had the thermometer down to 24 degrees below, but the snap is apparently about over. The above is the coldest on my register, the 4th of February 1862 being the next lowest, the thermometer going down to 34 degrees below zero, so that from the above it is evidently, the lowest temperature I can record.—THOS. TELFORD.

THE LENTEN SEASON.

Special Services Will be Held in St. Luke's.

To-morrow being the first day of Lent, Rev. H. Symonds, on Sunday morning, in place of the regular sermon, addressed the congregation on the subject of the observance of this season. After pointing out that at the Reformation the Anglican church in this, as in other matters, aimed at preserving the middle way between excess on the one hand and deficiency on the other, he said that the church offered special opportunities for deepening the spiritual life, which she exhorted her members to take advantage of, but the great thing was that they should be accepted spontaneously and freely, so as to become real. There were three spheres within which there energies could be exercised. 1. The home. The multiplication of church activities, which was such a prominent feature of our times, must not lead us to overlook that, whilst these were of human, the family was of Divine origin. A certain time should be devoted to family intercourse. He also urged upon them all the observance of family prayer.

2. The business life. Method and system were demanded here. It required an effort to realize that in all things, even down to eating and drinking, we can glorify God. By honesty, by courtesy, by diligence, we glorify God in our daily work.

3. The church made special demands upon them at this time. Self denial could be shown in increased offerings, and in a regular attendance at the week day services, for which the rector earnestly pleaded. Finally they should ever keep before them the goal to which Lent was leading, viz., Easter day. A joyful Easter depended upon a holy Lent.

The Lenten services will be as follows:—

Ash Wednesday, morning prayer, 10.30; evening prayer and address by the rector, 8 o'clock.

WEDNESDAY EVENINGS.

Feb. 26—Address by Rev. C. H. Marsh, Lindsay.
March 4—Address by Rev. G. Warren, Lakefield.
March 11—Address by Rev. W. Earraut, Havelock.
March 18—Address by Ven. Archdeacon Allen, Millbrook.
March 25—Address by Rev. Carl Smith.

FRIDAY EVENINGS.

A course of addresses on the "Brotherhood of Man," by the Rector, as follows:

Feb. 21—The unity of man.
Feb. 28—Brotherhood in the world before Christ.
March 6—The teaching of Jesus about brotherhood.
March 13—Brotherhood in the history of the church.
March 20—Present day forces against brotherhood.
March 27—Forces in favour of brotherhood.
Easter Sunday evening—A brotherhood on earth and in heaven.

On Mondays, Tuesdays and Thursdays there will be short services with a selected reading at 5 p. m. in the school house. The book from which the readings will be taken is Stalker's "Trial and Death of Jesus Christ."

On Sunday mornings expository addresses will be given on select passages of the Book of Isaiah, and in the evenings the sermons will be on the parable of the Prodigal Son and other parables of our Lord.

The children's Lenten offerings will be given to the Indian homes in the Northwest on behalf of which Archdeacon Tims' appeal is being made.

There will be a union missionary meeting of St. John's and St. Luke's churches on next Monday in St. Luke's school house, to be addressed by Ven Archdeacon Tims. The story of his work amongst the Indians is of profound interest, and the public is cordially invited. The admission is free and there will be no collection.

The Conductors on a Side Track.

Railway men are proverbially quick to detect fraud, and no less so to discover merit. Regarding the New Lung Remedy—

Conductor Thomas Wheatley, of Petrolia, Ont., well known to the travelling community, speaks as follows:—"My wife was a sufferer from bronchitis for years, all remedies failing. Pinemalt and Hypophosphites proved the royal remedy in her case."

Conductor Salem F. Smith, G. T. R., St. Thomas, Ont., is about as well known as the Grand Trunk. These are his words: "Pinemalt is the talk all along my run. For coughs and colds it is the favourite. It is so in my own family. The children like it. It sidetracks a cold with surprising quickness. No use talking. Pinemalt tops them all.

Pinemalt has now become the fashionable remedy of the day for colds, la grippe, asthma, hoarseness, and all bronchial and lung ailments. Instead of plain Pinemalt use Pinemalt and Hypophosphites in chronic cases and in consumption. Sold by all druggists.

HOCKEY.

The Kingston News in commenting on the way its report of the hockey match was spoken of by the Peterborough papers, says:—

"The News does not make a fuss over a hockey match or any other kind of matches. Championship matches in both hockey and football are a common occurrence in Kingston and are treated as every-day matters. Whether the Kingston clubs be the winners or the losers, the Kingston papers always give a fair account of the game and give the visiting team their due. As for the News' criticism of the referee, it has the statement of "Mack" Murray that the referee wanted to rule him off because he did not hold his stick straight when "facing off;" and a statement from Lamb, the goalkeeper, that he tried to rule him off for stopping the puck with his hand, while several members of the club state that the referee applauded when Peterborough scored a goal. If this be true, there is every reason for the "Vics" to protest. In case the protest is granted, the least the O. H. A. can do is to declare the match nil and order home and home games to be played. If the Peterborough "boys" do come to Kingston to play, as has already been said, "they will be well received, and, if they play better hockey than the Victorias when everything is equal, the Kingstonians will give them the credit of being a better team." The News reporter was not at the game at Peterborough, but he has the word of the above players as to the conduct of the referee, and has every reason to believe that they are to be relied on in regard to the statements they made. The secretary of the Victoria hockey team sent a copy of the News to the Secretary of the O. H. A. as a correct report.

The Kingston Whig publishes the following letter in reference to the statements of the Kingston News:

Allow me to reply to some of the statements of your contemporary, the News, regarding the hockey match, Kingston vs. Peterborough. Its reporter has overdone the baby act, and the "billiard table" he cries about is fifty feet wide and 100 feet long, and it contains nearly 200 square feet more of surface ice than is found on the Granite rink in Toronto. Let him also bear in mind that the Kingston club was beaten on the Kingston rink last year by the same team. The only fault I saw with the referee was that he was not strict enough with Metcalfe, who should have been on the fence half the time instead of three minutes only.

Statement No. 1 is that the referee tried to rule the Victoria goal keeper off for trying to stop the puck with his hand. This is a deliberate untruth and no milder word will do, as the goal keeper threw the puck fifty feet down the rink. The referee warned him.

Statement No. 2 is that Metcalfe was ruled off for stopping the puck with his stick. Does the News reporter think that its readers are fools? He caps the climax when he says that the referee "jumped in the air, threw up his hat, etc.," when Peterborough won a goal. Old man Charon will have his hands full some time in the future trying to decide for the possession of a certain belt between this reporter and Ananias. He will have to call in a jury of the departed shades, with Baron Munchausen as foreman, to settle it.

To tell the truth, the game was too one-sided to be interesting; but the Peterborough boys never played a faster game in their lives than they did on the night of Wednesday last.—W. S.

The Kingston News and the Victoria Hockey club have made themselves the laughing stock of every hockey man in the province. Mr. Richardson, who refereed the game, is too well known to be affected in any way by the howl which the Victorias are making through the columns of the News. The club is composed of the members of the old Athletics, which were beaten in Kingston last year by the Peterboroughs, and if they could not win on their own ice how could they reasonably expect to escape defeat when they left it?

Mr. Geo. J. Hopkins is in Toronto attending the meeting of the Executive Committee of the O.H.A. to-day, and will make a fair representation of the whole matter to the committee. The date and place of the finals is also being arranged to-day, and the local boys are very anxious to have the match played here. The railways state that they will not cut rates if the match is held in Toronto this year.

The president of the Ladies' Hockey Club of Smith's Falls has issued a challenge to the Ladies' Hockey Club of Brockville, one condition being that the game will be played in Smith's Falls.

A LAY OF THE BONSPIEL.

Air—"Come all ye Jolly Shepherds."

Come all ye jolly curlers that dearly lo'e the game,
I'll tell ye o' the charm that's in it's very name,
What is the greatest pleasure a curler's heart can feel—
'Tis to throw the bonnie channel-stane, and win the bonspiel.

Then our skips are at their best, and a' our men are leal,
And ilk ane sets to do his best, and firmly plants his heel;
Ah! wha would choose a crown, e'en though he micht sleep weel,
And miss the bonnie channel-stane that wins the bonspiel?

'Tis not beneath the burgonet, nor yet beneath the crown;
'Tis not on couch o' velvet, nor yet on bed o' down;
But 'tis on an ice-bound loch, winter is sae snell,
As we throw the bonnie channel-stane and win the bonspiel.

See yonder pawky curler that lingers at the tee,
His mind is on the swither, as to what his play may be;
He's an auld hand at the game, and kens it unco' weel,
For aft he's play'd the channel-stane, and won the bonspiel.

Then awa' wi' fame and fortune, what pleasure can they gie?
And a' the arts that prey upon man's life and liberty—
Gie me the highest joy that a curler's heart can feel,
To throw the bonnie channel-stane, and win the bonspiel.

CURLIANA.

The draws have just been made in the Innes medal competition, and the schedules arranged as appended. In case of any rink not putting in an appearance on the day upon which it has been drawn to play, their non-appearance will give the game to their opponents by default.

AFTERNOON GAMES.

Tuesday—Attrill vs. Ray, Hatton vs. Bradburn.
Wednesday—Burnham vs. R. B. McKee, Smith vs. Connal.
Thursday—Hopkins vs. Kells, Dennistoun vs. John McKee.
Friday—H. M. Allen vs. McClelland.

EVENING GAMES.

Tuesday—Edmison vs. Hall.
Wednesday—Boucher vs. Rutherford.
Thursday—Irwin vs. Davidson.
Friday—Edwards vs. Ferguson.
Saturday—Weller vs. Pentland.

The medal is to be played for between the two clubs and the winning club's rinks play off for the trophy amongst themselves. Last year the Granites won the medal, and Mr. Dumble's rink held it.

SKATING RACE.

At the next carnival in Norwood, which is to be in the latter part of this month, a matched race will take place between McGuire, Havelock; Ridpath, Lakefield; Bell, Peterborough, and Insley, Trent Bridge.

Centuries ago, people used to fear what they called the pestilence. Black Death was the most terrible thing in the world to them. They feared it as people now fear the Cholera and Yellow Fever. And yet there is a thing that causes more misery and more deaths than either of these. It is so common that nine-tenths of all the sickness in the world is traceable to it. It is merely that simple, common thing, constipation. It makes people listless, causes dizziness, headaches, loss of appetite, loss of sleep, foul breath, and distress after eating. The little help that is needed is furnished by Dr. Pearce's Pleasant Pellets. One pill is a gentle laxative, and two a mild cathartic. Once used they are always in favour. If you are careless enough to let an unscrupulous druggist sell you something on which he makes more money, it is your own fault if you do not get well. Be sure and get Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.

Send 31 cents in one cent stamps to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y., and receive Dr. Pierce's 1008 page "Common Sense Medical Adviser," profusely illustrated.

Constipation Cured.

GENTS,—I was in very poor health for over four years, and the doctor said it was constipation. Not wanting to spend too much cash, I got three bottles of Burdock Blood Bitters and took it regularly. I can certify that I am now in the very best of health and feel very grateful to B. B. B.

CHRONIC HEADACHE.

The change in my Mother's condition marvellous.

Scott's Sarsaparilla is a Boon.

MONTREAL, August 20th, 1895.

GENTLEMEN:—There is such a change in my mother's health that I cannot restrain myself from writing you. She suffered for years past with a chronic headache, accompanied with a disordered stomach. She was weak and irritable, and we thought she was going into a decline. For three weeks she has been taking a course of Scott's Sarsaparilla, which was recommended to her by Mr. McGale, Druggist, Montreal. Her headache is now but a memory, her appetite is good, and she has gained five pounds in weight in twelve days. She is a different woman, and I feel that you, in God's hands, have been the means of restoring her to health. I shall always recommend Scott's Sarsaparilla to sufferers from head or digestive troubles. Thanking you again, I close,

Yours sincerely,
Hortense Gaviliere.

Scott's Sarsaparilla is a concentrated extract, pleasant to the taste, and is taken in small doses. It is the finest remedy for disorders of the stomach and liver, palpitation, scrofulous sores, eczema and skin diseases arising from impurities of the blood. It builds up the weak, the strong it maintains in health. $1 of all druggists.

MRS. HENNE-PECQUE.

A TYPE OF THE NEW WOMAN AS SHE SOON WILL BE.

A Sunday in Which the Tables Were Turned on the "Man"—How He Was, However, Induced to Do His Best Under Trying Circumstances.

"How many thousand times, Mr. Henne-Pecque, have I told you that I will not have the children meddling with my things? I wish you'd keep them out of my study," growled Mrs. Henne-Pecque.

"They haven't been in here, dear."

"Yes, they have; you can't fool me. I left some letters and memoranda under that quartz paper weight Mrs. Heaton brought me from Cripple Creek, and I can't find hide nor hair of them."

"I guess John put them under some books when we were cleaning in there this—"

"Cleaning, Mr. Henne-Pecque! Cleaning in my study! Hiding my books and destroying my letters! I strictly forbade you to let a broom or brush ever come in here. I told you—".

"Now, Mrs. Henne-Pecque, that is absurd. The room has got to be swept once in a while."

"Where's my paper-weight?"

"You don't need that now—"

"Yes, I do, where is it? Find it, can't you?"

'Come to think of it, dear, I did hear John say something about a dirty old stone on your table; here it is, he put it in the closet to——"

"To carry off and sell, I suppose. He knew it was full of gold. Where did he put my new pen?"

"It is in the tray right under your nose, just where it belongs. I do wish, Mrs. Henne-Pecque, that you would not choose Sunday morning to stir things up. You know how I have to hurry to get the children ready for Sunday school and then dress myself, and you always—"

"Let those papers alone! I'll pick them up when I've finished reading them. Call Josephine, and tell her to bring me my slippers."

"Aren't you going to church to-day, Mrs. Henne-Pecque?"

"No, I am tired to death and my head aches. I want to rest a little so as to be fresh when Mrs. Scott comes."

"Do you expect her this morning?"

"Expect her? Certainly. Oh, by the way, perhaps I forgot to tell you, but I invited Mrs. Scott and her husband and her two sisters to dine with us to-day."

"Why, Mrs. Henne-Pecque! Four extra people, almost strangers, and not a thing in the house to eat!"

"Nonsense! What is good enough for me is good enough for them. Just put some more plates—"

"Oh, yes, plates! I've only one small turkey for dinner, and as it is Sunday I can't get another. The pudding will not be large enough—well, all there is to be done is for me to give up my church and go to making an entree, another pud—"

"Don't bother me with details. I never come home and harass you with my business worries."

"Don't you, though?"

"You know well enough that I don't. Yet my anxieties are serious—"

"Seems to me mine are serious, too. A pretty kettle of fish it would be if I were to allow three great hungry women, not to mention a sharp-eyed man who'd turn up his nose at things, to sit down to my table and not have half enough to eat."

"How you love to talk a subject threadbare! You could have made half a dozen pies while you've been standing here arguing."

"But, Mrs. Henne-Pecque—"

"That's enough! If you were any kind of a housekeeper you would never be caught with an empty pantry. It was always my father's boast that his wife could bring strangers in at any time and be sure of having a bountiful meal—a well-cooked meal, Mr. Henne-Pecque—without any nonsensical apologies."

"Yes, your father kept chickens and a cow, and—"

"My father was a credit to his sex, he attended to his home duties. If you had been here yesterday afternoon instead of gadding off shopping—"

"I wasn't shopping, and you know it. You gave me matinee tickets and asked me to take—"

"Well, the matinee didn't last all day, did it? Matinees usually commence at 2 o'clock or after; we had breakfast at 8, that gave you six hours. Why, in six hours, fresh morning hours, my father would have made pies, cake, puddings, bread, pickles—"

"That's all you know about man's work. The idea of making pickles in the middle of the winter!"

"Well, maybe not pickles, but he—"

"If your father was such a wonderful man and kept house so very well, Mrs. Henne-Pecque, I think it is a great pity you ever left him to marry such a wretched housekeeper as I am. For my part, I wish you never had. I dare say I should have married some one who could appreciate me and not keep throwing up his father at me." Mr. Henne-Pecque cried angrily as he hastened out of the room.

"The little man is hopping mad now," Mrs. Henne-Pecque soliquized as she stretched herself out on the lounge and began to read the stock reports in the morning paper. "He will fly 'round and give us a tip-top dinner just to silence me about father's cooking."—New York Recorder.

He Knew Them.

Erastus (seeing snowshoe prints)—Well, dem looks laik Miss Lillie's feet-steps, sho'. Guess she mus' passed dis a-way.

SHE HELPED HIM OUT.

He Very Sensibly Took His Wife's Advice.

A man on Capitol Hill had been outrageously insulted, as he thought. He felt compelled to call his enemy to the field of honor, but was restrained by the thought of his wife and children. All day the affront rankled in his bosom. As he neared home, thinking every second of what he would, could or must do, he happened to think of his wife, and it dawned upon him like a sunburst that she was a woman of spirit and judgment, and that she might be able to help him in his sore difficulty and suggest a soothing balm to his hurt honor.

With this new thought urging him on, he hastened into her presence, as soon as he hopped off the car, and kissed her.

He did this thinking that possibly by this time to-morrow evening he would be beyond the power of osculation.

Naturally, this unusual demonstration surprised the good woman.

They had been married fifteen years.

"Why, Henry," she exclaimed, "what is the matter with you? You seem strangely excited."

It was a minute before he could control his voice sufficiently to use it for talking purposes.

"I am!" he fairly snorted. "I have been insulted."

"How? Who did it?" and his wife's spirit rose.

"By a scoundrel who came into my office this morning. I have nursed my wrath all day and now come to you for advice. What would you do, if a man were to tell you to go to the devil?"

As he strode about the room he kicked over a table, two chairs and the cat.

"Why, Henry," she replied after the impulsive manner of women, and with the utmost sincerity, "I wouldn't go!"

Then he sat down and concluded that a good wife's advice was an anchor to windward in a husband's most tempestuous moments.—Washington Star.

A Favored Patient.

Dr. Liddell's morning levees were crowded beyond description. It was his pride and boast that he could feel his patient's pulse, look at his tongue, sound him with a stethoscope, write his prescription and pocket his fee in a space of time varying from two to five minutes.

One day an army man was shown into the consulting room and underwent what might be termed the instantaneous process. When it was completed the patient shook hands with the doctor and said:

"I am especially glad to meet you, as I have often heard my father, Col. Forrester, speak of his old friend Dr. Liddell."

"What!" exclaimed the doctor. "Are you Dick Forrester's son?"

"I am, sir."

"My dear fellow," exclaimed the doctor, "fling that prescription into the fire please, and sit down and tell me what is the matter with you."

Although a very busy man, Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., has found time in which to write a great book of over a thousand pages entitled, The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser in plain English, or Medicine Simplified. Few books printed in the English language have reached so great a sale as has this popular work, over 680,000 copies having been sold at $1.50 each. The profits on this enormous sale having repaid its author for the great amount of labour and money expended on its production he has now decided to give away, absolutely free, 500,000 copies of this valuable book, the recipient only being required to mail to the World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N.Y., of which company he is president, 21 one-cent stamps, to cover cost of mailing only, and the book will be sent post-paid. It is a veritable medical library, complete in one volume. It contains 1008 large pages, and over 300 illustrations, some of them in colours. The Free Edition is precisely the same as that sold at $1.50 except only that the books are bound in strong manilla paper covers, instead of cloth. It is not often that our readers have an opportunity to obtain a valuable book on such generous terms, and we predict that few will miss availing themselves of the unusual and liberal offer to which we have called their attention.

THE LAST LINK NOW FORGD

Which Will Likely Send the Murderers of Pearl Bryan to Their Doom.

Cincinnati, Feb. 16.—George H. Jackson (colored), who was arrested last night, confessed to having driven Scott Jackson, Alonzo Walling and Pearl Bryan across the river to Fort Thomas on the night of the Pearl Bryan murder. Jackson says the girl was crying all the way and he did not want to go with them, but they compelled him to drive. He says when he got across the river he jumped from the vehicle and ran away. This confession forges the last link in the chain of evidence which has been developed against the accused.

TEN YEARS TROUBLED

With Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia---Suffered Greatly and Found No Relief in the Scores of Medicines Prescribed.

South American Nervine Was Recommended, and Before Half a Bottle Was Taken Relief Came.

Have Since Improved Rapidly, and Am Now Completely Cured—So says Mr. David Reid, of Chesley, Ont.

What ills come to humanity from a disordered liver! Henry Ward Beecher has said that it was impossible for a man to hold correct spiritual views if his liver was out of order. The liver is so important a part of the mechanism of man that when it ceases to work with ease the whole man is unable to do his work aright. Can we not appeal to thousands, nay, tens of thousands, for a verification of this fact? Certainly it is, that Mr. David Reid, of Chesley, Ont., felt that the enjoyment of life had been taken from him, through the unhealthy condition of his liver. For ten years he says he was troubled with liver complaint and dyspepsia. Employing his own language: "At times my liver was so tender I could not bear it pressed or touched from the outside. Had tried a great many remedies without any benefit. Was compelled to drop my work, and being worse than usual, I decided as a final resort to try South American Nervine, which had been recommended to me by friends who had been cured by it. I got a bottle from A. S. Goodeve, local druggist, and commenced taking according to directions. Before I had taken half a bottle I was able to go to work again, and I have improved steadily since. I can conscientiously recommend South American Nervine to any suffering from dyspepsia or liver complaint." This is Mr. Reid's story as he tells it in his own words. Were it thought necessary it could be corroborated by a host of witnesses. Mr. Reid has lived a long time in Chesley, and his case was known to be a very bad one. But that makes no difference to Nervine. This great discovery rises equal to the most trying occasions. Let it be indigestion, the most chronic liver trouble, as with Mr. Reid, nervous prostration, that makes life miserable with so many, sick headaches, that sap all the effort out of man or woman, Nervine measures to the necessities of the case. It is a great medicine and thousands to-day in Canada are happier and healthier men and women, because of its discovery. There is no great secret about it, and yet there is an important secret. It operates on the nerve centers of the system from which emanate all life and healthfulness, or if disordered, sickness, even death. Nervine strikes promptly at the nerve centers, hence, as with Mr. Reid, where ten years' use of other medicines had done no good, less than a bottle of Nervine brought about encouraging results, and a few bottles cured.

Seems as if consumption always picks out the brightest and best. Maybe it isn't so. Maybe it seems so because consumption is the most frequent of all diseases. Consumption kills more people than wars or Cholera or Yellow Fever. Fully one-sixth of all the deaths that occur in the world are caused by consumption. And consumption can be cured. Doctors used to say that it was incurable, but the doctors were merely mistaken. It would be strange if medical science did not make some progress. Many things were once considered impossible. The ocean steamer, the locomotive, the telegraph and telephone, the phonograph, the electric light—all these were once impossible, and once it was impossible to cure consumption. That was before the time of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Taken according to directions, this standard remedy will cure 98 per cent. of all cases of consumption. Consumption is a disease of the blood. It used to be considered a disease by itself. It is not. It is caused and fostered by impurity in the blood. Purify the blood and restore the healthy action to the various organs of the body and consumption will be cured. It is by weakness and loss of vitality in the blood. It is cured by purity and richness of the blood—surely, certainly cured. Those who have consumption or any lingering bronchial, throat or lung disease, and those who are on the road to them, have a positive remedy at hand. Any condition of the body that indicates weakness, any indication of impurity in the blood, should be attended to at once. Loss of appetite, loss of flesh, loss of vitality, nervousness, weakness and unnatural weariness, are indications that the body is running down. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery makes the appetite good, the digestion strong. It builds up solid, healthy flesh and vigorous strength. Thousands of people have testified that it has really saved their lives. Some of these testimonials, together with hundreds of things that everybody ought to know about health and sickness and medicine, have been embodied in Dr. Pierce's "Common Sense Medical Adviser." This 1008 page medical work, profusely illustrated, will be sent free on receipt of 31 one-cent stamps to cover customs and postage only. World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y.

THE BEST DIPLOMATISTS.

They Are Usually Men of Whom the Public Hears Nothing.

Sir Edward Malet, in his recent speech at the dinner given in his honor by the British colony in Berlin, dwelt as follows upon the qualities which go to make up a good diplomatist:

When it became known that I was about to retire from the service, much speculation arose as to who was likely to be my successor, and the names of men who are great in other branches of the service of the Queen were suggested. For a reason which I will attempt to explain it was advanced that it would be better to fill the place with an outsider of distinction than with one belonging to the permanent diplomatic service. It is a very peculiar thing about that service that the greatest ability may be concealed beneath a bushel. It is our duty to proceed noiselessly in our course. The surest proof of the merit of a diplomatist is that he is not heard of. The moment a fuss is made about him you may be pretty sure that something is wrong, for so long as he can keep everything smooth, which is the object and essence of his calling, he can attract no attention. It is a question whether a very brilliant man can ever be fitted for diplomacy. The very keenness of his intellect will impel him to dazzle the public by successes great and small.

But the victories of diplomacy must be achieved in silence, or their spoils are often lost. I remember many years ago a distinguished outsider being sent to represent us at a distant post. He was resolved upon success, but he was also resolved that his successes should be known. So he telegraphed them to one of the most influential of the daily papers—I will not say which—and I can assure you that we were all duly impressed with the records of them, and dwelt, not perhaps without envy, on the picture which was presented to us of the potentate to whom he was accredited writhing in the iron grasp of our representative. But when these reports came to be translated into the foreign press the vigilance and the jealousies of foreign nations were aroused. Reprisals were threatened in other quarters of the globe, and in the end our Minister was requested to come home. The diplomatic service heard of him no more. Yet this man would have been a useful agent if he had acquired the habits of self-negation and reticence which training alone can give. In another case a brilliant lawyer was appointed. He went to his post determined to uphold the flag as it had never been upheld before, and succeeded. Within a short space he had quarreled with a majority of his colleagues to that extent that when he gave an official dinner on the occasion of the Queen's birthday, they neither came nor sent an excuse. He afterward contributed in a slashing style to a rupture of relations, and this really showed much talent, for the nation was both a peaceful and a friendly one. He came away in a whirl of fireworks which left him in the dark, and the diplomatic service saw him no more. No, we do not want corruscating diamonds; the homely button is much more useful.

I will push this simile further. The world is a huge body clad in a garment of state. The diplomatists, studded all over the earth, are the unobtrusive buttons which hold the garments together. As long as we perform this function satisfactorily we pass unnoticed because the garments continue to fit properly. It is only when we break loose or come off that we become an object of attention and discussion. For instance, I am going to come off, and on that account alone I have recently been more written about in the papers—I say it with pride than during all the eleven years that I have been Ambassador. I have thus fairly outlined the causes which might lead it to be supposed that when a high post falls vacant it can be filled from outside the pale of service. Believe me that within its ranks there are men who can fill all the diplomatic posts we possess with ability and distinction, and that these posts can not be so filled except by persons who have behind them a long diplomatic training. You will not, therefore, be surprised that I should have hailed the selection of Sir Frank Lascelles as my successor with great satisfaction, a sentiment which was increased by a long-standing friendship between us. We were together at the Paris Embassy during the trying time of the Commune, and it is under such a strain that one learns best the metal that a man is made of. He has mounted step by step, the rungs of the diplomatic ladder. He is versed in all the traditions and possesses all the qualities which combine to produce distinction in a diplomatist. He will, I am sure, within a short time gain your suffrages to such an extent as to make me pleasurably jealous in my retirement.

THE TELEGRAPH HABIT.

Cranks Who Use the Wires for the Most Insignificant Messages.

"All sorts of cranks in the world," said the girl in the telegraph office of a Broadway hotel, "but I think the telegraph cranks are the queerest. Against the rules of the office to give away our business, you know, but a body can generalize. Do you know there are lots of men who have the telegraph habit? It is like the cigarette habit or the drink habit. When it once fastens on a man it is seldom he ever breaks himself of it till he's 'broke' himself. That's a poor pun, but it's true. If it wasn't for the telegraph crank we wouldn't begin to do the business we do. You'd be surprised to know the money some men dissipate in telegraphing on any and every excuse.

"All sorts of state secrets go over the wires, and important affairs are transacted by telegraph every day, besides the usual routine of deaths and weddings, and business orders, and women starting on journeys notifying their friends to meet them at the station. But the regular telegraph crank comes into the hotel and rushes into the office here and telegraphs half a dozen of his friends: 'Arrived safely.' Next time, half an hour later, he wires them to address mail to him here. Shortly after that he advises them that he forgot to notify them that he will leave New York on Monday. After a while he changes his mind and wires that he will stay till Tuesday. The next morning he worries because he has not heard from home, and wires them to ask if anything is the matter. He gets a letter by noon and wires again to say that the letter came safely by the next mail and he will answer by the afternoon post. Maybe you think I exaggerate, but I don't. Why, in a week a telegraph crank will often give me his entire pedigree and most of his family secrets.

"A lot of men do their love-making by telegraph, and a lot more do their joking with business friends in the same way. Any amount of chaff goes over the wire at regular tariff rates. Some men have a fad for sending wedding congratulations and death condolences by telegraph to great people who probably never heard of them. Egotism is usually at the bottom of most of this particular kind of insanity. The man thinks it makes him look important to rush into a telegraph office as soon as he strikes the town and dash off a message.

"Then some men are nervous, and it sometimes acts as a sedative to let off steam on a telegraph blank. I hate a 'Have you sent it?' 'How long will it take to get there?' 'How soon will I get an answer?' And men of business and common sense, who ought to know better, ask those same questions over and over again."

"The way people write telegrams makes me smile. I know a millionaire who will work for five minutes to get what he has to say in ten words for a quarter. But usually people write around Robin Hood's barn when they begin a telegram and use twice as many words as necessary. Women are the worst for that, but very few men or women seem to understand the art of brevity.

"Another funny thing is that telegrams, usually written in a hurry and sometimes under stress of great excitement, are literary curiosities in the line of spelling. 'Funeral!' is one of the words that is a stumbling-block to the mourner. 'Until' is another hoodoo word. You would be surprised at the orthography of the average American in a hurry. You learn lots of things in a telegraph office, but you have to keep your mouth shut. Oh! a body can generalize, of course!"

The Deacon Underdone.

There was once a deacon on Cape Cod who heard early one morning that there had been a wreck on the beach near his house. He hurried down with a couple of pillow cases; filled one with sugar, hid it under the bank and went on to look for more groceries. While he was gone a neighbor came along on the same errand, caught sight of the pillow case, emptied it into his own bag and refilled it with sand. By and by the deacon returned empty-handed and carried off his pillow case without noticing the change. In fact, he filled his sugar bowl and tried to sweeten his coffee before he found out how badly he had been treated. Then he was so indignant that he confessed afterward, "I was almost wicked enough to wish there might never be another wreck on this here coast again."

ONTARIO'S ACCOUNTS

Expenditure by the Province During the Year.

SOME INTERESTING FIGURES SHOWN

By the Treasurer's Report—The Opposition Leadership—Is Mr. Marter to Retire? Budget Speech on Wednesday or Thursday Next—General Petitions Presented.

Toronto, Feb. 18.

The session of the Legislature yesterday afternoon was brief and formal The usual batch of petitions was presented, a couple of bills were introduced, a few returns laid on the table, and that was all.

Mr. Flatt presented a petition from the County of Wentworth, asking that cities be compelled to provide sheltered market accommodation.

The Attorney-General presented a petition from the Township of East Zorra, asking that township councils be given power to change the hour for nominations from 10 o'clock noon to 1 p.m.

Mr. Harty presented a number of petitions from the city of Kingston. One of these asks for an amendment providing that all actions for damages against municipal corporations, by reason of defective streets, shall be tried by a judge without a jury owing to the tendency of juries to sympathize with the injured persons as against the corporations. Another asks that all fees under "The City Manhood Suffrage Registration Act" be defrayed out of the revenue of the province.

Two petitions were presented from the Council of Simcoe County, one praying the Government to assume control of the Mimico Industrial School, and the other asking for an amendment to the game laws, prohibiting deer hunting with hounds or other dogs until the year 1900.

Several single tax petitions were also presented, as well as other petitions relating to matters already petitioned about.

Hon. A. S. Hardy introduced a bill reducing the number of county councillors. It will be read a second time on Thursday. Mr. Chapple introduced a bill to amend the Municipal Act of 1892.

Hon. J. M. Gibson laid on the table the public accounts for 1895. He also brought down a return showing the correspondence with reference to Police Magistrate Quibell of Sudbury; with reference to the recommendations of candidates for appointment to the staff of University College and the School of Science, and with reference to the establishment of a Normal School in the city of London, and with reference also to the establishment of a Normal School in the town of Woodstock. The correspondence with reference to the Sudbury magistrate showed that the Government had been petitioned to deprive him of jurisdiction in Sudbury, the chief grievance against him being that he returned the bulk of the fines to the Government, instead of to the municipality. The correspondence with reference to appointments to the staff of University College war quite extensive and in some places quite interesting, as showing what some people think of some other people. The correspondence with reference to the Western Normal School began with a memorial from the Woodstock Board of Trade in January, 1891, and finished with the last efforts of the city of London in March, 1892. The correspondence shows that London made some very strenuous efforts to secure the school.

Sir Oliver Mowat announced that the estimates would be brought down today and that Mr. Harcourt would be ready with the budget by Wednesday.

Mr. Marter asked that the budget be deferred till Thursday, so as to give time for the consideration of the public accounts.

Sir Oliver and Mr. Hardy thought that Wednesday would give all the time necessary, and the Premier finally remarked that it would be brought down at discretion.

The following figures are taken from the public accounts for the year ending December 31, 1895: The expenditures under the head of civil government amounted to $244,726.47, as compared with $210,471.10 in 1894. Under the head of legislation, the expenditures were $150,058.67, as compared with $142,-362.22 the previous year. Of this amount, $15,488 was paid in salaries, $12,-267.25 for sessional writers, clerks of committees, etc., and $58,189 for indemnity to members. The administration of justice cost $463,584.99, as compared with $418,746.63 the previous year. Of this amount, $4987.59 was spent for the inspection of Division Courts, $5280.17 under the drainage act, and $3770.34 on Provincial police. The sheriffs' fees amounted to $6778.91, as compared with $6198.80 in the previous year. The cost of education amounted to $653,042.95, as compared with $684,-529.80 in 1894. The maintenance of public institutions cost in 1895, $799,222.15, an increase of $12,238.23 over the previous year. The Government spent in 1895, $7814.86 on immigration, a slight decrease from last year. Of this amount, $4614.85 was spent on agencies in Europe.

The following is a comparative statement of the expenditures under some other leading heads:

Agriculture, 1894, $181,064.71; 1895, $181,233.11. Hospitals and charities, 1894, $182,692.51; 1895, $190,221.08. Repairs and maintenance, 1894, $71,548; 1895, $78,518.14. Public buildings, 1894, $205,-194.21; 1895, $265,600.90. Public works, 1894, $28,582.36; 1895, $28,739.70. Colonization roads, 1894, $116,879.73; 1895, $116,-706.59. Charges on Crown lands, 1894, $111,158.35; 1895, $112,423.3[illegible]. The total expenditure amounted to $3,758,595.44, as compared with $3,842,605.23 in 1894.

The total receipts for 1895 are set down at $3,585,300.40, made up as follows: Balance from public accounts of 1891, $268,578.29; from Dominion of Canada, $1,196,872.80; interest, $303,-459.56; Crown lands, $927,744; licenses, $272,869.12; law stamps, $74,701; Algoma taxes, $2183.34; Education Department, $52,271.63; succession duties, $298,824.89; casual revenue, $84,799; public institutions, $104,034.44.

Mr. Matthewson asked for a return shewing the expenditure in the Central Prison and the cost per individual.

Mr. McPherson gave notice of an enquiry as to whether or not it was the intention of the Government to introduce a bill amending the succession duties act so that hereafter the percentage of duty shall be calculated on the amount of the estate, less the amount of the duties.

An evening paper gives publicity to the statement that the Conservatives are desirous of a change in leadership and that a caucus will be held to-day for the purpose of considering the matter. Mr. Whitney is suggested as a probable successor in case it should be decided to relieve Mr. Marter. What truth there is in the statement remains to be seen. One thing is certain, however, whether adverse feeling towards Mr. Marter there may be among his following, no striking evidence of it has been given since the session started.

Weak Young Men or Women

Are seen everywhere. Heredity or overstudy renders them unfitted to cope with the responsibilities of life, susceptible to consumption or decline. Medicine has failed and must fail, for they need food. Take cod liver oil? No! Their poor stomachs rebel. Take emulsions? No! They are equally distasteful. Nothing will effect a cure but Maltine with Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites. The oil, rendered palatable and easy of digestion, is quickly assimilated, and the maltine, equal in nutrition to the oil, and even surpassing it in energetic action upon the digestive processes, unite in producing increased weight, improved colour, and that elasticity and buoyancy which herald returning health. Maltine with cod liver oil has a remedial value ten times greater than emulsions. Try it.

TURPENTINE BROUGHT IT UP.

The Toronto News has lately been telling some thrilling stories about people who swallowed snakes, lizards, etc. The following, which is of local interest, was clipped from Monday's News:—

EDITOR NEWS,—I notice in your paper of the 4th inst. an item headed "Swallows a Snake." There is a case almost identical which occurred in Norwood some years ago. The man is still living and well. His name is James Cummings. I am not sure, but I think the lizard is still bottled up in the doctor's office.

Mr. James Cummings and his brother were working in Belmont and coming home at night took a drink of water from a pool by the roadside. Shortly after he began to fancy there was some living creature in his stomach, and as time wore on his trouble increased till he could endure his sufferings no longer. He resolved to put an end to them, and, getting his family away to church, he swallowed a quantity of spirits of turpentine, which proved too strong for the lizard and it ran up his throat into his mouth and was landed on the floor. Since that time Mr. Cummings has had no more trouble in his stomach.

Mr. H. E. Hudson, Combermere, Severely Injured—Protruding Knot Entered the Body—Cured by One Box of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Combermere, Feb. 17, (Special)—Mr. H. E. Hudson, trapper, hunter and lumberman, was injured by falling on a knot which entered his body from beneath and injured the bladder and kidneys. He says: "I was confined to my bed for six weeks and was rarely able to work, feeling too weak since the injury over eight years ago. I have taken one box of Dodd's Kidney Pills and am perfectly cured and as able-bodied as ever before in my life. One box was worth one hundred dollars to me, if it is possible to estimate such a benefit in dollars."

A Sensational PULL-DOWN IN THE PRICE OF PANTS!

Here's a bit of good fortune unequalled in the Clothing trade. We just struck it in time. Our Pantry was getting low down. We had almost cleaned out of Trousers when the opportunity came along.

Thanks to our good fortune, we received advice from one of the largest Manufacturers of Clothing in Montreal, McKenna, Thompson & Co, informing us that they had a snap in Pants to offer Gough Bros. We went, we saw, we conquered. Our bid took the entire stock on hand at a phenomenally low uniform figure.

By rail we have received the full consignment—containing eight large cases, consisting of

1125 PAIRS OF PANTS

For Men and Young Men, which we can actually afford to sell at

ONE-HALF PRICE

The assortment is complete embracing well-known popular selling patterns in All Wool Material made up in leading styles of the tailors' art, and in a complete range of sizes—enabling us to suit men of all dimensions, tastes and purses. Here you have the figures that back up our statements:—

$4.00 Pants for $2.00.
$3.00 Pants for $1.50.
$1.50 Pants for 75c.

Two pairs of Pants for the price of one—cheap enough surely to buy two or three pairs at a time, and lay aside for future use. All those in favour of the same will please signify in the usual manner.

Can't sell them at less than half price. Kindly remember this fact and oblige. We're not going to go back on our words.

Dealers, please don't come—you're not invited.

SECOND CROP OF BARGAINS.

We start the Bargain Ball rolling for February in dead earnest. As there is a good deal of winter yet before us, it is unnecessary to point out the wisdom of buying now.

Our Stock-Taking is over—now for a month of lucky chances and snaps in mid-winter goods. An aftermath of Bargains for shrewd buyers—lines which we laid out during stock taking such as Serges, Cheviots, Heavy Tweeds and other Remnants, to be sold even at HALF REGULAR PRICES.

We don't want to carry winter lines past their regular selling season, so you may figure on getting pretty nearly your own way in prices.

You need the goods—we need the room they occupy—so there is mutual benefit all round in the selling of them.

Our New Spring Stock is wheeling into line, and we are glad to tell our lady friends that part of our programme for Spring is a NEW MILLINERY DEPARTMENT, of which we will tell you more in good time.

We don't "rest-up" during the winter months and take things easy until Spring. Business is full of worn-out, tired-out men who live almost wholly in the past and struggle for the success that never comes. And because of that they find fault with the times. While others are resting we're simply HUSTLING.

A TERROR TO TORIES

Is the Able Auditor-General of This Dominion.

WHERE INSPECTION OF ACCOUNTS

And Spendthrift Expenditures Fills Them With Fear—Mr. Foster Thought He Had a Complaint, But He Was on the Wrong Track Altogether.

Ottawa, Feb. 18.—The Right Honorable Baronet and Secretary of State Sir Charles Tupper, was in his place when the House opened to-day, his first appearance since the castigation he received for repeating a false statement affecting his opponents upon the day of his introduction. Sir Charles remained but a short time in the House, but long enough to make a show of being the Government leader in the Commons. Upon the orders of the day being called, several inquiries were made across the floor as to belated returns, and the Baronet, after being prompted by Mr. Foster, the deposed leader in the House, arose and replied to them as the Administration spokesman.

It was a budget day, and speeches were delivered by Messrs Davin, Bain and Henderson.

At 1 a.m. on Ash Wednesday, while Mr Henderson was still speaking, there was no quorum in the House and the Speaker's attention was called to the fact by Mr. Mulock. The Speaker ordered the division bell rung and members ran in from all directions. This is an utterly unprecedented procedure, contrary to the usage of Parliament and calculated to defeat the operation of the wholesome rule requiring the presence of twenty members in the House for the transaction of business. The House could never be counted out, no matter how prosy the orator of the moment or how insignificant the business, if the division bell is to be rung and time given for members to come in. The division bell can only be rung regularly for divisions or the opening of the House. It looks as if the Speaker "rose to the occasion" in order to force the continuance of the sitting at unearthly hours in the morning of a statutory holiday. The number in the House when the call was made was thirteen. The rule of the House is that when the Speaker's attention is called to the absence of a quorum he shall immediately count those present. If they are not twenty the House must rise.

Mr. Legris moved the adjournment of the debate.

The second volume of the Auditor-General's report was laid on the table of the House to-day. Exception has frequently been taken from the Ministerial benches to the length to which the Auditor-General has gone into detail, and not frequently partizan motives have been attributed to him by those in the Government side of the House. In the report brought down to-day, the Auditor-General gives an illustration of the direct result of publishing his report in detail. Regarding this he says: "A person who was intimately acquainted with the maintenance and expenditure of the Carillon Canal noticed in one of the annual reports of this office that a man named Charlebois had apparently received payment as a carter on the canal and knew that Charlebois had not been in the neighborhood for years. This person immediately informed the Railway Department of what he had remarked, which resulted in an investigation and in the proof that about $30,000 had been stolen from the Government by the superintendent of the canal putting on the monthly pay lists during a series of years the names of persons who had apparently served the Government in different capacities, while the persons had long before either died or left the country. Thus, in one year, a theft of three times the cost of printing a year's report was exposed." There is no doubt that the Auditor-General has proved the betenoir of the Government and all evildoers, and as a result of exposing their shortcomings has time and again been charged with meddling with that which does not concern him, and with partiality. Commenting on this fact he says: "Sir Hibbert Tupper said in the discussion to which I have referred: 'I have no doubt that that report is so framed as to make it acceptable to the Opposition.' Mr. Foster, if his recollection had served him at the moment, could have made it quite clear to Sir Hibbert that no such despicable motive actuated me. Mr. Foster one day said to me: 'I hear that Hayter (a chief clerk in the audit office) coaches McMullen for days together.' I answered, 'I shall soon settle that,' and found Mr. Hayter, who said that he had never even met Mr. McMullen. I have never voted at a Dominion election since I entered upon the duties of this office, and never used any influence, directly or indirectly, to induce anyone else to vote. It is not very likely that a man with such a notion of his duties would take the base position of putting the expenditure of the country, what the electors are most sensitive about, in such a form as to convey a wrong impression. No, my duty is to place the expenditure just as it is, and if the electors form a wrong impression the Government and their friends must undeceive them."

Public attention has often been directed to the enormous sum of money that is yearly being paid out to enlarge the coffers of the legal friends of the Government. When the office of Solicitor-General was created it was promised that his duties would greatly relieve the heavy tax the amount of money annually paid on account of legal expenses had been upon the treasury. These promises, not hopes, have not, like every other promise coming from the treasury benches, been realized. According to the Auditor-General's report, the amount paid by the Government under the head of legal expenses was $98,683. Among those who received $1000 and upwards under this heading appear the names of Aikens, Culver & Co., Winnipeg, $1634; C. P. Argers, Quebec, $1201; J. A. Belyea, St. John, $1277; F. J. Bisaillon, Montreal, $1000; Borden Ritchie, Halifax, $10,602; C. P. Conybeare, Lethbridge, $1325; Drake, Jackson & Co., Victoria, $1825; E. E. Gilbert & Sons, $1821; J. S. Hall, Montreal, $4146; Harris, Henry & Cahan, Halifax, $1077; F. E. Hodgins, Toronto, $2474; Haugh & Campbell, $3544; J. A. Legris, Coteau Landing, $1548; James McKay, Prince Albert, $1290; O'Connor & Hogg, Ottawa, $18,044; B. B. Osler, Toronto, $2050; Christopher Robinson, Toronto, $4641; William White, Moosomin, $2966; Charles Wilson, New Westminster, 1422.

On account of advertising, printing and lithographing (apart from the cost of the Government printing bureau) the sum of $223,536 was paid. Among those party organs who profited to the extent of $1000 and upwards appear the following: Halifax Herald and Mail, for advertising $1048, printing $4874; St. John Sun, $640 advertising, $10,004 printing; Moncton Times, $191 advertising, $7506 printing; Hamilton Spectator, $1731 advertising, $112 printing; Ottawa Citizen, $1457 advertising, Montreal Gazette, $1037 advertising, $365 printing; Quebec Chronicle, $741 advertising, $1475 printing; Regina Leader, $598 advertising, $990 printing; Regina Standard, $36 advertising, $1383 printing; Toronto World, $1163 advertising; Yarmouth Times, $240 advertising, $1366 printing; Examiner, Charlottetown, $135 advertising, $1007 printing; Toronto Empire, $1660 advertising.

ANDREW BOYD CAUGHT AT LAST.

The Former Montreal Merchant Arrested on Charges of Arson and Forgery.

London, Feb. 18.—Andrew Boyd of Montreal, Canada, was charged at Bow Police Court this morning with having committed forgery and arson within the jurisdiction of the Government of the Dominion. He was remanded pending the arrival of a Canadian police officer and the documents necessary to bring about his extradition.

Montreal, Feb. 18.—It will be remembered that Mr. Andrew Boyd departed from Montreal last summer on the steamship Mariposa some time after the destruction of the Boyd, Gillies & Co. warehouse by fire. That event caused an investigation which ultimately resulted in the arrest and punishment of several men convicted of incendiarism. Mr. Boyd, however, after confessing complicity in the crime, was allowed to depart.

Mr. Boyd sometime previously was in trouble with the customs authorities, and he is alleged to have committed grave *frauds in that connection. As the Depart*ment of Justice seems to have brought about Mr. Boyd's arrest, it seems probable that he is those alleged misdeeds he is to be brought back to this country to answer for.

Ottawa, Feb. 18.—Inspector Dan O'Leary of the Dominion police, leaves for Glasgow in a few days to bring back to Canada Andrew Boyd, absconding member of the firm of Boyd, Byrle & Co. of Montreal, who is wanted in that city on several charges, including arson, defrauding customs, etc.

THE GRAIN STANDARDS.

Government in Consultation with Dealers—Proposal to Fix Standard Grades—Toronto Men Want to be Represented

Ottawa, Feb. 18.—(Special.)—Four members of the Government, Messrs. Daly, Ives, Prior and Wood, to-day discussed the question of grain standards with a deputation consisting of Messrs. G. A. Chapman and C. B. Watts of the Toronto Board of Trade; Mr. McPhee, the Montreal Board, together with Senator Perley, W. W. McDonald, M.P., N. Boyd, M.P., and Major Bell of Indian Head. The Commissioner of Inland Revenue, Mr. Miall, was also present. The subjects under discussion were the change of the grain standards and the inspection of grain. The proposal to change the law so as to exclude the representation of Toronto and Montreal Grain Exchanges from the Standard Board at Winnipeg was discussed and opposed by the Montreal and Toronto representatives. Senator Perley and the western representatives opposed the changing of the grades each year, and advocated the fixing of standards. In connection with the latter proposal of the Government has under consideration a scheme for submission to Parliament to fix the following as standard grades:

No. 1 extra—to weigh not less than 61 1-2 pounds; contain 80 per cent. red fyfe and to be free from frost and smut.

No. 1 hard—same conditions as foregoing, but weighing only 60 pounds to the bushel.

No. 2 hard, to weigh 59 pounds to the bushel; to contain 66 2-3 per cent. red fyfe, free from smut and frost.

No. 3 hard, to weigh 58 pounds to the bushel and other conditions are same as No. 2.

No. 1 and 2 regular, to contain 50 per cent. soft wheat and weigh 60 and 59 pounds to the bushel respectively.

All wheat below these grades will not be graded by the proposed new act. No scoured wheat will be allowed in the three standards first named.

John Morley Stands on the Stump.

London, Feb. 18.—Right Hon. John Morley, formerly Chief Secretary for Ireland, who is contesting in the Liberal interest the seat in the House of Commons for the Montrose burghs, delivered a speech at Forfar to-day. In the course of his remarks he said he rejoiced that there was every indication of a solution of the Guiana boundary dispute by the appointment of a joint commission.

A BARRIE TRAGEDY.

Michael Brennan Shoots Mr. John Strathy

AT HIS OWN DOOR IN COLD BLOOD

Simply a Repetition of the Murder of Carter Harrison, Mayor of Chicago—The Assassin Went to His Victim's House to Do the Awful Deed.

Barrie, Feb. 18.—(Special)—A most cold-blooded murder was perpetrated here this morning, the victim being John A. Strathy, a prominent banker, and old resident of the town; the murderer, Michael J. Brennan, a former resident, who is said to be insane. The cause of the awful tragedy is a mystery.

Brennan called at Overden, Mr. Strathy's house, at Lake and Duckworth-streets, and asked the servant who answered the door for Mr. Strathy. The girl asked who wished to see him, and Brennan replied, "A friend." Mr. Strathy came to the door and Brennan deliberately shot him in the breast, the bullet entering just above the heart. Mr. Strathy fell to the floor and his wife, who had heard the shot, ran to him. He said to her: "Brennan has shot me," and then lost consciousness. Dr. W. A. Ross was summoned quickly and was soon joined by Drs. Smith and McCarthy, but notwithstanding the efforts of the medical men, Mr. Strathy expired three-quarters of an hour after being shot.

After committing the dastardly act, Brennan rushed out of the house and jumped upon a rig, driven by Andrew Graham, a farmer, from Oro Township. Mrs. Strathy shouted to Graham and a man named Thomas Ambler, who was also in the sleigh, to capture the murderer. But Brennan coolly told the men that the woman was crazy, and to take no notice of her. When the sleigh arrived at the Victoria Hotel, Brennan alighted and went in and had a drink, afterwards walking down to the market square, where he coolly told Constable Marrin that he had shot Jack Strathy.

The constable took him into custody, and, together with County Detective Beardsley, went with him to the jail, where Brennan freely admitted his guilt, stating that Mr. Strathy had shoved him out of the house and that he drew his revolver on the spur of the moment and fired. He further said to Detective Beardsley that last summer he had another revolver that he intended to use for the same purpose, but he consulted the priest in Midland, who told him to at once destroy the revolver, and never take any person's blood. He decided to take the priest's advice and, to use his words, buried the revolver in the waters of Georgian Bay. Detective Beardsley at once informed Crown Attorney Cotter, who told him to notify the coroner, Dr. Wallwin, who at once empanelled a jury, who viewed the remains and then adjourned until to-morrow morning. A post mortem examination is being held to-night by Dr. W. A. Ross and Dr. Raikes.

The news of the horrible affair spread quickly throughout the town and relatives of Mr. Strathy in Toronto were notified and a number of them came here to console the bereaved wife and children. Dr. Grasett came up on the afternoon train, accompanied by a little daughter of the deceased, who has been at boarding school in Toronto. Mr. Henry Strathy, Q.C., a prominent lawyer here and a brother of the murdered man, told The World representative to-night that he could assign no cause for Brennan's awful act. The victim was of a most inoffensive disposition and was a friend of every one and a most popular man. It was said that some time ago Brennan had some trouble with his family and he asked Mr. Strathy to help him, but the latter had said that he could do nothing in the matter at all. Brennan is said to have stated after committing the crime that he had had financial troubles of which Mr. Strathy was the cause. There is nothing, however, that would lead to this being believed, as Brennan was always hard up and bad pay.

The murdered man had lived here for 27 years and was very popular throughout the surrounding country. For many years he was manager of the Bank of Toronto at this place, having resigned his position a few months ago, owing to some trouble regarding investments in British Columbia real estate. Only yesterday Mr. Strathy was nominated for the office of first deputy reeve, which has recently become vacant. He was a pro*minent member of the Reformed Epis*copalian Church here. He leaves a wife and six children.

The murderer, Michael J. Brennan, has been known in and around Barrie for 25 years. For some years after locating here he was a carpenter. He married a girl named Hurley, who was a domestic in the household of Senator Gowan, an uncle of the murdered man and was intensely jealous of his wife and there is a story afloat to the effect that Brennan labored under the idea that Mr. Strathy had been intimate with the girl before she married. This, however, is only rumor, and is not believed. Brennan gave up carpentering and went into the hotel business, taking charge of the Victoria hotel, which he ran for a couple of years, until the Scott Act came into force.

Brennan left Barrie about six years ago for Midland, taking his wife and family with him. While there he became involved in trouble with a lawyer named Steers, whom he accused of undue intimacy with Mrs. Brennan. The lawyer had Brennan arrested on a charge of lunacy, and he was committed to Barrie jail, where medical men examined him, but were not satisfied that he was insane. Mrs. Brennan subsequently separated from her husband, and said to be now living in Toronto, where she has a brother who is a bank employe. Brennan went to Toronto a few months ago and secured employment with the Massey-Harris

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 19, 1896.

THE FOUR HUNDREDTH ANNIVERSARY.

Canada has a triple claim to being an integral part of the British Empire—by virtue of discovery, conquest and affection. Columbus may boast of having discovered America, but that bold and adventurous Briton, Cabot, can lay claim to a greater achievement, the discovery of Canada. The young Canadian, and the old, too, should remember that the discovery of Canada was a purely British matter and had no connection with the Columbus affair over the way. The admirers of Columbus may urge that he was five years ahead of Cabot in the matter of cisatlantic discovery; but certainly it was worth waiting a paltry five years to furnish the first resting place on this continent for the meteor flag, and it was certainly worth Cabot's while to wait a lustrum to discover a country like Canada.

To Toronto, the capital city of the premier province of Canada belongs the honour, if not the right, of inaugurating a proposal for the fitting celebration of the discovery of Canada, in 1497—the four hundredth anniversary falling next year, 1897—and it is proposed that the anniversary be observed by a celebration to take the form of a Canadian historical exhibition, illustrating the various discoveries in North America, resulting from that of the Cabot's in 1497; also displaying the natural history of Canada and the social, political, literary, scientific, artistic progress in which it has participated from the discovery to the present time.

The project received a decided impetus at a largely attended meeting, appropriately held in St. George's Hall, Toronto, a few days ago, at which Hon. G. W. Ross presided. His remarks on the occasion are worth quoting:

> They could not overestimate the importance, he said, of this opportunity to test the title deeds by which Canadians hold the half of this continent. This anniversary would be a means of showing that their title was good to this country, which had been discovered by English seamen, sent out by King Henry VII., and that the Monroe doctrine and all other pretensions to the contrary, they propose to keep it. (Applause.) Further, it would be an excellent opportunity to show to the people of Canada the resources and enterprise of their country. Canadians do not make enough of their land, do not realize its extent and potentialities, Mr. Ross thought. They have shown energy and enterprise and have a history of which they may be proud, and all these things were such matters as they could with advantage place before the country and empire at the great gathering of 1897. Moreover, there was the happy coincidence that at that very time the British Association would be holding its meeting in Toronto. They should show that Canada recognizes her relations to the empire; they should show their visitors that she is an important part of that empire, and should place before them what she is and what her future will be. It will be a historical epoch for Canada, he said, in conclusion, and Canadians should make it as important for their country as the people of the United States made the Chicago exhibition for their country.

At the same meeting a letter was read from Lord Aberdeen, formally endorsing the undertaking and offering his offices to assist in securing the presence of a member of the royal family on the occasion of the opening of the proposed exhibition, which apart from sentimental considerations, would, doubtless, be of much practical benefit to this country.

HON. MR. HAGGART in the House of Commons on Monday stated that the expense of operating the Tay Canal last year was $3,188, the revenue from tolls was $119, and that the total cost of the work up to the present was $476,887, that is, the revenue was about one five thousandth per cent. of the cost. This information was of course given in answer to a question, for no one would expect Mr. Haggart to voluntarily expose the huge political job the construction of this canal involves.

AMENDING COUNTY COUNCILS.

Reducing the Number of Representatives.

Hon. Mr. Hardy's bill introduced into the Ontario Legislature for reducing the number of County Councillors is a very important measure. The act is divided into two parts. The first part deals with the submission of the question of reducing the number of County Councillors in any county to the electors, and makes provision that in every county where the Council of the county is composed of more than twenty members, and in other counties where the Council is composed of twenty members or less, if the Council by resolution so directs, the Clerk of the county shall, at the general municipal election to be holden in the year 1897, submit to the local electors of every local municipality in the county the question of whether they are favourable to the adoption of the act or opposed thereto. The first twenty-one sections of the act are devoted to the procedure upon taking the vote. Section 15 provides for the submission of the question in any year subsequent to 1897 in which the act is not in force.

Part 2 of the act relates to the constitution of county councils after the act goes into operation. Section 23 declares that County Councils shall, in counties containing not more than 40,000 inhabitants, be composed of nine members; in counties containing more than 40,000 and less than 60,000, of eleven members, and in counties containing 60,000 or a greater number, of thirteen members. Section 23 provides that nominations shall be made in writing, signed by at least twenty-five municipal electors in the county, and deposited with the Clerk on or before the 1st day of December. If more candidates are nominated than the number of county councillors to be elected in the county, notice is to be given by the county clerk of the nominations made, and this notice is to be sent to the clerk of each of the local municipalities, together with voting papers, in the form prescribed by the act.

At a meeting of each local municipal council, held on the third Monday of January, the reeve and deputy-reeve are to fill up and sign the voting papers. Each reeve or deputy reeve is to be entitled to a number of votes equal to the number of county councillors to be elected, and may give all his votes to one candidate, or may distribute them as he thinks best. The clerk of the municipality is to transmit the voting papers to the clerk of the county, who is to open the packages and count the votes in the presence of the County Judge or Sheriff, or in the absence of both of those officials, in the presence of the County Court Clerk, and is to enter the votes given for each candidate in a book kept for that purpose, and forthwith declare the persons elected who have received the highest number of votes.

Y.P.S.C.E. NOTES.

Paragraphs of Local Interest to Endeavourers Supplied by the County Union and Epworth League.

The World's Christian Endeavour Prayer Chain; subject of prayer for February:—"For all young converts who have recently been brought to Christ, that they may be strong, unselfish, winsome Christians. That they begin at once to show their love to Christ by working for Him."

DENOMINATIONALISM.

Christian Endeavor by its interdenominational fellowship teaches broadness and Christian Charity. And yet, its broadness does not weaken it, for one of its strongest teachings is "loyalty to one's own church." There is no governing body dictating to the various societies what they shall and shall not do or believe. The entire control in such matters is vested in the pastor and church officers of each congregation or the governing body of their church. No society is forced to adopt the "uniform topics" but can study denominational creed to their hearts desire and as frequently as they wish. Occasionally the "uniform topics" give opportunity to discuss such themes—for instance the topic of this week "Our Church" gives every society an opening for such work.

This meeting should have been carefully, prayerfully and earnestly worked up in every society, to teach the members the position and strength of their denomination; and as this column is for the societies and not for one society, we will be glad to publish the plan of conducting this meeting in the different societies.

ST. PAUL'S AND ST. ANDREW'S.

The union meeting of the two Presbyterian societies was a decided success in numbers and also in interest. Mr. T. H. Martin occupied the chair and Mr. W. F. Nelson led in a short song service. Rev. A. MacWilliams was the first speaker, his topic being "The Ministry of Gifts or of the Spirit." Owing to the space at our disposal being limited, we will have to defer publishing until another issue, as a condensed report would not properly convey the meaning.

Rev. Dr. Torrance said that it was contemptuously said at times that the Presbyterian church was only about three hundred years old, it being born in the time of Calvin and Knox. The answer to that is that our church is as old as the New Testament. We don't claim to go back to the time of Melchezedech because the Old Testament dispensation passed away at the ascension of Jesus. There is no order of priests to-day like the priests of the Old Testament. The only priests now are the true children of God. Each one of us is a priest, Christ is the only priest to-day after the order of Melchesidech.

At the time of the Reformation, Calvin and Knox went back to the Apostolic church for the foundation of their work. At that time there were two orders, Elders and Deacons. Elders and Bishops were the same. We must admit that not very long after the church introduced the office of Diocesan Bishops for the sake of convenience. There is but one reference to such an office and that does not convey the idea we have of a bishop to-day. There were a number of bishops in the single church of Philippi. The elders had control of the spiritual affairs; the Deacons of the temporal. The distinctive policy of the Presbyterian church is that these two orders are the rulers in the church. We differ from the Episcopalians in this respect. We differ from the Congregational and Baptist churches in the form of church courts and government. In doctrine we are in accord with all evangelical bodies. The Church of England standard is as calvanistic as the confession of faith; so with the Baptists. He here spoke highly of the sister churches and their work. He then gave the history of the disruption in the Scottish church and closed an excellent address by saying "Let us not forget that Christ is head of the church, let us uplift Him rather than the church."

The meeting was then closed with the benediction.

Centuries ago, people used to fear what they called the pestilence. Black Death was the most terrible thing in the world to them. They feared it as people now fear the Cholera and Yellow Fever. And yet there is a thing that causes more misery and more deaths than either of these. It is so common that nine-tenths of all the sickness in the world is traceable to it. It is merely that simple, common thing, constipation. It makes people listless, causes dizziness, headaches, loss of appetite, loss of sleep, foul breath, and distress after eating. The little help that is needed is furnished by Dr. Pearce's Pleasant Pellets. One pill is a gentle laxative, and two a mild cathartic. Once used they are always in favour. If you are careless enough to let an unscrupulous druggist sell you something on which he makes more money, it is your own fault if you do not get well. Be sure and get Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.

GRATEFUL FARMER.

He Speaks Volumes of Good Sense in a Few Words.

The Symptoms of Kidney Disease—The Medicine That Always Cures—Dodd's Kidney Pills.

A grateful old farmer who had been cured at a hopeless stage of diabetes said: "People ought to buy Dodd's Kidney Pills the same as groceries, and never be without them in the house."

The moment any of the symptoms of kidney disorders are felt, such as chills, fevers, creeping sensations, backaches, headaches, etc., then you ought to take a few doses of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

They are so much like the stitch in time. It is wonderful how like a "shoulder to the wheel" they are for tired kidneys.

Except sitting in a draft, over-eating and over-drinking has more to do with poor kidney work than any other cause.

Then Dodd's Kidney Pills affect us like forgiving our trespasses.

What is the cause of sallow, sickly skin, nervousness, depression, lack of ambition, hysteria, sleeplessness, Bright's disease, diabetes, paralysis, female troubles?

The plain, unvarnished truth is, the kidneys are failing or have failed to do blood filtering work. They want the help, the cleansing that only one medicine in the world can give, that is, Dodd's Kidney Pills.

THOMAS SEXTON, M.P., WILL RESIGN.

The Well known Anti Parnellite Has Become Tired of Parliament.

London, Feb. 18.—Thomas Sexton, M.P., for North Kerry, whom the anti-Parnellites vainly sought to accept the leadership of that party, has retired from Parliament. He to-day sent to the meeting that elected Mr. Dillon to the leadership an application for the stewardship of the Chiltern Hundreds, which is tantamount to resigning his seat. He desired that the application be forwarded to the Treasury immediately.

A FOREST GIRL'S QUEER BREAK.

Dressed in Boy's Clothes at 15 She Skips From Home.

Port Huron, Mich., Feb. 18.—Officers in this city are on the lookout for Ethel Newton, aged 15, who ran away from her home in Forest, Ont., sometime ago, in company with another girl, both dressed in boys' clothes. They walked from Forest to Sarnia and crossed the river on the ice. They have been located in this city, but mysteriously disappeared to-day.

Immigrants to the U.S. Will Hardly Know Officers From Bunco Men.

Washington, Feb. 18.—In lieu of the various bills before it on the subject of restricting immigration, the Senate Immigration Committee to-day reported a bill adding to the classes of aliens excluded from admission to the United States: "For the purpose of testing the ability of the immigrant to read and write, the inspection officers shall be furnished with copies of the constitution of the United States, printed on numbered uniform pasteboard slips, each containing five lines of the constitution printed in the various languages of the immigrants in doubt, small pica type. These slips are to be kept in boxes made for that purpose, and so constructed as to conceal the slips from view, each box to contain slips of but one language, and the immigrant may designate the language in which he prefers the test shall be made. Each immigrant shall be required to draw one of the said slips from the box and read, and afterwards write out, in full view of the immigration officers, the five lines printed thereon. Each slip shall be returned to the box immediately after the test is finished, and the contents of the box shall be shaken up by an inspection officer before another drawing is made. No immigrant failing to read and write out the slip thus drawn by him shall be admitted, but he shall be returned to the country from which he came at the expense of the steamship or railroad which brought him, as now provided in law."

THE DUKE OF YORK'S LITTLE SON.

Will Lug the Name Albert Frederick George Arthur All His Days.

London, Feb. 18.—The baptism of the second son of the Duke and Duchess of York took place in the church at Sandringham yesterday. The occasion was made a general holiday for the people of the neighborhood. The outside of the sacred edifice was decorated with flags, and the interior, which was crowded, was plentifully hung with floral emblems of all descriptions. Among those present were the Prince and Princess of Wales and their daughters, the Duke and Duchess of Connaught and the Marquis of Lorne and Princess Louise.

The Secretary of State for Home Affairs, Sir Matthew White Ridley, the court officials and the Duke and Duchess of York entered together. The Duke of York was the last of the party, and carried in his arms his elder son, Prince Edward Albert, who was born on June 23, 1894. Accompanying the Duke of York was a nurse bearing the infant prince. The Rev. Dr. Sheepshanks officiated. The Princess of Wales pronounced the name, Albert Frederick George Arthur. A hymn and the blessing finished the ceremony.

ELOPED WITH HIS PRETTY NIECE.

The Escapade of a Chicago Man and a Canton Farmer's Daughter.

London, Feb. 18.—Farmer Quirk of Caistor Township arrived from Hamilton this morning, and at noon he was on his way home, accompanied by his daughter, a pretty young woman. On Sunday John Reece was arrested here on a Hamilton telegram, and l[illegible] the charge of vagrancy. The [illegible] for his arrest appeared to-day, when Farmer Quirk identified him as his brother-in-law, and the man who had eloped with his daughter. At the Christmas holidays Reece, who belongs to Chicago, and is a handsome fellow and a widower, paid the Quirks a visit, and while there became enamored of his good-looking niece. His affections were returned, and the two managed to elude the girl's parents and came here nearly a week ago, and boarded at a second-rate boarding house, living as man and wife. After being arrested Reece was kept at the county jail, while the girl was merely placed under surveillance. Both were very penitent, and the daughter agreed to return home at once with her father. Reece was discharged at the request of Farmer Quirk, who would not prosecute, because he desired to save the family name. Reece paid the expenses, amounting to nearly $50, and left at once for Chicago.

The Dead are Mostly Italians, Many of Whom Will Never be Identified—People First Thought the Earth Had Quaked—Wild Scene at the Shaft

Newcastle, Col., Feb. 18.—The Vulcan coal mine, located just below here, was completely wrecked and set on fire by a terrific gas explosion after 11 o'clock to-day. About 50 men, including firemen and coal operators, were in the several rooms along the slope when the explosion occurred, and so great was the detonation that not a single man could have survived the shock, to say nothing of the gas or the fire which immediately ensued.

With the exception of a few bosses, the killed are Italians, but in the confusion and excitement it is impossible at this time to obtain a complete list of names of the unfortunates.

The town of Newcastle was shaken as if by an earthquake by the explosion, and a dense black cloud obscured the site of the Vulcan mine and workings, indicating plainly what had occurred. The entire population rushed to the scene to behold the surface workmen in the midst of a thick cloud of dust, trying to start the work of rescuing their unfortunate fellow laborers within the mine.

The earth had settled perceptibly near the hillside, and the black smoke issuing from crevices in the earth gave evidence that the coal vein had been set on fire by the explosion. Women and children rushed shrieking to the scene, adding to the confusion. The mine owned by the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company, two and a half miles away, was promptly closed down and all hands hastened to assist Superintendent Herrick of the Vulcan in the work of rescue, but it was quickly seen that little could be done. Herrick, with several men, had torn away the broken timbering at the landing and rushed into the slope soon after the explosion, only to be driven back again by the deadly fumes. A special train was sent to the mine by the Colorado Midland Railway Company with medical aid, prepared to assist in caring for the wounded if any were rescued, but night came on before an opening could be made.

The force of the explosion was tremendous. The buildings and trestle at the mouth of the slope were completely wrecked, a hole 100 feet square was carved out of the hillside at the mouth of the incline, while timbers two feet square were blown into the Grand River, which was 100 feet away. One miner was on his way down the slope when the explosion occurred, and his mangled remains were subsequently found several hundred feet away from the mouth of the slope. There were 140 men employed in and about the mine at the time, and about 50 were at work underground this morning.

State Coal Mine Inspector Griffith was here Feb. 8, and pronounced the mine in better condition than it had ever been before. An immense fan in the slope, which was about 500 feet in depth, seemed to afford complete ventilation, and every possible precaution was taken to prevent an explosion of the gas known to exist in the mines of this district. It is supposed that a lighted fuse ignited the gas in one of the new rooms while the men were blasting down coal.

The Vulcan Mine Company operates the property, which is owned by the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railroad Company. The mine was being worked to its full capacity, the output being from 17 to 20 cars per day.

Later.—The list of the dead, as near as can be estimated this evening is in the neighborhood of 60. The names of the company's men were only known to the pit boss, James Harrison, whose body lies with his dead comrades in the bottom of the ill-fated mine, and can only be ascertained by the recovery of the bodies.

Most of the men leave large families The entire slope is filled with debris, and it is evident that many days must elapse before the bodies of the entombed miners can be rescued. Since darkness fell the smoke seems to have perceptibly diminished, and it may be that fire will not destroy the property as was feared earlier in the day, but the force of the explosion was sufficient in itself to practically destroy the mine, and new workings will have to be started.

MDONALD FROZEN TO DEATH.

The Body of the Postmaster at Crieff Discovered in the Snow.

Hespeler, Feb. 18.—The body of Mr. Jas. McDonald, postmaster of Crieff, who perished in the snow storm of Monday night, the 10th inst., was found to-day in a field about one mile west of his home. The body was almost completely covered with snow, only one of his heels being visible. He had walked nearly eight miles, and had doubtless become exhausted at the spot where his body was found.

Uitlanders are Still Under Guard.

Pretoria, Feb. 18.—The Uitlanders who were arrested at Johannesburg upon charges of attempting to overthrow the Transvaal Government, and brought here for trial, have been placed in a private house, which is surrounded by an armed guard. The sum of £10,000 bail each is required for their release.

Ruptured a Blood Vessel and Died.

Brigden, Ont., Feb. 18.—Mr. D. T. Stephens, a prominent [illegible]rmer, died at his home, two miles south of here, this morning, being ill only a few minutes, from the rupture of a blood vessel. Deceased was an extensive landowner and has been a prominent figure in matters pertaining to the development of this section of the Township of Moore for some years past.

Mr. H. E. Hudson, Combermere, Severely Injured—Protruding Knot Entered the Body—Cured by One Box of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Combermere, Feb. 17, (Special)—Mr. H. E. Hudson, trapper, hunter and lumberman, was injured by falling on a knot which entered his body from beneath and injured the bladder and kidneys. He says: "I was confined to my bed for six weeks and was rarely able to work, feeling too weak since the injury over eight years ago. I have taken one box of Dodd's Kidney Pills and am perfectly cured and as able-bodied as ever before in my life. One box was worth one hundred dollars to me, if it is possible to estimate such a benefit in dollars."

THIS HELPS TO CLEAR THE WAY.

And Newfoundland May Soon be a Part of Our Dominion

Montreal, Feb. 17.—A despatch from St. John's, Nfld., to The Star says: "Your correspondent has received information from a reliable semi-official source to the effect that negotiations are going on at present between France and England on the subject of the French shore of Newfoundland. The basis of the negotiations involves the ceding of certain of England's interests in the State of Tunis, Africa, in exchange for the French claims in Newfoundland."

Lord Dufferin, the British Ambassador at Paris, is conducting the negotiations in Paris. The Star's informant says the prospect for a settlement is good and the end will be reached in a few days. Confederates here who have heard of the matter hope that with the removal of the French shore incubus, confederation between this country and Canada will be more practicable. By the French rights on the west shore, the Islanders are practically excluded from that part of the country, under the clause that allows the French fishermen the right to cure their fish there.

VENEZUELANS BECOME ALARMED.

The English Vessel in the Orinoco Provokes Much Warlike Comment

New York, Feb. 17.—A special cable from Caracas, Venezuela, says: The story of an English vessel taking soundings at the mouth of the Orinoco provokes much warlike comment. The people of Cuidad, Bolivar, the capital of Guiana, say the vessel is there for the purpose of determining whether warships are needed to hold the Orinoco, which is Venezuela's strong strategic position. The Government has been warned that, as England is increasing her force of men and cannon at the stations on the Amouro and Cuyuni Rivers, the latest move menaces the integrity of the nation. The press says that now is the time to teach English arrogance a lesson.

Rheumatic Pains

Require no description, since, with rare exception, all at some time have experienced their twinges. Rheumatism is not easily dislodged, only the most powerfully penetrating remedies reach to its very foundations. The most successful treatment known, and it is now frequently resorted to by medical men, is the application of that now famous remedy for pain—Polson's Nerviline. It is safe to say that nothing yet discovered has afforded equal satisfaction to the suffering, and no matter how bad the case may be Nerviline is sure to cure it. Sold by all druggists and country dealers.

A TORONTO LADY

GETS A CHRISTMAS BOX WHICH SHE PRIZES HIGHLY.

In tracing up some of Santa Claus' good deeds this year, a lady gives us the following account of her Christmas box. The lady's name is Mrs. H. G. Ferguson, and she resides at 211 Church st. Mrs. Ferguson began as follows:—

"I have for years been a great sufferer with kidney complaint, severe pain under shoulders and across back, and latterly so weak that I could not walk out or do housework. Seven years ago the doctor told me I had Bright's Disease. A number of physicians told me I was past help; one of them said I could not live a month. I have taken a great deal of medicine, but without relief, and had given up hope; in fact, told my son that I did not expect to live until spring. My son saw the advertisement of the Doan Kidney Pill Co., Dec. 3rd, and told me. I asked him to get a box and I would try them, although I had but little faith in them, because all other remedies had failed, and as a result I had given up hope. He got one box of pills at J. R. Lee's drug store and I commenced taking them. The result has been marvellous. After taking them once I experienced relief, and after taking them three times the change for the better was marked. I have only taken one box of pills, but I feel like a new woman. The pain and other symptoms of the dreadful disease are gone. I am stronger and better than I have been in many years. I am now able to do my housework and walk out without suffering any inconvenience. That box of Doan's Kidney Pills was indeed a grand Christmas box for me. I am glad to let everyone know about this wonderful cure, in the hope that some one who has suffered as I have may try the remedy and be benefited as I have been."

CARD OF THANKS.

Messrs. Cox & Davis, Peterborough:

GENTLEMEN: I wish to thank you for your promptness in settling the loss on my furniture, which occurred through the upsetting of my coal stove, on Friday night last at 10 o'clock. On being notified next day you were good enough to send over a man to settle the loss in order that I might be able to get the house cleaned up and thereby saved me much inconvenience. From my experience with your office now, it is a source of pleasure for me to feel that my insurance is with you, and I shall not forget to tell my friends.

Yours truly,

MARY ANN O'BRIEN.

A SCHOLARLY PAPER

Delivered by Mr. H. E. H. Kenner Before the Fortnightly Club Last Night on the Subject of "Aesop, the Fabulist."

Seldom, if ever, have the members of the Fortnightly Club been afforded the pleasure of listening to so excellent a paper as that delivered before them last night by Mr. Kenner. The paper was replete with classical scholarship and refined humour, and was written in a style of charming grace and ease. The subject dealt with was "Aesop, the Greek Fabulist, his life and work," and was treated so exhaustively that there was no chance given to the members to add anything in the way of discussion. A synopsis of the paper will appear in a day or two.

Two gentlemen were elected new members last evening, and two others were nominated. The next meeting will be an open one, March 10th, when Rev. W. R. Young, B.A., will lecture on "The French Revolution."

HOCKEY.

Word was received in town to-day by W. J. Montgomery, Captain of the local team, that Kingston's protest against the ruling of the umpire in last Wednesday's match has been disallowed. It was a piece of childishness to allow themselves to be talked into protesting the game, to appease the wounded feelings of a few of the players.

The date of the finals will not be fixed until the Executive meets next Friday afternoon. The Peterboroughs, it is understood, will offer the Granites $50.00 to play here, as the gate receipts would be very large. In Toronto a large attendance would not be expected.

The second town team and the Collegiate Institute seven played an exciting and close game at the rink yesterday afternoon resulting in a victory for the town by one goal, the score being 6—5. The teams lined up as follows:

MILLBROOK HOCKEY.

From our own Correspondent.

One of the most flourishing organizations in Millbrook is the ladies hockey club. Ever since their organization they have been practising hard and the first public match of the season was played on Friday night, when teams captained by Miss Maggie Wood and Miss Aggie Chambers faced each other. A large number of spectators were present and the Citizens band, which was in attendance, put additional life in the proceedings. The teams lined up as follows:

Miss G Clancy	goal	Miss M Needham
" M Ough	point	Miss L Burton
" V O'Brien	cover point	Miss M Collins
" Chambers	Forwards	Miss M Wood
" M Pickup		Miss L Vance
" M O'Brien		Miss K Carveth

Referee—F J Parkins

When time was called the score stood three to two in favour of Miss Wood's side. The spectators grew very excited at times and never failed to applaud the good players on either side. Every one was greatly pleased with the manner in which the ladies have got down the game and it is to be hoped that another match will be played shortly.

WILL IT BE "MURDER" OR "WOUNDING" ONLY?

A Stabbing Affray at the C. P. R. Restaurant.

JACK McGEE GETS INTO TROUBLE WITH HIS KNIFE.

Two Men are Alleged to have been Stabbed by Him Last Night—He and Two Companions Were out on a Spree—It is Wound up in the Spilling of Blood and the Arrest of the Perpetrator of the Deed—The Prisoner Remanded for the Present.

Last evening an outbreak of rowdyism occurred in the south end of the town, as the result of which John McGee, a young shantyman, is under arrest with a serious charge registered against his name and the far graver one of "murder" hanging over his head.

The affair was generated through a bar room fracas such as are of too frequent occurrence in town and when quietness was restored after the fracas was ended it was found that William Bowman, proprietor of the C. P. R. Restaurant, where the affair took place, had received a stab from a knife in the neck and that John Arnott, a boarder, was also wounded, having been cut in the groin.

It seems that at about a quarter past six o'clock in the evening Mr. Bowman was whilst Mr. John Arnott, one of his boarders, was sitting out in front talking to him.

BEHIND HIS BAR,

The door suddenly flew open and three men entered. They were John McGee, of Crescent street, and Robert Dwyer and M. Henry, of Hales Bridge.

McGee called for three drinks, at the same time telling Mr. Bowman that he would pay for them on Saturday. The unsteady gait and bloodshot eyes of the men, combined with their loud talk, plainly showed that they were already under the influence of liquor, and Mr. Bowman, thinking that they already had as much as they could safely carry, refused to give them any more liquor from his bar.

McGee then began swearing and using expletives of the most foul character, whereupon he was told to leave the house. It is alleged that at this juncture he seized a chair and began demolishing things in general in the room. Mr. Bowman ran around from behind the bar and seizing McGee attempted to eject him by main force. Whilst the two were

STRAINING AND WRESTLING

McGee's two companions and Arnott stood by without interfering, none of them being concerned in the melee.

Suddenly McGee drew a knife of villianous appearance and before any one could interfere Bowman was stabbed in the neck. He instantly threw his opponent from him and as the blood gushed forth in a crimson stream from the wound he called loudly for help, shouting out that he had been stabbed. Arnott instantly sprang to the rescue, but before he could even close with McGee the latter dealt him a wicked thrust with the knife in the groin, the blade making an ugly gash. Taken aback by this terrible onslaught Arnott fell back in a chair, when McGee turned and again made an attack on Bowman with the bloody knife in his uplifted hand. The latter, and loss of blood was not able to cope with his vigorous assailant for a minute and thought his last hour had come, but alarmed by the noise of the fierce struggle a number of the boarders rushed into the room and seeing the state of affairs seized McGee and succeeded in throwing him out of the bar-room. Twice did the infuriated man return seeking to renew the fight but the boarders were too much for him and after being forcibly ejected for the third time he finally took his leave.

WEAKENED BY THE WOUND

As soon as possible the police were apprised of the fracas and were told that McGee was still wandering around with the bloody knife in his hand. Dr. Scott was also instantly summoned to examine the nature of the wounds inflicted on Messrs. Bowman and Arnott. It was found that the former had experienced a most narrow escape from almost instant death, as the knife wound was within a quarter of an inch of the jugular vein. Though this wound was dangerous and put in it, the gash which Mr. Arnott received was found to be even more serious in its nature, as, although the cut did not present so hideous an appearance as did Mr. Bowman's, still its depth has given rise to the greater anxiety, as, if the bowels are perforated or inflammation sets in, there is no doubt but that a fatality will result.

Alarmed by the terrible turn which the quarrel had taken, McGee's two companions left him outside the hotel. The principal actor in the terrible tragedy then proceeded to his home on Crescent street where he resides with his parents at No. 19. On entering he alarmed the whole household by his vague statements concerning the terrible trouble he had gotten into. He then left and went in to see his brother-in-law, Mr. John Carveth who lives next door. There he is said to have told the story of his crime. He went to bed but had scarcely retired before at the door, hot on his trail. On being placed under arrest he admitted knifing the men, but blamed his companions for getting him into the trouble.

P. C. MCGINTY APPEARED

This morning the prisoner was brought before the Mayor, in the absence of the Police Magistrate, and was formally remanded. Arnott is said to be suffering extreme pain from his wound and McGee, of course, will not be given a hearing until it is ascertained if the wounded men will recover. In case of Arnott's wound resulting fatally McGee will be put on trial for murder, but if nothing serious results the charge will be for "wounding."

The Chief of Police states that Mr. Bowman did not overstep his rights in the least in endeavouring to eject McGee from the bar-room when he raised the disturbance. If Mr. Bowman had summoned the Chief in the first place, the Chief would not have laid a hand on McGee until Bowman had tried and failed to eject him.

THE WOUNDED MEN.

This afternoon Mr. Bowman was seen and stated that his escape was a marvellous one, as the knife blade struck the jaw bone and happened to be diverted from the jugular vein instead of towards it. Over two quarts of blood were lost by him. Mr. Arnott's wound, this afternoon, began to turn black and it is greatly feared that inflammation may set in. He is originally from Belleville, having been employed for a great number of years on the farm of Mr. W. N. Ponton there. He was until recently connected with the Peterborough Canoe Company's factory and during the summer was in charge of the boathouses.

Tired but Sleepless

Is a condition which gradually wears away the strength. Let the blood be purified and enriched by Hood's Sarsaparilla and this condition will cease.

"For two or three years I was subject to poor spells. I always felt tired, could not sleep at night and the little I could eat did not do me any good. I read about Hood's Sarsaparilla and decided to try it. Before I had finished two bottles I began to feel better and in a short time I felt all right and had gained 21 pounds in weight. I am stronger and healthier than I have ever been in my life." John W. Coughlin, Wallaceburg, Ontario.

DAILY MOTTO.

Wednesday, Feb 19th.

Be humble for the past, trust Him for the future; think of thy former backslidings and tremble; think of His promised grace and take courage.

Has thou wandered far
From thy Father's happy home,
With thyself and God at war?
Turn thee, brother, homeward come.

Hast thou wasted all the powers
God for noble uses gave?
Squandered life's most golden hours?
Turn thee, brother, God can save.

He can heal thy bitterest wound,
He thy gentlest prayer can hear;
Seek Him, for He may be found;
Call upon Him, He is near.

Out of weakness comes strength when the blood has been purified, enriched and vitalized by Hood's Sarsaparilla.

He Did No Wrong.

Henderson, the tramp for whom County Constable Cochrane went to Cobourg, was brought to town last night and remanded until Saturday next. Henderson states that he did not resist arrest at Curtis' Cut, nor did he draw a revolver. He was, however, handcuffed by Constable Moore to one of the men who did the shooting and when told to run by this tramp he did not hesitate about doing it, as his companion enforced the request with the point of his revolver.

To-morrow Night's Concert.

This is what the Kingston Whig says: "Miss Daly held her audience spell-bound as she sang, with rare conception and prayerful spirit, Buck's 'I Will Lay Me Down in Peace,' whilst her second number 'Hosanna,' showed her delightfully rich voice to perfection. It would be a treat to listen to such God given talent for hours." Miss Daly will sing "I Will Lay Me Down in Peace," at the concert in George street Methodist church to-morrow evening.

New Spring and Summer Fashions.

The English and American reports of gentlemen's fashions for the spring and summer of 1896 are out. The handsome coloured plates and sketches now on view at A. Mercer & Co's., George street, are attracting the admiration of the "lords of creation." The plates which accompany the English reports by Minister, of Marlborough street, London, show novel arrangements in homogeneous garments and makes a very pretty pictorial effect without detracting from their practical purposes. All the styles represented may, with absolute certainty, be followed by gentlemen who desire to dress abreast of the West End of London on fashions. It is announced that for the present season plain goods still rule the day.

Bright Ideas in Window Dressing.

Judging by the following letter, Mr. M. T. Ostrom, of Peterborough, the energetic Canadian manager of the Keystone Remedy Company, the proprietors of Uncle Sam's Tobacco Cure, is making quite a reputation for himself as an effective advertiser for his company. The subjoined letter is only one of many which Mr. Ostrom states he has received from druggists complimenting him for his novel and attractive window dressing with the Anti-Tobacco Cure Goods:

AYLMER, Ont., Feb. 14th, 1896.

DEAR SIR,—Your water spray and plant exhibit in the store of Mr. W. T. Strong, druggist, London I consider one of the most handsome and attractive of anything I have ever seen. Should like to put it in my store, if you could make suitable arrangement.

Yours sincerely,

The ball given by Wm. Clancy on Monday evening was a decided success.

Mr. Wm. Robb, of Stony Lake, was in town this week.

Mr. Anderson, of Wooller, is visiting friends around town this week.

SELWYN.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

We have this week to chronicle the death of Mr. Frederick Fitzgerald, third son of Mr. Edward Fitzgerald. He had been ailing for the past four months and died on Sunday night from that fell destroyer, consumption. He was a young man who was well liked and respected, as was testified by the large attendance at his funeral. He was a member of Court Selwyn, No. 427, Canadian Order of Foresters, the members of his court attending in a body, also a number of the Foresters from Lakefield. Rev. A. C. Reeves conducted the funeral service at the house and at the grave, after which the beautiful and impressive burial service of the Foresters was conducted by the D. D. H. C. R., R. Q Dench, who was present, with the assistance of the Foresters.

The roof of the Presbyterian church sheds collapsed with the great weight of snow.

All Sabbath school teachers and workers should remember the Sabbath school convention to be held here on Friday of next week in the Baptist church, the programme of which was in this column last week.

Calcutt's Dublin Porter.

Men and women are all more or less troubled with dyspepsia. Why? Because they suffer from constipation. This is easily cured if attended to. If neglected it will become chronic. Constipation is the cause of nine-tenths of all our sicknees. Nature requires assistance to throw off impurities of the system and regulate the bowels. This is what Calcutt's porter will do. Build up your system by the moderate use of this tonic. It does not derange the system but builds it up and consequently adds to your strength and weight. Sold by all leading grocers, only $1.00 per dozen.

FELIX BROWNSCOMBE IS TOWN TREASURER.

THE COUNCIL APPOINTED HIM LAST NIGHT.

A Number of Petitions Which Will be Submitted to the Ontario Legislature Through Mr. J. R. Stratton, M.P.P., at the Request of the Council.

The Town Council at a special meeting, last evening, appointed Mr. Felix Brownscombe to the position of Town Treasurer, rendered vacant through the resignation of Mr. C. McGill.

It was decided to apply for special legislation concerning the incorporation into the town of the new Nicholls' Park and also to ask the Provincial Legislature to grant the town power to exempt the new Y. M. C. A. building from taxation as well as to clearly define the corporation's position in regard to the assessment of water power.

* * *

Councillor Phelan asked for the preparation of a by-law whereby the fee required from transient traders may be raised to a higher figure to meet such cases as occurred during the last few weeks, where a bankrupt sale of cheap jewelry took place and, as he expressed it, a number of the citizens were "gulled."

The members in attendance were Mayor Yelland and Councillors Best, Wm. White, Hughes, Denne, Mills, Phelan, Weir, Sawers, Moore, Langford, Graham and John White.

COMMUNICATIONS

were received and disposed of as appended:

From the City of Kingston asking for the co-operation of the town council in endeavouring to secure such legislation as shall ensure the trying of all actions for damages against municipalities for injuries by a judge without a jury.—Referred to the Finance Committee.

From Messrs. J. A. Hall and F. Browncombe enclosing their report as auditors.—Referred to the Finance Committee.

From W. L. Innis, drawing attention to a map of the town completed by him, which map was of the necessary scale for registration.—Referred to the Finance Committee.

From E. B. Edwards, town solicitor, stating that the corporation could be compelled to have a map of the town compiled for registration.—Referred to the Finance Committee.

From the town solicitor, enclosing a petition to the Legislature praying for the passage of special enactments respecting the administration of the will of the late Mrs. Nicholls.—Received.

From the town solicitor, stating that as Judge Weller had decided that properties using water power under lease from the owners are not liable to be assessed for the value of the water power, that special legislation be asked of the Provincial Parliament to meet the emergency—Received.

From B. M. Eden, applying for the position of town treasurer—Received.

From the Mail and Empire re. advertising Peterborough as a summer resort—Received.

From John Brown, applying for a position on the police force.—Received.

From the county clerk, drawing attention to certain resolutions affecting the town, passed at the last meeting of the county council.—Referred to the Joint Committee.

From R. H. Green, asking a rebate in his tender for the priviledge of conducting the market, as the fees this year have fallen below the average—Referred to the Finance Committee.

MR. INNIS HEARD.

On motion of Councillors Moore and Phelan, Mr. Innis was heard in regard to his communication concerning the map of the town which he has prepared. He stated that the map was prepared especially for registration purposes, and therefore possessed a number of advantages over any other map. By law, the town corporation was required to possess such a map, and to meet this end he had prepared the plan and brought it before the Council in order that the members might understand the circumstances under which he had compiled it. He wished some assistance from the corporation towards defraying the expense of publishing it, but was not prepared at present to say for what amount he would ask.

THE FINANCE COMMITTEE

through its chairman, Councillor Moore recommended,—that the Council accept Mr. A. J. Cameron's offer to supply twelve maps of the town as per sample at the last meeting of the Council, and 200 copies of the map, 2 feet by 3 feet in size, and he shall be paid therefore $180 00. The payment of the following accounts was also recommended:—

Adopted on motion of Councillors Moore and Graham.

THE LICENSE COMMITTEE

through its chairman, Councillor Hughes, recommended:

1. That the application of Charles Munder for a pedlar's license without the payment of fee be granted.
2. That no action be taken in regard to the complaint of A. Saunders, and the police be instructed to enforce the laws against outsiders.
3. That no action be taken in regard to Mrs. S. A. Goodfellow's application for an eating house license free.
4. That Mrs. George Lawson's application for a pedlar's license free be granted.
5. That the bylaw for imposing a license fee for keeping dogs be amended so as to change the fee for bitches from $2 to $3 and that a bylaw be prepared for this purpose.

Adopted on motion of Councillors Hughes and Wm. White with the exception of clause No. 5, which was struck out, as the amount of license fee is fixed by statute.

THE COMMITTEE ON APPOINTMENTS

through its chairman, Councillor Sawers, made the following recommendations:

1. That the salary of the town treasurer be $300 per year.
2. That the office hours of the treasurer be from 10 o'clock a.m. until 3 o'clock p.m.
3. That the room in the town buildings at present used as an office for the Mayor, be in future the office of the town treasurer, and that the treasurer keep his books and official papers in the vault connected with the town clerk's office.
4. That the duties of the treasurer be such duties as are assigned to him by Law, and the bylaws and resolutions of the council and such further duties as he may be directed to perform by lawful bylaws or resolutions of the council.
5. That Henry Denne be appointed town treasurer.

The adoption of the report was moved by Councillor Sawers and Graham.

Councillors Wm. White and Robt. Weir moved in amendment that it be received.

The amendment was carried.

PETITIONS.

Councillor Moore submitted a petition to the Local Legislature praying for special enactment in reference to the assessment of water power in order that it may be assessed as is other property.

Councillor Langford did not think that water powers should be assessed, and thought the matter should be referred to a committee to look into.

Mr. Moore held that water power should legitimately be assessed if it had a market value, which it most certainly had in Peterborough.

Mr. Langford and Mr. John White moved that the matter go to the Finance Committee.

The Mayor explained that to be presented to the Legislature the petition would have to be in the hands of Mr. J. R. Stratton, M.P.P., by Thursday, therefore immediate action was necessary.

Councillor Best stated that the point at issue was that Judge Weller and the Court of Revision differed in opinion as to where the water power should be assessed, whether at the point of production or of use.

Mr. Moore stated that what was wanted was for the law to be clearly defined; that was all.

The Council decided to send the petition in to the Legislature.

Councillor Moore then introduced the petition to the Legislature, asking for the incorporation of the Nicholls park into the town; that the corporation need not, until it saw fit, take measures to provide a sinking fund to redeem the debentures issued to defray the cost of the outfall sewer, and that the corporation be empowered to exempt the new Y. M. C. A building, when erected, from taxation.

On motion of Councillors Moore and Graham, the petition will be forwarded to Mr. Stratton for presentation to the Legislature.

THE TREASURERSHIP.

Councillor Sawers introduced the bylaw for the appointment of a town treasurer.

In committee of the whole, on the second reading, several names were submitted and voted upon until at length the appointment lay between Mr. Brownscombe and Mr. Denne, the nominee of the Committee on Appointments, and the deciding motion giving the treasurership to Mr. Brownscombe was carried by the close vote of 7 to 6.

The committee rose and the by-law was given its third reading and passed.

SOME RESOLUTIONS.

On motion of Councillors Moore and Best, the resignation of Mr. McGill as town treasurer was formally accepted and the council gave expression to its sense of the valuable services rendered the town by Mr. McGill while occupying such office and of the unvarying courtesy and assistance received from him.

On motion of Councillor Wm. White the Property Committee will supply the firemen's room with tables and chairs.

On motion of Councillor Phelan a bylaw will be prepared raising the fee for the licensing of transient traders.

LOOKING AHEAD!

The REAR END of Winter is close upon us and we are all looking forward anxiously and hopefully to more balmy days.

Strange talk, perhaps, with four feet of snow on the level. We tell you something stranger still when we say that we want to see our tables clean of Overcoats before the snow is all cleaned off.

Like all other good business firms, we are looking forward to the time when Overcoats can be hung up on a nail for another season. We would much rather you would do this than we, and to this end are ready to quote low enough prices on what few remain in stock to bring this about a little ahead of time.

Racked with Rheumatism

Unable to Walk, owing to excruciating pain.
After ten years' terrible torture, Cured by Scott's Sarsaparilla.

A. H. Christiansen, writing from the Clifton House, Niagara Falls, says: "I owe you more than I can ever pay. For ten years I suffered the tortures of the damned with rheumatism. Father had it before me, and I believe it is an hereditary disease. My knee joints would get inflamed and if I was out in any "weather" I was sure to be laid up, which to a travelling man is a calamity. In a score of Canadian towns local doctors treated me, some giving relief, others none. I read that Sarsaparilla was a rheumatic cure, and I asked a druggist for "a bottle of the best Sarsaparilla on the market." He gave me Scott's, remarking that it was an improvement on all others, and that he could honestly recommend it. I have taken four bottles, and am as free from pain as a man can hope to be. I was out in a rainstorm two days ago and never felt a twinge. As I said before, to Scott's Sarsaparilla I owe more than I can ever repay."

The best remedy for rheumatism, sciatica, and neuralgic pains—all arising from the presence of poison in the blood—is Scott's Sarsaparilla, a modern concentrated medicine, prompt in its curative effects. Doses from one half to one teaspoonful. At $1 per bottle of your druggist.

Sold by J. B. Tully, Peterborough.

The Court Smiled.

Some years ago, in a suit which turned on the state of mind of a lady who had been a member of a sisterhood, the late chief justice, then Mr. Coleridge, was cross-examining a witness, who gave evidence as to the plaintiff's behavior while an inmate of the sisters' home. Among other things it had been deposed that plaintiff had been guilty of a breach of discipline in eating a certain plate of strawberries. Mr. Coleridge: "Eating strawberries, really?" Witness: "Yes, sir; she was eating strawberries." Mr. Coleridge: "How shocking!" Witness: "It was forbidden, sir." Mr. Coleridge: "And did you, madam, really consider there was any harm in that?" Witness: "No, sir, not in itself, any more than there was in eating an apple, but you know, sir, the mischief that came from that." The court smiled, and Mr. Coleridge seemed to lose the thread of his ideas for the moment.—Household Words.

A Roland for His Oliver.

Lord Esher, who, when president of the Court of Appeal, used to keep up a running fire of "chaff" on learned counsel, sometimes got a Roland for his Oliver—as when a young barrister, in the course of argument, stated that no reasonable person could doubt one particular proposition.

"But I doubt it very much," said the Judge.

The youthful advocate, not one whit abashed, replied: "I said no reasonable person, my lord."

The master of the rolls could only gasp, "Proceed, sir; proceed!"—Argonaut.

WARNING THE EDITOR

How He of the Kill River Herald Received the Deputation.

I happened to be in the office of the Kill River Herald when a deputation of citizens waited on the editor and proprietor in regard to a certain matter. He was an urbane man, and as the three citizens entered the office unannounced he asked me to excuse him and rose up and said to them:

"Welcome, gentlemen—welcome. I have nothing here to drink, but we will go down later on. Gentlemen, I am pleased to see you."

"We are a committee," said the man with the double-barrelled shot gun.

"Exactly—exactly. It gives me pleasure to receive the committee."

"The people in this town have concluded that it is time for you to git!" said the man with the revolvers.

"I see—I see. They don't like the style of the Herald? Gentlemen of the committee, I thank you for this announcement."

"Nor your style, either!" said the third man, who had a knife in his boot leg.

"Ah—just so! Gentlemen, I assure you that you have my highest esteem. You have probably called to inform me that I must leave town inside of twenty-four hours?"

"We have!" they replied in chorus.

"Exactly—I see. I shall long remember this event with pleasure. Should I decide on staying, I am to be shot full of holes, I presume?"

"You are."

"I see. Gentlemen, I really wish I had a bottle to offer you. How long can you remain with me?"

"What about your going?" asked one.

"My going? Ah—yes. Gentlemen, will you please return to the public and give them my compliments and tell every mother's son of 'em to go to!"

"You won't go?"

"Not a rod! Let me ask if you are subscribers to the Herald? If not, I shall take the greatest pleasure in——"

But the deputation filed out, and when the door closed behind them, I queried of the editor:

"But what are you going to do about it?"

"Oh, I'll have to go out on the street and shoot Jim Larrison, who thinks he's the public, and that will settle things for another month. No hurry, though. Any time after supper'll do. Sit down and light up and tell me how you fellers in the east manage to get along without any excitement. I should think you'd dry up and blow away."—Detroit Free Press.

Although a very busy man, Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., has found time in which to write a great book of over a thousand pages entitled, The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser in plain English, or Medicine Simplified. Few books printed in the English language have reached so great a sale as has this popular work, over 680,000 copies having been sold at $1.50 each. The profits on this enormous sale having repaid its author for the great amount of labour and money expended on its production he has now decided to give away, absolutely free, 500,000 copies of this valuable book, the recipient only being required to mail to the World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N.Y., of which company he is president, 21 one-cent stamps, to cover cost of mailing only, and the book will be sent post-paid. It is a veritable medical library, complete in one volume. It contains 1008 large pages, and over 300 illustrations, some of them in colours. The Free Edition is precisely the same as that sold at $1.50 except only that the books are bound in strong manilla paper covers, instead of cloth. It is not often that our readers have an opportunity to obtain a valuable book on such generous terms, and we predict that few will miss availing themselves of the unusual and liberal offer to which we have called their attention.

South American Nervine.

The Great Health Restorer of the Century.

Sickness Cannot Cope With It.

Has Cured the Worst Cases on Record.

Cures at the Nerve Centres and Thus Cures Permanently.

A Wonderful Specific in All Cases of Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Sick Headache, Nervousness and General Debility.

Has No Equal as a Spring Medicine.

There is a great deal of uncertainty in the methods adopted to remove disease. Doctors are not free from this kind of thing themselves. The poor patient has to put up with a good deal of experimenting. The discoverer of South American Nervine takes too serious a view of life to play pranks of this kind. He does not think that these human bodies of ours should be fooled with. He has recognized that they are subject to disease, but, by scientific methods, he has learned that just as the watch is to be put in perfect repair only when the main-spring is kept in running order, so with the individual, he remains in perfect health only when the nerve centres are kept healthful and strong.

What disease is more distressing than indigestion or dyspepsia? Some simple remedy may be given to cause relief for the moment. Nervine is an indisputably successful remedy for the worst cases of indigestion, because it reaches the source of all stomach troubles—the nerve centres. Indigestion exists because the vital forces have become diseased and are weakened. Nervine builds up the nerve centres, from which come these forces, removes the causes of indigestion, and then builds up the health completely.

How many systems are run down through nervousness. A stimulant may give ease, but it will not cure nervous troubles. Nervine has cured more desperate cases of nervousness than any other medicine anywhere. And it does so for the same reason that it cures indigestion. The nerve centres are deranged, or there would be no victims of nervousness. Nervine rebuilds and strengthens the nerve tissues, and hence its marvellous powers in diseases of this kind.

In the spring of the year the strongest suffer from general debility. The blood, through neglect, has become impoverished, and the whole system gets out of order. We speak of it as a spring medicine. Nervine restores the exhausted vital forces that have led to this tired, don't-care, played-out, miserable condition. No one can take a bottle of Nervine at this season of the year without disease quickly giving way to abounding health.

The moral is plain, simple and readily understood. If you would not trifle with disease, then you will take South American Nervine, which will not trifle with you.

The counsel of older women is of inestimable value. A mistaken idea of modesty prevents many girls from learning the things that they ought to know before they assume the duties of matrimony and maternity. Women generally take these most important steps in their lives, without knowing in any degree what they mean, or what responsibilities and trials they bring. The highest and best thing that any woman can do is to bear and rear healthy, intelligent children. The accomplishment of this end depends almost entirely upon her health and particularly upon the health and strength of the organs distinctly feminine. The state of the children, both intellectual and physical depends on the mother. If she doesn't care enough for her own comfort and happiness to take the proper care of herself, she certainly ought to do it for the sake of her children. To a very large extent, the destiny and achievement of a man is decided in the months before his birth. During that time is determined whether or not he is to be of robust health and strong intellect. During that time, his mind and body are started on the path that they will follow through life. Circumstances may influence him, but he cannot get away from the effects of pre-natal influences. One of the principal uses of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the preparation of prospective mothers for the time of trial and danger that comes when a child is born. The "Prescription" is strengthening and invigorating and lessens pain and danger. It insures the perfect well-being and the perfect health of both mother and child. Every woman should know these things before she really needs to know them. There are many things in Dr. Pierce's "Common Sense Medical Adviser," that every woman ought to know. This celebrated work has reached a sale of 680,000 copies at $1.50 each. The expense of production having thus been covered, 500,000 copies are now being given away. A copy will be sent to any address on receipt of thirty-one (31) one-cent stamps to cover customs and postage only.

AUTHOR OF "DREAMS"

A VERY PRACTICAL WOMAN IN THE WORLD'S EVERYDAY AFFAIRS.

The Personality of Olive Kronwright-Schreiner, Who Wages War on Cecil Rhodes—Reasons for the South African "Petticoat" Campaign.

The credit for exposing the misdeeds of Cecil Rhodes in South Africa and the rottenness of the Kaffir mining excitement in London belongs to Olive Schreiner, a woman of genius, who was born at a little missionary station in Cape Colony. She made a great hit over ten years ago with a novel entitled "The Story of an African Farm," published under the psudonym of Ralph Iron. This she followed with a book of allegories called "Dreams." In the story of her life she says she was a big girl before she had ever seen a town or any of the ordinary evidences of civilization. But she knew South Africa thoroughly, and when she came to woman's estate she saw many instances of the cruelty to the blacks as well as of injustice to the Boers. Her father was a Dutch missionary and her mother an Englishwoman; she seems to have all the imagination of a recluse and a mystic, but she appears also to have some good common sense, for when London went wild over the rapid advance in the Kaffir mining shares she sounded the warning that brought the gambling to a sudden stop and nearly created a panic. She gave facts and figures proving that nine-tenths of the South African mines listed on the London Mining Stock Exchange were undeveloped, and that many did not even consist of a hole in the ground. Her onslaught was so sudden and so overwhelming that Barney Barnato and the other agents of Rhodes were nearly swept off their feet.

Recently she has been carrying on a campaign in Cape Colony which has for its object the enlistment of the women in her fight against Rhodes. She married a member of Parliament named Kronwright, but as he regards her as the more prominent member of the family, he has considerately added her name to his, and now they are known as Mr. and Mrs. Kronwright-Schreiner. She is now engaged in making speeches, writing articles and carrying on what South Africa has named a "petticoat" campaign, with the help of her husband and women in South Africa, to keep Cecil Rhodes out of the governing business. There are a few newspapers to assist her. The editors call Rhodes a villain and a tyrant. Rhodes bothered them by not paying any attention to them. They did not own many shares of mining stock.

Mrs. Schreiner believes that Rhodes is largely responsible for the present state of affairs. He has made money the god of South Africa. He is enslaving the poor and making the rich more rich. She deplores that in this new country, where socialism should be feasible, the conditions in the old nations are resulting. To her the idea that one man should simply own such an enormous amount of the virgin soil and of mineral wealth, which belong as much to one man as to another, is atrocious and not to be endured.

Templeton's Pink Powders Are a sure and speedy cure for Rheumatism, Sciatica, Neuralgia, and La Grippe.

"If I don't know what rheumatism is, no man does."

"I can now attend to duty; in fact I am a new man."

Fashions for Men.

A man writing to Vogue wants to know how he had best have a frock coat made and of what material, as he is only to have one such coat. Many are in the position of this inquirer, so I quote the reply: "If you are to have only one frock coat it is to be assumed that you intend to make it last for a long time—say two, three or four years. You should get a coat which is not extreme in any respect. The men who buy a great many clothes go from one extreme to the other. Not so very long ago they were making frock coats reaching many inches below the knees. There are men now who have gone to the other extreme and n them far above the knee. You will always be right, however, and look well dressed if your frock coat reaches just to the knee. There is substantially only one material; that is black vicuna."

From New York comes the information that the high-banded turned-down collars are the favorites for informal dress, and vary in height from 2 3-4 inches to 2 inches. For full dress the best shape is the new straight standing collar, which laps at the buttonhole, the spacing gradually increasing until the top of the collar is reached, when the ends are slightly poked. The collars that stand straight and break slightly under the chin are called poke collars; however, the bent point collar is still seen, especially out here, as it has numerous advocates.

Green is the color in London, all business suitings having a mixture of green in them, and as for ties the rage is for black ties with green patterns on them, and the bright green Tecks are in great vogue, and even cigar cases are made of green leather, although cigar cases of polished silver are considered in good form in New York.

New Sandwiches.

Chestnuts and chicken livers made into a paste and seasoned to taste with salt, lemon juice and pepper, is a new mixture used in Boston for spreading sandwiches of white bread. The proportions are one pint of boiled chestnuts to two good-sized livers. Remove the brown covering of the nuts by pouring boiling water over them after they are boiled.

He Chose His Job.

There was an old colored man pushing a whitewash cart along Brush street the other afternoon when a woman opened a chamber window and called to him:

"Hey, you! Do you want a job?"

"What sort of job, mum?" he asked as he stood at the gate.

"Carrying ashes out of the cellar."

"Werry sorry, mum, but I couldn't do dat job. I used to be in de ashes business, but I'ze dun quit it. If it was whitewashin' or beatin' a ca'pet I'd be right on hand, but I don't tech ashes no mo'."

"What's the matter with ashes?"

"Heaps de mattah, mum. Last job I worked on I found three knives, two fo'ks, seben spoons, two towles, an' a dollar in cash in de ash heap, an' what yo' dun s'pose de jedge gimme fur it?"

"I don't understand," she said.

"Why, a policeman took me to co't, an' de jedge gimme three months in jail."

"He must have thought you stole the things"

"Sartainly, mum, sartinly, an' dat's why I say dat, owin' to suspishus occupashun of de suspected suspishun, I'se heaharter gwine to hold myself right down to whitewashin' an' ca'pets."

Filling Man's Place.

"Now I maintain," said Miss Strong, "that there is no place filled by a man which a woman cannot fill Is that comprehensive enough?"

"It is very comprehensive," replied Mr. Northside, "but I am prepared to go still further in advocacy of woman's ability."

"Are you?"

"Yes, I am. On the seat of a street car, for instance, she can fill two men's places."

The Unparalleled Success of Dodd's Kidney Pills Excites the Envy and Greed of Unscrupulous Imitators.

A kidney treatment in pill form was unknown until Dodd's Kidney Pills came into use.

If Dodd's Kidney Pills were not indeed "the best in the world," no one would imitate them.

Who is defrauded and who pockets the proceeds when a counterfeit coin is passed upon you?

Never let any one persuade you to buy a substitute or imitation of the real article you need.

The genuine are put up in round, flat wooden boxes, white lettering on blue label with red band.

You can get the genuine Dodd's Kidney Pills from any druggist or dealer in Canada at 50c a box, or by mail from the Dodd's Medicine Co., Toronto, Ont.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

What, Jim jist an ornery cur?
Say, stranger, that don't go,
For I ain't allowin' any man
To talk o' that dog so.
He ain't good lookin', I'll admit,
Has no breedin', I'll agree,
But that's sense to burn in that yaller head
An' that's what goes with me.

Lame? Of course he's lame;
But I want to say right here
That that ar little limpin' paw
Is to me almighty dear.
I ain't got very much laid by,
But, stranger, don't forget
That Jim stands in to my last red cent—
That's what I said, you bet.

Why shouldn't he, I'd like to know;
Fer to him my life is due,
An' that ar little little limpin' paw
Is th' badge of a hero true.
'Twas a tight squeeze we had that day,
And I 'lowed my jig was up,
An' I reckon it would have been that way
But fer that ar yeller pup.

Ye talk o' sense an' narve, man!
Well, I only want to say,
That that yaller dog had a corner
On them articles that day.
He don't look it? well, p'raps he don't;
But I have sometimes found
A mighty rich gold nugget
On most unpromisin' ground.

Oh, that's all right, I'll pardon ye,
I knowed you would like him,
For there ain't no dog a livin'
Ez is th' ekal o' that Jim.
He's small, an' lame an' yaller,
But if he ever gits his due
He'll have a place in heaven
An' a seat in th' very front pew.

A BARRIE TRAGEDY.

Company. He was in Barrie twice at the early part of the month, and did business with Barristers Lennox and Pepler. He did not turn up here again until last night, when he arrived from Toronto on the afternoon train. When arrested he had $36 in cash and a Massey-Harris cheque. Besides those in the revolver, he had three extra cartridges.

At the conclusion of the inquest to-morrow the prisoner will appear in the Police Court. The house in which the murder occurred was where Brennan met the woman he made his wife 20 years ago. Public sentiment here is very hot, and all kinds of threats are being made as to what may occur to the prisoner, but it is not likely that anything unlawful will be done.

Drs. H. Wallwin, R. Raikes and W. A. Ross conducted the post mortem examination to-night at the home of the deceased, with a result that the bullet was extracted. It had entered the chest an inch below and 3 1-4 inches to the right of the left nipple, passing through the cartilege, entering the right side of the heart, which it pierced and was found free in the sack of the heart. The rest of the organs of the body were all found to be in a healthy condition. There were no marks whatever on the body to suggest that there had been a scuffle before the shot was fired.

Notes of the Tragedy.

The weapon used by Brennan was a 44 calibre, five chambers, British bulldog revolver. One chamber was empty, another contained a shell that had been discharged, and three chambers were loaded. The revolver was purchased in Toronto.

Brennan has a brother, Jas., residing in Phelpston and owner of a planing mill; another brother, John, is an employe of the G.T.R. at Allandale.

The town is in mourning owing to the sad event.

St. George's Society concert, which was to have taken place to-night, is postponed, as are other social events.

Provincial Detective Greer is in town in connection with the case.

The coroner's jury is composed of the most prominent business men of Barrie.

The funeral arrangements have not yet been decided upon, but it is altogether likely that the remains will be interred in Toronto, where the remains of other members of the family have been buried.

When Brennan was taken to jail it was noticed that the knuckles of his right hand were badly scraped.

A special issued by The Examiner, containing an account of the affair, was eagerly sought for by the townspeople during the evening.

Mr Strathy's Career.

The deceased was a son of the late John Strathy, who practised as a barrister in this city. He was born in Toronto about 45 years ago, and spent his earlier years in this city. For 25 years he had been connected with the Barrie branch of the Bank of Toronto, of which he held the managership until three months ago. H. S. Strathy, manager of the Toronto office of the Traders' Bank, and Senator Gowan of Barrie are his uncles. His brothers are H. S. Strathy, Q.C., of Barrie and R. J. and Arthur G., who, with a sister, reside at 100 Beverley-street. Deceased was a cousin of Col. Strathy of Montreal and Dr. F. M. Strathy of Toronto, and brother-in-law of Mrs. Henry O'Brien.

Mr. Strathy married Miss Grasett, sister of Col. Grasett, chief of police, Toronto.

Mr. Strathy was a member of the Select Knights, A.O.U.W., and Masonic bodies. He was one of the candidates for the position of first deputy reeve in the bye-elections, which take place on Monday next.

Since his retirement from the bank, Mr. Strathy had evinced a disposition to re-enter business, and spent last week and Monday in this city with a view to settling here. He was negotiating with several insurance companies.

Mr. Strathy went back to Barrie Monday night.

The officials at the Bank of Toronto and many citizens received the news with many expressions of regret.

Mr. Arthur W. Grasett of Wyld, Grasett & Darling, Dr. Grasett and Lieut.-Col. Grasett, Messrs. Robert and Arthur Strathy, brothers, left by the noon train for Barrie. Government Detective Greer was also hurriedly detailed on the case, and left by the same train.

MURDER IN THE FIRST DEGREE.

It Looks as if These Young Train Wreckers Would Sit Down to Die.

Utica, N.Y., Feb. 18.—John Watson Hildreth, Fred Bristol, Herbert Plato and Theodore Hibbard, who have been confined in the jail in this city for some months on the charge of wrecking the fast mail on the N.Y.C.R.R., near Rome, on Nov. 19 last, are now under indictment for murder in the first degree. The grand jury, now in session here, has been considering their cases more than a week, and to-day the indictments were found by the unanimous vote of the jury. The wreck caused the death of Engineer Nathan Hager of Albany and Robert Bond of Syracuse. The young men will be tried in Rome in March. Bristol is ill with consumption in the jail in this city. He has been removed to a bedroom in the house part and his mother is with him. It is believed he will live but a short time.

THE LATEST FROM WINNIPEG.

Premier Greenway Proposes to Aid the Railway Into the Dauphin District.

Winnipeg, Feb. 18.—In the Legislature to-day, Premier Greenway gave notice of a resolution proposing aid to the railway into the Dauphin District. The Government will ask authority to guarantee the bonds of the company to the amount of $8000 per mile, bearing four per cent. interest, to mature in thirty years.

The Grand Encampment of the I.O.O.F. met to-day, and the Grand Lodge will be in session to-morrow and Thursday.

The complete success of the immigration convention in this city next week is now assured. The attendance of delegates will certainly be large, and the list of speakers includes Hon. Mr. Daly and Mr. Davin, M.P.

Weak Young Men or Women

Are seen everywhere. Heredity or overstudy renders them unfitted to cope with the responsibilities of life, susceptible to consumption or decline. Medicine has failed and must fail, for they need food. Take cod liver oil? No! Their poor stomachs rebel. Take emulsions? No! They are equally distasteful. Nothing will effect a cure but Maltine with Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites. The oil, rendered palatable and easy of digestion, is quickly assimilated, and the maltine, equal in nutrition to the oil, and even surpassing it in energetic action upon the digestive processes, unite in producing increased weight, improved colour, and that elasticity and buoyancy which herald returning health. Maltine with cod liver oil has a remedial value ten times greater than emulsions. Try it.

WILL STAND BY THE OLD GUARD

What General Superintendent McGuigan of the Grand Trunk Says.

Montreal, Feb. 18.—Mr. F. H. McGuigan, the newly appointed general superintendent of the Grand Trunk Railway, who has been in Canada for some time, and who has made an inspection of the road and its staff and equipment, in company with General Manager Hays, seems to be a very genial gentleman. He was interviewed in this city to-day, and the following statement will be of interest not only to thousands of Grand Trunk employes, but to the public. "Well," said the new superintendent, "I should like to say that we do not intend to import a whole lot of Yankees to help us run this road or anything of that sort. I intend to get along as far as I possibly can with the very efficient and able Canadian servants the road already has. In this connection, I may say that in making my tour of inspection over the lines of the Grand Trunk system, I have been most agreeably surprised. I say 'surprised,' because, you know as well as I do, the kind of things which have been said about the old Grand Trunk and its servants. I had heard all sorts of stories about it, but I tell you they were not true. The Grand Trunk has a most excellent staff of men, and I have been highly pleased with what I have seen on all sides. Some of the employes are getting gray, I admit, but that is no reason why they should be referred to as 'fossils.' Those men were working for the Grand Trunk perhaps at the time I started in to learn railroading, and what are we going to do about it. It is said that corporations have no souls. That is untrue, and so long as these old hands can do the work assigned to them we cannot turn them out just because they may not be so lively as younger men. No; we may get old ourselves some day, and when we do we shan't like it if we are referred to as 'fossils.'"

THE PROVINCIAL ESTIMATES.

The Government's Requirement is Nearly the Same as That of Last Year.

Toronto, Feb. 19.

The Legislature held another short and formal session yesterday afternoon, probably the last of the few-minute sessions for some time. The estimates were brought down and will be discussed to-day. Nothing else of any great importance transpired.

The estimated expenditure for the year 1896, according to the statement submitted, is $3,483,385.90, an increase of over $81,000 over the estimates of last year. The statement is made up as follows: Current expenditure, $3,147,308.78; on capital account, $312,534; other purposes, $23,523.12.

The following is a comparative statement showing the estimated amounts required under the different heads in 1895 and 1896:

	1896.	1895.
Civil government	$250,470 00	$240,102 50
Legislation	128,900 00	128,000 00

KRUGER MAY VISIT ENGLAND YET.

Joseph Chamberlain's Speech Had a Good Effect in the Transvaal.

Johannesburg, Feb. 18.—The Standard of this city publishes a despatch from Pretoria saying that the speech delivered on Thursday last in the House of Commons by Joseph Chamberlain, the British Colonial Secretary, had a good effect, and that it is now most probable that the Volksraad, in special session, will give its sanction to the proposed visit of President Kruger to England in response to Mr. Chamberlain's invitation that he visit the country to discuss the matters at issue between Great Britain and the Transvaal.

WHAT KILLED ELLEN HEARST?

A Young Mulatto Girl Dead at Windsor Under Peculiar Circumstances.

Windsor, Ont., Feb. 18.—The death of a handsome young mulatto girl has occurred under strange circumstances in this city. About a year ago two sisters named Ellen and Mary Hearst left home at Harrow, Ont., to work in Detroit. A few weeks ago Ellen became ill while in Detroit, and was taken to J. Hicks' house on Dougall avenue. Hicks is the man who killed Bill Thomas in Detroit 15 years ago, and for which he served 12 years in Jackson Prison. Hicks says he went for a load of wood, leaving the girl alone in the house, and when he returned found her dead. It is claimed she died from the effects of a drug.

NO HOPE FOR MRS. NELLIE POPE.

She Must Spend Her Life in Prison for Murdering Her Husband.

Lansing, Mich., Feb. 18.—In a unanimous opinion, the Supreme Court to-day affirmed the conviction of Mrs. Nellie W. Pope, who is serving a life sentence in the Detroit House of Correction for murdering her husband, Dr. H. E. Pope of Detroit, and for whose complicity in the crime the young man Brusseau of Tilbury, Ont., is serving a 25-years' sentence in State Prison.

OVERCOATS!

THE POWER OF MONEY

In the hands of GOUGH BROS. becomes a great economical power for the people. We take our cash to the busy Clothing Manufacturers and with it buy at prices unknown to any other Peterborough clothiers. We thus secure the finest stock of the firms that will make great sacrifices for ready money. Thus we are enabled to sell Clothing to our patrons at prices away below the cost of manufacture.

It would be a strange thing if we could not sell cheaper! Ordering goods as we do in tremendous quantities, and taking advantage of every manufacturer—not one—dull season, enables us to undersell limited branch managers who are tied down to one house for their clothing.

ULSTERS ARE DOWN.

$14 00 Ulsters, Scotch goods, reduced to $8 99.

$12.00 English Cheviots reduced to $6.99.

Canadian Freizes $7.00, reduced to $4.99.

SECOND CROP OF BARGAINS.

We start the Bargain Ball rolling for February in dead earnest. As there is a good deal of winter yet before us, it is unnecessary to point out the wisdom of buying now.

Our Stock-Taking is over—now for a month of lucky chances and snaps in mid-winter goods. An aftermath of Bargains for shrewd buyers—lines which we laid out during stock taking such as Serges, Cheviots, Heavy Tweeds and other Remnants, to be sold even at HALF REGULAR PRICES.

We don't want to carry winter lines past their regular selling season, so you may figure on getting pretty nearly your own way in prices.

You need the goods—we need the room they occupy—so there is mutual benefit all round in the selling of them.

Our New Spring Stock is wheeling into line, and we are glad to tell our lady friends that part of our programme for Spring is a NEW MILLINERY DEPARTMENT, of which we will tell you more in good time.

We don't "rest-up" during the winter months and take things easy until Spring. Business is full of worn-out, tired-out men who live almost wholly in the past and struggle for the success that never comes. And because of that they find fault with the times. While others are resting we're simply HUSTLING.

NEWS NOTES.

The Ancient Order of United Workmen commenced their annual meeting this morning in the upper storey of the Confederation Life Building, Toronto. Grand Master D. F. McWatt, of Barrie, presiding. The principal part of the business was conferring degrees upon new members, of whome there were 280 out of the 430 attending the convention.

The Ophir Mining Company of Chicago, who own a gold mine in Algoma that was stocked for a very large amount, is to be wound up. The order was issued at Osgoode Hall to-day. The directors of the company live in Chicago, but there are shareholders residing in Toronto.

Alfred Gynn, aged 14 years, an orphan boy who was taken from the orphan's home, Stratford, about three years ago by Ambrose French, a farmer living near Piper's Corners, was struck on the side of the head by one of his schoolmates by the name of Garner, a lad about the same age, just as they were leaving school. He died next day,

Quebec, Feb. 19.—Father Lacombe has arrived here from Ottawa on such urgent business with Archbishop Begin that he could not wait for his return from La Bonne Ste. Anne, but went on there at once to see him.

Ottawa, Feb. 19.—Messrs. Davies, Mulock and Martin, of the Opposition, have been invited to attend the big Massey hall meeting, Toronto, to protest against the coercion of Manitoba by the Remedial bill. The Hon. Joseph Martin has accepted and will be present. The meeting takes place on Saturday evening.

Toronto, January 19.—James Healy this morning was committed for trial at the assizes on the charge of murdering John Corrigan, whom he killed with an axe in the course of a quarrel over the removal of some furniture a couple of weeks ago. The evidence was the same as that brought out before the inquest.

London, Feb. 19.—Lord Salisbury presided over a Cabinet meeting which was called to order at the Foreign Office at noon.

New York, Feb. 19.—Jack Talbout, alias Taylor, a notorious criminal, who in 1886 robbed a jeweller's safe in Montreal of $10,000, while his pals held the proprietor, was arrested to-day on suspicion of being connected with the robbery on Sunday of five safes in the Dennet Restaurant, Park Row.

ROYAL TEMPLARS CONVENE.

Satisfactory Reports Presented—Total Membership 14,000.

Guelph, Feb. 19.—The annual convention of the Royal Templars of Temperance for the province of Ontario is in session. Upwards of 200 delegates are in attendance, with a full quota of officers. The reports of the work for the year have been satisfactory, particularly in the benefit department. The membership under the Ontario jurisdiction numbers 11,000, and counting members in the eastern counties of Ontario, which are under Quebec jurisdiction, about 14,000. The receipts for the year exceeded $8000, and the treasurer reported a comfortable balance in the bank to the credit of the general fund.

GET READY.

General Elections Expected Within a Month.

Quebec, Feb. 19.—A special to the Montreal Witness says that prominent Liberals have received notification from the party friends in Ottawa this morning to get ready for dissolution and the general elections within a month.

OUT OF PARLIAMENT.

London, Feb. 19.—Thomas Sexton, M.P. for North Kerry, whom the Anti-Parnellites vainly sought to accept the leadership of that party, has retired from Parliament. He, yesterday, sent to the meeting that elected Mr. Dillon to the leadership an application for the stewardship of the Chiltern Hundreds, which is tantamount to resigning his seat.

British Naval Programme.

London, Feb. 19.—The Pall Mall Gazette says Goschen, First Lord of the Admiralty, will announce the naval programme of the Government on Monday. Besides the sum of £9,500,000 which will be asked for the construction of four battleships, four first-class cruisers, four third-class cruisers and sixty torpedo destroyers, the Government will ask for a large vote for guns and men.

A Drop in the Price of Wheat.

WINNIPEG, MAN., Feb. 19.—The price of wheat in the country was reduced two cents yesterday. The millers had formerly advanced No. 1, hard, to 50 cents with a view to encourage the farmers to sell, as the supply was not meeting the demand. The merchants, however, did not purchase, as they could not afford to pay more than 47 cents. The decline at Chicago soon brought the millers to realize that they were paying a greater price than they could afford and consequently on Saturday last a general reduction of two cents was decided upon and it went into effect yesterday.

A FORMER PETERBOROUGH PASTOR'S DEATH.

Rev. D. J. Macdonnell Passes Away at Fergus.

FERGUS, Feb. 19th.—The Rev. D. J. Macdonnell, pastor of St. Andrews' Presbyterian church, Toronto, passed peacefully away here this morning at half past ten.

Mr. Macdonnel was surrounded by most of his children and friends, who were summonded during the last day or two to his bedside. On Saturday morning last he had a bad attack of hemorrhage, from which he never rallied, but gradually grew weaker. The remains will be taken to Toronto for interment.

The Rev. Daniel J. Macdonnel, B. A., B. D., M. A., was the son of the late Rev. Geo. Macdonnell. He was born in Bathurst, New Brunswick. He had a brilliant college course at Queen's College, Kingston, and at Glasgow and Edinburg Universities. He was ordained in June 14th, 1866, by the Presbytery of Edinburgh. On July 2nd, 1868, he married Miss Elizabeth Logie Smellie, daughter of the Rev. G. Smellie, of Fergus. He was inducted into the charge of St. Andrew's on Dec 22nd, 1870. His previous pastorate was St. Andrew's church, Peterborough, Ont., from 1866 to 1870. During the quarter of a century of his ministerial life in Toronto, Mr. Macdonnell wielded a wide influence in consequence of his brilliant scholarship, eloquence and deep piety.

THE BARRIE MURDER.

The Murderer of A. J. Strathy to Explain the Killing.

Barrie, Feb. 19th.—The coroner's jury returned a verdict of wilful murder against Michael J. Brennan for the murder of Mr. J. A. Strathy yesterday. A large number of witnesses were examined at the inquest this morning, but nothing new was brought out. The prisoner when asked if he had anything to say to the jury, declined to make any statement. He will be examined before Magistrate Ross to-morrow morning when it is thought he will give his motive for committing the terrible deed. Mr. Strathy's body will be taken to Toronto to-morrow for interment.

THE AUDITOR-GENERAL.

Outspoken Disapprobation of the Tone of his Report.

Ottawa, February 19th.—There is very outspoken disapprobation amongst government supporters of the tone of the Auditor-General's report, the second part of which was laid on the table of the House of Commons yesterday, in which he refers to the charges incidentally made against him, and it is probable that some action in the matter will be taken at the meeting of the Public Accounts Committee to-morrow.

CHAMBERLAIN'S SPEECH.

Johannesburg, Feb. 19.—The Standard of this city publishes a despatch from Pretoria, saying that the speech delivered on Thursday, in the House of Commons, by Jos. Chamberlain, the British Colonial Secretary, had a good effect, and that it now is most probable that the Volksraad, in a special session, will give its sanction to the proposed visit of President Kruger to England, in response to Mr. Chamberlain's invitation that he visit that country to discuss the matters at issue between Great Britain and the Transvaal.

MR. LAURIER TO RUN.

Will Oppose Mr. McDowell in Saskatewan.

Ottawa, Feb. 18.—At Prince Albert today the Liberals are to hold a convention to choose a candidate to oppose Mr. McDowell, member for Saskatchewan, in the House of Commons at the general election. Mr. Laurier will probably be chosen and if so, reliable reports state that this seat will be redeemed by the Liberal leader. The report is given for what its worth.

PROHIBITION TEST CASE.

Judgment by the Imperial Privy Council Yesterday.

Toronto, Feb. 19th.—Dr. Maclaren, counsel for the Ontario Government in the prohibition test case, has received word from England that the Privy Counsel assembled for a special term on Feb. 11th. In consequence of this intelligence judgment upon the prohibition test case is expected immediately.

STATE OF STARVATION.

Children's Hands Tied to Prevent Them From Eating Their own Flesh.

Halifax, N. S., February 19.—Word comes from Fortune Bay, Nfld., that a family of eight were recently found on the verge of starvation, not having eaten anything for several days. The children's hands had been tied behind their backs to prevent them from eating their own flesh.

THE FAST ATLANTIC SERVICE.

British Government Favours a Subsidy.

London, Feb. 19.—The Chronicle understands that the Post Office Departmental Committee, appointed by the late Government to consider the question of the Pacific mail service, has reported in favour of subsidising the Atlantic portion of the scheme to the extent of £75,000, providing twenty knots steamers are employed.

A $40,000,000 PALACE.

GIANT STRUCTURE TO SPAN THE MIGHTY NIAGARA CATARACT.

Aladdin Quite Outdone in This Practicable and Assured Project—The Latest Project to Utilize the Falls' 10,000,000 Horse Power.

Niagara harnessed would, it is claimed, have the energy to furnish the motive power for all the machinery in the world. And Mr. Leonard Henkle of Rochester, N. Y., has a project to utilize the 10,000,000 horse power that the mighty falls generates every second, says the New York World, and that too, without marring their natural beauty, but even enhancing it by a wonderful structure that is to be a work of art in itself.

His scheme also has the advantage of diverting no water from the river and it is regarded as so thoroughly feasible that New York and Toronto capitalists have guaranteed the interest on $40,000,000 and the work will begin in July next. Mr. Henkle proposes nothing less than the erection of a stupendous structure, to be called "The Great Dynamic Palace and International Hall," which will bridge the great cataract.

This palace, located about fifty feet above the brink of Horseshoe Falls, will be at least half a mile long, and in width 1,600 feet; the height will be 606 feet, the centre, however, rising to about 1000 feet above the river. The lower part of the building will average forty-six stories, and in the centre something more than fifty stories. The structure will be supported and anchored by two massive stone towers, fixed with heavy steel girders, each placed 90 feet from the bank. These towers will be each 48 feet in thickness, 1,600 feet wide, 420 feet high and will weigh nearly 600,000 tons apiece.

The materials of construction provided in the specifications are stone, granite, Mexican onyx, black and white marble, aluminum, copper, steel, iron and glass.

The structure will be divided into three parts, the east and west wings and the main building. The wings will each be 902 feet in length and the central portion 836 feet long.

The exterior will consist of block stone, fretted and ornamented. The building will be supported by forty huge columns, which are to be presented by the nations of the world. Promises have already been obtained from some of them that the columns will be furnished. They will be richly sculptured and the motto of the nation presenting each will be inscribed at its base. They will also have the name of the nation set in gold, silver or aluminium letters at the top. Eight hundred smaller columns, composed of Mexican onyx and aluminum will also be used.

At the American end of the building, above the main entrance, will be inscribed: "United States of America," and at the Canadian entrance, "Ontario, Dominion of Canada." Above the central entrance will be the word "Unitarious." Inside the building steel girders will be used for the purpose of support; iron columns will also be placed between the floors. Forty-seven million, five hundred and twenty thousand feet of fire-proof flooring will be required, which, it is estimated, will cost at least $475,200. The structure will have 11,932 windows and a correspondingly large number of doors.

The first ten stories will be used for dynamos and other apparatus for generating electricity.

At the extreme lower front of the building proper there will be 552 twin turbine wheels, capable of developing about 3,300,000 horse power a minute, which will run over 7,000 dynamos.

Immediately below the first story an immense arcade will furnish a passage from the United States to Canada for the Grand Trunk, West Shore and other railways. This will be lighted with thousands of arch and incandescent lights.

Above the tenth story and up to the forty-fifth, the building will be used for commercial purposes, among the most important that of grinding the western wheat which comes down from the lakes.

The interior of the building will be chiefly of carved stone and Mexican onyx.

The forty-sixth story will be an enormous hall, extending the length of the building, with a seating capacity of 70,000, who may be addressed by one speaker by the use of electrical intonators. This hall will be the most beautiful in the world, and will be devoted exclusively to international religious and social meetings and conventions. It is expected that each of the nations of the world will furnish a design for a window, and it is estimated that the furnishings of the hall will cost $5,000,000.

With regard to the practicability of his scheme, Mr. Henkle says:

"After disposing of 200,000 horse power at the falls at $10 per horse power per annum, 5 per cent. is assured on $40,000,000 which leaves 31,900,000 horse power," which, at $1 per horse power, would insure an income of such vast proportions as to pay an annual and perpetual interest on a sum of money sufficient to build railways from California to Maine, and from British Columbia to the St Lawrence, each touching at Niagara Falls, also to build a line of steamships from the outlet of the St. Lawrence to every port of the world."

Daily Examiner.

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 20, 1896.

THE WAY THE STEALING IS DETECTED.

The EXAMINER has frequently pointed out the necessity of a careful audit of municipal accounts. But if so much care is needed where financial affairs are managed by honest men, how much greater is the necessity where millions of money are subject to the vicious caprices of men who have shown they do not possess the first element of honesty in the administration of public affairs? The Dominion Auditor-General is a terror to evil doers. His report draws the veil and discloses crooked transactions in which thousands have been wasted. This lynx-eyed official in looking over the expenditure on the Curillon Canal, noticed in a report that one Charlebois appeared as the recipient of pay-money, and he knew the man had not been in the neighbourhood for years. An investigation proved that $30,000 had been stolen from the government by the superintendent's putting fictitious names on the list. This is only a sample of the manner in which public money has been paid out to persons who are not entitled to it, some of whom have been dead for years. The Auditor General can discover these wrongs but it is rather beyond his powers to discover who profits by the stealing. And it is a Government that permits these things that is asking the people to again put it in charge of the public treasury. Is it any wonder that we have increasing expenditure and increasing deficits?

LOOKING TO OTTAWA.

There are signs that strong men from the local legislatures will find their way into the Federal Parliament at the coming general elections, or shortly thereafter. From Nova Scotia comes word that Mr. Longley, Attorney-General, has accepted a nomination from Annapolis to the Dominion House, and it has been hoped, ever since the Ottawa Convention of 1893, that Mr. Fielding, the Premier of the same province, would help to strengthen the Liberal rank, in the Federal House. From New Brunswick comes the rumour that Premier Blair may enter the federal arena, and from Quebec that Mr. Joly, although not now in political life, will join Mr. Laurier's forces. In our own province the name of Sir Oliver Mowat has been given to the world by the Toronto Star as that of a new recruit for the Ottawa Liberals. While this is improbable, there would be nothing strange if Hon. George W. Ross, for instance, were to find his way back to the House where he was once so prominent a figure. However, whether all of these surmises come true or not, it is true that the eyes of leading Provincial Liberals are turning to Ottawa as a field where honours are to be won. No longer will it be said that the Liberals keep their strong men for parish politics. In parliamentary experience and intellectual ability the men who will be behind Mr. Laurier after the next elections will tower far above any possible body of men who may be elected to support Sir Charles Tupper, and out of this Liberal phalanx can be formed one of the strongest Administrations the Confederation has known. — St. Thomas Journal.

WHAT IS WRONG?

Asks the Toronto Star, and by suggestion of answer says:—The annual report of the Department of the Interior of the Federal government has appeared, and it is a very discomforting document.

The entries of homesteads were 2,114, as compared with 2,983 for the previous year —a decrease of 569.

The arrivals of immigrants at the ports of Quebec, Halifax and Montreal during the first ten months of 1895 were 23,393, as compared with 25,683 for the corresponding period of the previous year—a decrease of 2,290.

During the same period 17,231 immigrants declared their intention of becoming residents of Canada, as compared with 18,932 during the same period of 1894—a decrease of 1,682. The persons who signified their intention of settling in Manitoba and the Northwest number 4,901—which, as compared with the previous year, shows a decrease of 1,749.

The revenue from timber, mineral and grazing lands was $73,620. The revenue for the corresponding ten months of the previous year was $90,584—a decrease of $16,964.

There was a decrease, according to the report, of $46,000 in the sale of Dominion lands during the year.

It might be incidentally mentioned in this connection that there is a general deficit on the books of the Government for the past year amounting to considerably over four millions of dollars; that is to say, we have spent that amount more than we have been able to tax ourselves for. What do you think of this statement as far as the Government has gone?

We are getting fewer people to settle amongst us than in previous years.

We are selling less Dominion lands.

With the best book-keeping that we can hire we are over four million dollars short of meeting expenses.

We have a national debt that would knock an ordinary accountant cold, yet we are piling it up by millions.

We have brought from England the great bluffer, who has been drawing an enormous salary, and who simply begs to say in his report that he is a failure, that his department is distinctly a sink-hole.

A bill introduced into the Local Legislature to amend the Municipal Act, provides that the statement of municipal accounts now directed to be made and published annually, on the 15th of December, by the Council, shall be duly audited, and in other ways made of more practical use in acquainting the electors with the condition of municipal finances before nomination day.

HERE is a pretty state of affairs, says the Ottawa Free Press. The Board of Visitors of the Royal Military College report that Major-General Cameron, Sir Charles Tupper's son-in-law, of "blawsted fence" fame, is unfit for his position as commandant of the college, and should be removed at the earliest moment. "Flat burglary as ever was committed," as Dogberry says, to say nothing of treason and effrontery. This is a direct blow at the Tupper dignity. No wonder Col. Powell's usefulness was at an end after signing a document of such a character.

THE Hamilton Herald says,—"Canadians go into fits when there is any exposure of extravagance or boodling in connection with public works in this country, but our lapses from the straight and narrow way are quite modest compared with the queer doings in the neighbouring republic. The New York State buildings at Albany were to cost $5,000,000 at the commencement but the expenditures on them already amount to $21,000,000, and the commissioners are demanding $1,725,000 more to complete the job. The work has been in progress for twenty years, and it looks now as if the politicians will keep at it for twenty years to come." If the Herald means to argue that Canadian corruption is justified by greater corruption in the United States it might as fairly argue that a man is justified in beating his wife because another man happens to kill his hymeneal harness mate.

Centuries ago, people used to fear what they called the pestilence. Black Death was the most terrible thing in the world to them. They feared it as people now fear the Cholera and Yellow Fever. And yet there is a thing that causes more misery and more deaths than either of these. It is so common that nine-tenths of all the sickness in the world is traceable to it. It is merely that simple, common thing, constipation. It makes people listless, causes dizziness, headaches, loss of appetite, loss of sleep, foul breath, and distress after eating. The little help that is needed is furnished by Dr. Pearce's Pleasant Pellets. One pill is a gentle laxative, and two a mild cathartic. Once used they are always in favour. If you are careless enough to let an unscrupulous druggist sell you something on which he makes more money, it is your own fault if you do not get well. Be sure and get Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.

Send 21 cents in one cent stamps to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y., and receive Dr. Pierce's 1008 page "Common Sense Medical Adviser," profusely illustrated.

Homemade Humidity.

To the large number of stories of the "meanest man" which are frequently related, should be added that of a certain Frenchman, famous for his habit of grumbling at everything and on every occasion. He was attacked by inflammatory rheumatism, and was very carefully nursed by his wife, who was very devoted to him, in spite of his fault-finding disposition. His suffering caused her to burst into tears sometimes as she sat by his bedside. One day a friend of this invalid came in and asked how he was getting on.

"Badly, badly," he exclaimed, "and it's all my wife's fault."

"Is it possible?" asked his friend in surprise.

"Yes; the doctor told me that humidity was bad for me, and there that woman sits and cries just to make it moist in the room."—Pearson's Weekly.

"If."

English Tourist (to Highland Farmer) —And you will get only £7 for that fine cow? Why, man, if you took it to London you would get £20!

Highland Farmer—Ou ay, fery likely; and if she would take the Loch doon tae a certain place she would get at least a shilling a gill for it.

Just a Plain Woman.

Tramp (at the door)—If you please, lady—

Mrs. Muggs (sternly)—There, that will do. I am tired of this everlasting whine of "Lady, lady." I am just a plain woman, and——

Tramp—You are, madame—one of the plainest women I ever seen, an' one of the honestest to own up to it.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

The Time for Building

Up the system is at this season. The cold weather has made unusual drains upon the vital forces. The blood has become impoverished and impure, and all the functions of the body suffer in consequence. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the great builder, because it is the One True Blood Purifier and nerve tonic.

Hood's Pills become the favourite cathartic with all who use them. All druggists. 25 cents.

DOURO

(From Our Own Correspondent.

In St. Joseph's church, Douro, on Feb. 18th, Mr. James Casey and Miss Johanna Towne were united in the holy bonds of matrimony. The officiating clergyman was the Rev. Wm. J. Keilty, pastor of Douro. The young couple were always very popular in the community and consequently a large number of friends were present at the interesting ceremony. THE EXAMINER and everybody else wish them a long and a happy life.

BE NOT DECEIVED.

The Unparalleled Success of Dodd's Kidney Pills Excites the Envy and Greed of Unscrupulous Imitators.

A kidney treatment in pill form was unknown until Dodd's Kidney Pills came into use.

If Dodd's Kidney Pills were not indeed "the best in the world," no one would imitate them.

Who is defrauded and who pockets the proceeds when a counterfeit coin is passed upon you?

Never let any one persuade you to buy a substitute or imitation of the real article you need.

The genuine are put up in round, flat wooden boxes, white lettering on blue label with red band.

You can get the genuine Dodd's Kidney Pills from any druggist or dealer in Canada at 50c a box, or by mail from the Dodd's Medicine Co., Toronto, Ont.

A Commissioner in B. R.

GENTLEMEN, — Having used Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam in our family for years I have no hesitation in saying that it beats everything else we ever tried for coughs and colds in children as well as grown up people. It relieves that tight binding sensation in the chest. We would not be without it for anything. WILLIAM ANDREW, Commissioner in B.R., Balmoral, Man.

ONE HONEST MAN.

DEAR EDITOR:—Please inform your readers that if written to confidentially, I will mail in a sealed letter, the plan pursued by which I was permanently restored to health and manly vigor, after years of suffering from Nervous Weakness, night losses and weak, shrunken parts.

I have no scheme to extort money from anyone whomsoever. I was robbed and swindled by the quacks until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but thank Heaven, I am now well, vigorous and strong, and anxious to make this certain means of cure known to all.

Having nothing to sell or send C.O.D., I want no money. Address JAS. A. HARRIS.

THE FUNNY THINGS COMMEDIANS SAID IN OFFHAND STYLE.

Some of Them are Particulary Good and All are Worth Reading—The Passing Show and the Wit That Sparkles In Front of the Footlights.

"I want a word with you," says Buttons in "Gentleman Joe," to Powers.

"It's a pity to split it," replies the comedian; "keep it to yourself."

"Yes, I've been married four times," remarks Weber.

"That's pretty near enough," says Fields.

"Not at all," replies Weber. "I'm going to celebrate the Fourth next July."

In the "Countess Gucki" James Lewis takes the part of a timid man. Ada Rehan finally upbraids his wife severely in a particularly spirited way. When it is all over Lewis rubs his hands and says:

"Ah, that's what I've been going to say for a long time."

"Why did Adam eat the fatal appie?" asks McCarthy.

"Because the bananas were not ripe," replies Reynolds.

From "Gentleman Joe:"

Emma—You are Lord Donnybrook?

Gentleman Joe—No, I'm not.

Emma—A mistake?

Gentleman Joe—No, I'm not a mistake. I'm Joe Myrtle.

In his monologue Sam Bernard keeps the orchestra waiting, and finally the leader becomes impatient and, rapping his baton on the stage, says:

"I am waiting on you sir."

"Is dot so?" says Bernard. "Well, bring me some sturgeon and ice-cream."

"If you don't leave at once," says Reynolds, "I'll call Jack."

"That's your brother?"

"No, it's my dog."

"The same thing."

"Yes, Cohen is a very frank man," remarks George Thatcher. "I asked him how business was, and he said there was liable to be a fire in his neighborhood if business did not pick up."

"So you've been flirting with a common cabman," says Mrs. Carr to Emma, in "Gentleman Joe."

"Beg pardon," replies Emma, "he's a hansom cabman, and an uncommon han'som' cabman, too."—New York World.

They Figured on It.

He had been knocking on the kitchen door for ten minutes when the woman of the next house on the left opened her side door and queried.

"Can't you see that the house is empty?"

"No, ma'am," he replied. "As I can only see the outside of it I know nothing about the inside. Then the house is vacant?"

"Yes, sir."

"Family moved out?"

"Yes."

"Where did they move to?"

"I don't know."

"Rather sudden, wasn't it."

"They went when they got ready, I suppose. Do you want to rent?"

"Oh, no."

"Bill collector?"

"Nosp. You see, ma'am, I called here on Friday and asked for an old pair of shoes."

"Oh, you did?"

"The lady told me to call again, and she'd hunt me up a pair. That's why I'm here."

"Well, they moved yesterday."

"Yes, they moved yesterday. They evidently figured on it and found it cheaper to move than to give me the shoes, and so they took a flit. Perfectly correct. It's not what you earn but what you save which makes a fat bank book."—M. Quad.

Out of Tooth Powder!

Then get the best. The best is Ivorine. "Best" because it whitens the teeth and does not destroy the enamel. Good as the best in fragrance and cleansing and polishing properties. Better than most, as it contains no acids to destroy. Better than all because pleasant, fragrant, cleansing and whitening, all the good qualities combined. Ivorine for the teeth alone can claim to be the best.

A SUPERSTITIOUS CALENDAR.

People who believe in prophetic destinies as outlined in verse will be interested in the following ancient horoscope for the months:

By her who in January is born.
No gem save garnet should be worn.
It will insure her constancy,
True friendship and fidelity.

The February born will find
Sincerity and piece of mind.
Freedom from passion and from care
If they the amethyst will wear.

Who on this world of ours their eyes
In March first open shall be wise.
In days of peril firm and brave,
And wear a bloodstone to the grave.

She who from April dates her years
Diamonds shall wear, lest bitter tears
For vain repentence flow this stone
Emblem of innocence is known.

Who first beholds the light of day
In spring's sweet flowery month of May,
And wears an emerald all her life,
Shall be a loved and happy wife.

Who comes with summer to this earth,
And owes to June her day of birth,
With ring of agate on her hand
Can health, wealth and long life command.

The glowing ruby should adorn
Those who in warm July are born;
Then will they be exempt and free
From love's doubts and anxiety.

Wear a sardonyx, or for thee
No conjugal felicity;
The August-born with this stone
'Tis said must live unloved and lone.

A maiden born when autumn leaves
Are rustling in September's breeze
A sapphire on her brow should bind—
'Twill cure diseases of the mind.

October's child is born for woe,
And life's vicissitudes must know;
But lay an opal on her breast
And hope will lull those woes to rest.

Who first comes to this world below
With drear November's fog and snow
Shall prize the topaz's amber hue—
Emblem of friends and lovers true.

If cold December gave you birth—
The month of snow and ice and mirth—
Place on your hand a turquoise blue;
Success will bless whate'er you do.

The Indian the Only Socialist

The Indian is the Sybarite of the northland, and the only genuine Socialist on earth. He holds all the possessions of his country equally with his tribe, feasts and fasts and sorrows and rejoices in common, and roams where his legs carry and there is game for his gun. When there is abundance he smokes his pipe in happy indolence and his wife does the work; when there is no meat for the kettle, he shoulders his gun and goes out into the woods, leaving care and hunger at home with the squaw. But he by no means invariably escapes hunger. It is ever a feast or a famine with him, and it might always be a feast were he not so improvident and lazy. Clothing and food are at his very door. In the rivers and lakes there is fish in great quantity and variety; along their banks fisher, otter, mink, beaver and musk-rat; and in the forests moose, caribou, bear, lynx, fox, wolf, wolverine, marten, ermine and rabbits—to say nothing of the early spring and autumn migration of ducks and geese, the packs of ptarmigan, which in their changing plumage of brown and white are to be seen summer and winter, and the several other species of the grouse family that may be found the greater part of the year. There is no occasion for an Indian to starve in this country, if he keeps out of Barren Grounds; but hunting demands skill, of which he has less than any other red man I ever knew, and a never-failing cache presupposes foresight, of which he has none—so that, in truth, he fasts more often than he feasts.—Caspar W. Whitney in Harper's Magazine.

Size of the Universe.

It has been estimated, says W. H. Lamaster in Popular Astronomy, that a cannon ball, moving with a velocity of 500 miles an hour, and leaving our earth and traveling in the direction of the nearest fixed star, would not reach it in less than 4,500,000 years! and yet there are stars in the heavens and visible through telescopes that would require a cannon ball moving with the same velocity at least 500,000,000 years to reach them. It was said by the elder Herschell that it would require light traveling at the rate of 195,000 miles a second 2,000,000 years to come to the earth from the remotest luminous vapors within reach of his 40-foot telescope, and yet, whatever may have been the effort of astronomers to bring the starry heavens as a whole into view even with the most powerful reflectors, they have so far proved to be futile. Hence, to the minds of men the universe must seem forever to be and to remain immeasurable, incalculable and incomprehensible. And while we may be able to weigh and measure suns and systems, within range of our telescopes, there are others so far away and so far beyond our powers of vision, and our power of calculation, that even our present supposed great knowledge of the sidereal heavens would dwindle into the thinnest of mental vaporings.

THAT IMPALING CASE.

Mr. H. E. Hudson, Combermere, Severely Injured—Protruding Knot Entered the Body—Cured by One Box of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Combermere, Feb. 17, (Special)—Mr. H. E. Hudson, trapper, hunter and lumberman, was injured by falling on a knot which entered his body from beneath and injured the bladder and kidneys. He says: "I was confined to my bed for six weeks and was rarely able to work, feeling too weak since the injury over eight years ago. I have taken one box of Dodd's Kidney Pills and am perfectly cured and as able-bodied as ever before in my life. One box was worth one hundred dollars to me, if it is possible to estimate such a benefit in dollars."

BURDOCK PILLS—small safe and sure, regulate the liver and cure constipation.

"One Touch of Nature," Etc.

The prettiest speech that will go down in history—to our posterity—will be that of the young Czar's when he told his people that he and the Czarina rejoiced their first child was a girl, because—"being a daughter, she belonged alone to them; had it been a son, he would have belonged to all Russia!" This little speech, so fraught with the right feeling, and the Czarina's unswerving determination to nurse her baby herself, has appealed to the hearts of the Russians, and broke down for the moment, barriers that it has taken years of arrogant and arbitrary ruling to erect.

YOUR "BAD BACK" RE-BACKED.

HOW IT IS DONE!

The pertinent question of the day is—Does your back ache? Is it lame?

Thousands suffer from what they commonly term "Bad back." When they walk or when they work, when they lie down or rise up, wherever they may be or whatever they may do, the old aching, paining, "lame back" worries and wearies and wears them out.

Few people understand the real cause of their aches, and fewer yet know how easily they can be cured.

Just a word of explanation.

The back is the key-note of the kidneys. When it aches that's a sign that the kidneys are not acting properly. When it is "lame," that indicates that the kidneys are clogged up.

Then all the poisonous products that it is the kidneys special duty to eliminate from the blood, are carried in the blood current to every organ and tissue of the body, bringing on many a kidney trouble which if neglected means disease.

Will you heed the timely warning the back gives you? Will you strike the enemy while you can strike hard? Doan's Kidney Pills are the little enemies of kidney disorders. They strike with no uncertain hand Old backs and young backs are being "re-backed" and freed from never-ceasing pain and many a lame and shattered one, stooped and contracted, is strengthened and invigorated by the use of Doan's Kidney Pills For sale by

CARD OF THANKS.

Messrs. Cox & Davis, Peterborough:

GENTLEMEN: I wish to thank you for your promptness in settling the loss on my furniture, which occurred through the upsetting of my coal stove, on Friday night last at 10 o'clock. On being notified next day you were good enough to send over a man to settle the loss in order that I might be able to get the house cleaned up and thereby saved me much inconvenience. From my experience with your office now, it is a source of pleasure for me to feel that my insurance is with you, and I shall not forget to tell my friends.

Yours truly,
MARY ANN O'BRIEN.

Cuts no figure with many lines now. "Clear the Decks" for spring trade is the orders all over this store. We have just got through inventory. It showed two pairs of this kind, one of that, and so on. They are a drug with us.

We have assorted them, and put a price on them—not what they are worth, but what they will bring.

Blankets,
Bed Comforters,
Lap Rugs,
Winter Shawls,
Underclothing.

These have got to walk the plank. We make a loss, of course; but in cleaning up stocks at the end of the season we expect to make sacrifices. The more we sell of these goods just now—and the more you buy of them—both of us make more money than by holding off for a more convenient season.

LOCAL NEWS.

Miss Lois Ostrom, Elocutionist, in George Street Methodist Church to-night

Snowbound.

Messrs. McDermid and Laflamme are snowbound at Lindsay, and therefore the Baptist Conference has been postponed until to-morrow afternoon and evening.

Fair Warning.

All over-due accounts owing to the firm of H. LeBrun & Co., must be settled by the 1st of March inst. After that date accounts not paid will be placed in the hands of a solicitor for collection. H. LEBRUN & Co.

Elocution Classes.

Mr. A. C. Mounteer will hold his classes on Thursday of each week at 4.30 and 7.30 p.m., in the Y. M. C. A. Hall. Parties desiring to take the course who have missed the first lesson can have it made up to them privately without extra charge.

A New North Ward Church.

On Tuesday, Feb. 25th, Grace church, will be dedicated. Rev. S. J. Shorey will preach at 2.30 p.m., and conduct the dedicatory services. In the evening a platform meeting will be held to be addressed by Rev. Mr. Shorey and ministers of the town.

Local Talent.

Those who attended Marks Bros. last night and witnessed the beautiful scenic effects will be surprised to know that they are the work of a local man, Mr. Will R. Clark. The scenes of the Lakes of Killarney and the Miser's Cave were beautiful and speak well for the abilities of Mr. Clark.

Grand Concert in George St. Methodist Church To-night. Admission 35c.

Curlers Excursion.

Here it is! Just when everybody thought it was not going to be held. The curlers' annual excursion will take place to Toronto per the C. P. R. on Tuesday, February 25th. The tickets, which are only $2 return, are good to go on the afternoon train on Monday and return up to Wednesday night. This is always the excursion of the winter season. The curlers go up to play their return game with the Toronto curlers, and their friends always go with them.

Children's Aid Society.

The Children's Aid Society wishes to acknowledge the receipt of an anonymous contribution of $1.00 to the funds of the society. In this connection it may be suggested that it would be well for those who are friendly enough to the society to contribute such an amount to the funds, to send their names, (not to be published), so that they could be made members. The larger the membership of the society the greater its influence, and the larger its sphere of usefulness.

Death of Mr. Alex. Gibson's Father.

A Peterhead, Scotland, paper of the 4th February has the following, which refers to the father of Mr. Alex. Gibson, of Clarke & Gibson, town:—"We regret to announce the death, at the age of 66 years, of Mr. Alexander Gibson, late Water Superintendent, which took place yesterday. About two years ago Mr. Gibson had a paralytic stroke, and has since been living in retirement. Deceased was born in Peterhead and held the office of Water Superintendent for a lengthened period, the work in connection with which he carried out assiduously and capably. He leaves a widow and a large family of sons and daughters."

THE STORM FIEND IS STILL RAGING.

The Railways Having a Hard Time of It—The Lakefield Branch Abandoned.

The high wind, bitter cold, and drifting snow all combined to make this the worst day of the season for those whose occupation compelled them to be out in the open air.

The railways are having a particularly hard time of it and travellers are despairing of reaching their destinations on account of the reports received concerning the drifts forming in the cuttings. The train from Belleville on the G. T. R., due here at 8.15 in the morning, is hopelessly snowed up at Campbellford, although the snowplough ran over the line only an hour and a half ahead of it. The express from Toronto, via Port Hope, struggled into the local depot five hours behind time, having been caught in a drift between Millbrook and Garden Hill and being unable to either advance or retreat until the snow plough went down frow Peterborough to the rescue.

The line between here and Lindsay is being kept open, but none of the trains have been able to get as far as Lindsay from the west. No. 2 is completely lost somewhere in the drifts. The Lakefield branch has been abandoned for the present and all trains running to the village have been cancelled.

It seems that the storm is raging more in the west than the east, as No. 5 Express this morning on the C.P.R. was only 35 minutes late. The local went through on time at 7 20 a.m., but an extra engine was added at this point. No. 4, or the noon Express from Toronto, was over five hours late, but the delay was chiefly caused by blockades west of Toronto, the local division being kept in good order by the snowploughs. As long as the wind is from the west the C.P.R. is safe, but if it shifts to the north a blockade will surely ensue.

THE WRITER'S NAME OMITTED.

The EXAMINER has received a report of a wedding from Huron county, but as the correspondent did not comply with the unvarying newspaper rule of furnishing (not for publication, however) his or her name, there is no guarantee that the report is bona fide and it cannot therefore be used. NEWS NUGGETS.

Paragraphs Picked Up and Pencilled for Public Perusal.

—The storm is getting worse than ever.

—Lindsay has a flourishing "boys' brass band." This is something which could easily be organized in Peterborough.

—When a thaw sets in the sidewalks and street railway tracks will be rivers of water and the cellars on George street will certainly suffer.

—She doesn't want the newest fad
And for it has no place,
For the very newest wrinkle
She found upon her face.

—Mr. T. W. Brock, representing Messrs. Nicholson & Brock, Toronto, dealers in bird seeds and foods, and whose advertisement appears in another column, was in town yesterday in the interests of the business.

—It is reported that Dr. Nansen has discovered the north pole, but it is doubtful. From the behaviour of the weather and the beastly low spirits of the thermometer, one could seriously conclude that the north pole is in the neighbourhood of Peterborough.

—Cold as it is, says the Belleville Ontario, they are here full of fire and enthusiasm. The Epworth Leaguers. They own the town this week and we give it up to them cheerfully. Welcome, young men and maidens. May your visions and dreams of pleasure be happily realized.

—Marks Bros. success in Peterborough has been phenomenal, crowded houses and standing room only has been the war cry since the company opened here ten days ago. Last night "The Rose of Kerry" with new scenery and a fine array of specialties was put on. To-night "The Counterfeiters," to-morrow night, "The Great Diamond Robbery," Saturday matinee, "Dublin Dan," Saturday night, "The Golden Giant Mine."

PERSONAL.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwards, of Lakefield were in town yesterday.

Miss Ryan, town, is at present the guest of Miss Julia Murphy, of Ops.

Miss Emma Trollope has returned home from Lakefield, after spending a pleasant two weeks visiting friends.

Mr. Richard Patching of the Toronto Globe, was in town yesterday, and brightened the sanctum for a couple of hours with his genial presence.

Mr. E. B. Edwards, town, was in Lindsay Tuesday evening, being referee in the provincial points competition at the curling rink. He was the guest of his brother, Mr. J. G. Edwards.

Mr. C. Longshore, says the Belleville Ontario, leaves to-day for Peterborough, where he will open a branch office for the International Produce and Commission Coy., of Buffalo, N.Y. Mr. Longshore has been located here for about three months, and has been very successful.

We have pen points to suit every writer, such as the D. G. Salit, Law, Spencerian, Bank of England, Falcon, Ball Pointed, etc. A. H. STRATTON & Co., Peterborough Bookstore.

"The Rose of Kerry."

While the Opera house was not as well attended last night as usual, still not a seat was vacant. The play deserved three times the house. The scenic effects were simply grand, the Miser's Cave and the Lakes of Killarney being all new scenes, used for the first time last night. Miss Myra Collins took the lead as "The Rose of Kerry" splendidly. Mr. Tom Marks as Teddy Flannigan was away above par, creating roars of laughter throughout the play. Mr. Fred Wilson as assistant villain could not have done better. The specialties last night were of far greater variety than usual and of a much better class. Miss May A. Bell again scored another success. Mr. Lee J. Kellam, as an Irishman, made a capital personation. To-night an entirely new play will be presented, namely, "The Counterfeiters."

THE WOUNDED MEN.

Both are Conceded to be out of Danger This Afternoon.

Both Wm. Bowman and John Arnott, the two victims of the stabbing affray of Tuesday evening last, are conceded to be out of danger if new complications in the nature of their wounds do not develop.

Arnott is resting quietly and is showing signs of improvement, but as Mr. Bowman's wound is just on the edge of the jawbone it has become somewhat irritated through the fact that he has had a good many questions to answer in connection with the melee, and is not healing as rapidly as his physician would like to see.

SNOW DRIFT.

A Few Paragraphic Pitch-ins.

Ashburnham had nearly a hundred men shovelling snow on the streets yesterday. The pay sheet amounted to $98 for the one day.

This is an example to the corporation of Peterborough, which cannot be accused of any extravagant expenditure of money or good management in looking after our snow-buried streets.

Hog-backs are a prominent feature of many of the principal streets. After a fall of snow the visit of the snow plough has been deferred till the snow in the middle of the walk is packed solid by the travel of early pedestrians and when the occupant of the opposite property, prompted by a Christian desire to have the walk clean, shovelled off the ditch left by the snow plough's tardy scrape—the loose snow on each side is removed and the hog's back remains—about as easy of walking on as an iced saw log.

For the same cause, some of the crossings on George street are left with the same dangerous round.

On some of the streets the portions used by sleighs is scalloped into pitch holes, that would rival a champion pitch-hole country road. Owners of yards, dump the super-abundant snow on the street. Of course they have to do this in order to have their yards fit for use. But the street authorities should see that this snow is properly levelled.

We have in town scores of idle men, who would be glad of even temporary employment, and there are also scores who from lack of employment are forced to solicit civic charity. Did it never occur to our town fathers that it would be a good thing to employ some of our idle men in removing the huge banks and putting our streets into fit shape for use? Any decent man would rather earn money than receive it in charity, and when an expenditure of money can give relief to men that are in need, without loss of self-respect and at the same time serve the public interests, such expenditure should be made.

Railway and street railway corporations have to deal with the snow problem and they find the solution a rather costly one. And municipal corporations have also their snow problem to deal with, but Peterborough's corporation seems inclined to leave the solution to the rays of the March sun.

Our streets are in a terrible shape now, which a little common sense work would improve. We pay taxes for the public benefit, and if the public benefit demands that our snow stifled streets should have attention, public opinion will support the expenditure of money in improving their condition.

The work demands immediate attention. It had better be done now and give the public the benefit. It would not be wise, though possibly consistent with corporation methods, to have the public suffer the meantime inconvenience with a certainty that work that might be done now will have to be done later on.

A sudden thaw will put George street in an awful condition. The middle of the street, occupied by the street railway tracks, will be a rushing river, which will overflow its snowy banks at crossings and flood walks and cellars.

The civic authorities will very likely ask—"Well, what are you going to do about it?" But the people, whom the Council is elected to serve, are asking them the same question—in one case a pertinent and in the other—well, not a pertinent, question.

EPWORTH LEAGUE CONVENTION

A Number of Delegates from Peterborough and Vicinity—They are Welcomed in the Bay City.

The first annual convention of the Epworth League of the Bay of Quinte District has opened in Belleville and hundreds of delegates are in attendance. The convention is being held in Bridge street church, and is presided over by Mr. C. P. Holton, president of the league. Among the delegates in the city are noticed nearly all the Methodist clergmen of the district and many other gentlemen whose names are familiar to readers as prominent in church and league work. The visitors were met on their arrival in the city by a committee, of which Miss M. Gayley is chairman, especially appointed to receive them and look after their needs, and were comfortably housed in the homes of many generous friends.

Amongst the delegates from this vicinity who are in attendance are: Rev. G. R. Clare, Bridgenorth; Ephraim Fleming, Bewdley; Rev. E. A. Sanderson, Blairton; Rev. R. F. Stillman and Joseph Hawken, Gore's Landing; Rev. J. A. Jewett, B. A., and Joseph Anderson, Hastings; Rev. N. McQuade, Geo. Rowlinson and Frank Jeffs, Havelock; Dr. W. T. Harrison, Keene; Miss L. Fife and J. Armstrong, Lang; Rev. J. Nicholl, W. J. Gardiner, Rev. L. Phelps, Millbrook; Rev. J. A. McCammus, L. G. Keefer, John Speer and Miss B. Scott, Norwood; Rev. N. Hill, J. S. Adams and W. C. Levitzer, Omemee; Miss Edith Shortly, Miss L. Kennedy and Walter Brooks, Peterborough; Alexander Northey, Selwyn.

THE CONDITION OF THE STREETS.

The Street Railway is Willing to Co-operate With the Town in Removing the Snow.

Councillor Langford, chairman of the Streets and Bridges Committee, states that the Street Railway Company recognizes its responsibility in regard to the cleaning of the snow from the streets, but until the storm is over there is little use in attempting to do anything in this line.

The town team was engaged in cutting away the snow yesterday from the corner of Charlotte and George streets, a number of corporation labourers were also busy at this point with pick and shovel. During the afternoon the street railway scraper was also at work on George street, but it will take a very large force of men to make any material progress in the work. The street is most unsafe at present.

Catarrh in the Head

Is a dangerous disease because it is liable to result in loss of hearing or smell, or develop into consumption. Read the following:

"My wife has been a sufferer from catarrh for the past four years and the disease had gone so far that her eyesight was affected so that for nearly a year she was unable to read for more than five minutes at a time. She suffered severe pains in the head and at times was almost distracted. About Christmas, she commenced taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, and since that time has steadily improved. She has taken six bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla and is on the road to a complete cure. I cannot speak too highly of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and I cheerfully recommend it." W. H. LAKEFIELD.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Rev. J. McEwan has returned to the village.

Mr. N. Ingram has leased the Bowker estate and will move in in a few days.

Mr. W. Kennealy has taken possession of the Tremont House, formerly occupied by Mr. Ingram.

The two local rinks of curlers, viz: G. Baptie, J. E. Richardson, Geo. Postlethwaite and G. A. Strickland, skip; and W. Reynolds, J. P. Strickland, J. C. Grylls R. C. Strickland, skip: returned home from Toronto on Thursday after taking part in the Tankard competition.

Mr. W. H. Casement, was in Toronto last week.

Miss Maud Baptie is visiting friends in Peterborough.

Mr. Walters, of Lindsay, is in the village looking after the building of two scows for the government, for which he has the contract.

Dr. J. R. Fraser was called away last week to Hawkesburg, owing to the sudden death of his father. He returned home again on Tuesday.

A hockey match was played here on Tuesday evening between Keene and Lakefield junior clubs, which resulted in favour of the Keene club.

The W. F. M. S. of the Methodist church will hold a meeting in the church, on Sunday evening, at which Mrs. Liddy, Miss Hendren and Peterborough' talent will take part.

Special services will be held in the Presbyterian church, commencing on Wednesday, Feb. 26th, and continuing until after the second Sunday in March. It is expected that Mr. Tanner, of Omemee, will assist at the services.

It is expected that a number of Peterborough St. Paul's C. E. Society and North Smith C. E. Society will visit the C. E. Society of the Presbyterian church here, on Friday evening of this week.

Now is your time to secure a supply of tea. R. Graham & Son are offering extra inducements to tea buyers.

A number of young people comprising several sleigh loads, drove out to the residence of Mr. Geo. Fitzgerald, on Tuesday evening to the social under the auspices of the Baptist Young People's Union.

The members of Court Lakefield, No. 43 C. O. F., will meet in their hall, on Sunday morning at 10:15, and parade to the Presbyterian church, at 10:30, when the annual sermon will be preached.

JOHN McNAUGHTON'S GREAT CLEARING SALE.

Big Bargain Boom in Boots and Shoes.

The clearing sale of the boot and shoe stock is still going on at his store, corner Bethune and Sherbrooke streets. The decided bargains offered are attracting numerous buyers. Those in need of first class boots and shoes for men, women and children should not miss this great sale. The stock must be cleared out, and the prices are made low, very low, for that purpose.

Calcutt's Dublin Porter.

Men and women are all more or less troubled with dyspepsia. Why? Because they suffer from constipation. This is easily cured if attended to. If neglected it will become chronic. Constipation is the cause of nine-tenths of all our sickness. Nature requires assistance to throw off impurities of the system and regulate the bowels. This is what Calcutt's porter will do. Build up your system by the moderate use of this tonic. It does not derange the system but builds it up and consequently adds to your strength and weight. Sold by all leading grocers, only $1.00 per dozen.

ITALIANS ATTEMPT A CRIME.

Out in Haliburton County—Arrested and Sentenced.

Yesterday, says the Lindsay Post, a pair of tough-looking Italian navvies named John Sulla and Wm. Marks were brought before Judge Dean charged with having attempted to criminally assault a young girl named Clara Peel in Cardiff township, Haliburton county, on Jan, 29th last. From the evidence given it appears that the two Italians were members of a gang employed on the I. B. & O. R. R, and with a number of others lived in part of the house occupied by the girl's father. On the date mentioned she had driven to Bancroft with a young man named Samuel Gal to take a music lesson, and on the way home, at about 11 o'clock at night, they were met by the prisoners near Leefield P. O. about half a mile from Peel's; they told Gal that his brother had been badly injured that afternoon on the railway and had been taken to the post office, and Gal left at once to see his brother Marks saying he would drive the horse home. Miss Peel, having known the Italians for some time, did not anticipate any danger but when they came to a piece of swamp Marks attempted an assault. The girl fought desperately to save her honour, and succeeded in beating the fellow off. Sulla then came up and took Mark's place in the cutter, and after driving a short distance he also attempted an assault. Again the poor girl was compelled to exert her fast failing strength to beat off her brutal and powerful assailant. When almost exhausted she observed they were nearing a neighbour's house, and she leaped from the cutter and ran along the road towards the bars. Just then Gal came up, having discovered that the Italians had lied to him, and he drove the poor girl home, where she related her thrilling experience. Half an hour later the navvies came along and attempted to enter the house, but were met by Mr. Peel with a heavy club in his hand and warned to go, whereupon Marks seized an axe and threatened him. Peel then called for his rifle, which was brought out by one of the Italians in the house, who called out, pointing to Marks, "He bad man—shoot him." Mrs. Peel, however, grasped the gun to save bloodshed, and the navvies sought safety in flight. Interpreter Basso, of Toronto, was on hand to explain the evidence of the Italians. Judge Dean sentenced Sulla to three months and Marks to six months at hard labour in the gaol here, or in the Central, if they are needed there.

MILLBROOK.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

The East Durham County Sabbath School Convention will be held in the Methodist church here on Monday and Tuesday, March 2nd and 3rd. The hours of meeting are 9.30 a.m., 2.30 p.m. and 7.30 p.m. The public are cordially invited to attend all the sessions.

Mrs. John Campbell, of Melita, Man., is visiting Mr. and Mrs. A. Leach.

Miss Annie Wood has been ill, but is now able to resume her studies at Port Hope.

The Millbrook Curling Club sent two rinks down to Port Hope on Friday and were victorious by eight shots.

The Hockey Club will likely go to Keene on Monday next.

Mr. F. J. Coriess, our popular comic singer, is engaged to sing at the Cavanville baseball concert.

Mr. David Hampton, our public school principal, is on the sick list.

HARVEY COUNCIL MEETING.

From our own Correspondent.

The municipal council of the Township of Harvey met at the clerk's office on Feb. 17th, pursuant to adjournment. Minutes of the last meeting read and confirmed.

Communications read from Copp Bros. of Hamilton, re road machines; James O. Weir, requesting supplies for a family in destitute circumstances.

A bylaw was passed appointing fifty pathmasters, fourteen fence-viewers and seven poundkeepers for the year 1896.

The auditors' report as presented was adopted, and the clerk instructed to procure the usual number of printed copies of the same for distribution.

The Reeve was instructed to attend the land sales for taxes in arrears in the interest of the township.

A. G. Shearer was appointed to inspect the roads required by Wm. Chesney, Wm. Pearson and George Finlay, concessions 8 and 11, and report to the council at its next meeting.

Considerable time was taken up in hearing applications for alterations in road beats, and in making the alterations required.

On motion the council adjourned to meet at the brick school house at Buckhorn on Saturday, March 14th.

SPORTING PASTIMES.

Down at the Rink Amongst the Curlers and the Hockeyists—Other Items of Interest.

CURLIANA.

The Thistles are now seven points up in the Innes Medal competition. Yesterday afternoon Skip R. B. McKee defeated Skip Hampden Burnham of the Granites by five shots, and in the evening Skip C. Rutherford downed Skip Boucher by eight shots. The rinks were composed as follows:

Granites.	Thistles.
Col Rogers,	W Stocker,
C H Hibbard,	H LeB un,
F W Taylo ,	Ed Brown,
H Burnham, sk.....9	R B McKee, sk 11
Geo Giroux,	H Snowden,
E H D Hall,	A Slade,
Geo Matthews,	John Stanger,
Dr Boucher, sk.....10	C Rutherford, sk 18

As Skip Edmison of the Granites won from Skip Hall by six shots the evening previous, this leaves the Thistles just six points in the lead.

In the Kendry Cup series Skip Connal last evening by defeating Skip Ferguson won his way into the semi finals, where he will play Skip C. Rutherford, the winner to play Skip Ray in the finals. Last night's game was close and exciting. Skip Connal took a lead of five points towards the latter part of the game, but by the next to last end Skip Ferguson had succeeded in pulling down this lead and tieing the score. The last end gave Skip Connal one shot, thus giving him the game. The rinks were composed as follows:

R Kerr,	R Hay,
J Wylie,	E B Clegg.
K Rutherford,	S Davidson,
J Connal, sk p.....14	W G Ferguson, skip..13

A couple of friendly matches were played with the following result:

W Stocker,	Alf Terrill,
J S Knapman,	W J Blain,
Geo Brown,	I Thompson,
R H Kells, skip....14	Jno McClelland, skip. 9
Alf Terrill,	E Rutherford,
M O'Brien,	G Sawers,
W J Drope,	J S Knapman,
J Jeffreys, skip ...13	C Rutherford, skip.. 9

At a meeting of the Thistles held in the rink parlours last night the following skips were elected to play in Toronto on Tuesday next:—Messrs. R S. Davidson, Sam Ray, T. E. Bradburn, R. H. Kells and John McClelland. Dickson Davidson will also take up a rink of Colts. These rinks will play in the afternoon. In the evening skips R. S. Davidson, Sam Ray and R. H. Kells will play against the Victorias in the Boucher-Davidson medal competition.

The points competition will have to be played off here sometime before the 15th of March and as the Ontario Curling Association offers a handsome gold medal for the highest score the local clubs will make an effort to land the prize. A new cup will be purchased as a trophy in the local points competition and Mr. E. Rutherford has been authorized to make the necessary collections from the members to defray the expense of procuring a trophy.

HOCKEY.

The Port Hope Guide says:—"Peterborough hockey players haven't got over that victory of last Wednesday night. Marks Bros. have even got onto it and are making them very vain by lauding them in their songs etc., during the progress of their shows. Indeed, we would not be surprised if a Peterborough team were to challenge Port Hope to play a game in town here. A too high conception of one's ability has often been the outcome of such great eulogy."

In reference to this paragraph it might be said that when Peterborough sent a junior team to Port Hope the other day no one showed up on the ice against them. If the juniors were treated with such scant courtesy it is hardly probable that the seniors would go down.

The Peterborough Collegiate team went down to Norwood last evening and defeated the juniors of that town by the score of 6 goals to 5, although their antagonists were of far heavier weight. The teams lined up as follows:

Collegiates.		II Norwoods
Hamilton	goal	Anderson
Poussette	point	Stewart
Thorne	cover point	Clancy
Graham	forwards	Penwelly
King		Pettigrew
Watt		Cameron
Ackerman		Hendren

Umpire, R. Rickey.
Referee, Mr. Code.

The games were scored as follows:—

Club.	Scored by.	Time.
1—Peterborough	King	2 min's
2—Norwood	Cameron	3 "
3—Peterborough	King	11 "
4—Norwood	Pettigrew	3 "
5—Norwood	Hendren	7 "
6—Peterborough	Ackerman	4 "
HALF TIME.
7—Peterborough	Thorne	10 "
8—Peterborough	Graham	2 "
9—Norwood	Cameron	3 "
10—Peterborough	King	3 "
11—Norwood	Pettigrew	12 "

The local boys state that they were well treated by the Norwood team. A return match will be played next week on the local ice.

A DOG THAT ENJOYS A JOKE.

He Has a Memory, Too, for Those He Doesn't Like.

Dr. Buell of Norfolk, Conn., owns an intelligent dog now 11 years old, which for the first six years of its life was ill-treated by a young man who did the chores for the doctor and took care of his horse. The young fellow was an excellent mimic of animal sounds, and whenever he caught the dog asleep he would creep up to him and give a loud bark close to his ear. The dog would be startled, and would jump up to defend himself.

Recently the young man came back on a visit. When he came into the house the dog looked at him, but gave none of the usual signs of recognition. That same day, while the young man was leaning on his elbow looking out of a window, with his back to the room, Dr. and Mrs. Buell, with others in the room, noticed the dog creep softly up to the young man. All watched to see what the dog would do, ready to interfere if an attempt to bite the young fellow was made.

But the dog was a joker. He had no intention of biting or scratching, but the memory of those six years remained with him, and his time had come to take revenge. The dog raised himself until his mouth was close to the young man's ear, when he gave a tremendous bark, and then dashed out of the room. The young man was as frightened as if an earthquake had come.—Detroit News.

Sam's Sunday Suit.

Sam was a light-skinned darky of middle age, with an ever bright and ready reply for all. He was employed in the street department of the town of D——. One day a gentleman finding him at work tearing up some cobblestones from the street, and desiring to hear one of his witty replies, asked him what he was doing. Sam replied:

"Why, sah, I'se er-pullin' up de street; by-and-by I'a goin' to pull up de riber."

"Pull up the river! Why, Sam, that's a gigantic job. You'll have to pump and haul many a year before you can accomplish that."

"If youse want ter see me do it. I's willin'."

"Well, Sam, I would like to see how you would go about it; and if you can prove to me that you can finish such a job even within a year, I will treat you to a suit of Sunday clothes."

"Yah, yah, yah!" laughed Sam. "Come 'long, sah, I's 'll prove dat shuah!"

And off he started for the river with the gentlemen and several other people who had gathered around during the conversation. Reaching the river Sam piloted the gentleman and the crowd to an old skiff. Jumping into it, he seized the oars and started rowing, shouting as he did so, "Dere, sah! I's er-pullin' up de riber now!"

The gentleman gave in, and Sam got his clothes.—Harper's Round Table.

Could not get Insured.

Rejected by Straight Line and Mutual Companies.

But now Insured in both.

"Should I die while I am in a position to pay my insurance premiums, my family will owe their support to Scott's Sarsaparilla. Two years ago I applied to two companies for insurance, $1000 in each. My face was a mass of pimply blotches and my urine did not stand the test. One doctor in examining me said I could not pass, but that my trouble was curable. He advised an alterative medicine, and I commenced taking Scott's Sarsaparilla. Both companies rejected me, but four months later, after I had taken five bottles of your remedy I am thankful to say both accepted me as a risk—one being a stock company, the other a mutual. The examiner who previously examined me, remarked "I never saw such a change in any man." This is indorsed by Mr. J. Todd, the popular druggist, corner Queen and Crawford Streets, Toronto.

Scott's Sarsaparilla builds up debilitated constitutions, imparts strength, vigor and vitality, clears and purifies the blood. It cures skin diseases, rheumatism, gout, indigestion and all complaints arising from poor or poisoned blood. Of all druggists, $1 per bottle.

A FETCHING COSTUME.

A PARIS WORTH JACKET AND A VIROT BLACK VELVET HAT.

The Very Latest Headgear Illustrated—Suggestions to the Wise Woman About Making Smart Bonnets and Hats at Home.

The French are using plush cloths that imitate furs this winter, some of them representing baby-lamb with its moire design, others more like the closely curled Persian lamb. These are selected for the nicest cloth jackets, says Harper's Bazar, but the preference here is for velvet-finished smooth cloth, or else boucle cloths with curly loops of very glossy wool, perhaps of mohair, all over the surface, making a warm and attractive fabric, the fine qualities being almost as lustrous as silk.

The very chic jacket illustrated, from the Maison Worth is of beige color, given character by a collet of darker velvet bordered with beaver fur. The front of this jacket is quite straight. The back is fitted to the waist and extends below in very stylish full pleats, showing glimpses of the lining of golden brown satin. The collet is of a large round shape, resembling that of the Marie Antoinette hood which is in such favor this winter. It is completed by a high rolling collar that may be worn in various ways, and is comfortably as well as becomingly lined with fur. The admirably cut sleeves have their great fulness laid in pleats in the armhole, and fit the forearm most comfortably.

The black velvet hat is brightened by a beret of rose-colored velvet, giving the pretty soft crown so much in favor this winter. On the brim of black velvet are rows of jet spangles. A rose tuft under the brim rests against the hair on the left side. Two military or "colonel plumes" of black ostrich with an aigrette give height, while three other black feathers droop in the back.

SOME SMART BONNETS.

Suggestions to the Wise Woman About Making Them at Home.

Evening bonnets are not such impossible luxuries as many people think. To be sure, if a woman depends entirely upon her milliner for the bit of finery which has been the cause of so many domestic upheavals, she might as well rule it out of her bandbox, and go bare headed to the opera, unless she is prepared to brave a bill of several guineas. But if one have a little natural taste and deftness, coupled with a faculty of close observance, the milliner's bill need no longer be a source of domestic infelicity. The prettiest bonnets are nearly always the simplest, and when one really settles down to analyse the impertinent little topknots there isn't much of anything to them but fluff and a loop or two of velvet. Whether the bonnet is becoming or not depends upon the angle at which the loops are set.

The easiest bonnet to make is the one with a straight band around the crown of the head. It is the shape of a circle comb set on top of the head. It is wound with satin or ribbon and has two loops of velvet in front with an aigrette standing up between them. Anybody can have a bonnet like this, and therefore it has become so common that it is undesirable. However, it is better than a broad-brimmed hat.

It is a queer compensation of nature that the feminine portion of one race should claim as their rightful adornment the hide or plumage of the male portion of all the lower races. Has a beautiful bird a crest or a harmless beast a bushy tail, he must die, for her royal highness wants them.

Speaking of plumage, those tiny tips in clumps of three are used, both plain and spangled, for hair ornaments or bonnet trimmings.

An ingenious young girl of my acquaintance made herself a bonnet to wear with a green silk waist, and this is the way she did it:

She first made a Tam O'Shanter crown about six inches across the top, cut of stiff black crinoline. This she covered with black velvet which she had previously ornamented with jet "nailheads." She then gathered on a white lace brim which she wired around the edge to make it "stay put." She stopped the brim in the middle of both front and back, and in its place set a couple of green wings, mercury fashion, to stand out perfectly straight on each side of the face, and some green flowers each side of the coiffure at the back. This bonnet set back two or three inches from the forehead as all bonnets do nowadays.

The new bonnets all have brims, but the crown is so small that the whole hat, brim and all, hardly projects over the side of the head. I saw a charming bonnet in the audience at a fashionable theatre a few nights ago. It had a white velvet Tam O'Shanter crown with gold spangles, a white lace brim, two blush roses at each side over the hair, at the back, a spangled ornament under the brim in front, and a big, soft, white ostrich feather at the side.

A flower at each side, or a tiny ostrich tip or a funnel of lace is placed at the back of every bonnet. An aigrette of some kind is almost a necessity. In fact, if the fashionable world continues as it has begun the plumage bird kingdom will shortly be exterminated. For aigrettes are used to trim all kinds of hats, are indispensable to evening bonnets, and are also used alone for hair ornaments.

TAKE LIFE AS IT COMES.

Worry Will Only Give You Wrinkles and Make You Old.

There is one sin which is everywhere, and by everybody is underestimated and quite too much overlooked in valuations of character. It is the sin of fretting. It is as common as air, as speech; so common that unless it arises above its usual monotone, we do not even observe it. Watch an ordinary coming together of people and we see how many minutes it will be before somebody frets—that is, makes more or less complaining statements of something or other, which most probably everyone in the room or the car, or on the street corner, knew before, and which most probably nobody can help. Why say anything about it?

It is cold, it is hot, it is wet, it is dry; somebody has broken an appointment, ill cooked a meal; stupidity or bad faith somewhere has resulted in discomfort. There are plenty of things to fret about. It is simply astonishing how much annoyance and discomfort may be found in the course of every day's living, even at the simplest, if only one keeps a sharp eye on that side of things. Even holy writ says we are born to trouble as the sparks fly upward.

But even to the sparks flying upward in the blackest smoke, there is a blue sky above, and the less time they waste on the road the sooner they will reach it. Fretting is all time wasted on the road.

Not only does fretting worry us and those around us, but remember that nothing brings the wrinkles more quickly.

THE EYES OF THE WORLD

Are Fixed Upon South American Nervine.

Beyond Doubt the Greatest Medical Discovery of the Age.

WHEN EVERY OTHER HELPER HAS FAILED IT CURES

A Discovery, Based on Scientific Principles, that Renders Failure Impossible.

In the matter of good health temporizing measures, while possibly successful for the moment, can never be lasting. Those in poor health soon know whether the remedy they are using is simply a passing incident in their experience, bracing them up for the day, or something that is getting at the seat of the disease and is surely and permanently restoring.

The eyes of the world are literally fixed on South American Nervine. They are not viewing it as a nine-days' wonder, but critical and experienced men have been studying this medicine for years, with the one result—they have found that its claim of perfect curative qualities cannot be gainsaid.

The great discoverer of this medicine was possessed of the knowledge that the seat of all disease is the nerve centres, situated at the base of the brain. In this belief he had the best scientists and medical men of the world occupying exactly the same premises. Indeed, the ordinary layman recognized this principle long ago. Everyone knows that let disease or injury affect this part of the human system and death is almost certain. Injure the spinal cord, which is the medium of these nerve centres, and paralysis is sure to follow.

Here is the first principle. The trouble with medical treatment usually, and with nearly all medicines, is that they aim simply to treat the organ that may be diseased. South American Nervine passes by the organs, and immediately applies its curative powers to the nerve centres, from which the organs of the body receive their supply of nerve fluid. The nerve centres healed, and of necessity the organ which has shown the outward evidence only of derangement is healed. Indigestion, nervousness, impoverished blood, liver complaint, all owe their origin to a derangement of the nerve centres. Thousands bear testimony that they have been cured of these troubles, even when they have become so desperate as to baffle the skill of the most eminent physicians, because South American Nervine has gone to headquarters and cured there.

The eyes of the world have not been disappointed in the inquiry into the success of South American Nervine. People marvel, it is true, at its wonderful medical qualities, but they know beyond all question that it does everything that is claimed for it. It stands alone as the one great certain curing remedy of the nineteenth century. Why should anyone suffer distress and sickness while this remedy is practically at their hands?

CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY.

(Incorporated by Act of Legislature 1893.)

Information requested. Informant's name kept strictly private. FINCH W. MILLER Agent and Ass't. Secy. OFFICE:—Town Buildings. Office Hours—10 to 1 a.m., 2 to 5 p.m.

Centuries ago, people used to fear what they called the pestilence. "Black Death" was the most terrible thing in the world to them. They feared it as people now fear the Cholera and Yellow Fever. And yet there is a more terrible thing than any of these. There is a thing that causes more misery and more deaths than any of these. It is the commonest trouble that human beings suffer from. It is so common that nine-tenths of all the sickness in the world is traceable to it. It is merely that simple, common thing—constipation. There is no telling what it may lead to, but it is sure to lead to something bad. Its immediate effects are unpleasant in the extreme. It makes people listless, gives them headaches, makes the digestion poor, causes dizziness, loss of appetite, loss of sleep, foul breath and distress after eating. All this merely because Nature has been imposed upon, and has been refused the little help she needed.

This little help is furnished by Doctor Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. One pill is a gentle laxative and two a mild cathartic. There are two remarkable things about the "Pellets." One is that they never gripe; the other that they cure permanently. There is no other medicine that does cure permanently. You can take any other medicine you like, as long as you like, and if you stop, your trouble will come back quickly, and the chances are the trouble will be worse than it was before. This isn't true of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. You take them until you get yourself into perfect working order, and then you stop. You don't have to take any more "Pellets" unless after a while you do something that deranges your digestive system again. We are not guessing about these facts, and we don't ask you to take our unsupported word for it. Thousands of people have found that they are true, and have testified to them. Let the druggist who says that something else is "just as good" sell that something else to somebody else. Don't let him trifle with your health for the sake of a little more profit to himself.

World's Dispensary Medical Association, No. 663 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

THE GIRL HOSTESS.

One of the Beautiful Creations of This End of the Century.

As hostess, the daughter of the house, whether officiating in the absence of her mother, or assisting her in the exercise of hospitality, should be courteous and cordial. Nobody expects a young girl to take a leading share in conversation. It is quite enough if she hold her own agreeably, and above all pay attention to what others are saying. One secret of social success is to listen well and look interested, and this the girl hostess may do, and will do the better the more real and unaffected her interet is in the people around her.

Perhaps the girl hostess in these days is occupied in pouring tea. No more graceful act can be imagined, and in dispensing this simple refreshment she may fulfil the meaning of the sweet old word lady, the loaf-giver, and the giver as well of the cup. If acting as hostess to friends of her own sex, in the merry half-hour at five o'clock when college girls permit themselves to relax their minds and give their studies a bit of a recess, the girl shows her home training. Here, in the ordinary course of conversation, she shows her freedom from awkwardness, or she lapses into the provincialism of speech or mannerr which is too stong for the class-room to at once eradicate. But she need not be troubled about herself as an entertainer if she possess the hospitable spirit. Little by little one acquires social ease, one lays aside gaucheries, one learns to be graceful, and to perform ordinary elegant acts of the drawing-room without thinking of one's self. "Such or such a one," we say, "is a born hostess. She makes her friends perfectly at home. But the hostess who excels in tact and grace is quite often made, aftener, perhaps, than merely born. All social charms may be acquired. Urbanity and elegance are simply matters of drill, of taking pains, of thinking the affair worth while, of seeking after and cultivating the beet.

The girl hostess who wishes to gather friends for a pleasant function cannot do so better than by giving an informal luncheon. This may be served at the large round or square table in the dining-room, or, if the girl and her mother choose, at a number of small tables in the drawing-room. Let some color or flower predominate and give the key-note of the occasion. The courses may be many or few, but they should at this season begin with fruit, either oranges or grape-fruit daintily prepared and served, and end with a delicate dessert—ice, biscuits glaces, or cream, with bonbons and conserves. And if all this be beyond her power, if what she has will be whole and clean and bright, and if she serve her guests with nothing more than bread and butter, these will be so good that a king might feast on them and go away satisfied.

The girl who plays at being hostess in her father's house will shine to great advantage when she takes her place as queen of the domesticities in her husband's home. Her training in girlhood will not be lost. She will be the sweeter and more admired wife because as a young girl she served a novitiate in woman's most characteristic and finest profession, the offering a welcome and making people happy under the shelter of one's roof.—Harper's Bazar.

LEIGHTON'S FAIR MODEL.

Dorothy Dene, Who Posed for Many of His Best Pictures.

A tall woman, beautifully formed with a skin firm and smooth and of that gold n tinted white that Henner delights in, a head, Grecian enough to have furnished inspiration for one of Praxiteles' Aphrodites, with golden hair, violet eyes, such a woman is Dorothy Dene, whom Frederic Leighton made famous in many of his best-known paintings.

She was his favorite model. With all her charms of person. Dorothy Dene is as simple as a child, modest and retiring. Her naturalness as much as anything endeared her to the great artist, who was devoted to her for many years.

Rumor has woven a romance in his life, in which his model figures. It says he loved her, but that circumstances over which he had no control prevented him from marrying her.

She is one of five sisters. They all live in London, where they have a cozy little apartment in South Kensington, the art centre of the British capital. It is one of the most artistic flats in London, and one in which more beaux esprits, painters, musicians and literateurs gather, when she is at home, two Sundays in each month, than in any other in the big city.

Miss Dene visited this country in the winter of 1893 and was seen on the stage here. Her theatrical venture was not a brilliant success, but her beauty caused quite a sensation.

She spoke of Sir Frederic Leighton—he had not then been made a peer—with great tenderness. In an interview with her at that time she said, "Although Sir Frederic is over 60 years old, he is the youngest man I know, and I might add, the kindest, most generous."

FOR USE IN WINTER.

A Novelty in Mits That Will Be Welcomed by Wheelmen.

An invention has recently been made that will prove a boon to wheelmen. It is a bicycle mit, which, if it does not entirely supplant the ordinary glove, will at least be such an addition as will make winter cycling of but little discomfort. The mit is made in somewhat the form of a cornucopia, the small end of which is placed upon the handle bar of the bicycle just above the handle itself and is made fast in the proper position by a collar, as shown in the accompanying illustration.

A MIT FOR WINTER RIDING.

The above gives a most excellent idea of this new addition to the lists of contrivances for the comfort of wheelmen, and has proved most satisfactory in the trials given it so far. Many ladies are making and presenting a pair of these outdoor comforters to their mankind this year.

Harmonious Combinations.

Black combines well with almost all colors, except those which are so lacking in brightness as to be too nearly like it. Black and pale pink, blue, yellow, green, red, lavender and even rather dark shades of blue, clear brown and green are excellent combinations.

Brown combines well with yellow, gold and bronze if it is the shade of brown which has brightness. It is effective also with black and with certain tones of green. A chocolate and milk brown combines well with old rose and the dull shades of pink.

Very dark green is effective when brightened by linings of narrow trimming of pale blue. A medium shade of green unites well with old pink. Brownish greens look well with bronze and copper color.

Dark blue may be brightened by lines of bright, rich red, by lines of old rose or of clear yellow. Blue of the "electric" and "cadet" varieties is best combined with black or with figured silks in which the same shade predominates.

A Reproof.

Trotter was visiting in London and having been there before, knew his way about. On taking a cab at one time, and fixing the price for the distance, he noticed that the driver seemed to be a new recruit and uncertain how to reach his destination, driving in and out various streets.

"Are you lost? Don't you know the location?" asked Trotter, through the hole in the roof of the hansom.

The driver looked down with an expression of sadness.

"Do you think I'd lose myself in London, sir," he replied "with only an eighteen pence fare?"—Harper's Monthly.

Scored One on Marshal Suvaroff.

The Russian Marshal Suvaroff was famous as a jester, and was fond of confusing the men under his command by asking them unexpected and absurd questions. Thus, one bitter January night, such as Russia only can produce, he rode up to a sentry and demanded:

"How many stars are there in the sky?"

The soldier, not a whit disturbed, answered coolly:

"Wait a little, and I'll tell you." And he deliberately commenced counting: "One, two, three," etc.

When he had reached 100, Suvaroff, who was half frozen, thought it high time to ride off, not, however, without inquiring the name of the ready reckoner. The next day the latter found himself promoted.—Lippincott's.
